SUBSTANTIAL SUPPLIES OF OUR ISSUES ARE NOT AVAILABLE AFTER PRESS TIME--HOW RESERVED.

10

Not as a tactic to abuse and irritate our subscribers, but as a working out of our schedules which we cannot avoid, we find ourselves after each issue is off press, unable to fill all the belated requests and demands for copies of the magazine. We cannot anticipate what these requests and demands will come to in the aggregate. We must therefore repeat our warning:

Copies of the issue in which the attached article will appear must be reserved in advance of publication. Reprints of the article, being struck from the same type and cuts as the magazine itself, fall under the same ruling. They must be reserved in advance, before the type is melted.

Prices on the magazine follow:

500 copies of Commerce & Industry (minimum)	$	155.00
1000		305.00
Additional at, the thousand,		295.00

Reprints, in four-page booklet form, of the attached article, can be got out by our publication department on five-day notice, contingent upon reservation reaching us before type is melted. Prices are:

2000 reprints, booklet form, 2 pp inside text, front page cover, fourth page footnotes etc.	130.00
5000	210.00
additional at, the thousand,	31.00

Any reservation for copies of the magazine or for reprints of the article should reach us with a minimum delay, preferably accompanying the reply to the attached letter.
