MONETARY RECONSTRUCTION. London and New York, Longmans, Green and Company, 1923. Pp. vii, 147.

Review:

by A. A. Young, AMERICAN ECONOMIC REVIEW, XIV, June, 1924, pp. 349-51.

Collection of six essays---four of which previously published in journals.

See one of federal reserve system which Young says "is an astonishingly accurate analysis of the outstanding facts in the monetary history of the U.S. from 1914 to 1922. It is easily the best discussion of the subject that has appeared in another country.

See also essay on the Genoa Resolutions dealing ... with the possible stabilization of depreciated currencies.
