January 10, 1955

Dear Mr. Strong:

In tracking down collections of papers left by men connected with the early days of the Federal Reserve System, my attention was called to those of Mr. Fred I. Kent, Deputy Governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York from 1917 to 1918.

As you know, Mr. Kent died in October, 1954. I am told by his former secretary that when the papers in his office were gone over, a good deal of correspondence between Mr. Fred I. Kent and your father was discovered. Mr. Warner Kent is said to have sent this material to you.

This information came, as you can see, around two corners, and may not be accurate. On the other hand, if it is and you have a group of letters which passed between the two men, we would be very glad to add them to your father's papers with which Dr. Lester Chandler of Princeton is working. Dr. Chandler has already found complimentary references to Mr. Kent, so I judge that the two men esteemed each other. We are eager to add the Kent material if you have it at hand.

Very sincerely yours,

Mildred Adams
