REVIEW OF NOVEMBER.

There was no essential change in material conditions during November. The elections on Nov. 8, which were the event of overshadowing importance during the month, resulted as expected. With such a tremendous political upheaval and reversal of popular majorities —Democratic governors being elected in New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut and the Democratic candidate in Ohio, Judson Harmon, being returned by a plurality of over 100,000 votes, as against only 19,372 plurality two years ago, and the new Congress being Democratic by 63 votes, against a Republican majority of 47 in the present Congress—the elections seemed to be a nation-wide protest against the radical doctrines which the dominant party by its leaders had been exploiting during the last few years. This was regarded as a very hopeful sign, especially as the revulsion of public sentiment appeared to be particularly pronounced wherever ex-President Roosevelt had taken a prominent part in the campaign, or where those running for office had avowed friendship for him or for his doctrines. The election results nearly everywhere were regarded as an emphatic rebuke of the ex-President.

Another encouraging feature about the popular verdict was the fact that those two other radical demagogues, Bryan and Hearst, were also, by the returns, reduced to a position of insignificance. The Hearst ticket in this State polled a smaller number of votes than the Socialist ticket, and the imposing Democratic majorities obtained in so many different parts of the country were pretty generally ascribed to the circumstance that for the first time since the silver campaign of 1896 the Democratic Party had definitely cut loose from Mr. Bryan, he having thus been repudiated in advance of the election by his party associates.

The good effects of the election, however, were in considerable measure lost as the month progressed. Fears arose lest the Administration at Washington and the Republican leaders of the old Congress, which will not expire until the 4th of next March, should not recognize the teachings of the elections, or else refuse to be governed by them. Certain developments towards the close of the month served to intensify the feeling of apprehension. Of this nature was the beginning of a suit by the United States Government against the American Sugar Refining Co., and against numerous subsidiary and allied corporations, under the Sherman Anti-Trust Law of 1890, seeking to enjoin them all from a continuance of business under existing arrangements. This was a very disturbing proceeding, inasmuch as it served to remind the public anew of a fact which it had been striving diligently to forget—that the suits against the Standard Oil and the American Tobacco companies were still pending in the U. S. Supreme Court, and that the country's highest judicial tribunal had not yet definitely determined the scope and operation of the Sherman Law. James M. Beck, General Counsel for the American Sugar Refining Co., voiced the general sentiment among business men when he said: "It is unfortunate that business men cannot conduct a legitimate business enterprise without subjecting themselves to proceedings under a highly technical statute, about the meaning of which the Courts do not agree, and about the wisdom of which most thoughtful men of all classes are in serious doubt."

The prominence given to the reaction in trade, which has been in progress for some months, also served in a measure to dampen spirits. In its issue of Monday, Nov. 28, the New York "Times" published an interview with J. J. Hill, Chairman of the board of directors of the Great Northern Railway Co., in which Mr. Hill expressed the opinion that many thousands of men would be thrown out of employment next year. He referred to the prevailing extravagance and to the fact that so much energy was being wasted in non-productive enterprises, among which he enumerated particularly battle-ships and the like. The railroads, he stated, are curtailing their outlays in every direction, and as to other business interests, this is what he had to say: "Well, I happen to know they are making no further provisions looking toward improvements or extensions than we are. It isn't because they haven't the money, but because there are no inducements, considering public sentiment and business outlook, for them to invest it."

As it happened, about the same time the result of inquiries sent out to 3,000 members of the National Association of Manufacturers was made public in an article in the current issue of "American Industries," the organ of the Association. From these inquiries it appeared that the general manufacturing business was only fair. The Secretary of the Association summed up in these words the result of the tabulation of the 2,000 answers received: "There is no calamity in sight—nothing so menacing that people need be unduly alarmed; but conditions are unsatisfactory and they can and should be improved." It remains to be said that the customary monthly statement of the U. S. Steel Corporation, giving the aggregate of unfilled orders on the books of the companies controlled by it, showed a further reduction in these orders during October, bringing the total down to 2,871,949 tons Oct. 31, against 3,158,106 tons on Sept. 30, 4,257,794 tons on June 30 and 5,927,031 tons on Dec. 31 1909.

One of the leading elements of uncertainty was as to whether the railroads would be allowed to make their proposed advances in rates, so as to compensate for the rise in the operating expenses of the roads, chiefly as a consequence of advances in wages. Early in the month, a ruling was handed down by the Inter-State Commerce Commission in a group of cases involving advances in railroad rates in the South two years ago. The higher rates had been in effect in the interval, and the ruling of the Commission was to the effect that the rates complained of were not unjust, unreasonable or excessive. Much comfort was derived from this decision, and from certain remarks contained in the opinion of the Commission. A speech made by Chairman Knapp of the Commission before the Railway Business Association at a dinner Nov. 22 also afforded grounds for encouragement, Mr. Knapp expressing his view in the following question: "Must we not in the larger public interest, whatever may be thought by this or that shipper, make the business of furnishing railroad transportation so desirable to the investor that the necessary funds for betterments and extensions will be forthcoming?" On the other hand, the Commission announced further suspension of advances in rates which had been contemplated by the railroads in various parts of the country. Moreover, shippers at the hearings in the pending investigations by the Commission continued vigorously to oppose any increase in rates at all. Louis D. Brandeis, as counsel for the shippers, contended that by scientific management the railroads could effect a saving of $300,000,000 a year in their expenses.

On the Stock Exchange the course of values was a disappointment. Since the previous July there had been a gradual advance in prices, and during the five of six weeks immediately preceding the election on Nov. 8, the upward movement in values had made considerable progress, on the idea that Mr. Roosevelt's activities in the campaign would be signally rebuked at the polls and that political radicalism would receive a setback, and that thereby the tide of radicalism would, for the first time in many years, be definitely checked. The result in this respect far surpassed expectations. Nevertheless, the market the day after the election suffered a severe break. The explanation was found in the circumstance that those who had bought stocks in anticipation of Democratic victories were now realizing on their purchases. As on many previous occasions, the favorable event expected had been discounted, and now that the "good news" was out, those who had correctly diagnosed the situation considered the time opportune for disposing of part of their holdings. After a few days the market displayed steadiness and then an upward reaction occurred under which a part of the previous losses was regained. Business dwindled away, but the tone remained strong. This continued until Monday, Nov. 28, when the interview with James J. Hill, bearing on the business situation, was published, and when the Government filed its suit under the Anti-Trust Law of 1890 against the American Sugar Refining Co. Prices then precipitately declined. It also appeared that a bull clique with no great financial strength, which had been engaged for some time in manipulating prices upward, had got to the limit of its resources and was now obliged to let some of its holdings go. The market closed quite weak Nov. 30.

There was not much change in money at this point early in November, but the latter part of the month, with currency returning in considerable volume from the interior, and with an increase in the money holdings and surplus reserves of the Clearing-House banks, there was a marked decline in both interest and discount rates. Offerings of time money were in increased volume and rates for commercial paper also evinced a downward tendency.

The course of foreign exehange rates in the early part of November was sharply downward, the principal influences then being easier discounts in London and firmer money here, and the fact that the Bank of England was gaining gold and greatly strengthening its position. The downward movement continued even after discount rates in London again advanced. This was due to the drawing of exchange against new securities placed abroad, the seasonable increase in commodity exports, together with renewed borrowing in Paris and London by our bankers. After the 11th the course of exchange was reversed, and sterling advaneed, notwithstanding the placing of several blocks of new securities abroad. But all other classes of remittance were now in light supply and it was no longer possible to draw finance bills upon either London or Paris, since money here was now as cheap as in London, while attractive exchange arrangements could not be made to take advantage of the low private discount rate in Paris. The outlook for a continuance of easy money at this centre was also a factor. Covering of outstanding short contracts operated to the same end.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

MONTHLY AND YEARLY RECORD

The following tables furnish a complete record of the New York Stock Exchange transactions for the past month and the year 1910. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security excepting only State bonds) dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. All quotations in the column headed "Price about January 2 1910" were made on that date, except those in italics, which are the nearest in January 1910. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

In accordance with the new rule adopted by the New York Stock Exchange, all quotations for interest-paying bonds are at a price to which accrued interest must be added. The exceptions to the rule are income bonds and bonds on which interest is in default. This method of quoting bonds became effective January 2 1909.

BONDS AND STOCKS.

1. In the following thirty pages of tables, quotations are given for all the more important securities listed on any Stock Exchange in the United States; also for leading unlisted and inactive securities.

2. Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. As the New York Stock Exchange began with Jan. 2 1909 to quote all bond prices "and interest," we have adopted the same method, and no longer employ a designating mark to indicate the fact except where there is a deviation from this rule. The reader will understand, therefore, that unless the letter "f" is prefixed to the price, he must pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds or bonds in default, in which cases the price includes the interest, should there be any.

3. The letter "f" prefixed to bond prices denotes that the quotation is a flat price—that is, that the accrued interest forms part of the price, and therefore the purchaser does not have to provide for it separately in making payment. As already stated in the case of income bonds and bonds in default, the price is always "flat," and no designating mark is employed to indicate the fact.

4. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.

5. It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

6. The following abbreviations are often used, viz.: "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "g'd" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated, "conv" for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.

7. The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are now "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

STREET AND ELECTRIC RAILWAYS

In quoting street and electric railway bonds, we employ the same method as in quoting the bonds of steam railroads. The great majority of issues being quoted "and interest," we use no designating mark whatever where that is the case. On the other hand, we prefix the letter "f" where there is a deviation from this rule; in such cases the interest forms part of the price. Unless, therefore, "f" appears against a quotation, the buyer will understand that the accrued interest is to be added on. This, however, does not apply to income bonds and bonds in default, in which cases the price takes account of the interest and no designating mark is employed.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are now "and interest" except where marked "f," and income and defaulted bonds.

MISCELLANEOUS SECURITIES.

Quotations marked "f" indicate that accrued interest is included in the price. Prices not marked are "and interest" that is, purchaser has to pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds and bonds in default, in which cases the price takes account of the interest and no designating mark is employed.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are now "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

STATE AND MUNICIPAL BONDS.

It is not the custom in quoting municipal bonds to include accrued interest in the price given. Hence this accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few instances which form exceptions to the rule—that is, where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (f).

The figures in the column "to net" indicate the basis on which the securities sell or the interest rate which the securities, if held to maturity, will net to the purchaser at the present market price.

BANKS AND TRUST COMPANIES.

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of New York City, Brooklyn and Canadian institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales. The letter (h) prefixed to a price indicates that the figures show the book value.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing-House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest weekly statement.

Where Names are Printed in Italics Fuller Returns may be Found in the Advertising Columns
