Federal Reserve Board,
March 3, 1923.

BANK DEBITS

Bank debits for the week ending February 28 totaled $9,385,000,000, compared with $10,026,000,000 for the preceding week. The report week included Washington's birthday, observed as a legal holiday throughout the United States, and this fact accounts largely for the decrease in the total shown. Smaller figures are shown for all the leading centers, except Chicago and New Orleans.

As compared with the week ending March 1, 1922, which contained six business days, aggregate debits for the five business days composing the report week were about $22,000,000 larger, notwithstanding a decrease of $510,000,000 reported for New York City. This decrease is largely offset by gains shown for Boston, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Detroit, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Debits to individual accounts are reported to the Federal Reserve Board by banks in leading clearing house centers. The total number reporting this week is 252 of which 238 are included in the summary by Federal reserve districts.
