Dear Mr. Eccles:-

I was interested to see at least some favorable editorial comment in the Wall Street Journal, as to your expressed views.

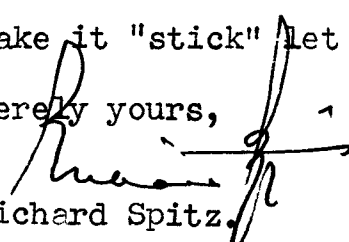

There is no doubt that the only dark cellar the inflationary forces can hide their dispicable and dishonest quantitative monetary ideas is in the Nazi variety of socialism.

Attempting a Brannen plan under the present emergency, so-called, and coupling it with indoctrination of 18 year olds under the guise of military necessity, with so-called "free enterprise" men like Wilson and Johnson (plunking for controls of economic forces impugns the very sources of free enterprise, viz., self discipline in the public interest), has all the ingredients of social-nazism, - and I happen to be of German descent.

It is refreshing to <sup>hear</sup> you tell them to go to hell, and if I can help you make it "stick" let me know.

Hon. Marriner S. Eccles,
Federal Reserve Board,
Washington, D. C.

Sincerely yours,

Richard Spitz.
