

December 18, 1945.

Dear Bill:

I don't know whether or not you read this statement of King's which appeared in last evening's Star, so I am sending it to you as I know it will please you inasmuch as it is directly in line with the recent radio speech you made and the discussion we had a week ago Sunday.

Sincerely yours,

The Honorable J. William Fulbright,
United States Senate,

EDUCATION AND LABOR

December 19th, 1945

Hon. Marriner Eccles,
Chairman Board of Governors,
Federal Reserve System,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Marriner:

Thanks so much for sending me the clipping from the Star giving Prime Minister King's view. Needless to say, I am glad to find him in agreement with our view. I hope that you will give some concentrated thought to the question of exactly how to put into effect the ideas of a system of law in the restricted field of armaments. I know it is not easy, but I still feel that it is possible.

I want to remind you of your promise to give me a comprehensive memorandum on the British loan. }

I hope you have a fine Christmas and will come back in January full of energy and ideas.

With kindest regards, I am

Sincerely yours,
