Hon. Max Baucus,
Washington, D.C.

Dear Sir:

Last night while listening to your address to the public to spend less on some food, I could not help feeling a trifle bitter and cynical. I was thinking of that "stupid" Pauley and others of the same stripe who are bushing up prices by their speculation and making it necessary for us, the public, to spend not less but more!

Why President Truman keeps naming like Pauley a name is beyond explanation except perhaps Mr. Truman himself can't recognize a bad egg because he himself sprang from a Galilean cess-pool. It's time for a change - we've had enough of the Pauley, not, horse and parasite.
Yours
C. R. Bossler
