Rist, Charles.

The financial situation of France. (In: Foreign Affairs, July 1938, p.601-11.)

The only way of balancing the over-all budget is to suspend part of the service of the national debt, in particular, to suspend amortization and to levy a tax of 2 to 3 billion francs on income derived from Government bonds. M. Rist, offers this as the only solution to a very bad situation.
