Dear Mr. Eccles:

Will you be good enough to send me a copy of the statement you made recently before the Senate Committee which considered various bills relating to the RFC. I found, as usual, that your statement, urging discontinuance of the RFC, so far as extracts published in the NY Times disclosed it, was full of good sense. I feel, however, that various qualifications of your general position on the subject of public credit utilization were made in your statement which the extracts did not include.

Sincerely yours, Sam'l Sharpe
