HABERLER, Gottfried

PROSPERITY AND DEPRESSION. Geneva:
League of Nations, 1939.

An able and well-documented encyclopedia of business-cycle theory, with a detailed critique of each of the major schools of thought. The 1939 ed. has a special chap. on the controversies that have developed around Keynes's GENERAL THEORY.

The 2d half of the book is an eclectic synthesis of business cycle theory, supplemented by an original chap. on international aspects of the trade cycle.

HAYEK, F. A. von

PROFITS, INTEREST, AND INVESTMENT. London:
Routledge, 1939.

A revision of Hayek's theories as formerly set forth in PRICES AND PRODUCTION and numerous articles. There is increased emphasis on the rate of profit as opposed to the interest rate. Qualifications are also made with regard to the assumption of full employment. The underlying approach and conclusions are not, however, materially altered.
