Mr. Marriner S. Eccles,
Governor, The Federal Reserve Board,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Eccles: -

Let me take this occasion to congratulate you on the enlightening testimony you have been giving before the Senate committee which is studying the proposed new banking bill.

Some days ago I took the liberty of writing Mr. Donald R. Richberg commenting upon his recent Boston speech. A copy of such letter is enclosed. Mr. Richberg has been kind enough to acknowledge this communication with the statement that he found same "exceptionally interesting".

I have just written Mr. Richberg suggesting that a place might be found for me on the staff of THE NATIONAL EMERGENCY COUNCIL which would permit my analyses of proposed administration measures to precede instead of follow their publication. In such connection I have referred to you as being acquainted with the public-spirited activities of this organization since last summer.

Any assistance which you can consistently render will be greatly appreciated.

Very truly yours,

(Signed) Lewis L. Baxter.
