Hon. Marriner S. Eccles,
Chairman of the Board of Governors
Federal Reserve System
Washington, D.C.

My dear Mr. Eccles:

May I offer my personal commendation for that fine talk you gave last night on the National Radio Forum. It seemed to me a very straight-forward and intelligent discourse and quite to the point. It is encouraging to know that we have a man with your point of view at the head of our banking system.

If it is possible to secure a copy of your address I should very much appreciate receiving one.

May I congratulate you again and express the hope that ere long these ideas of yours may begin to permeate the minds of the banking fraternity.

Sincerely,
Justin W. Hillyer
