Memorandum to Mrs. Singer

The Graduate School of Banking at Rutgers University, which seems to be conducted by the American Bankers Association, requires of its students written theses on various banking subjects. Both in Minneapolis and Kansas City, I was referred to theses which officers of those two banks had written, and this matter has come up before.

It occurs to me that if we could get a cumulative list of theses submitted to that school, we might be able to check off those which had to do with the Federal Reserve System. Such a list may exist in the library of this bank, or we may have to write to Rutgers for one. We may have no luck at all, but on the other hand, if we could get this, it might improve our own bibliography.

I would suggest that you talk first to Miss McKinstry about this. She may have already run this down in connection with her own bibliography.
