MESSAGE TRANSMITTING THE BUDGET

To the Congress of the United States:

Herewith is transmitted the Budget of the United States for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929. The receipts and expenditures shown in detail in the Budget are summarized in the following statement:

Summary (exclusive of postal revenues and postal expenditures paid from postal revenues)

	Estimated, 1929	Estimated, 1928	Actual, 1927
Receipts:

The Budget system has now been in effect a sufficient length of time to enable us to appreciate fully its far-reaching importance. It is directly responsible for our present position of financial stability. That position has been acquired by scientific management of our business affairs. This management has resulted in improvement throughout the entire field covered by Federal operations. It seems inconceivable that such progress could have been made in so short a period after the great world conflict. Yet it has been done. It demonstrates the efficiency of our form of government. The good of all the people is our controlling consideration. And because of this, scientific management of our affairs is essential. In slightly more than six years we have had substantial reductions in taxes and in that same period we have enhanced greatly the value of the service which we are rendering the people. We are raising money to pay our long-term commitments. We have provided for adequate national defense. Our housing problems are being cared for. All through our Government activities there have been improvement and progress. Federal activities have kept pace with a growing and progressive nation. This has all called for orderly procedure, and we are reaping the rewards which follow that course. We can well take the experience of the past as our index to future operations. If we proceed along the orderly lines followed these last years our continued success is assured.

TAX REDUCTION

Since 1920 there have been three reductions in taxes for the purpose of relieving the people of some of their war burdens. The act of November, 1921, lightened the tax load by a reduction of $663,000,000. The act of 1924 afforded additional relief of $519,000,000. The act of 1926 made a further reduction of $422,000,000. Taking these all together our tax demands have been lessened by $1,604,000,000. This in itself illustrates the value of orderly procedure. The people are permanently richer because of the diminished demands made by the Federal Government. And hand in hand with these material curtailments of the amounts taken from the people the public debt has been reduced. From a peak of more than twenty-six and a half billions of dollars the debt had been reduced on June 30, 1927, by $8,084,794,716. This lowering of the debt means an annual saving in interest of approximately $320,000,000. While this tangible and extraordinary saving emphasized the importance of debt reduction as a preliminary to ultimate adequate tax reduction we have at this time for consideration the question of further relief to those who pay Federal taxes.

In planning for a revision downward of tax rates the first question that presents itself is the amount of money that can safely be devoted to the purpose without curtailing necessary activities of the Government or threatening a deficit. The extraordinary surplus of June 30, 1927, was $635,809,000, and was made possible by receipts from nonrecurring sources of $414,000,000, only $221,000,000 coming from current and continuing sources. Of this surplus $612,000,000 was applied to the public debt, effecting an annual interest saving of $24,000,000.

The estimated surplus for this year—which ends with June 30, next—is $454,000,000, of which $318,000,000 is from nonrecurring sources, and $136,000,000 from current and continuing sources. This is an increase of $254,000,000 over the estimate carried in the 1928 Budget, of which increase $158,000,000 is from miscellaneous receipts which include $154,000,000 in receipts from railroads. The remaining $96,000,000 of the increase is found in regular revenue returns.

The estimated surplus for 1929—the coming fiscal year—is $252,540,000, of which $75,000,000 is from nonrecurring sources. This surplus is reached by means of a fairly sanguine estimate of receipts and a carefully restricted estimate of expenditure. The expenditure estimate for 1929 of $3,557,000,000 includes nothing for flood control with the exception of the fifth-year allowance of $10,000,000 in the six-year program authorized by Congress. Other proposed major projects, not yet the subject of legislation, are not provided for in this estimate. It is reasonably certain that some of them will be enacted into law and will call for material advances from the Federal Treasury. This will doubtless have the consideration of the Congress. Careful study of all these factors points to a tax reduction of $225,000,000 as the maximum, and that amount only possible on the assumption that the estimates of expenditure for 1929 be not materially exceeded, and that additional continuing obligations be incurred only to the extent that absolute necessity from the standpoint of public need warrants. Adequate flood protection, of course, meets the requirement of absolute and urgent necessity.

Under the provisions of the Budget and Accounting Act I recommend to Congress that taxes be reduced by not to exceed $225,000,000.

IMPORTANCE OF A BALANCED BUDGET

Each of the three reductions in tax rates since November, 1921, has been measured on the certainty of our ability to stand such reductions. This is the only safe course. It has brought forth a balanced budget. In this we have found our financial stability. We have been operating on the wise plan that reduction in rates of Federal taxes should be permanent. This is the only proper basis for tax reduction. In a business of the magnitude of that of the Federal Government there must be a margin of safety. The fact that this margin has grown to large proportions in the past fiscal years carries no assurance that that will continue. I am in favor of tax reduction. I am not in favor of any such reduction as will jeopardize our financial stability. The assurance that Federal expenditures will be kept within Federal receipts has bulwarked public confidence, it has contributed measurably to the prosperous condition of the country, it has ministered to the justifiable pride of our people in their Government and in its orderly and sane processes. To jeopardize our balanced budget, to do anything that in the most remote degree would threaten to interfere with the orderly processes of wise financing, to take steps in the interest of tax reduction that would necessitate either revolutionary curtailment of important Federal projects and activities or compel a later upward revision of tax rates, or both, is unthinkable. I am convinced the people of this country are overwhelmingly in favor of keeping the Budget balanced and are just as overwhelmingly opposed to any measure or measures that would make any other result even remotely possible.

I am counting on the continued prosperity of the Nation in recommending a tax reduction of $225,000,000. I am also counting on the determined continuance of the campaign for rigid Government economy. I believe that a tax reduction in the sum which I have mentioned is justified. We must, however, preserve the sanctity of a balanced budget. Under the law made by the Congress the President can not countenance a program of expenditure or approve estimates for appropriations that threaten to interfere with the annual balancing of the National Budget.

Estimated receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1927, as carried in the 1928 Budget totaled $4,026,780,688, and estimated expenditure was $3,643,701,593. The year closed, however, with actual receipts of $4,129,394,441.10 and actual expenditures of $3,493,584,519.40. We were fortunate in having a marked increase in receipts, while a material reduction in estimated expenditure, resulting largely from the continuing policy of economy, contributed to the creation of the largest surplus in history, $635,809,921.70.

In the Budget for 1928, transmitted to the Congress December 6, 1926, it was estimated that our receipts for that year would be $3,772,753,077 and our expenditures $3,572,049,214. The surplus indicated was $200,703,863. To-day our finances for 1928 present a more favorable outlook. It is now estimated that our receipts for the year now in progress will reach $4,075,598,091 and that our expenditures will be $3,621,314,285. This indicates a surplus of $454,283,806.

The estimates of appropriations contained in this Budget reach a total of $3,505,793,766, which is exclusive of the Postal Service payable from postal receipts. A comparison between the estimates in this Budget and those for the fiscal year 1928 should necessarily include the supplemental estimates for 1928. Many of these were presented to the Congress for consideration in the second deficiency bill, fiscal year 1927. That bill failed of enactment. There

The Budget for 1929, herewith submitted, is more complete than any of its predecessors. It is the intent of the law creating a Budget system for the Federal Government that the annual Budget include estimates for all needs of the Government for the full 12 months for which Budget estimates are submitted. In our great and growing Government changes are kaleidoscopic and new needs and imperative new demands arise overnight calling for congressional help. The Chief Executive is committed by law to the policy of making each annual Budget a complete provision for a full year, appreciating the wisdom of such a policy. While actual deficits are rare, supplementals, because of the reasons cited, persist, and persist large in amount and many in number.

Estimates of this character, which have already been submitted to this Congress for inclusion in the urgent deficiency bill, total approximately $204,000,000. Of this amount, $106,000,000 is made necessary by new legislation. Of the balance of approximately $98,000,000, the sum of $43,000,000 is required for tax refunds, $7,000,000 for emergency flood relief, $8,000,000 for claims and judgments, while the remainder is needed for national defense or to meet demands of policies that have congressional approval. The nonenactment of the second deficiency bill during the session of Congress which closed March 4, 1927, necessarily adds to the total of these supplemental estimates which must now be presented to the Congress.

REFUNDING TAXES

I believe the time has come when our estimates of appropriations for refunding taxes illegally collected should be reflected in the appropriation items requested in the Budget. In prior years this item of expense, while reflected in Budget estimates of expenditure, has not been fully reflected in the annual estimates for appropriations. The operation has been conducted on a calendar-year basis by making the refundment of taxes an item for inclusion as a supplemental, rather than Budget, estimate. The Budget herewith, contains an estimate of $135,000,000 for refundment of taxes for the full fiscal year 1929. This is in harmony with the plan to have the Annual Budget estimates reflect the conditions for the fiscal year to which they relate. The balance of the current fiscal year will be covered by a supplemental estimate.

In the development of this plan the estimates of appropriations in this Budget carry approximately $80,000,000 more for permanent and indefinite appropriations than has appeared in preceding Budgets. This is all in the interest of having the Budget estimates reflect actual requirements. This is a step in the right direction. It narrows the margin between our estimate of appropriations and the estimate of expenditure. The latter estimate has always carried these items, but their reflection elsewhere in the Budget as estimates of appropriations is most desirable. Taking the refundment of taxes item and these additional permanent and indefinite funds together we have an increase of $230,000,000 over what would have been required under the plan of estimates heretofore followed in preparing the annual Budgets. This is not a real increase, as these items have always been included in the estimates of expenditure.

CIVILIAN EMPLOYEES

The Budget herewith contains for the first time estimates of appropriations for commencing liquidation of the liability of the Government to both the civil-service and foreign-service retirements. The Congress wisely authorized submission of estimates for this purpose. This conforms to the principle under which we have been operating to amortize our long-term commitments. For the civil-service retirement fund the estimate is $19,950,000 and for the foreign-service retirement fund $213,000. The Government board of actuaries estimates that an annual appropriation of the former amount for 71 years and of the latter amount for 60 years will meet fully the accrued and accruing liability of the Government to these two funds. Since these estimates are based on the present pay roll, any increase in the roll will be reflected in a reduction of the time in which the liability of the Government will be fully discharged. An increase of 1 per cent annually in the pay roll of those contributing to the civil-service retirement fund would reduce the period of amortization from 71 to 42 years.

We are necessarily concerned in the Federal pay roll. This concern involves both the interests of the taxpayers and those who are on the rolls. The effort has been to do equal justice to both. The classification act of 1923, with the extension of comparable rates of compensation to those in the field service, has substantially met the situation. In 1923 the average salary of Federal employees at the seat of government was $1,674. When the classification act went into effect in 1924 it increased the average salary to $1,749. For the fiscal year 1927 the average salary had increased to $1,846. For 1928 the average salary will be about $1,886 and for 1929 will amount approximately to $1,897. Adequate provision has been made for those employees who are injured in line of duty and for those who are retired because of permanent disability or age. The allowance for annual and sick leave, the reasonable hours of daily service under favorable working conditions, and the permanency of employment are other factors which favor the Government worker. Taking all things into consideration, I feel that the Government is liberal in the treatment of its employees. If this were not so, it is hardly possible that the civil-service records would show that more than a quarter of a million persons sought Federal employment in 1927 when the number of vacancies was only 38,700. All our investigations show that in places paying less than $2,500 to $3,000 the rate of pay by the Government is higher than in comparable places in private employ.

NATIONAL DEFENSE

In 1927 there was available for expenditure for defense purposes, excluding all nonmilitary items and retired pay, $576,000,000. The current year's availability will be $625,000,000, while this Budget contemplates available defense funds of approximately $645,000,000.

The estimates carry $48,000,000 for increase of the Navy. This provides for prosecution of work on all projects authorized by the Congress with the exception of 3 submarines and 12 destroyers authorized in 1916, for which no funds are desired at this time. Navy craft under construction in 1929 will comprise 2 submarines and 8 cruisers, of which 2 will be practically completed in 1929—the Pensacola and Salt Lake City. Ample funds are provided in the estimate for the modernization of the battleships Oklahoma and Nevada, in accordance with the approved modernization program. Necessary funds are provided to carry out the third increment of the five-year air program. It is expected with the funds recommended, the Navy at the end of the coming fiscal year will have 696 planes of the 1,000 final total contemplated in the program approved by the Congress. Additional funds are also recommended for the lighter-than-air ship, for which Congress has already appropriated $200,000.

Army estimates contemplate a Regular Army of 118,750 men with 12,000 officers, 30,000 trainees for the Citizens' Military Training Camp, 15,725 trainees in the Organized Reserve, 125,000 cadets in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps, and a National Guard strength of 188,000 men.

The total availability asked for Army housing in 1929 is $7,115,000, including contract authorization. There is carried in the supplemental estimates for 1928 the sum of $6,166,000 for Army housing, that being the amount which failed of enactment in the second deficiency bill in the last Congress. This makes a total available in the two estimates of $13,281,000, and completes the authorizations so far made by Congress for this purpose. In addition thereto the amount recommended for repair and maintenance of barracks, quarters, sewers, roads, and water systems amounts to $10,440,000, an increase of $1,672,500 over available funds this current year. Included in these estimates also is an increase of $2,000,000 over the 1928 appropriation for ammunition. Estimates herewith for the Army Air Corps provide for the second year increment in the five-year program looking toward 1,800 airplanes at the end of the five years.

AIR SERVICE

We have proceeded sufficiently far in our air service program to show the wisdom of the legislative policy with regard to this important and developing line of Federal activity. Under this policy the needs of the Federal Government are being met with orderly stimulation of private industry. The appropriations of the past as well as the estimates now submitted are all in furtherance of this policy. Our procurement of aircraft and accessories is from private industry. This is as it should be. We have gone further than this. Private industry is now operating by contract our entire postal air mail service. We now have 13 contract mail routes in operation and 7 others under contract with a view to their early operation. We can point with pride to the Federal operation of the postal air mail service. Such operation was necessary in the beginning. We can point with equal pride to the turning of that service over to private industry for operation under contract. That has resulted largely from the policy which this Nation has been pursuing in air navigation. That policy, probably more than any one other thing, made possible the handling of this business by private enterprise. In the realm of navigation by air, I have mentioned elsewhere the provision made in these estimates for carrying on the five-year air programs for the Army and Navy. In our civil work the Coast Guard, the Prohibition Service, and the Forest Service are also operating airplanes. The Department of Commerce is also using planes in its air navigation work. Provision for all of these is made in the estimates herewith submitted, which also carry funds for further development of our lighted airways. With regard to this latter Federal function, the end of the next fiscal year under the estimate herein submitted should see more than 10,000 miles of lighted airways.

FEDERAL AID TO STATES

I am including in this Budget an estimate of $1,108,000 for the promotion of the welfare and hygiene of maternity and infancy. I refer to this estimate for two reasons. The first is, that the authorization for this appropriation expires with the fiscal year 1929. The second is, that it marks the termination of Federal contribution to a project which is for State control and administration. The extension for two years of the provisions of the act for the promotion of the welfare and hygiene of maternity and infancy was approved with the understanding that its administration during these two added years would be with a view to the discontinuance of Federal aid thereafter. Six years of experience under the able administration that has characterized the Government's policy warrants this permanent withdrawal of Federal aid, assured that the States are now or should be able to carry on this work without aid or interference from the Federal Government.

This opens up the whole subject of State aid, which despite frequent warnings continues strongly intrenched in Federal operations. While the amount of money taken annually from the Federal Treasury for subsidies to States is not inconsiderable, the dangers inherent in the policy are of far greater importance. To relieve the States of their just obligations by resort to the Federal Treasury in the final result is hurtful rather than helpful to the State, and unfair to the payers of national taxes. To tempt the States by Federal subsidies to sacrifice their vested rights is not a wholesome practice no matter how worthy the object to be attained. Federal interference in State functions can never be justified as a permanent continuing policy even if, which is doubtful, such interference is warranted by emergent conditions as a temporary expedient. As shown in the maternity and infancy act, when once the Government engages in such an enterprise it is almost impossible to terminate its connection therewith. We should not only decidedly refuse to countenance additional Federal participation in State-aid projects, but should make careful study of all our activities of that character with a view to curtailing them.

FEDERAL BUILDINGS

With a view to expediting the construction program authorized by the public buildings act of May 25, 1926, estimates of appropriations amounting to $8,131,000 will be submitted for the consideration of Congress in the first deficiency bill of this fiscal year. This amount will pertain to the projects included in the public buildings appropriation bill which failed of passage the last fiscal year and for which authority to enter into contracts has been previously authorized. The estimates submitted with this Budget provide for projects at limits of cost aggregating $53,577,000, and carry a total request for appropriation of $13,000,000. This amount, together with the appropriations already available and those requested in the urgent deficiency for this year, will provide ample funds for expenditure within the yearly limit of $25,000,000 fixed in the act.

REDUCTION IN SIZE OF PAPER CURRENCY

During the past year an exhaustive study involving the designs of the paper currency issues of the United States has been completed and definite conclusions have been reached. New designs are being prepared which will eliminate the existing confusion, and the size will be reduced about one-third.

For many years there has been a constantly growing demand for increased supplies of paper currency. Many factors have entered into the situation, among them being the growth of the country in population and wealth, and the more extended use of paper instead of coin. During the past decade the paper currency outstanding has increased from 536,600,000 pieces, in amount exceeding $4,212,000,000, to 865,300,000 pieces, in amount approximating $5,715,000,000. In order to meet the currency requirements, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing delivered 514,688,000 pieces during 1917, and 992,339,000 pieces during 1927. Constantly increasing appropriations have been required and it was apparent should the increase continue it would be necessary to provide additional production facilities. Both of these considerations have been effectively met by the action taken.

The reduction in size will serve the public convenience, will create substantial savings in expense of manufacture, and will insure that existing manufacturing facilities will meet increased demands for many years to come.

SECOND LIBERTY LOAN

The retirement and refunding of our second Liberty loan has aided materially in lessening our interest charges. On February 28, 1927, there were outstanding $3,104,520,050 second Liberty loan bonds, practically all of which bore interest at the rate of 4¼ per cent. From February 28, 1927, to November 18, 1927, bonds to the value of $575,000,000 were retired with funds available for debt reduction. The remainder, approximately $2,500,000,000, are being refunded into securities bearing interest at the rate of 3½ per cent and under. The saving in annual interest by the debt reduction effected by retirement of these bonds amounts to over $24,000,000 and the annual saving effected by the refunding operations will amount to more than $21,000,000, making a total annual saving in interest of more than $45,000,000. The total reduction of annual interest due to refundings and payments on the national debt for the calendar year 1927 will be about $75,000,000.

THE CHART PRESENTATION

The chart presentation of the estimates of receipts, expenditures, and appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929, given opposite page A2, sets forth graphically the source of income and how the average dollar of the estimated expenditures and appropriations is apportioned to organization units and functions in the Budget for the fiscal year 1929.

Chart 1 exhibits the estimates of appropriations by organization units, exclusive of the Post Office Department payable from postal revenues, and gives the allocation of the average dollar to the several departments and establishments for which the appropriations are recommended. It will be seen that of the average dollar to be appropriated 0.48 cent is for the legislative establishment; 17.52 cents for independent offices, of which 16.04 cents is for the Veterans' Bureau; that 4.09 cents is for the Department of Agriculture; 8.60 cents for the Department of the Interior; 10.38 cents for the Navy Department; 11.42 cents for the War Department; 43.78 cents for the Treasury Department, of which 19.20 cents is for interest on the public debt and 15.52 cents for reduction in principal of the public debt payable from ordinary receipts; and only 3.63 cents for the Departments of Commerce, Justice, Labor, and State, the District of Columbia, and the Executive Office.

Chart 2 gives the estimates of appropriations by governmental functions and exhibits the purpose for which the average dollar is to be appropriated for the fiscal year 1929. It shows that of each dollar recommended for appropriation 3.35 cents goes for general functions; 39.97 cents for military functions, of which 18.46 cents is for national defense and 21.51 cents for military pensions, retirement pay, annuities, World War allowances, and life-insurance claims. It also shows that of the average dollar to be appropriated 14.53 cents is for civil functions, of which 1.19 cents is for promotion, regulation, and operation of marine transportation, and 4.46 cents for public works. Of the total, 42.15 cents of each dollar included in the estimates is for nonfunctional purposes. This includes 4.46 cents for refunds, drawbacks, and like appropriations, 15.52 cents for public-debt retirements, and 19.20 cents for interest on the public debt.

Chart 3 gives the estimates of expenditures by organization units for the fiscal year 1929. Of the average dollar to be expended it shows that 11.60 cents will be disbursed by the Veterans' Bureau; 4.12 cents by the Department of Agriculture; 1.06 cents by the Department of Commerce; 7.90 cents by the Department of the Interior; 0.75 cent by the Department of Justice; 0.30 cent by the Department of Labor; 10.44 cents by the Navy Department; 11.29 cents by the War Department; 0.39 cent by the State Department; 43.34 cents by the Treasury Department, of which 15.06 cents represents reduction in principal of public debt payable from ordinary receipts, and 18.83 cents for interest on the public debt; 1.09 cents by the District of Columbia; 0.43 cent for postal deficiency; 5.21 cents for investment of trust funds; and but 2.08 cents to be disbursed by the legislative branch, the independent establishments other than the Veterans' Bureau, and the Executive Office.

Chart 4 gives the estimate of expenditures by governmental functions. It supplies information showing for the average dollar the general end or purpose to be accomplished by the expenditures during the fiscal year 1929. Of the average dollar to be expended during that fiscal year 3.37 cents will be spent for the general functions of the Government; 37.08 cents will go for military functions, of which 18.50 cents is for national defense, and 18.58 cents for military pensions, retirement pay, annuities, World War allowances, and life-insurance claims. The chart also shows that 15.26 cents will be expended for civil functions, of which 1.31 cents goes for promotion, regulation, and operation of marine transportation, 5.78 cents for public works, and 8.17 cents for other civil functions; that 44.29 cents will be expended for nonfunctional operations, of which 4.54 cents represents refunds and miscellaneous; 34.06 cents for fixed-debt charges, of which 15.23 cents is for public-debt retirements payable from ordinary receipts, 18.83 cents for interest on the public debt, and 5.69 cents for the disbursement of trust funds.

Chart 5 exhibits the estimated receipts of the Government by sources of revenue, exclusive of postal revenues for the fiscal year 1929. Of the average dollar to be received 71.03 cents comes from internal revenue, 15.80 cents will be received from customs, and 13.17 cents will be derived from miscellaneous sources, which comprise interest and discount, sale of Government property, public-domain receipts, fees, fines, penalties and forfeitures, gifts and contributions, repayments of investments, District of Columbia receipts, Panama Canal receipts, and trust-fund receipts.

The amounts which form the basis for computing the allocation of the average dollar for the estimates of appropriations by functions for the fiscal year 1929, Chart 2, are given in detail in Budget statement No. 11. The data used for the income statement, Chart 5, are supplied by Budget statement No. 6; the data for computing the average dollar for the estimated expenditures by functions, Chart 4, are given in Budget statement No. 14. The data for Chart 3, giving the average dollar allocation of the estimates of expenditures by organization units, are given in Budget statement No. 2, and similar data for Chart 1 are given in the recapitulation of estimates of appropriations.

Chart 5 does not include the estimated postal revenues for the fiscal year 1929, because such revenues are not considered receipts of the general fund.

DESCRIPTION OF GOVERNMENTAL FUNCTIONS

INTRODUCTION

A classification by governmental functions has for its purpose to set forth the general end or purposes accomplished by the expenditures made by the several organization units of the Government. Each function of government represents a service rendered directly to the people or else a service performed as a means of promoting, protecting, regulating, or administering services directly rendered.

The classification set forth on statements Nos. 11 and 14 presents, first, the general functions of the Government. These correspond closely to the main organs of government established by the Constitution. The general functions have been divided into the following:

1. Legislative,
2. Judicial,
3. Executive, and
4. General administration.

The activities and duties of each of these deal with matters in all other functional fields.

Of the specific functions it is important in the case of the National Government to segregate clearly the expenditures for military and distinctly war purposes from expenditures for civil services. Therefore a segregation is made of the specific functions into the following classes:

1. Military functions.
2. Civil functions.
3. Nonfunctional expenditures.

The military functions represent those activities conducted for military and war purposes and include those activities of special war agencies and expenditures made by civil services arising from war conditions. These were of special importance during the recent World War, and some of them are likely to continue for an indefinite period.

The civil functions include those functions of government which have to do with the promotion of friendly relations with foreign powers; those which have to do with the conservation of social order and property; those which have to do with the conservation of natural resources and economic interests of the people; those activities which relate to the promotion and protection of health, the care and education of Indians, and the promotion of public education, educational research, and science.

The nonfunctional expenditures include certain important expenditures which are of a nonorganizational character. These are for the most part expenditures arising out of war, such as interest on and redemption of public debt, investments, refunds, and disbursement of trust funds.

The "refunds" and "investments" are segregated from other departmental expenditures because the former represents the repayment or refund of the whole or part of an amount previously received in payment of indebtedness to the United States, and the latter represents expenditures made in the purchase of notes, bonds, and other choses in action, and loans to foreign governments, railroads, and the like, which are not expenses of operation but the conversion of cash into other assets.

DEFINITIONS OF GOVERNMENTAL FUNCTIONS

For the purpose of defining the expenditures or appropriations comprehended within each general function, the following definitions are given:

Legislative.—Under this function are grouped only those activities of Congress as a legislative body.

Judicial.—Under this function are grouped those expenditures having to do with the judicial branch of the Government. It includes all United States courts expenses other than the District of Columbia courts, which are included under "Local government."

Executive.—Under this function are included the direct cost of the Executive Office, including the salary and expenses of the President and Vice President and the cost of maintaining the Executive Mansion and grounds.

General administration.—Under this heading are grouped the expenditures of certain administrative agencies which are of a general character, dealing with matters in all the various fields of administrative functions and those departmental expenditures which can not now be allocated to specific civil functions.

This general title includes expenditures for (1) financial administration, (2) Government supply services, (3) public-buildings service, (4) civil pensions and allowance administration, and (5) institutional and general expenses.

Under "Financial administration" are included the Treasury fiscal services, the Bureau of the Budget, the services having to do with the collection of taxes, the public-debt service, and the General Accounting Office.

Under "Government supply services" are included those organization units of the Government whose function it is to supply personnel, services, or materials to all other agencies of the Government. It includes such services as the Civil Service Commission, the Bureau of Efficiency, the Government Printing Office, the Superintendent of Public Documents, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, the Government fuel yards in the District of Columbia, the General Supply Committee, and the Coordinator of General Supply.

Under "Public buildings service" are included all expenses incurred in connection with the maintenance and operation of public buildings within and without the District of Columbia. It includes the maintenance and operation of the Capitol Building and Grounds, the Senate and House Office Buildings, the Capitol power plant, all other building maintenance and operation expenditures connected with the legislative branch, and like expenses for maintenance and operation of buildings under the office of Public Buildings and Public Parks of the National Capital, Interior Department buildings, Treasury Department buildings, public buildings under the Supervising Architect of the Treasury, public buildings and grounds under the Chief of Engineers of the Army, and the Congressional Library buildings and grounds.

The "Civil pensions and allowance administration" comprise the general expenses of the Employees' Compensation Commission and the cost of administering the act retiring civil-service employees, which is supervised by the Pension Office of the Interior Department. It excludes the payments made out of the employees' compensation fund, which are reported under "Promotion of labor interests."

The "Institutional and general expenses" include only the salaries and expenses of the Treasury and Interior Departments not directly chargeable to any specific civil function. These include the salaries of the chief clerk's office of the Treasury Department (other than those relating to buildings service); other institutional services of the Treasury Department, such as appointment division, the printing division, the disbursing clerk, and the mail and files division; and like expenses of the Interior Department.

National defense.—Under this general title are included the military activities of the War Department, the naval and military activities of the Navy Department, and the special defense appropriations given directly to the civil departments. It excludes all trust fund expenditures.

This general title includes the military activities of (1) the War Department, (2) the Navy Department, and (3) the special-defense appropriations given to civil establishments.

Under "War Department" are included the salaries and contingent expenses of the department proper and all military activities involved in recruiting, training officers and men at schools and training camps, maintenance and operation of armed forces, and provisions for war equipment and stores, which comprehend the purchase, operation, maintenance, or construction, as the case may be, of fortifications, ordnance, ammunition, and other military equipment and supplies.

Under the "Navy Department" are included the salaries and contingent expenses of the department proper, and all naval and military activities involved in the maintenance, equipment, and training of regular forces, the militia and other reserve forces as indicated in the preceding paragraph, inclusive of the cost of operation, maintenance, construction, or purchase of vessels, ordnance, ammunition, and of plants and materials for the manufacture of supplies and equipment for use by the Navy.

Special war agencies.—Under this caption are included the war agencies organized in 1917 as a result of the World War.

Military pensions, retirement pay, annuities, World War allowances, and life-insurance claims.—Under this group are included all payments to persons by way of accruals or fixed charges made as compensation for past military services to the Government, including pensions on account of disability or death due to military service, pensions on account of services, salaries commencing to accrue to retiring military officers and enlisted men immediately on their leaving active service, allowances on account of military and naval services in the World War, losses on Government life-insurance policies, and salaries and expenses of the United States Veterans' Bureau; also the salaries and expenses of the Pension Office of the Interior Department, exclusive of the administration of the act retiring civil-service employees.

Foreign relations and protection of American interests abroad.—Under this general title of civil functions are included the activities of the State Department in the conduct of relations with foreign governments, local representation abroad, cooperation for settlement of international controversies, and the promotion of friendly intercourse with foreign peoples.

General law enforcement.—Under this general title are included the activities having to do with the enforcement of the general laws and the administration and enforcement of special acts like the national prohibition act, the narcotic act, and the investigation and prosecution of war contract frauds.

Provision for control of currency and banking.—Under this function are included the expenses incurred in connection with the regulation of currency and of banking through the office of the Comptroller of the Currency and public-debt service; the Federal Reserve Board; the Federal Farm Loan Bureau; and the expenditures made by the Bureau of the Mint and mint and assay offices in the maintenance of a money standard.

Administration of Indian affairs.—Under this caption are grouped the expenditures of the National Government in the care and education of the Indian wards of the Nation.

Administration of public domain.—Under this general title are included the activities of the Government having to do with the care and utilization of public lands and the care and utilization of the national forests.

Promotion and regulation of commerce and industry.—Under this general title are included those activities of the several departments and independent establishments having to do with the promotion and regulation of commerce and industry.

Promotion, regulation, and operation of marine transportation.—Under this general title are included the activities having to do with the preparation of charts and sailing directions, the supplying of public facilities for navigation, the provision for a merchant marine, and the rescue and relief of seamen and passengers, including the activities of the United States Shipping Board and Merchant Fleet Corporation, and the Coast Guard Service.

Promotion and regulation of land transportation.—Under this general title are included those activities of the Government having to do with the promotion and regulation of land transportation, including the Federal control of transportation systems exercised during the World War, and the payments and advances made by the Government since the termination of Federal control in the form of guaranties as provided by the transportation act of 1920.

Postal Service.—Under this general title are included the deficiencies in postal revenues paid from the Treasury.

Promotion and regulation of agriculture.—Under this function are grouped the activities of the Department of Agriculture in the promotion of agriculture and game preservation and the expenses incurred through the State Department in the support of the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome, Italy.

Promotion and regulation of fisheries.—Under this function are grouped those activities of the Department of Commerce in the propagation and distribution of food fishes, the protection of Alaska seal and salmon fisheries in Alaska, and other like activities.

Promotion of labor interests.—Under this particular function are grouped the activities of the independent establishments and the Department of Labor having to do with the compilation of labor laws and statistics, the investigation of labor questions, the improvement in housing conditions, the establishment of employment agencies, the payments made by the United States Employees' Compensation Commission to Government employees from the compensation fund, and other like activities.

Immigration and naturalization.—Under this general title are included the expenses involved in regulating immigration, preventing importation of contract labor, the enforcement of laws against alien anarchists, deportation of aliens, care of interned aliens, and the regulation of naturalization.

Promotion of public health.—Under this general title are included those activities having to do with the promotion and protection of public health, exclusive of the Medical Corps of the Army, the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery of the Navy Department, the medical corps of institutions for the care of aged and sick soldiers and sailors, and like expenditures of the Veterans' Bureau, all of which are reported under military functions.

Promotion of public education.—Under this general caption are included those activities of the several departments and independent establishments having to do with the promotion of public education and all activities of the Federal Board for Vocational Education.

Science and research.—Under this general title are included the activities of the Government having to do with the investigation and publication of knowledge gained and verified by exact observation; the reporting of results of investigations that have been worked out and systematized concerning some subject or group of subjects of ascertained facts, and the principles covering or attempting to give adequate expression to a great natural group or division of knowledge. In addition, it also includes those research activities conducted for the purpose of adding to human knowledge, such as investigations of some phenomenon or series of phenomena by experimental methods to discover facts or to coordinate them as laws.

Public works.—Under this general heading are included the capital expenditures of the Government in constructing public works within and without the District of Columbia other than those outlays for plant facilities and additions which, being essential to the proper performance of specific activities, are included under their respective functions.

This function is subdivided to segregate the expenditures under the captions of:

1. General supervision, design, and overhead;
2. Public improvements; and
3. Government plant additions.

The first subdivision represents the general expenses incurred in designing and supervising the construction of public improvements and plant additions.

The second subdivision comprises the capital outlays made by the Government in the construction of public works, such as the Panama Canal, rivers and harbors and flood-control structures, railroad construction in Alaska, construction of irrigation systems by the Reclamation Service, public roads and rural post roads, the construction of buildings and structures in and around Washington, hospital construction and hospital facilities for war patients, and like capital expenditures.

The third subdivision comprises those structures which are constructed or additions made thereto which are built primarily to house the personnel of the Government and to provide proper facilities for the efficient operation of governmental activities. It includes the cost of construction and cost of improvements only, the operation and maintenance expense being reported under "Public buildings service."

The structures comprehended within this group are those purchased or built under the direction of the Architect of the Capitol; the acquisition or construction of diplomatic premises and buildings by the State Department; the construction work performed under the Supervising Architect of the Treasury in erecting public buildings in Washington, customhouses, courthouses and post offices, and like structures.

Revenue-producing enterprises.—Under this general title are included the operations of the Government which are (or it is assumed will become) self-supporting.

The only activities included in this group at the present time are the operation of the Center Market, District of Columbia, by the Department of Agriculture, and the maintenance and operation of the Panama Canal and of the Alaska Railroad.

Local government.—Under this function are included the expenditures of the local government in the District of Columbia and the Territories of Alaska, Hawaii, and other insular possessions and such aid as is given to State governments by the National Government in the form of subventions, exclusive of specific grants for education, public health, construction of rural post roads, etc.

Relief expenditures.—Under this general title are grouped those expenditures of the Government made in giving relief to American citizens abroad, contributions toward the maintenance of foreign hospitals which admit citizens of the United States, and other like welfare operations, both foreign and domestic, such as those conducted to alleviate the distress and suffering in foreign countries.

Refunds, losses, contingencies, and miscellaneous.—Under this general title of nonfunctional expenditures are grouped the expenditures made by the Government in repayment or refund of the whole or part of an amount or amounts previously received in payment of indebtedness to the United States, losses and contingencies, such as charges on bullion sold, recoinage of gold, silver, and minor coins, and other bullion and coinage losses, and miscellaneous expenses incurred by the Government in connection with tercentenary and other celebrations.

DESCRIPTION OF BUDGET STATEMENTS

The Budget statements given herein supply data regarding the income and outgo of the Government, actual and prospective, during the last completed fiscal year, the year in progress, and the ensuing fiscal year. They also give financial data showing (1) the financial condition of the Treasury at the end of the last completed fiscal year (balance sheets), (2) the means by which such condition was reached (operating statements), and (3) the public-debt transactions and the condition at the close of business June 30, 1927.

Statement No. 1 is the master or key statement of the Budget. This statement, it will be seen, shows not merely the balance in the general fund at the end of the two last completed years, the estimated surplus that will exist at the end of the year in progress, and the estimated balance at the end of the ensuing fiscal year if the financial proposals contained in the Budget are adopted, but the means by which this balance has been and will be reached. It shows, in a word, the revenues and expenditures of the Government, past and prospective, for these years and exhibits the effect of these amounts in increasing or decreasing the available balance of the general fund.

In considering the showing, past and prospective, it should be noted that payments in respect to the reduction of the public debt figure among the general fund expenditures of the Government. The total amount of debt redemptions included among the general-fund expenditures during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1927, amounted to $1,131,309,383.34, of which $519,554,844.78 was required by existing law to be made from ordinary receipts, and the remainder, $611,754,538.56, represents the amount of general fund applied to the redemption of debt in addition to that now required by law to be made from ordinary receipts.

The estimated surplus of $454,283,806 for the fiscal year 1928 is reached after deducting the sum of $536,185,074 for the reduction of public debt now required by existing law to be made from ordinary receipts. Taking this item into account, it shows that the ordinary revenue exceeds all other estimated ordinary expenditures by $990,468,880, or an estimated improvement in the financial condition of the Government of this amount for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1928.

The estimated surplus of receipts of $252,540,283 for the fiscal year 1929 has been decreased by the inclusion of $541,623,394 for debt redemptions out of ordinary receipts. Adding these redemptions to the estimated surplus of receipts reported in Statement No. 1 indicates an improvement of the financial condition of the Government of $794,163,677 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929.

Statement No. 2 supports Statement No. 1 and supplies the details of the expenditures made for 1927, compared with the estimates for 1928, and the proposals for 1929, by main branches or administrative divisions of the Government.

Statement No. 3 is a detailed statement showing the agencies collecting Government revenue by sources. It supplies the actual revenue items collected in 1927 and estimates of the revenue items to be collected by the several departments and other organization units during the fiscal years 1928 and 1929.

Statement No. 4 is a detailed statement of receipts, summarizing the items in Statement No. 3 by sources under organization units.

In Statement No. 5 the expenditures are classified according to character rather than by organization units, as is done in Statements 1 and 2. It will thus be noted that a distinction is made between those expenditures which are for the current operations of the Government, those that are of a nonadministrative character, those for construction work, including national-defense structures, and other expenditures. The importance of the distinctions here made may be seen from the fact that though the expenditure program for 1929 calls for a total expenditure of $3,556,957,031, only $1,043,415,144 is for the current operations of the Government. The latter sum, it will be seen, is $22,180,307 more than the corresponding item for the year in progress, 1928. Nonadministrative expenses, including such items as interest on the public debt, pensions, etc., call for the expenditure of no less than $1,436,922,709 in 1929.

Statement No. 6 also supports Statement No. 1 and supplies details of the sources of revenue of the Government. It sets out in detail the sources from which the income of the Government was derived in 1927 and is expected to be derived in 1928 and 1929.

Statement No. 7 has to do with the operations of the Post Office Department and Postal Service, payable from postal revenues. Beginning with the fiscal year 1923, the departmental expenditures of the Post Office Department at Washington are also financed from the postal receipts.

This statement shows the results of the operations, which for 1927, 1928, and 1929, show a deficit, and gives in detail the expenditures made and to be made out of the postal revenues. The deficiency in postal revenues, it will be noted, is carried in Statement No. 1 and represents the amount of money which will need to be advanced from the general fund to meet the program recommended in the Budget for the postal establishment.

Statements Nos. 8 and 9 have been included for the first time, and give a summary of the complete operations of the Panama Canal and Shipping Board Merchant Fleet Corporation, respectively, showing the relationship of the purely governmental transactions of these agencies to their total transactions.

Statement No. 10 shows the transactions in various accounts, funds, and authorizations for the fiscal years concerned.

Statement No. 11 summarizes the estimates of appropriations by governmental functions for the fiscal year 1929 and the appropriations made for the fiscal year 1928. This statement sets forth the general end or purposes to be accomplished by the expenditure of the appropriations recommended, compared with the appropriations which have already been made for the fiscal year 1928. The classification given on this statement presents first the general functions of the Government. This corresponds closely to the main organs of the Government established by the Constitution. The general functions have been divided into (a) legislative, (b) judicial, (c) executive, and (d) general administration.

The specific functions are segregated to distinguish the expenditures for military and distinctly war purposes from expenditures for civil services; therefore the segregation made in this statement divides the specific functions into (a) military functions, (b) civil functions, and (c) nonfunctional operations. This statement not only gives the amount of money recommended for appropriation for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929, compared with the actual appropriations already made by Congress for the fiscal year 1928, but it also shows the percentages of the amounts allocated to the different purposes.

This statement will be found interesting and informative, showing as it does the approximate amounts devoted to important Government activities and interests.

It will be found that a total of $116,763,802.86 is carried for general functions, which include the legislative, judicial, executive, and the general administrative operations of the Government which can not be allocated to specific civil functions.

The sum of $1,395,312,220 is provided for military functions, which includes military pensions, retirement pay, annuities, and World War allowances, and national defense.

The amount recommended for national defense is divided into two classes: Army, $291,331,838; Navy, $353,081,250.

The amount provided in the Budget for military pensions and allowances includes $211,710,000 for pensions, $502,197,360 for World War allowances, and $27,360,962 for retirement pay.

The amount recommended for civil functions totals $507,132,012.14. Under this general function $13,507,456 is allowed for foreign relations and protection of American interests abroad; $41,015,337 for general law enforcement, which includes activities having to do with the enforcement of general laws and the administration and enforcement of special acts like the national prohibition act, the narcotic act, and the investigation and prosecution of war contract frauds; $8,193,121 for the control of currency and banking; $14,614,009 for the administration of Indian affairs; $26,454,263 for the administration of public domain, which includes those activities of the Government having to do with the care and utilization of public lands and the care and utilization of national forests; $21,138,198 for the promotion and regulation of commerce and industry, which includes the activities of the Tariff Commission, the Federal Trade Commission, the Patent Office, and those activities of the Departments of Agriculture and Commerce having to do with the promotion and regulation of commerce and industry; $41,456,134 for the promotion, regulation, and operation of marine transportation, which includes $13,688,750 for the Shipping Board and Merchant Fleet Corporation; $7,643,137 for the promotion and regulation of land transportation; $37,025,409 for the promotion and regulation of agriculture; $1,999,748 for the promotion and regulation of fisheries; $5,339,652 for the promotion of labor interests; $8,011,840 for immigration and naturalization; $18,441,429.14 for promotion of public health; $12,190,300 for promotion of public education; $14,539,198 for science and research; $44,261,296 for local government, including the District of Columbia.

For public works under civil functions, $182,877,435 is carried, which includes $68,176,200 for rivers and harbors proper and items of similar character; $77,500,000 for roads; $13,160,000 for Reclamation Service; $1,300,000 for railroads in Alaska; and $22,741,235 for other public improvements and Government plant additions.

Under nonfunctional appropriations is carried a total of $1,471,315,688.53, which includes $155,664,000 for refunds, losses, contingencies, and miscellaneous; $541,623,393.53 for public-debt retirements payable from ordinary receipts; $670,000,000 for interest on the public debt; and $104,028,295 for disbursement and investment of certain trust funds.

Statement No. 12 summarizes the estimates of appropriations by character and objects of expenditure for the fiscal year 1929 and the appropriations made for the fiscal year 1928. It makes a distinction between those appropriations already made and herein recommended for (a) current expenses, (b) fixed charges, (c) acquisition of property, (d) payment of debt, and (e) payments for rights and obligations.

Statement No. 13 shows the expenditures of the Government, including the Postal Service, for the fiscal years 1924 to 1927, inclusive, under the same classification as appears in Statement No. 12.

Statement No. 14 gives similar data to that presented by Statement No. 12. It is a summary of expenditures classified by governmental functions for the fiscal year 1929 compared with prior years. It not only gives the amount of money spent but that which it is estimated will be spent during the current fiscal year and the ensuing fiscal year. It also furnishes the percentages allocated to the different functions of the Government. The expenditures given for the fiscal year 1927 are on the basis of checks drawn and charged to appropriation accounts, authorizing withdrawal of cash from the Treasury as reported by the Secretary of the Treasury in the "Combined statement of receipts and disbursements, balances, etc., of the United States," brought to the actual cash expenditure by an adjustment figure.

Statement No. 15 gives the appropriations recommended and appropriations made by Congress during the fiscal year 1928, compared with the fiscal year 1927, classified by organization units, including those appropriations made by Congress for which no estimates were submitted by the Chief Executive.

Statement No. 16 summarizes the estimates of appropriations for the fiscal year 1929 and appropriations for 1928. It shows the amounts and percentages applied to current operations of the Government by Government departments and offices.

Statement No. 17 exhibits the appropriations made for the years 1928 and 1927.

Statement No. 18 gives the amount of annual, permanent, or other appropriations, including balances of appropriations for prior fiscal years, available for expenditure during the fiscal year in progress, 1928, as of November 1, 1927. This statement shows the total amount available for expenditure during the fiscal year 1928 to that date.

Statement No. 19 is a consolidated current balance sheet; that is, it consolidates the general fund, which includes all other expendable funds, with the loan funds.

Statement No. 20 is a statement of operations of the general fund showing how the condition reported in the general-fund balance sheet was reached.

Statement No. 21 is a statement of operations of the public debt (loan) funds for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1927. It shows the receipts and expenditures of the loan funds for that year.

Statement No. 22 is a consolidated statement of operations showing how the condition reported in Statement No. 19 was reached.

Statement No. 23 is a summary statement of outstanding debt at the close of business June 30, 1927, compared with June 30, 1926, and June 30, 1916, on the basis of revised figures reported in the "Statement of the public debt of the United States." It shows that the gross outstanding debt on June 30, 1916, was $1,225,145,567.53 and that the gross debt as of June 30, 1926, was $19,643,183,079.69, while the gross debt outstanding on June 30, 1927, was $18,510,174,266.10. It will be noted that the gross debt was reduced over $1,000,000,000 in the fiscal year 1927.

Statement No. 24 is a detailed statement of outstanding debt at the close of business June 30, 1927, compared with June 30, 1926, and June 30, 1916. It supports Statement No. 23.

Statement No. 25 exhibits the securities owned by the United States Government on June 30, 1927, with a memorandum as to capital stock of various corporations.

Statements Nos. 26, 27, and 28 report information regarding the sinking-fund operations for the fiscal year 1927 and the estimated operations for the fiscal years 1928 and 1929, respectively.

Statement No. 29 supplies information as to the proposed borrowings from the public for redemptions and purchases of public-debt issues during the fiscal year 1929, compared with those expected to be made in 1928 and the actual borrowings and redemptions which were made during the fiscal year 1927, exclusive of those certificates of indebtedness which are issued and redeemed within the same fiscal year.

Statement No. 30 summarizes and compares by classification services and grades for the fiscal years 1929, 1928, and 1927, the average number of employees, the average salary rates, and the total salaries of the personnel of the executive departments and independent establishments in the District of Columbia classified under the act of March 4, 1923.

Statement No. 31 summarizes and compares by departments and independent establishments, for the fiscal years 1929, 1928, and 1927, the average number of employees, the average salary rates, and the total salaries of the personnel in the District of Columbia classified under the act of March 4, 1923.

Total for 1928	2, 840, 891. 45
Budget estimates for 1929	2, 826, 220. 70
Reduction	14, 670. 75

This involves a reduction of $6,237 for personnel and increases of $50 for postage and $5,000 for the Senate kitchens and restaurants. Supplemental estimates are submitted for 1928 of $10,000 for pay to widow of Senator McKinley and $3,483.75 for extra services, which do not recur in 1929.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Appropriated for 1928	$7, 530, 791. 86
Supplemental estimate submitted for 1928	125. 00
Total for 1928	7, 530, 916. 86
Budget estimate for 1929	7, 516, 193. 16
Reduction	14, 723. 70

This involves a reduction of $22,598.70 for personnel and increases of $4,000 for contingent expenses and $4,000 for services and expenses incurred in the contested election cases of the Seventieth Congress.

LEGISLATIVE MISCELLANEOUS

Budget estimates for 1929	166, 960. 00

OFFICE OF ARCHITECT OF THE CAPITOL

Appropriated for 1928	$1, 186, 071. 00
Supplemental estimates submitted for 1928	1, 005, 000. 00
Total for 1928	2, 191, 071. 00
Budget estimates for 1929	1, 258, 813. 00
Reduction	932, 258. 00

This involves increases of $2,000 for maintenance of the Senate Office Building, $10,774 for the Capitol power plant, $21,700 for maintenance and repair of the Library Building, $5,000 for furniture for Library Building, a new item of $300,000 for buildings for the Botanic Gardens on a new site, reductions of $17,200 for maintenance and repairs of Capitol Buildings, $6,532 for maintenance of the House Office Building, $1,000 for trees, shrubs, and plants. The 1928 appropriations provided $20,000 for extension of the Capitol Grounds, $210,000 for installation of one new 5,000-kilowatt turbine and generator and repairs to motor equipment, and $12,000 for catalogue cases in the Library. No amounts are included in 1929 for these items. The supplemental estimates for 1928 include $820,000 for enlarging and relocating the Botanic Garden and $185,000 for ventilation of the Senate Chamber.

BOTANIC GARDEN

Appropriated for 1928	$127,217.00
Budget estimate for 1929	137,877.00
Increase	10,660.00

This involves increases from $79,417 to $88,077 for salaries and from $47,800 to $49,800 for repairs and improvements.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

Appropriated for 1928	$1,496,132.00
Supplemental estimates submitted for 1928	128,000.00
Total for 1928	1,624,132.00
Budget estimate for 1929	1,804,867.00
Increase	180,735.00

This involves increases from $580,805 to $626,425 for additional personnel and promotions for the Library, from $175,100 to $209,260 for additional personnel and promotions in the copyright office, from $63,650 to $65,210 for legislative reference service, from $118,010 to $131,490 for distribution of card indexes, from $16,865 to $19,120 for Sunday opening, from $10,000 to $10,500 for contingent expenses, from $120,402 to $124,562 for the office of the administrative and assistant and disbursing officer.

The 1929 estimate includes an indefinite item of trust funds and gifts amounting to $160,000 which has not heretofore been included in Budget estimates of appropriation.

The supplemental estimates for 1928 also include $30,000 for index of State legislation and $50,000 for index to Federal statutes.

GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE

Appropriated for 1928	$3,100,000.00
Budget estimate for 1929	3,152,000.00
Increase	52,000.00

This involves increases from $420,000 to $465,000 for additional personnel and $180,000 to $187,000 for general expenses, in the office of the Superintendent of Documents.

EXECUTIVE OFFICE

Appropriated for 1928	$438,460.00
Supplemental estimates submitted for 1928	90,000.00
Total for 1928	528,460.00
Budget estimate for 1929	437,180.00
Reduction	91,280.00

There is an increase in amount for salaries of $1,220 to meet increases in grades, and there are reductions of $500 in contingent expenses and $2,000 in maintenance. A supplemental estimate of $90,000 for the protection of the interests of the United States in leases on oil lands in former naval reserves is submitted to remain available during the fiscal year 1929.

ALASKA RELIEF FUND

Budget estimate for 1929	15,000.00

This is an indefinite appropriation of 10 per cent of the receipts from licenses collected outside of incorporated towns in Alaska. The funds are divided equally among the four district judges to be used in caring for indigent and incapacitated persons. On July 1, 1927, there was an unexpended balance of $26,152.32 to the credit of this fund for redistribution.

ALIEN PROPERTY CUSTODIAN

Appropriated for 1928	$98,000.00
Budget estimate for 1929	7,500.00
Reduction	90,500.00

There is a reduction of $90,000 in salaries and expenses and of $500 in printing and binding. With the exception of the salary of the custodian, all expenses of administration will be paid from alien property funds during the fiscal year 1929. Heretofore these expenses have been paid from appropriated funds.

AMERICAN BATTLE MONUMENTS COMMISSION

Appropriated for 1928	$600,000.00
Previous continuing appropriations	1,395,750.00
Total for 1928	1,995,750.00
Budget estimate for 1929	700,000.00

These are continuing appropriations. The estimate for 1929 is to provide for continuation of the construction of the memorials upon battle fields and cemeteries in Europe in commemoration of the services of the American Expeditionary Forces, as authorized by the act of March 4, 1923. The total authorized appropriation for the projects contemplated under this act is $3,000,000, of which it is estimated $2,695,750 will have been expended up to the close of the fiscal year 1929.

ARLINGTON MEMORIAL BRIDGE COMMISSION

Appropriated for 1928	$2, 500, 000. 00
Previous continuing appropriations	3, 000, 000. 00
Total for 1928	5, 500, 000. 00
Budget estimate for 1929	2, 300, 000. 00

The estimate of $2,300,000 for 1929, together with previous continuing appropriations, should carry this project along to the close of the fiscal year 1929. The authorized appropriation for the entire project, including the bridge and its approaches, is $14,750,000 extending over a period of 10 years. With the $5,500,000 heretofore appropriated and the proposed appropriation for 1929, it is estimated that approximately $7,500,000 will have been expended by the close of the fiscal year 1929, at which time the construction of the bridge proper will have been practically completed.

BOARD OF MEDIATION

Appropriated for 1928	$390, 000. 00
Budget estimate for 1929	347, 902. 00
Reduction	42, 098. 00

This involves reductions from $177,000 to $155,102 for salaries and expenses, from $100,000 to $80,000 for expenses of arbitration boards, and from $3,000 to $2,800 for printing and binding.

BOARD OF TAX APPEALS

Appropriated for 1928	$712, 780. 00
Supplemental estimate submitted for 1928	9, 000. 00
Total for 1928	721, 780. 00
Budget estimate for 1929	720, 740. 00
Reduction	1, 040. 00

This reduction is in printing. While the estimate for printing in the fiscal year 1929 was increased $7,960 over the amount appropriated for 1928, it has since been necessary to submit a supplemental estimate of $9,000 for 1928 to comply with a requirement of the Public Printer that the printed decisions of the board be plated. This increases the 1928 availability to an extent that permits a slight reduction in 1929.

BUREAU OF EFFICIENCY

Appropriated for 1928	$210, 350. 00
Budget estimate for 1929	210, 350. 00

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

Appropriated for 1928	$1, 007, 442. 00
Supplemental estimates submitted for 1928	191, 500. 00
Total for 1928	1, 198, 942. 00
Budget estimate for 1929	1, 098, 752. 00
Reduction	100, 190. 00

This decrease is due to the fact that the major part of the work in connection with placing the employees of the Prohibition Unit under the provisions of the civil service rules and regulations will be accomplished in 1928.

COMMISSION OF FINE ARTS

Appropriated for 1928	$7, 300. 00
Budget estimate for 1929	7, 300. 00

EMPLOYEES' COMPENSATION COMMISSION

Appropriated for 1928	$2, 698, 240. 00
Supplemental estimate submitted for 1928	950, 000. 00
Total for 1928	3, 648, 240. 00
Budget estimate for 1929	3, 675, 000. 00
Increase	26, 760. 00

The longshoremen's and harbor workers' compensation act, approved February 12, 1927, and an amendment to the Federal compensation act, approved March 4, 1927, increasing the maximum compensation from $66.67 to $115.67, and the minimum from $33.33 to $58.35, necessitated the submission of a supplemental estimate for 1928 of $950,000.

The increase of $26,760 in 1929 over the total for 1928 is to meet the additional cost of administering the longshoremen's and harbor workers' compensation act.

FEDERAL BOARD FOR VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

Appropriated for 1928	$8,165,230.00
Budget estimate for 1929	8,220,000.00
Increase	54,770.00

This involves increases from $700,000 to $750,000 for cooperative vocational rehabilitation of persons disabled in industry; and from $68,230 to $73,000 for salaries and expenses, vocational rehabilitation of persons disabled in industry.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

Appropriated for 1928	$42,500.00
Budget estimate for 1929	120,890.00
Increase	78,390.00

The increase of the Budget estimate for 1929 over the appropriation for 1928 is due to the inclusion in the 1929 estimate of $80,340 for salaries of civilian employees whose detail with the Federal Power Commission from the Departments of War, Agriculture, and Interior has become permanent, as authorized by the act of February 11, 1927. (44 Stat. 1075.) Decreases of $1,750 in the estimated payments to States and $200 for printing and binding, totaling $1,950, gives a net increase of $78,390.

FEDERAL RADIO COMMISSION

Supplemental estimate for 1928	$52,186.00
Budget estimate for 1929	80,560.00

In addition to the amount of $52,186 carried in the supplemental estimate for the fiscal year 1928, the Federal Radio Commission will spend approximately $44,000 from the appropriation "Enforcement of wireless communication laws, Department of Commerce," fiscal year 1928. The reduction, therefore, in the estimate for 1929 below the estimated expenditures for 1928 amounts to $15,626 which is accounted for by the decreased responsibility that it is contemplated the commission will have in the enforcement of the radio act in 1929.

FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD

This is a permanent indefinite appropriation which is included in the Budget estimates of appropriations for the first time although the estimated expenditures have always been included.

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION

Appropriated, 1928	$984,350.00
Budget estimate for 1929	963,000.00
Reduction	21,350.00

The net decrease involves a reduction from $967,850 to $945,000 in the amount for salaries and expenses and an increase from $16,500 to $18,000 for printing and binding.

GENERAL ACCOUNTING OFFICE

Appropriated for 1928	$3,833,000.00
Supplemental estimates submitted for 1928	10,400.00
Total for 1928	3,843,400.00
Budget estimate for 1929	3,820,000.00
Reduction	23,400.00

This involves reductions from $242,400 to $220,000 for contingent expenses and from $26,000 to $25,000 for printing and binding.

HOUSING CORPORATION

Appropriated for 1928	$564,236.00
Budget estimate for 1929	475,750.00
Reduction	88,486.00

This involves reductions from $480,136 to $403,250 for the operation of the Government hotels; from $43,300 to $40,300 for salaries; from $29,000 to $22,000 for collections; from $1,000 to $400 for maintenance of unsold property; and from $5,000 to $4,000 for the foreclosure of mortgages.

INTERNATIONAL TRADE EXHIBITION, NEW ORLEANS, LA.

Supplemental estimate submitted for 1928	$150,000.00

This supplemental estimate is submitted pursuant to the act approved February 14, 1927 authorizing the appropriation for providing the corporation known as the International Trade Exhibition, with funds for maintaining, promoting, and advertising the permanent trade exposition at New Orleans, La., inaugurated September 15, 1925.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

Appropriation for 1928	$7,811,314.00
Supplemental estimate submitted for 1928	170,000.00
Total for 1928	7,981,314.00
Budget estimate for 1929	7,642,337.00
Reduction	338,977.00

Of the amount appropriated for the Interstate Commerce Commission for 1928, the sum of $15,000 in the appropriation for printing and binding was made available for expenditure in the fiscal year 1927. The comparable amount for expenditure in the fiscal year 1928 is therefore $7,966,314 and the net reduction in the 1929 estimates is $323,977.

The net reduction indicated involves an increase for the general work of executing the laws to regulate commerce from $2,460,600 to $2,564,500 to cover additional attorney examiners, cost of reporting, and travel expenses, an increase for the investigation of accounts of carriers from $1,315,000 to $1,327,745 to provide for additional travel expenses, and a decrease of $75,000 in the allowance for printing and binding due to the fact that provision is being made in the fiscal year 1928 to print accumulated volumes of valuation reports.

The estimate for valuation of property of carriers shows a reduction of $363,214, due to the practical completion of primary valuations in the fiscal year 1928.

NATIONAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE FOR AERONAUTICS

Appropriated for 1928	$525,000.00
Supplemental estimate submitted for 1928	25,000.00
Total for 1928	550,000.00
Budget estimate for 1929	600,000.00
Increase	50,000.00

The increase of $50,000 over the total for 1928 is necessary to enable the committee to carry more fully into effect its program of general research in the field of aviation; to operate efficiently and continuously the new propeller research equipment; and to provide for the purchase of three or four airplanes of modern commercial types for conducting free flight research.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS AND PUBLIC PARKS OF THE NATIONAL CAPITAL

Appropriated for 1928	$2,422,950.00
Supplemental estimates submitted for 1928	31,520.00
Total for 1928	2,454,470.00
Budget estimate for 1929	2,584,980.00
Increase	130,510.00

There is an increase in amount for personnel from $1,710,560 to $1,724,530, as follows: Amount for increases within grades, $15,950; one additional guard for State Department, $1,020; and a decrease incidental to repair work, $3,000; and increases in general expenses from $740,400 to $857,000, as follows: Electric elevator for Winder Building, $10,000; grill for Washington Monument stairway, $10,000; repairs to temporary buildings, $45,000; repairs to floors, War-Navy Building, $30,000; rent of buildings, $47,000; care of Emory Building, $2,400. There are reductions in general expenses as follows: Construction of vault for Navy Building, $20,000; sundry minor items, including care of Lemon and Cox Buildings and repairs to building, $7,860.

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION AND NATIONAL MUSEUM

Appropriation for 1928	$939,711
Supplemental estimate submitted for 1928	80,000
Total for 1928	1,019,711
Budget estimate for 1929	974,761
Reduction	44,950

The total for 1928 includes $80,000 for safeguarding the dome of the rotunda in the Natural History Building and $12,500 for construction of a gallery over the west end of the main hall. The 1929 estimates include a new item of $25,000 for administration of the Smithsonian Institution and increases from $46,855 to $47,855 for international exchanges from $26,500 to $29,500 for furniture and fixtures, from $79,500 to $83,340 for heating and lighting, from $473,510 to $483,110 for preservation of collections, from $13,000 to $17,610 for repairs to buildings, and from $1,500 to $2,000 for purchase of books, pamphlets, and periodicals for references.

This increase provides $15 additional for salaries and expenses and $340 for printing and binding.

UNITED STATES SHIPPING BOARD AND MERCHANT FLEET CORPORATION

Appropriation for 1928	$12,290,000
In addition not to exceed $5,000,000 of the special appropriation of $10,000,000 contained in the independent offices appropriations act for the fiscal year 1927 and reappropriated for 1928	5,000,000
Available for salaries, expenses, and operating deficit	17,290,000
Budget estimate for 1929	13,688,750
Reduction	3,601,250

To enable the Shipping Board Merchant Fleet Corporation to operate ships or lines of ships which have been or may be taken back from purchasers by reason of competition or other methods employed by foreign shipowners or operators a special appropriation of $10,000,000 was made for 1927. For 1928 the unexpended balance of this appropriation, or $10,000,000, was reappropriated, of which amount not to exceed $5,000,000 was made available, in addition to the $12,000,000 appropriated, for the purpose of meeting the deficit in the operation of ships for that year. The estimate for the fiscal year 1929 provides that the unexpended balance of this appropriation of $10,000,000 shall be made available until June 30, 1929. The estimate of $13,688,750 for 1929, together with the estimated cash position for 1929, and such savings, if any, in operating expenses as may result from the sale of active ships, as opportunity offers, is considered sufficient to meet the estimated operating deficit for 1929.

UNITED STATES VETERANS' BUREAU

Appropriated for 1928	$473,400,000
Supplemental estimate submitted for 1928	19,400,000
Supplemental estimate submitted for reappropriation of unexpended balances	35,600,000
Total for 1928	528,400,000
Budget estimate for 1929	560,060,000
Net increase	31,660,000

Although the figures indicate a budget increase for 1929 as indicated above, the 1929 estimates are in reality $9,666,184 less than comparative appropriations made and supplemental estimates submitted for the fiscal year 1928. This seeming discrepancy is accounted for by reason of the 1929 estimates including an item for direct appropriation of $74,500,000 for payment of casualty losses from the Government life-insurance fund and investment of premium receipts accruing thereto. Heretofore no amount for these accruing funds has been included in the Budget estimates.

Entering into comparison of 1928 appropriations and the 1929 estimates is also the 1928 supplemental estimate submitted for appropriation of $19,400,000, and reappropriation of $35,600,000 unexpended balances of Veterans' Bureau appropriations required for payment of military and naval compensation. Of this $55,000,000 only $21,826,184 should properly be considered as applying to 1928 requirements, the remaining $33,173,816 representing a replacement in the 1928 fund of a similar amount expended therefrom prior to July 1, 1927, due to depletion of the 1927 appropriation, properly chargeable against the fiscal year 1927. The need for such large additional amounts in 1927, 1928, and 1929 is caused by legislation liberalizing the compensation laws. It is estimated that the additional amount required in the fiscal year 1929 for the minimum payment of $50 per month in each case of arrested tuberculosis, regardless of origin, will be $20,000,000.

The estimates comtemplate a reduction of $2,500,000 from $42,500,000 to $40,000,000 for salaries and expenses; an increase of $10,000 from $125,000 to $135,000 for printing and binding, the increase being for procurement of punch cards from the Government Printing Office which have heretofore been purchased elsewhere from the appropriation salaries and expenses; a comparative increase of $4,673,816 for payment of military and naval compensation; a decrease of $3,400,000 from $35,275,000 to $31,675,000, for medical and hospital services, is actually a decrease of only $1,575,000 for the reason that the estimated cost of hospitalizing Veterans' Bureau beneficiaries in the National Soldiers' Home branches, $1,825,000, for which an amount has heretofore been appropriated to the Veterans' Bureau, allotted to the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers and deposited in the Treasury to the credit of miscellaneous receipts, is not for the fiscal year 1929 included in the estimates for appropriation to the Veterans' Bureau; a decrease of $7,250,000 from $114,000,000 to $106,750,000 for payment of military and naval insurance. The appropriations for this purpose will decrease each year, as, pursuant to law, term insurance policies were converted into Government life policies on or before July 2, 1927, or became inoperative after that date.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Appropriated for 1928	$139, 862, 989
Supplemental estimates submitted for fiscal year 1928	3, 481, 560
Total for 1928	143, 344, 549
Budget estimate for fiscal year 1929	142, 753, 229
Net decrease	591, 320

This net decrease is largely due to reductions from $8,380,000 to $6,500,000 for forest roads and trails; from $1,800,000 to $1,500,000 for cooperative work in the Forest Service; the latter figure being an estimate of the receipts contributed for this purpose and also to the fact that the figures for 1928 include a supplemental estimate of $769,000 for fighting and preventing forest fires in addition to the regular annual appropriation of $283,000. The Budget for 1929 includes only $283,000, as it is the practice to supplement this amount each year at the close of the fire season when the amount needed can be determined.

While the economy program of the Federal Government has resulted in a substantial decrease in the total expenditures, the requirements of agriculture have been well cared for. Increases have been provided from year to year in practically all the department's activities and especially in those relating to assistance in agricultural problems. As a result of recommendations made by the President's Agricultural Conference on Agricultural Legislation substantial increases have been provided for the more complete endowment of the State agricultural experiment stations and for the encouragement and promotion of cooperative marketing. For the more complete endowment of State experiment stations an initial appropriation of $960,000 was made for the fiscal year 1926. This sum has been progressively increased each year since 1926 by $480,000 and will continue to increase in like amount each year until 1930, when it reaches its maximum of $2,880,000. This amount, together with amounts previously authorized will provide for a contribution of $4,320,000 annually by the Federal Government for this phase of agricultural research work in the State agricultural experiment stations. Other activities of the department having direct relation to agriculture have been provided with substantial increases in previous budgets and estimates for 1929 contain many further increases, the most important being for the control of insect pests, for enforcement of the plant quarantine act at ports of entry, for the collection and dissemination of market information, for horticulture, for the control of plant diseases, and for investigations in animal husbandry. The increases contained in the 1929 estimates provide for $1,780,000 more for fundamental agricultural research work than was provided in the 1928 appropriations.

There are included in the Budget estimates an increase from $738,000 to $792,000 for printing and binding to provide for printing a handbook entitled "Market Pathology of Fruits and Vegetables" for use of inspectors and those interested in fruit diseases; an increase from $2,653,733 to $2,705,000 for the Weather Bureau for expenses incident to the collection and dissemination of meteorological data and for the establishment and maintenance of additional stations for obtaining data regarding upper-air conditions for the promotion of aviation.

For the Bureau of Animal Industry there are included increases from $689,935 to $730,000 for inspection and quarantine of animals, from $441,670 to $525,200 for investigation and experiments in animal husbandry, from $162,760 to $211,100 for scientific investigations of diseases of animals, and from $5,061,110 to $5,206,540 for the inspection of meat and meat-food products. These increases would provide for promotions of veterinarians in this bureau.

An increase from $499,734 to $539,600 is included for the Bureau of Dairy Industry, for conducting investigations, experiments, and demonstrations in the dairy industry.

The principal increases in the Bureau of Plant Industry are from $142,705 to $170,000 for diseases of orchard and other fruits; from $167,570 to $200,000 for diseases of cotton, truck crops, forage crops, drug and other related plants; from $200,800 to $300,000 for acclimatization and adaptation investigations of cotton, rubber, and hard fibers, of which increase $80,000 may be used for rubber investigations in the Philippine Islands; from $171,255 to $196,000 for sugar-plant investigations; from $109,095 to $142,095 for investigations in connection with western irrigation agriculture; from $197,660 to $225,000 for pomological investigations; from $115,000 to $140,000 for horticultural investigations; and from $120,500 to $165,000 for forage crop investigations.

The estimate for the Forest Service provides an increase from $6,016,492 to $6,344,000 for the administration and protection of the national forests. Due to transfers, to and from this item, and also to other minor adjustments the actual increase is $168,328. Of this actual increase $37,800 is for the employment of additional personnel for the administration of commercial timber sales and for the regulation of grazing, and $120,528 for increased protection of the natural forests from forest fires. Of the amount transferred to this appropriation $75,000 is for insect control work and $108,000 for protection from forest fires. Both of these amounts were transferred from the item "Fighting and preventing forest fires," which item has been accordingly reduced. Other principal increases are from $44,880 to $64,000 for research investigations of range conditions within the national forests; from $150,000 to $200,000 for seed and tree planting within the national forests; from $337,000 to $364,300 for silvicultural investigations; from $526,900 to $587,900 for national forest improvements; from $1,000,000 to $1,200,000 for forest fire cooperation with the States in accordance with the reforestation act of June 7, 1924. Items under the headings "Special funds" and "Indefinite appropriations" have been decreased $347,750 to meet the present estimates of cash withdrawals from the Treasury.

The principal increases in the Bureau of Chemistry and Soils are from $195,947 to $259,000 for investigations relating to the application of chemistry to agriculture; from $278,940 to $290,000 for fertilizer investigations and from $237,515 to $253,000 for conducting soil surveys.

The estimate for 1929 submitted for the Bureau of Entomology and the Federal Horticultural Board contemplate a reorganization of both activities whereby all research work relating to insect control will be conducted by the Bureau of Entomology and actual control work including quarantines will be conducted by the Federal Horticultural Board, which will be designated "Plant Quarantine and Control Administration." Under this plan of reorganization the principal increases in the Bureau of Entomology are from $294,580 to $309,500 for investigations of insects affecting deciduous fruits; from $68,900 to $113,000 for investigations of insects affecting tropical and subtropical plants; from $208,590 to $225,000 for investigations of insects affecting truck and garden crops; from $367,535 to $426,900 for investigations of insects affecting cereal and forage crops; from $251,055 to $270,000 for investigations of insects affecting cotton; from $40,180 to $55,180 for investigations of insects affecting man and domestic animals; and from $112,277 to $130,000 for taxonomy and interrelations of insects and an insect pest survey.

The principal increases in the estimate for the Bureau of Biological Survey are from $54,000 to $69,000 for the maintenance of reservations. There is an apparent decrease in this item but due to an item of $18,000 for the erection of a reservation fence provided for in 1928 there is an actual increase of $15,000; from $568,000 to $590,000 for investigating the food habits of North American birds and other animals in relation to agriculture and for rodent and predatory wild animal control.

The principal increases in the Budget estimates for 1929 for the Bureau of Agricultural Economics are from $362,956 to $382,350 for investigations relating to farm management and farm practice; from $596,780 to $715,000 for acquiring and disseminating information on subjects connected with marketing; from $722,755 to $738,000 for crop and livestock estimates due to a transfer of $65,000 in 1928 from this item to "collecting statistics of the grade and staple of cotton"; from $1,054,355 to $1,069,355 for market news service; from $220,440 to $260,000 for cooperative marketing investigations; from $65,000 to $400,000 for collecting statistics of the grade and staple of cotton; from $710,140 to $758,650 for enforcement of the grain standards act; from $5,000 to $30,000 for the enforcement of the produce agency act of March 3, 1927, and the enforcement of the standard container act for which a separate appropriation of $5,000 was made in 1928.

An increase is provided for the Bureau of Home Economics from $127,244 to $137,281 for studies of the relative utility and economy of agricultural products for food, clothing, and other uses in the home.

The principal increases in the new plant quarantine and control administration referred to under the Bureau of Entomology are from $465,180 to $500,000 for plant quarantine; from $242,800 to $287,800 for suppressing the spread of the pink bollworm of cotton; from $15,000 to $30,000 for inspection and certification of domestic fresh fruits, vegetables, and seeds and nursery stock offered for export; from $514,660 to $887,660 for control of the European corn borer; and for the control and for prevention of the spread of an insect pest, new to the United States, and known as the Mexican fruit worm, an estimate of $100,000 is included.

The principal increases in the food, drug, and insecticide administration are from $918,780 to $938,000 for the enforcement of the food and drug act; from $200,000 to $215,000 for enforcement of the insecticide and fungicide act. For enforcement of the recently passed milk importation act and the caustic soda act the Budget estimates includes $50,000 and $25,000 respectively.

For experiments and demonstrations in livestock production in the cane-sugar and cotton districts of the United States there is an increase from $43,930 to $54,000.

The Budget estimates also provide that $150,000 of the unexpended balance of $10,000,000 appropriated for eradication or control of the European corn borer for use in the fiscal years 1927 and 1928 shall be available during the fiscal year 1929 for special corn-borer research work, with a view to meeting any situation arising out of the infestation of the corn borer.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

Appropriated for 1928	$36,630,450
Supplemental estimates submitted for 1928	838,000
Total for 1928	37,468,450
Budget estimate for 1929	37,599,460
Net increase	131,010

The net increase of $131,010 for the department would augment the appropriations for the Office of the Secretary by $221,350, providing increases in contingent expenses and printing.

For aeronautics the estimate submitted is $120,350 more than the current year's appropriation. This will permit a considerable enlargement of the program for construction and maintenance of air navigation facilities over 1928. The funds provided will make possible the operation of 7,512 miles of lighted airways by June 30 next, with 2,500 additional miles if the estimate for 1929 be granted.

The estimate calls for $320,000 for wireless communication, an increase of $16,000 over the current availability. This should permit the full resumption of the responsibility of the Department of Commerce for the enforcement of radio laws in accordance with the Federal radio act of February 23, 1927.

Increased estimates are submitted for the Bureau of Domestic and Foreign Commerce. The additional funds recommended—$440,400—will permit greatly enlarged activities in connection with the promotion of commerce.

Estimates for the Bureau of the Census are $116,760 less than the amount available this year. The near completion of certain projects makes this possible. There is included, however, an item of $110,000 for preliminary work on the Fifteenth Decennial Census.

Increases are made in estimates for the Steamboat Inspection Service and the Bureau of Navigation to provide needed additional personnel.

The Bureau of Standards' estimates call for a $115,620 increase, which is needed for additional personnel, investigation of textiles, structural materials, sugar research, and standardization of equipment. The total estimate of the Bureau of Standards is less than this year's appropriations for the reason that current funds were augmented by a $200,000 appropriation for a new power-plant building.

Allowances for the Lighthouse Service are increased from $10,677,250 to $11,145,250. The amount for salaries, lighthouse vessels, is increased from $2,273,000 to $2,282,700 for the operation of new light vessels to be put in commission; and the salaries of superintendents and clerks from $570,000 to $576,300, for the employment of additional watchmen at lighthouse depots. The amount for salaries of lighthouse keepers is reduced from $1,960,000 to $1,950,000, due to the installation of automatic lights. An increase from $1,247,000 to $1,722,000 will permit a larger program of construction under the item of public works than was provided for 1928, the total allowance providing for the construction and equipment of three new light ships and a tender to replace one condemned and out of commission; $130,000 for the completion of three other navigation aids upon which work has already been in progress; $200,000 to continue work upon five more; $242,000 to begin work upon seven; and $50,000 to begin and complete within that amount the construction of two projects.

Eliminating 1928 supplemental estimates of $408,000 for construction of vessels, the net decrease of $6,510, from $2,348,590 to $2,342,080, for the Coast and Geodetic Survey involves a decrease from $315,640, to $311,640 for work on the Pacific coast, and from $650,000 to $640,000 for pay and allowances of crews of vessels; and an increase from $40,000 to $50,000 for magnetic work to permit observations in seismology.

The decrease of $21,820 from $2,021,568 to $1,999,748, for the Bureau of Fisheries is in reality an increase of $110,180 for its normal activities when the specific projects for 1928 and 1929 are taken into consideration. The 1928 appropriations and supplemental estimates submitted include two new power vessels, $110,000; Nebraska fish hatchery, $35,000; and an Oklahoma hatchery, $35,000. The 1929 program of specific projects contemplates improvements at the following stations: Northville, Mich., $25,000; Beaufort, N. C., $20,000; Saratoga, Wyo., $18,000; Neosho, Mo., $15,000; Springville, Utah, $8,000; and transfer of Bryans Point, Md., station, $8,000. The resulting actual increase of $110,180 is distributed mainly as follows: Employees at large $40,850 to $47,730; salaries, fish cultural stations, $260,000 to $266,900; salaries, Alaskan vessels, $65,970 to $78,870, for operation of new vessel; expenses of fish propagation, $487,000 to $500,000; maintenance of vessels, $146,000 to $152,500; scientific inquiry $77,000 to $83,000; fishery industries, $25,000 to $55,000, to enable a study of the threatened depletion of Atlantic fisheries; and protecting seal and salmon fisheries of Alaska, $332,000 to $360,000, to enable a more efficient policing of Alaskan waters.

The Patent Office is increased $80,940, from $2,822,860 to $2,903,800, to permit the employment of additional patent examiners upon the regular permanent roll in order to handle the rapidly increasing work invoved in patent applications.

Because of the need for $601,000 less in 1929 than in 1928 for helium production and conservation, the 1929 estimate is a decrease for the Bureau of Mines of $463,070, from $3,025,150 to $2,562,080, which, however, involves increases as follows: Investigation of mine accidents, from $386,470 to $399,470; operating mine rescue cars and stations, from $327,630 to $342,630, which allowance will permit the purchase and equipment of a new mine rescue car; mineral mining investigations, from $99,570 to $125,000, providing for the study and testing of various geophysical methods of locating hidden bodies of minerals and oil. Under oil-shale investigations an increase from $50,000 to $80,000 is granted to pursue, and, it is contemplated, to complete the investigation into the most practicable and economical methods of mining shale and of producing oil from the shale. An increase from $71,360 to $76,360 is also provided for care and maintenance of buildings at the Pittsburgh plant, and the economics of mineral industries receive an added $50,000, from $225,000 to $275,000. Under helium production and conservation there is a decrease of $601,000, the 1928 program contemplating construction projects and purchase of gas rights not included in the 1929 program. Equipment expenditures, however, under this appropriation will be increased by about $185,000.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Supplemental estimates submitted for 1928	51, 199, 801. 20
Total for 1928	336, 683, 821. 20
Budget estimate for 1929	300, 190, 089. 00
Net decrease	36, 493, 732. 20

The failure of the second deficiency bill for 1927 forced the use of $38,000,000 of the pension appropriation for 1928 to meet pension payments for the months of May and June, 1927. The rapid adjudication during 1928 of a largely increased number of new claims due to the new pension legislation of the first session of the Sixth-ninth Congress will further increase the shortage in the 1928 appropriation. Accordingly, a supplemental appropriation of $46,000,000 for Army and Navy pensions for 1928 will be necessary. Supplemental estimates for 1928 will also be necessary in the amount of $3,450,000 for the Coolidge Dam irrigation project being constructed by the Indian Service, and of $1,000,000 for the construction of roads and trails by the National Park Service. These and other necessary supplemental items for 1928, if appropriated by Congress, will increase the total of the 1928 appropriations from $285,484,020 to $336,683,821.20, or $36,493,732.20 more than the Budget estimate for 1929.

The following comparison is made, therefore, between the Budget estimates for 1929 and the existing appropriations for 1928, plus the above-mentioned supplemental estimates for that year. The estimates for the office of the Secretary of the Interior show a decrease of $865,600 to $850,200, due mostly to small reductions in personnel. The estimates for the General Land Office are decreased from $2,297,550 to $2,138,550 by reductions in personnel in the District of Columbia and in the field. For the Geological Survey there is a decrease from $1,807,880 to $1,766,080, chiefly in the items for classification of lands and oil-leasing work. For the National Park Service the estimates are reduced from $4,924,685 to $4,612,250, due to the submission of a supplemental estimate for 1928 of $1,000,000 for roads and trails construction, although there is an increase of $687,565 in the 1929 estimates over the existing 1928 appropriations. The estimates for the Bureau of Education show a decrease from $921,220 to $914,800, largely through the reduction of the item for investigation of land-grant colleges. For the Territorial governments, the estimates show a slight decrease from $1,620,200 to $1,599,200, through a reduction of $100,000 in the estimate for the Alaska Railroad, which is offset in part by the biennial estimates of $80,000 for legislative expenses.

The estimates for the Bureau of Indian Affairs are apparently decreased from $16,204,486 in 1928 (which includes supplemental estimates for 1928 of $3,549,801.20) to $13,754,009. Excluding the 1928 supplementals, there is an increase in the 1929 estimates over the existing 1928 appropriations of $1,099,324, to provide for more extensive work in educating the Indians and in bettering their condition physically.

For the Bureau of Pensions, the estimates are decreased from $268,816,000 to $231,738,000, through the inclusion for 1928 of a supplemental estimate of $46,000,000 to meet increased pension payments during that year. The 1929 estimates for the Bureau of Pensions include the amount of $19,950,000 for beginning the financing of the liability of the United States to the civil-service retirement and disability fund.

Estimates for the Bureau of Reclamation show an increase from $12,498,800 to $13,160,000, to more rapidly carry on the work of authorized new construction of reclamation projects.

For St. Elizabeths Hospital the estimates are increased from $929,000 to $1,313,000, due to the inclusion of an item of $400,000 for beginning the construction of a new medical and surgical building to cost, with equipment, $875,000.

Estimates for the Columbia Institution for the Deaf are increased from $113,400 to $130,000 to provide for remodeling the power plant. Howard University has an increase from $218,000 to $240,000 in the items for salaries and expenses. A new item of $150,000 is included to begin construction of a chemistry building to cost $390,000. The estimates for Freedmen's Hospital show an increase from $188,000 to $422,000, largely the result of the inclusion of an estimate of $242,000 for an enlargement of the nurses' home, for a new dining room and kitchen facilities, for remodeling the power plant, and for an addition to the employees' quarters.

The estimated amounts required under various permanent and indefinite appropriations are increased from $25,179,000 to $27,454,000.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE

Appropriated for 1928	$26, 400, 889. 50
Supplemental estimate for 1928	503, 296. 00
Total for 1928	26, 904, 185. 50
Budget estimate for 1929	26, 784, 630. 00
Net decrease	119, 555. 50

The estimates for the Department of Justice for 1929 include pay for additional personnel and necessary promotions. An increase of $157,000 is asked for miscellaneous expenses of United States courts, composed of $119,000 for salaries and traveling expenses of law clerks for circuit judges, $23,000 for salaries and expenses of stenographers and salaries of messengers for the new United States district judges, and $15,000 for salaries and expenses of stenographers to special assistants to the Attorney General in prohibition cases.

Material increases are recommended for the various Federal penal institutions to provide for an increasing population and to meet the increase in the clothing allowance and cash gratuity authorized by the act of July 3, 1926.

For McNeil Island $177,100 is asked for construction and equipment purposes. An item is included of $60,000 for an additional family building to house 40 boys at the National Training School for Boys. An appropriation of $75,000 was made in 1928 for a similar building. Funds are requested to provide for additional guards for the various penitentiaries.

Reductions are contemplated in the printing item, for pay of special assistant attorneys, for fees of commissioners, jurors, and witnesses, and a smaller amount for rent of court rooms.

The act of March 4, 1927 (44 Stat. 1221), authorizes two assistants to the Secretary. Part of the salaries of these assistants will be met by savings effected by the department and the remainder is provided by the $760 estimate increase.

The need for a larger appropriation to enforce the immigration laws is recognized by the increase of $340,000. This provides $17,000 for additional personnel in the District of Columbia, $95,000 additional for coast and land border patrol for prevention of illegal alien entries, funds for additional immigration inspectors to locate aliens illegally in the United States, and additional funds for the detention, transportation, and deportation of such aliens. The amount of the estimate for coast and land-border patrol is $195,000 in excess of the fiscal year 1927 appropriation for this purpose. The estimate increase will provide 16 more senior patrolmen, 100 additional patrolmen, and 88 more immigrant inspectors than were carried on the fiscal year 1927 rolls, $75,365 more for detention and maintenance of aliens, and $157,337 more for transportation of aliens than was expended for similar purposes in the fiscal year 1927 when 12,055 aliens illegally in the United States were deported.

Ellis Island immigration station is in urgent need of repairs, particularly its water system, plumbing, painting, and electrical fixtures and equipment. An amount of $207,000 is included in the estimate for immigration stations for these repairs.

The estimate contemplates an increase of $24,000 in the appropriation "General expenses, Bureau of Naturalization," to enable the department to keep pace with the increase in applications for citizenship and to provide temporary additional bureau personnel for the consolidation of 2,250,000 individual records of declarations of intentions, petitions for citizenship, and certificates of citizenship now maintained in separate files.

The estimate asks for an appropriation increase of $17,024 for "Promotion of welfare of maternity and infancy, Children's Bureau," to meet State appropriations.

The estimate contemplates an increase of $2,000 in the appropriation "Salaries and expenses, Women's Bureau," for additional travel.

The appropriation "Contingent expenses, Office of the Secretary of Labor, 1928," included a special item of $5,000 for travel expenses of a congressional committee for a survey of coast and land-border immigration conditions. The estimate is $4,700 less than the 1928 appropriation.

The department has on hand a considerable supply of textbooks for aliens contemplating citizenship, and the estimate asks for a reduction of $15,000 in the appropriation "Publishing citizenship textbooks, Bureau of Naturalization."

Total estimated availability for 1928		347,867,977
Budget estimate for 1929		362,167,020
Increase over estimated availability for 1928		14,299,043

Of the $23,791,020 supplemental estimates for 1928, mentioned above, $21,417,000 is due to legislation enacted by the last Congress.

It is contemplated that the Budget estimates will provide for the same number of enlisted men of the Navy and Marine Corps for 1929 as for 1928; for practically the same number of ships in commission during 1929 as will be in commission at the close of 1928; for continuing work at a normal rate of speed on all new ships under construction at the present time; for completion of repairs and alterations to the battleships Oklahoma and Nevada; for meeting the third increment of the Navy five-year aircraft program, and second installment on the construction of one large airship; for numerous public works projects including new buildings and a continuation of the work of dredging the Pearl Harbor Channel; and for the efficient maintenance and operation of the fleet and shore stations.

The net increase of $14,299,043 over the 1928 availability is absorbed very largely by the Increase of the Navy and Aviation. On the supposition that supplementals submitted for this item will be approved, there will be available for increase of the Navy this year $39,615,000. Estimates for this purpose for 1929 total $48,000,000, an increase of $8,385,000. This amount will enable the prosecution of work on all naval work authorized by Congress, with the exception of 3 submarines and 12 destroyers authorized in 1916, for which no funds are wanted at this time.

There is recommended for aviation, Navy, for 1929, an availability of $32,735,000, an increase of $10,773,000 over the 1928 availability. This will provide for the third increment of the Navy's five-year air program.

Ample provision is made for major alteration of vessels, including alteration of submarine S–48. For public works, Bureau of Yards and Docks, $4,276,000 is recommended.

For engineering the Budget carries an estimate of $19,400,000; for construction and repair of vessels, $17,000,000; for ordnance and ordnance stores, $13,000,000; pay, subsistence, and transportation, $149,250,000; maintenance Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, $9,862,000; and maintenance Bureau of Yards and Docks, $7,500,000; all of which show substantial increases. Fuel and transportation, however, shows a reduction from $12,000,000 in 1928 to $10,690,000 for 1929, due to reduction in price of oil.

For pay of the Marine Corps there is a slight increase, while general expenses, Marine Corps, are reduced from $9,405,000 available for 1928, to $8,370,000 for 1929. Supplemental estimates for 1928 amounting to $1,207,520 abnormally swell the 1928 availability, made necessary by extraordinary expenditures for China and Nicaragua expeditionary forces.

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT

Appropriation for 1928	$755, 556, 200
Supplemental estimates submitted for the fiscal year 1928	2, 031, 800
Total for 1928	757, 588, 000
Budget estimate for 1929	768, 270, 042
Net increase	10, 682, 042

The estimates for 1929 show an increase of only 1.4 per cent over the appropriations and supplemental estimates for 1928, which is below the usual rate of increase shown in previous years. This increase does not, however, fairly represent the provision that has been made in the estimates for the expansion of the Postal Service in the fiscal year 1929, by reason of the fact that the estimates and appropriations for 1928 were based upon an anticipated increase of 6 per cent in postal business. It now appears that the increase in business in 1928 will not amount to more than 4 per cent. While it has not been possible to reduce expenses in a corresponding ratio, the need for additional employees and supplies has not been as great as it otherwise would have been. It is now estimated that the expenditures in 1928 will be approximately $14,700,000 less than the appropriations. On this basis the estimates for 1929 will show an increase of approximately $25,400,000, or 3.4 per cent, over the estimated expenditures for 1928. The 1929 estimates are again figured on the basis of a 6 per cent increase in postal business, which is considered the only safe basis in estimating so far in advance requirements of the service.

The more important increases and decreases are as follows:

An increase in departmental salaries of $69,300, which provides for five additional draftsmen in the Division of Topography of the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General's office and promotions in the several bureaus of the department.

An increase of $650,000 for compensation of watchmen, messengers, and laborers, to provide for automatic promotions authorized by law and additional laborers in post offices.

An increase of $100,000 for car fare and bicycle allowances, because of increased number of city delivery carriers who, in the interest of economy of time, must be transported over the larger area occupied by the increasing population of the larger cities.

An increase of $4,450,000 for city delivery carriers, to provide for the automatic promotions authorized by law and for necessary additions to the force.

An increase of $450,000 for vehicle service, principally for the purchase of new equipment.

An increase of $2,000,000 in the provisions for carrying air mail by private contractors, due to the marked increase in mail offered for transmission by this means.

An increase of $1,200,000 for transportation of foreign mail, including an increase of $150,000 in the provision for carrying foreign mail by aircraft.

A decrease of $400,000 in the allowance for indemnities for the loss or damage of domestic mails, due to reduction in the number of claims filed as the result of better protection given parcel-post mail, including taking of receipts on delivery of insured parcel post.

A decrease of $50,000 in the allowance for purchase of stationery, due to economies in use of supplies and reduced prices.

An increase of $125,000 in the item for labor-saving devices, to provide for additional conveyor systems in a number of the larger post offices and the replacement of worn-out equipment.

An increase of $420,000 allowance for mail bags and equipment to provide for replacement and repair of old bags and necessary increase in the number of new sacks and pouches required.

An increase of $494,000 for the Rural Delivery Service, to provide for extension of existing routes and necessary additional routes.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

Appropriated for 1928	$12, 155, 119. 41
Supplemental estimate for 1928	971, 000. 00
Total for 1928	13, 126, 119. 41
Budget estimate for 1929	14, 015, 188. 14
Net increase	889, 068. 73

This indicated increase is distributed very generally through State Department activities for increases in personnel and certain increases in pay made necessary by greatly increased demands upon the service. Additional help is provided for the very necessary recataloguing of the State Department library. An additional amount is provided for extending the examinations abroad for intending immigrants.

An increase of $76,000 is recommended for post allowances to Foreign Service officers needed to meet extraordinary living conditions in certain localities.

The annual allowance to the Pan American Union is increased from $150,568.93 to $152,256. This allowance is based on population, and the increase is necessitated by a new estimate of population for the United States and its dependencies of 132,256,000 people.

There is a new item of $35,000 for the International Water Commission, United States and Mexico, created by the act of March 3, 1927.

Another new item is an estimate of $41,000 for a statue of Henry Clay in Caracas, Venezuela, called for by the act of February 24, 1927.

Sufficient funds are recommended for prosecution of the plans for acquisition of buildings and grounds in foreign countries called for by the Foreign Service buildings act of May 7, 1926, which authorizes an amount not to exceed $10,000,000 for the purpose of properly housing our foreign representatives. The sum of $435,000 has been appropriated under this act, a supplemental estimate for $700,000 will be submitted for 1928, while $1,300,000 is asked for 1929.

Suitable embassy buildings for Tokyo, Japan, were authorized by the act of February 21, 1925. A total expenditure not to exceed $1,250,000 was authorized. Of this amount, $880,000 has been appropriated. The total estimated expenditure on this project to June 30, 1929, is $1,130,000. To keep pace with this program an estimate of $250,000 is carried in this Budget for 1929.

In this Budget appears for the first time an estimate for the Foreign Service retirement and disability fund, $213,000. This fund was established by the act of May 24, 1924, amended by the act of July 3, 1926. The amount carried for this purpose in this Budget, if appropriated annually, will liquidate the Government's accrued liability within a period of 60 years and at the same time take care of the Government's normal liability for that period, which will be reduced to 27 years if the annual increase in the pay roll during that time amounts to 3 per cent.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT

(Exclusive of interest on and retirement of the public debt from ordinary receipts)

Appropriated for 1928, including $106,611,134.44 unexpended balance on July 1, 1927, of appropriation for refunding internal revenue taxes illegally collected, for 1928 and prior years	$275,337,267.44
Supplemental estimates submitted for the fiscal year 1928	52,178,222.79
Total for 1928	327,515,490.23
Budget estimate for 1929	316,333,562.00
Net reduction	11,181,928.23

The principal factors involved in this net reduction, with respect to the branches of the service involved, are as follows:

DIVISION OF SUPPLY

A decrease of $105,000 in the provision for printing and binding, and $50,000 in the provision for stationery, due to decreased requirements.

PUBLIC DEBT SERVICE

A decrease of $25,000 in expenses of administration of public debt issues, due to the removal from rented quarters to the new addition to the Liberty Loan Building, an increase of $116,640 in the estimated expenditures from the indefinite appropriation for expenses of loans, due to increase in refunding operations, and a decrease of $236,715 in the cost of distinctive paper for United States securities, due to the proposed reduction in the size of United States notes. Included in the estimate for 1929 is a provision for a one month's reserve stock of distinctive paper. Provision is no longer made in the public debt estimates for the preparation and issue of Federal reserve notes, as the Federal Reserve Board estimates are carried in the Budget for 1929 for the first time. This item amounted to $1,504,000 in the 1928 estimates.

CUSTOMS SERVICE

An increase of $1,000,000 in the item "Collecting the revenue from customs," due largely to the transfer to the customs service pay roll of the forces engaged in patroling our borders to prevent the smuggling of liquors into this country, and increases in salaries of customs employees amounting to $200,000, in addition to a like sum appropriated for this purpose for the fiscal year 1928.

The changes in the indefinite appropriations consist of an increase of $600,000 for refunds of excessive duties and a decrease of $6,000,000 for debentures or drawbacks.

FARM-LOAN BOARD

An increase of $68,201 in the provisions for salaries and miscellaneous expenses, principally for increase in force, to enable the board to increase its supervisory and examiner forces.

COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY

An increase of $50,000 in the estimated expenditures under the indefinite appropriation for salaries and expenses of national-bank examiners.

BUREAU OF INTERNAL REVENUE

A decrease of $785,000 in the expense of collecting the internal revenue, due to the transfer to the newly created Bureau of Prohibition of employees heretofore carried on the internal-revenue roll but engaged on "prohibition" work, and to a decrease in the field force.

There is a decrease of approximately $14,600,000 in the requirement for refund of internal-revenue taxes.

A decrease of $300,000 in the indefinite appropriation for redemption of internal-revenue stamps, and a decrease of $400,000 in the provision for payment into the treasury of the Philippine Islands of taxes collected in the United States on articles coming from the Philippine Islands.

BUREAU OF PROHIBITION

A decrease of $591,265, of which $241,265 is due to transfers of employees to and from the Prohibition Service incident to its reorganization as a separate bureau and the transfer to the customs pay roll of the so-called "border patrol," and $350,000 due to economies effected in the cost of administration, principally in transportation charges and salaries for clerk hire in the field.

COAST GUARD

A net decrease of $765,330, made up of a decrease of $325,000 in the requirements for fuel oils for vessels; an increase of $133,400 in the provision for rehabilitating stations and houses of refuge; an increase of $200,000 for outfits, ship chandlery, and engineers' stores; a decrease of $95,000 in the requirements for coastal communication lines; an increase of $20,000 for contingent expenses; a decrease of $732,000 in the requirements of the program for building 10 new cutters; an increase of $50,000 for repairs to vessels and boats; and a new item of $34,770 for establishing a Coast Guard station at Grand Marais, Minn.

BUREAU OF ENGRAVING AND PRINTING

A decrease of $964,795, due to reduction in production costs resulting from reduction in size of United States notes by one-third.

SECRET SERVICE

An increase of $29,100 for promotions in headquarters force and for continuing the reorganization of the field forces and making necessary additions thereto.

PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE

A net decrease of $60,805, made up principally of increases of $25,000 for repairs to the steamer Governor Pennypacker, $20,000 for field investigations of public health, to permit of additional subjects being taken up for inquiry, $145,000 for studies of rural sanitation, to permit of continued cooperation with other activities in handling sanitation problems in the Mississippi flooded area, with decreases of $125,000 in the provision for pay of personnel and maintenance of hospitals, due to the nonrecurrence of provisions made in 1928 of requirements brought over from 1927 as a result of the failure of the deficiency appropriation bill, and a decrease of $95,000 in the provision for preventing the spread of epidemic diseases in 1928, the work being carried on in 1929 from the appropriation for studies in rural sanitation.

MINTS AND ASSAY OFFICES

A net reduction of $46,610 due to decreased requirements and economies effected in mintage costs.

OFFICE OF THE SUPERVISING ARCHITECT

The net increase of $13,358,467.16 in the provision for the Supervising Architect is made up principally as follows:

An increase of $4,868,000 in provision for erection of Federal buildings under the public buildings act of May 25, 1926.

A new item of $8,000,000 for the construction of a new building in New York for the appraisers' stores of the Customs Service.

A decrease of approximately $400,000 in the provisions for miscellaneous construction projects.

A reduction of $200,000 in the provision for remodeling and enlarging public buildings.

A new item of $275,000 for the rent of temporary quarters for the accommodation of Government activities during the reconstruction of Federal buildings.

An increase of $245,000 in the provisions for repair, equipment, and general expenses of public buildings.

An increase of $630,500 in the provisions for operating expenses of public buildings, including increases of salaries of the custodial forces amounting to $200,000.

The amount estimated for the maintenance and operation of the Regular Army will provide for a maximum force of 12,000 commissioned officers, with an average of 11,738, and an average enlisted strength throughout the year of 118,750, exclusive of the Philippine Scouts for which an average enlisted strength of 6,060 is provided. It will also provide for the training of 15,125 Reserve Officers for a period of two weeks and of 600 Reserve Officers for periods varying from one month to one year; for the attendance of 30,000 men at Citizens' Military Training Camps; for an enrollment of 125,141 students in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps units; and for the maintenance of the National Guard at an average strength throughout the year of approximately 188,000. Provision is also made in the estimates for 1929 to enable the War Department to commence the recognition of certain additional units with a view to rounding out the tactical organizations of the National Guard and increasing its total strength to 190,000 officers and enlisted men by the year 1931.

The Budget estimate also provides for essentials connected with the maintenance and operation of active military posts, camps, and stations as now constituted, the estimates for 1929 for the three principal activities falling within this classification, namely, Barracks and Quarters, Water and Sewers, and Roads, Walks, Wharves, and Drainage, amounting to a total of $10,440,000, an increase of $1,672,502 over the appropriation for 1928. For new construction at military posts of barracks and quarters, with utilities and appurtenances thereto, there is carried in the Budget estimate the sum of $5,000,000, and provision is made for obligation by contract to the extent of $2,115,000 additional.

Provision is made for necessary Army transportation, including the operation of the Army Transport Service; for the purchase of 2,400 horses, 1,981 mules, and 468 automobiles for the Army as replacements; for the maintenance in part of war reserves, including $7,051,500 for ammunition; for the surveillance of and protection of stocks of ammunition to prevent deterioration and spontaneous combustion; for the continued operation of Army laundries at general hospitals, the Disciplinary Barracks, and at various camps, posts, and stations; for the upkeep of existing fortifications and accessories; and for carrying forward the general plan for the protection of the Panama Canal.

For the Air Corps $29,817,268 is estimated, $24,817,268 being for direct appropriation and $5,000,000 for obligation by contract, there being included in these figures the sum of $11,257,445 for the procurement of airplanes, their spare parts, and accessories. In addition the Budget estimate makes indirect provision for the Air Corps to the extent of approximately $19,000,000, various sums aggregating this amount being included in the estimate submitted for the pay and supply branches of the Army for the maintenance and operation and expansion of the Air Corps. There is also included in the Budget estimate for the purchase of airplanes, their spare parts, and accessories, the sum of $734,288 for the National Guard and $194,087 for the Organized Reserves.

For the United States Military Academy provision is made for the essentials connected with its maintenance and operation.

Excluding all items of a nonmilitary character, as well as the pay of military personnel on the retired lists of the Army, the total amount provided for national defense in the War Department budget estimates is $291,331,838.

For rivers and harbors, $50,000,000 is estimated for the maintenance and improvement of existing river and harbor works, in addition to $7,251,200 which will be available from permanent specific and indefinite appropriations and contributed funds. For flood control on the Mississippi and Sacramento Rivers $10,000,000 and $400,000 respectively, are estimated. For the maintenance and operation of Dam No. 2, Muscle Shoals, Ala., including its hydroelectric power plant, $275,000 is estimated. This plant is being operated and the power generated sold to private interests and is producing a net annual revenue of approximately $900,000, which is deposited in the Treasury to the credit of miscellaneous receipts. The total provided for all items of river and harbor work is $68,176,200.

NATIONAL HOME FOR DISABLED VOLUNTEER SOLDIERS

Appropriated for 1928	$8,325,132
Budget estimate for 1929	8,345,300
Increase	20,168

The Budget estimate will provide for the essentials connected with the maintenance and operation of the 10 homes and for aid to State homes.

PANAMA CANAL

Appropriated for 1928	$7,600,000.00
Budget estimate for 1929	8,660,000.00
Increase	1,060,000.00

The Budget estimate provides for essentials necessary for the normal maintenance and operation of the canal, including $600,000 for overhaul of the Pacific locks, and for the sanitation and civil government of the Canal Zone. In addition, provision is made for certain capital additions, including $600,000 for continuing the construction of permanent quarters.

There is also included in the Budget an estimate of $250,000 for commencing construction of a dam across the Chagres River, at Alhajuela, Panama, for the storage of water for use in the maintenance and operation of the Panama Canal. This is a large and necessary project, to cost not in excess of $12,000,000. This projected dam will provide additional water storage of about 22 billions of cubic feet, and in addition thereto will be a means of control of the Chagres River floods during the rainy season, which are a possible menace to canal navigation. It will require approximately five years to complete the undertaking. Canal business is increasing. The number of commercial craft, the net tonnage of vessels, and the volume of cargo passing through the canal during the Government year ending with June 30, 1927, exceeded the record for any previous year. The construction of this projected dam is an important and necessary step in the plan to provide for the increasing demands on the canal and for the extraordinary development of canal business that is promised.

In connection with Budget estimates for maintaining and operating this great national asset the following information is of interest:

The investment in the canal and its adjuncts is partly for national defense and partly commercial. To June 30, 1927, the investment charged to national defense was $113,122,892 and to commercial use $269,435,229, the total investment being $382,558,121, which is exclusive of fortifications, military posts, and submarine bases. The total gross revenues to June 30, 1927, amounted to $318,447,726, derived from tolls, taxes, and business operations. Deducting from this the expenses incident to transiting vessels through the canal, $95,077,645, and expenses connected with business operations, $143,416,206, which includes the value of services, supplies and materials sold, we get a net revenue, excluding interest on the investment, of $79,953,875. Of this, $74,004,276 was from tolls and taxes and $5,949,599 from business operations. Included in the expense account for the canal are fixed annual charges of $948,240 for depreciation and amortization of canal fixed property and $600,000 for depreciation on canal plants and equipment. The amount of tolls collected has increased from $5,627,463 in 1917, to $24,228,830.11 in 1927.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

Supplemental estimates submitted for 1928	395, 795. 74
Total for 1928	39, 220, 180. 74
Budget estimate for 1929	40, 431, 186. 00
Net increase	1, 211, 005. 26

The failure of the second deficiency bill for the fiscal year 1927 required the use of $116,468 of the police and firemen's relief fund appropriated for 1928 to meet relief and other payments to beneficiaries thereunder for the months of May and June, 1927. This situation also applied with respect to the employees' compensation fund of the District, and to the work incident to caring for children committed to the guardianship of the Board of Public Welfare. Supplemental estimates to cover these payments have therefore been submitted for the fiscal year 1928. A supplemental estimate for 1928 of $100,000 has also been submitted in order that necessary repairs may be made to the suburban roads of the District after February, 1928, at which time the current appropriation for this purpose will be exhausted. These and other necessary supplemental items for 1928, if appropriated by Congress, will increase the total of the 1928 appropriations from $38,824,385 to $39,220,180.74. This latter amount is $1,211,005.26 below the Budget estimate for 1929. The following comparison between the Budget estimates for 1929 and the appropriations for 1928 takes into account, in the amount of the latter items, the supplemental estimates under those items for 1928.

The estimates for 1929 for street and road improvement provide an increase of $356,700, and include, in addition to larger amounts for paving new streets and for repaving and repairing old streets and suburban roads, $178,000 to cover the cost of reconstructing the floor system of the Highway Bridge over the Potomac River, and $5,000 for the preparation of plans and specifications for the elimination of the Michigan Avenue grade crossing. Increases of $25,000 for cleaning streets, and of $50,000 for the collection and disposal of refuse are recommended.

An increase of $20,395 is recommended for general repairs and improvements to playgrounds and swimming pools, and to provide for the equipment and operation of two additional playgrounds.

The recommended increase of $160,000 for street lighting will continue the program of replacing gas lamps and certain electric lamps with improved electric lighting equipment. An increase of three additional inspectors and one clerk is also recommended for the office of the electrical engineer.

For public schools the amount proposed is $12,156,130, which is $158,115 in excess of the appropriations for 1928. The estimates provide for 95 additional teachers for varying periods of service during the year based upon class needs and probable date of occupancy of new buildings; and include $250,000 for completing the construction of the McKinley Technical High School, $250,000 for a stadium and improvement of the grounds at this school, $350,000 for completing the equipment of the school, and $70,500 for remodeling and equipping the old McKinley Technical High School for use as the Shaw Junior High School, and the old Shaw Junior High School for use as a colored business high school. The estimates also provide for the construction of new school buildings, for completion in 1929, that will contain 62 classrooms and 8 assembly halls and gymnasiums; and also provide for beginning the construction of new school buildings containing 48 classrooms and 2 assembly halls and gymnasiums. Items are included for the purchase of land for a new health school for colored children and for a new location for the old Bell School. For the improvement of grounds surrounding public-school buildings it is proposed that not to exceed $100,000 of the unexpended balances remaining from prior appropriations be made available for this purpose.

The estimates for 1929 provide for 25 additional men for the Metropolitan police force and $52,000 for the erection of a proposed No. 15 police precinct station house.

An estimate of $12,000 is recommended for the purchase of a site in the vicinity of Connecticut and Nebraska Avenues NW., for a new fire engine company in that locality, and $12,000 is also provided for the purchase of a new motor-driven rescue squad wagon for the fire department.

An increase of $56,000 is recommended for the workhouse to provide two additional dormitories and a dining hall and kitchen, and for reconditioning and enlarging the brick plant at that institution.

Estimates of $350,000 and $25,000, respectively, as authorized by legislation enacted during the second session of the Sixty-ninth Congress, are recommended for the construction and equipment of a nurses' home at Columbia Hospital and Lying-In Asylum, and for the refund of moneys belonging to the hospital which had previously been covered into the Treasury of the United States. An estimate of $465,000 is provided for completing the construction of the domestic service and ward buildings at Gallinger Municipal Hospital.

For general expenses, public buildings and public parks, the Budget recommends an increase for 1929 of $67,000 over the 1928 appropriation of $358,000, principally for the purpose of expediting the improvement of the Rock Creek and Potomac connecting parkway.

For operating the recently completed Washington Aqueduct there is recommended for 1929 an estimate of $425,000 as compared with the 1928 appropriation of $202,210. While this represents an apparent increase of $222,790, that amount becomes a net increase of $89,290 through reductions in the estimates for the operating expenses of the Water Department. An increase of $25,000 is recommended for installing fire hydrants, and estimates totaling $247,350 are submitted for laying water mains in various sections of the city.

INTEREST ON THE PUBLIC DEBT

Estimated expenditures for 1928, revised as shown in the 1929 Budget	$720, 000, 000
Estimated expenditures for 1929	670, 000, 000
Reduction	50, 000, 000

The reduction for 1929 below 1928 is due to continued curtailment of the public debt. The estimated expenditure for 1928, as shown in the 1928 Budget, was $755,000,000. The revised estimate, as shown in the 1929 Budget, is $25,000,000 lower.

On August 31, 1919, when the war debt was at its peak, the gross debt amounted to $26,596,701,648.01. On June 30, 1927, the gross debt amounted to $18,511,906,931.85, a reduction from peak of $8,084,794,716.16.

RETIREMENT OF THE PUBLIC DEBT REQUIRED TO BE MADE FROM ORDINARY RECEIPTS

Estimated expenditures for 1928, revised as shown in the 1929 Budget	$537, 120, 735. 00
Estimated expenditures for 1929	541, 623, 393. 53
Increase	4, 502, 658. 53

This amount is made up of an increase of $15,052,008.53 in sinking fund operations, a reduction of $10,749,350 in retirements from proceeds of principal and interest of foreign government obligations, and an increase of $200,000 in the retirements from Federal reserve bank franchise-tax receipts. The retirements from net earnings derived from Federal intermediate credit banks and from receipts from miscellaneous sources, forfeitures, and gifts, remain at $500,000 and $200,000, respectively, in both years.

GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE
Public Printing and Binding, Government Printing Office—
To provide the Public Printer with a working capital for the following purposes for the execution of printing, binding, lithographing, mapping, engraving, and other authorized work of the Government Printing Office for the various branches of the Government: For salaries of Public Printer, [$7,500] $10,000, and Deputy Public Printer, [$5,000] $7,000; for salaries [office of the Public Printer, in accordance with the classification act of 1923, not to exceed $143,953, and for the purpose of conforming to section 3 of this act, this sum shall be considered a separate unit; for salaries], compensation, or wages of all necessary officers and employees additional to those herein appropriated for, including employees necessary to handle waste paper and condemned material for sale; to enable the Public Printer to comply with the provisions of law granting holidays and Executive orders granting holidays and half holidays with pay to employees; to enable the Public Printer to comply with the provisions of law granting thirty days' annual leave to employees with pay; rents, fuel, gas, heat, electric current, gas and electric fixtures; bicycles, motor-propelled vehicles for the carriage of printing and printing supplies, and the maintenance, repair, and operation of the same, to be used only for official purposes, including purchase, exchange, operation, repair, and maintenance of motor-propelled passenger-carrying vehicles for official use of the officers of the Government Printing Office when in writing ordered by the Public Printer (not exceeding $4,000); freight, expressage, telegraph and telephone service; furniture, typewriters, and carpets; traveling expenses; stationery, postage, and advertising; directories, technical books, newspapers, magazines, and books of reference (not exceeding $500) subscriptions for which may be paid in advance; adding and numbering machines, time stamps, and other machines of similar character; machinery (not exceeding $200,000); equipment, and for repairs to machinery, implements, and buildings, and for minor alterations to buildings; necessary equipment, maintenance, and supplies for the emergency room for the use of all employees in the Government Printing Office who may be taken suddenly ill or receive injury while on duty; other necessary contingent and miscellaneous items authorized by the Public Printer: Provided, That inks, glues, and other supplies manufactured by the Government Printing Office in connection with its work may be furnished to departments and other establishments of the Government upon requisition, and payment made from appropriations available therefor; for expenses authorized in writing by the Joint Committee on Printing for the inspection of printing and binding equipment, material, and supplies and Government printing plants in the District of Columbia or elsewhere (not exceeding $1,000); for salaries and expenses of preparing the semimonthly and session indexes of the Congressional Record under the direction of the Joint Committee on Printing (chief indexer at $3,150, one cataloguer at $2,880, and two cataloguers at $2,150 each); and for all the necessary labor, paper, materials, and equipment needed in the prosecution and delivery and mailing of the work; in all, $2,500,000, to which shall be charged the printing and binding authorized to be done for Congress, the printing and binding for use of the Government Printing Office, and printing and binding (not exceeding $2,000) for official use of the Architect of the Capitol when authorized by the Secretary of the Senate; in all to an amount not exceeding this sum (U. S. C., p. 1013, sec. 583; act Feb. 23, 1927, vol. 44, pp. 1159–1160)	$2,500,000.00	$2,500,000.00

NOTE.—Request for increase of $2,500 for Public Printer and $2,000 for Deputy Public Printer is fully justified by comparison with present compensation paid a large number of commissioners and heads of independent establishments, ranging from $10,000 to $12,000 a year. The administration of the Government Printing Office requires specialized knowledge, experience, and executive ability and carries responsibilities fully comparable with any of these positions. Further, there are numerous cases in the commercial field where administrative officers in printing and binding plants are paid from $10,000 to $25,000 a year, some receiving in addition a substantial bonus, and none of these establishments do a variety or volume of business comparable with that required of the Government Printing Office. H. R. 9459, Sixty-ninth Congress, first session, carrying the proposed salaries of $10,000 and $7,000, respectively, was favorably reported by the Committee on Printing of the House of Representatives.

It is recommended that the present plan of allotting a certain portion of the working capital for "Salaries, office of the Public Printer, in accordance with the classification act of 1923," be discontinued for the following reasons: The Kiess Act to regulate and fix rates of pay for employees and officers of the Government Printing Office, approved June 7, 1924 (Stat. L. p. 658), after passing in the House, was amended in the Senate to clearly and definitely state that the salaries and wages of all officers and employees in the Government Printing Office were to be governed thereby, and the language of the act beyond question included the salaries of employees who happened to be classed under "Office of the Public Printer"; the Comptroller General, however, has held that inasmuch as the law refers to the classification act, that act, and not the Kiess Act, must apply. The salaries paid under the "Office of the Public Printer" are a definite and inseparable part of printing and binding costs and are covered in the charges made to departments. The work performed by the employees concerned is closely connected and comparable in every way with the work of a much larger number of employees who are paid out of the same appropriation. There seems no longer to be any good reason why one appropriation covering one definite object—i. e., "to provide the Public Printer with a working capital"—should be divided in such a way as to require the Kiess Act to apply to 97½ per cent of the personnel and the classification act to 2½ per cent. This condition should be corrected as recommended.

Printing and binding for Congress chargeable to the foregoing appropriation, when recommended to be done by the Committee on Printing of either House, shall be so recommended in a report containing an approximate estimate of the cost thereof, together with a statement from the Public Printer of estimated approximate cost of work previously ordered by Congress within the fiscal year for which this appropriation is made.

During the fiscal year [1928] 1929 any executive department or independent establishment of the Government ordering printing and binding from the Government Printing Office shall pay promptly by check to the Public Printer upon his written request, either in advance or upon completion of the work, all or part of the estimated or actual cost thereof, as the case may be, and bills rendered by the Public Printer in accordance herewith shall not be subject to audit or certification in advance of payment: Provided, That proper adjustments on the basis of the actual cost of delivered work paid for in advance shall be made monthly or quarterly and as may be agreed upon by the Public Printer and the department or establishment concerned. All sums paid to the Public Printer for work that he is authorized by law to do shall be deposited to the credit, on the books of the Treasury Department, of the appropriation made for the working capital of the Government Printing Office, for the year in which the work is done, and be subject to requisition by the Public Printer.

All amounts in the Budget for the fiscal year [1929] 1930 for printing and binding for any department or establishment, so far as the Bureau of the Budget may deem practicable, shall be incorporated in a single item for printing and binding for such department or establishment and be eliminated as a part of any estimate for any other purpose. And if any amounts for printing and binding are included as a part of any estimates for any other purposes, such amounts shall be set forth in detail in a note immediately following the general estimate for printing and binding: Provided, That the foregoing requirements shall not apply to work to be executed at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

No part of any money appropriated in this act shall be paid to any person employed in the Government Printing Office while detailed for or performing service in any other executive branch of the public service of the United States unless such detail be authorized by law.

General object (title of appropriation), dates of acts, references to Statutes at Large, or to Revised Statutes, and estimated amount required for each detailed object	Total amount to be appropriated under each head of appropriation	Amount appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1928
OFFICE OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF DOCUMENTS
Salaries, Office of the Superintendent of Documents—
For the Superintendent of Documents, assistant superintendent, and other personal services in accordance with the classification act of 1923, [$420,000: Provided, That employees in the office of the Superintendent of Documents may be paid compensation for night, Sunday, holiday, and overtime work at rates not in excess of the rates of additional compensation for such work allowed to other employees of the Government Printing Office under] and compensation of employees paid by the hour and who shall be subject to the provisions of the act entitled "An act to regulate and fix rates of pay for employees and officers of the Government Printing Office," approved June 7, 1924: Provided further, That for the purpose of conforming to section 3 of this act, this appropriation shall be considered a separate appropriation unit [.]; in all (U. S. C., p. 1419, sec. 73; act Feb. 23, 1927, vol. 44, p. 1160)	$465,000.00	$420,000.00

NOTE.—To relieve present conditions whereby about one hundred laborers now under operation of the classification act can not receive pay comparable to that of other laborers in the Government Printing Office because of grade limitations, although Congress last year appropriated funds for a higher rate, it is recommended that the laborers in the office of the Superintendent of Documents be made subject to provisions of the Kiess Act entitled "An act to regulate and fix the rates of pay for employees and officers of the Government Printing Office," approved June 7, 1924. As amended in the Senate this act clearly applies to "all officers and employees." However, the Comptroller General has decided that inasmuch as the classification act is referred to in the annual appropriation the employees in the office of the Superintendent of Documents are under the operation of the classification act. Employees affected are paid by the hour, have laborer status, and work 8 hours daily.

Volume of business handled by Office of Superintendent of Documents is increasing at least $50,000 each year; no appropriation for additional employees was provided for current fiscal year. Number of orders increased 43,034 during last year and it was not possible to properly handle the work. Increase of $45,000 is recommended solely to provide the additional employees necessary to handle the increased work. Receipts from sales last year totaled $594,840.25, an increase of 54 per cent in four years, while the number of employees increased 14 per cent during the same four years.

Permanent specific appropriation—
Cooperative Agricultural Extension Work—
For the purpose of paying the expenses of cooperative agricultural extension work and the necessary printing and distributing of information in connection with same, there is permanently appropriated $480,000 for each year, $10,000 of which is paid annually to each State which has by action of its legislature assented to the provisions of the act. There was also appropriated an additional sum of $600,000 for the fiscal year following that in which the foregoing appropriation first became available, and for each year thereafter for seven years a sum exceeding by $500,000 the sum appropriated for each preceding year, and for each year thereafter there is permanently appropriated the sum of $4,100,000 in addition to the sum of $480,000. The additional sums are allotted annually to each State by the Secretary of Agriculture and paid in the proportion which the rural population of each State bears to the total rural population of all the States as determined by the next preceding Federal census, but no payment out of the additional appropriations can be made in any year to any State until an equal sum has been appropriated for that year by the legislature of such State, or provided by State, county, college, local authority, or individual contributions from within the State, for the maintenance of cooperative agricultural extension work (U. S. C., p. 114, secs. 342, 343)----------	$4, 580, 000. 00	$4, 580, 000. 00

Estimates of appropriations required for the service of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1929—Continued

General object (title of appropriation), date of acts, references to Statutes at Large, or to Revised Statutes, and estimated amount required for each detailed object	Total amount to be appropriated under each head of appropriation	Amount appropriated for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1928
PERMANENT INDEFINITE APPROPRIATION
Refunds to Depositors, Excess of Deposits, National Forests Fund— All money received, by or on account of the Forest Service for timber, or from any other source of forest-reservation revenue, is covered into the Treasury of the United States as a miscellaneous receipt; and there is appropriated so much as may be necessary to make refunds to depositors of money deposited by them in excess of amounts found actually due from them to the United States, and so much as may be necessary to refund to the rightful claimants such sums as may be found to have been erroneously collected for the use of lands, or for timber or other resources sold from lands located within, but not a part of, the national forests, or for alleged illegal acts done upon such lands, which acts are subsequently found to have been proper and legal. The Secretary of Agriculture is required to make annual report to Congress of the amounts refunded hereunder (U. S. C., p. 422, sec. 499)	$75,000.00	$100,000.00
5330 Miscellaneous refunds: Expenditures—1929, $75,000, 1928, $100,000; 1927, $60,396.91.
PERMANENT SPECIFIC APPROPRIATION
National Forest Reservation Commission— A sum sufficient to pay the necessary expenses of the commission and its members, not to exceed an annual expenditure of $25,000, has been appropriated, to be paid out on the audit and order of the president of the commission, which audit and order is conclusive and binding upon all departments as to the correctness of the accounts of the commission (U. S. C., p. 424, secs. 513, 514)	500.00	500.00

	Estimated expenditures, 1929 appropriation	Estimated expenditures, 1928 appropriation	Expended and obligated, 1927
0200 Stationery and office supplies	$100.00	$100.00	$107.31
0800 Printing and binding	400.00	400.00	260.63
Total	500.00	500.00	367.94

SPECIAL FUNDS
Payments to States and Territories from the National Forests Fund— Twenty-five per cent of all money received from each forest reserve during any fiscal year is paid at the end thereof by the Secretary of the Treasury to the State or Territory in which the reserve is situated, to be expended as the State or Territorial legislature may prescribe for the benefit of the public schools and public roads of the county or counties in which the forest reserve is situated. When any forest reserve is in more than one State or Territory or county, the distributive share to each from the proceeds of the reserve is proportional to its area therein (U. S. C., p. 422, sec. 500)	1,285,000.00	1,307,750.00
2200 Grants to States: Expenditures—1929, $1,285,000; 1928, $1,285,102.62; 1927, $1,285,523.44.
Cooperative Work, Forest Service— All moneys received as contributions toward cooperative work in forest investigations, or the protection and improvement of the national forests, including deposits received from timber purchasers to cover the cost to the United States of disposing of brush and other débris resulting from cutting operations in sales of national-forest timber, are covered into the Treasury and constitute a special fund, which is appropriated and made available until expended, as the Secretary of Agriculture may direct, for the payment of the expenses of the investigations, protection, or improvements by the Forest Service, and for refunds to the contributors of amounts paid in by them in excess of their share of the cost of the investigations, protection, or improvements. Annual report is required to be made to Congress of all moneys received as contributions for such cooperative work (U. S. C., p. 422, sec. 498)	1,500,000.00	1,800,000.00

BUREAU OF ENTOMOLOGY
[For the promotion of economic entomology; for investigating the history and the habits of insects injurious and beneficial to agriculture, horticulture, arboriculture, and the study of insects affecting the health of man and domestic animals, and ascertaining the best means of destroying those found to be injurious; for collating, digesting, reporting, and illustrating the results of such investigations; for salaries and the employment of labor in the city of Washington and elsewhere, rent outside of the District of Columbia, and including not to exceed $3,000 for the erection of insectaries and other buildings: Provided, That the cost of any such building erected shall not exceed $1,500; for freight, express charges, official traveling expenses, office fixtures, supplies, apparatus, telegraph and telephone service, gas, and electric current, in connection with the following investigations:]
[For necessary expenses for general administrative purposes, including the salary of chief of bureau and other personal services in the District of Columbia, $100,338.]
[For investigations of insects affecting deciduous fruits, orchards, vineyards, and nuts, $130,980.]
[For investigations of insects affecting cereal and forage crops, including a special investigation of the Hessian fly, grasshopper, alfalfa weevil, and the chinch bug, $207,300.]
[For investigations of insects affecting southern field crops, including insects affecting cotton, tobacco, rice, sugar cane, and so forth, and the cigarette beetle and Argentine ant, $292,340.]
[For investigations of insects affecting forests, $79,570: Provided, That $15,000 shall be used for preventing and combating infestations of insects injurious to forest trees on and near the national forests, independently or in cooperation with other branches of the Federal Government, with States, counties, municipalities, or with private owners.]
[For investigations of insects affecting truck crops, including insects and wireworms affecting the potato, sugar beet, cabbage, onion, tomato, beans, peas, and so forth, and insects affecting stored products, $196,480.]
[For investigations and demonstrations in bee culture, $42,380.]
[For investigations of insects affecting citrus and other tropical and subtropical plants, and for investigations and control of the Mediterranean and other fruit flies, in cooperation with the Federal Horticultural Board, $77,400.]
[For investigations, identification, and systematic classification of miscellaneous insects, including the study of insects affecting the health of man and domestic animals, household insects, and the importation and exchange of useful insects, $98,857.]
[In all, salaries and general expenses, $1,225,645.]
[Preventing Spread of Moths, Bureau of Entomology—]
[To enable the Secretary of Agriculture to meet the emergency caused by the continued spread of the gypsy and brown-tail moths by conducting such experiments as may be necessary to determine the best methods of controlling these insects; by introducing and establishing the parasites and natural enemies of these insects and colonizing them within the infested territory; by establishing and maintaining a quarantine against further spread in such a manner as is provided by the general nursery stock law, approved August 20, 1912, as amended, entitled "An act to regulate the importation of nursery stock and other plants and plant products, to enable the Secretary of Agriculture to establish and maintain quarantine districts for plant diseases and insect pests, to permit and regulate the movements of fruits, plants, and vegetables therefrom, and for other purposes," in cooperation with the authorities of the different States concerned and with the several State experiment stations, including rent outside of the District of Columbia, the employment of labor in the city of Washington and elsewhere, and all other necessary expenses, $670,000.]
[Prevention of Spread of European Corn Borer—]
[To enable the Secretary of Agriculture to meet the emergency caused by the spread of the European corn borer, and to provide means for the investigation, control, and prevention of spread of this insect throughout the United States, in cooperation with the States concerned, including, when necessary, cooperation with the Federal Horticultural Board in establishing, maintaining, and enforcing quarantines promulgated under the plant quarantine act of August 20, 1912, as amended, including the employment of persons and means in the city of Washington and elsewhere, and all other necessary expenses, $685,120, of which amount $50,000 shall be immediately available: Provided, That in the discretion of the Secretary of Agriculture $300,000 of this amount shall be available for expenditure only when an equal amount shall have been appropriated, subscribed, or contributed by States, counties, or local authorities, or by individuals or organizations, for the accomplishment of such purposes.]

[Preventing Spread of the Mexican Bean Beetle—]
[To enable the Secretary of Agriculture to meet the emergency caused by the recent introduction and rapid multiplication of the Mexican bean beetle in the State of Alabama and other States, and to provide means for the study, experimentation in eradication, and for the control and prevention of the spread of this insect in that State and to other States, in cooperation with the State of Alabama and other States concerned and with individuals affected, including the employment of persons and means in the city of Washington and elsewhere, and all other necessary expenses, $32,500.]
[Preventing Spread of Japanese and Asiatic Beetles—]
[To enable the Secretary of Agriculture to meet the emergency caused by the spread of the Japanese and Asiatic beetles, and to provide means for the investigation, control, and prevention of spread of these insects throughout the United States, in cooperation with the States concerned, including, when necessary, cooperation with the Federal Horticultural Board in establishing, maintaining, and enforcing quarantines promulgated under the plant quarantine act of August 20, 1912, as amended, including the employment of persons and means in the city of Washington and elsewhere, and all other necessary expenses, $465,000, of which amount $50,000 shall be immediately available.]
[Total, Bureau of Entomology, $3,078,265, of which amount not to exceed $325,000 may be expended for personal services in the District of Columbia.]
BUREAU OF ENTOMOLOGY
NOTE.—In connection with the proposed establishment in the Department of Agriculture of a unit to be known as the Plant Quarantine and Control Administration, it is intended to convert the present Bureau of Entomology into a unit confined to research work. To the new Plant Quarantine and Control Administration will be transferred that portion of the work under the appropriations of the Bureau of Entomology dealing with the control and prevention of spread of insects and the maintenance and enforcement of quarantine on insect pests. That portion of the work having to do with research on insects and insect pests will be retained in the Bureau of Entomology and will include the research under the appropriations "Suppressing spread of pink bollworm of cotton" and "Eradication of the parlatoria date scale" heretofore provided for under the Federal Horticultural Board. To bring about these changes made necessary a complete redraft of the appropriation act for the Bureau of Entomology. The changes made give a more accurate picture of the activities and coordinate the work so as to render more efficient service to agriculture. In the new language an effort has been made to place all of the authority in the preamble, leaving the items to express the work to be done and the amount of money to be expended. The new arrangement provides for 11 items and the language indicates where the researches heretofore conducted by the "Federal Horticultural Board" and the researches conducted under appropriations "Preventing spread of moths," "Preventing spread of Japanese and Asiatic beetles," and "Prevention of spread of European corn borer" are assigned. The new language also provides for four different titles for subappropriations, namely, "cotton insects," "insects affecting man and animals," "stored product insects," and "taxonomy and interrelations of insects." The investigations conducted under these items have been included under three subappropriations and it is proposed to discontinue the use of the subappropriation designations "Southern field crop insects" and "Miscellaneous insects" and the appropriation designation "Preventing spread of Mexican bean beetle." These changes in themselves do not involve any increase of funds.
Salaries and Expenses, Bureau of Entomology—
For necessary expenses connected with the investigations, experiments, and demonstrations in reference to the items hereinafter enumerated for the promotion of economic entomology, independently or in cooperation with other branches of the Federal Government, States, counties, and municipalities, organizations and individuals concerned, including the employment of necessary persons and means in the city of Washington and elsewhere, rent outside of the District of Columbia, and not to exceed $3,000 for the erection of insectaries and other buildings: Provided, That the cost of any such building shall not exceed $1,500, as follows (U. S. C., 56, secs. 511, 512; pp. 98–101, secs. 141–167; act Jan. 18, 1927, vol. 44, pp. 992, 994, 1001–1002):
For general administrative purposes, including the salary of chief of bureau and other personal services in the District of Columbia (U. S. C. p. 56, secs. 511, 512; pp. 98–101, secs. 141–167; act Jan. 18, 1927, vol. 44, pp. 992–994, 1001, 1002)	$81,458.00

The following three items are revolving funds, are self-supporting, and are quite distinct from the appropriations of the bureau. Expenditures under these projects vary from year to year as they are dependent upon the demand for the service, but it is not possible to anticipate what that demand will be. Fees are collected for classing cotton and for other services which fully cover the costs of the service rendered:

PLANT QUARANTINE AND CONTROL ADMINISTRATION

NOTE.—It is proposed to establish in the department a unit to be known as the Plant Quarantine and Control Administration to conduct the work of enforcement of the plant quarantine act and regulatory activities of the department relating to the control and prevention of spread of diseases and insect pests of plants and plant products. It is proposed to transfer to the new administration the present regulatory activities of the Federal Horticultural Board, that portion of the work of the Bureau of Entomology pertaining to the control and prevention of spread of insects and the maintenance and enforcement of quarantines on insect pests, and that portion of the work of the Bureau of Plant Industry pertaining to the prevention of spread of the white-pine blister rust. To the Bureau of Entomology will be transferred the research work under the appropriations "Suppressing spread of pink bollworm of cotton" and "Eradication of the Parlatoria date scale," the control and prevention of spread activities being retained in the new administration. The segregation of research and regulatory work will make for more effective results in both fields of work.

For the efficient administration of the varied activities with which the new administration will be charged the regulatory phases of the appropriations "Preventing spread of moths," "Prevention of spread of the European corn borer," and "Preventing spread of the Japanese and Asiatic beetles" under the Bureau of Entomology and "Eradication of pink bollworm," "Eradication of the Parlatoria date scale," and "Thurberia weevil quarantine" under the Federal Horticultural Board, have been included as subappropriation items under the Plant Quarantine and Control Administration. This change has made it possible to greatly simplify the appropriation language at present carried under the heading "Federal Horticultural Board" by enumerating the essential points for all subappropriations in the preamble.

Salaries and Expenses, Plant Quarantine and Control Administration—

To enable the Secretary of Agriculture to carry into effect the provisions of the plant quarantine act of August 20, 1912, as amended, and to conduct the other activities hereinafter authorized, independently or in cooperation with the States and other agencies concerned, including necessary expenses for supplies and equipment, rent outside the District of Columbia, and the employment of necessary persons and means in the city of Washington and elsewhere, as follows (U. S. C., p. 56, secs. 511, 512; p. 95, secs. 111–114; pp. 98–101, secs. 141–167; act Jan. 18, 1927, vol. 44, pp. 985, 986, 993, 994, 1000–1002):

For necessary expenses for general administrative purposes, including the salary of chief of administration and other personal services in the District of Columbia (U. S. C., p. 56, secs. 511, 512; p. 95, secs. 111–114; pp. 98–101, secs. 141–167; act Jan. 18, 1927, vol. 44, pp. 985, 986, 993, 994, 1000–1002) $68,610.00
