

November 13, 1944

Honorable Millard E. Tydings,
United States Senate,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Millard:

I want to congratulate you on the smashing victory you won in your race for reelection to the Senate. You are evidently a very redoubtable campaigner. In fact, after the first reports came in, it was obvious that your prowess in the political arena leaves your opponents about as much chance as your opponents on the golf course. Joking aside, you are entitled to a great deal of satisfaction over your brilliant victory.

Hoping to see you in person at an early date at the Burning Tree or elsewhere, I am, with best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

E. S. Eccles,
Chairman.
