Mr. Charles L. Smith, President,
First National Bank,
Salt Lake City, Utah.

Dear Charlie:

I had Larry check with the Housing Administration today and found that Mr. Candland, who receives the bids for office space for district offices, is home ill. His secretary, however, stated that the various bids sent in by Mr. Richards had just come in and they are being held awaiting Mr. Candland's return to his office. His secretary promised Larry that she would have Mr. Candland call us just as soon as he returns to his office.

I appreciate your good wishes for the holiday season which I am glad to return herewith to you and yours.

Yours sincerely,

(man) W. S. Eccles

Mr. Charles L. Smith, President,
First National Bank,
Salt Lake City, Utah.

Dear Charlie:

Glad to inform you that Larry talked today with Mr. Candland of the Housing Administration, who stated that a preliminary review of the various bids submitted for Mr. Richards' offices at Salt Lake City showed your bid to be the most desirable. Mr. Candland expected that wire authorization would go forward today. It is very likely, therefore, that you will have received notification of the acceptance of the bid before this letter reaches you.

Sincerely yours,

LC/lem
