Suggesting that a comparison of yields between foreign and domestic bonds leads to the conclusion that foreign bond holders have really suffered more loss than domestic holders.

SALTER, Sir Arthur

ECONOMIC POLICIES AND PEACE. Merttens Lecture, 1936. London: The Hogarth Press, 1936. Pp. 38.

In this pamphlet, the author emphasises the great post-war increase in the importance of econ. factors in international politics--"There is a close relation between prosperity and peace." His recommendations include: acceptance of the principle of 'equal opportunity' for all nations in British colonial policy; an extension of the Mandate System; agreements to restrict the use of diplomatic machinery to further trade interests; abolition of State intervention in regard to privately negotiated foreign loans.
