Dec. 6, 1919.

BANK DEBITS

Below is given the Federal Reserve Board's weekly statement of debits to individual account, reported through the Federal Reserve banks by over 150 of the country's more important clearing houses. Transactions cover the weekly periods ending Wednesday December 3 and November 26, of the present year, and in case of most of the reporting centers also the weekly period ending a year earlier, i.e., December 4, 1918.

Total debits to individual account show a further reduction of over 500 millions from the figure for the week before, the week under review including only five business days. All the large centers, except Boston, Cleveland and Detroit, report smaller figures under this head than for the preceding week. As compared with corresponding 1918 figures, available for 146 cities, an increase of about 34 per cent in the total of debits to individual account is shown, all the large cities participating in the increase. For New York City the increase is nearly 40 per cent.

The statement closes with a recapitulation giving comparative figures by reserve districts for 155 centers reporting complete data for the two most recent weeks, also like figures for the 146 centers for which data are available for the past week and the week ending December 4 of last year.
