Mr. M. S. Eccles, Governor
Federal Reserve Board
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Eccles:

I am so pleased to have your note of June 17. By the Brookings survey and attached questions we tried to provoke thought without injecting any matured opinions.

Because I remember your discussion of this mortgage problem as being the most clearly defined of any that I had in Washington, I hold to the hope that you may be able to read what we have done and give me the benefit of your thought. I shall look forward to seeing you again.

Yours very truly,

Assistant Secretary.
