Internal Memorandum

Goldenweiser Papers

On talking with Mr. Andrew Kamarck, son-in-law of Mr. Goldenweiser, this week (May 24th), I was told that the family planned to get the Goldenweiser papers to the Library of Congress, as Dr. Stewart advised, before the third week in June of this year. The plan is that all the papers will ^{be} usable to anyone whom the Library considers a "serious student." This does not include the special notebooks of Mr. Goldenweiser. For use of these, the family reserves the right to deny permission as they see fit.
