Mr. Marriner C. Eccles,

My Dear Mr. Eccles:-

I want to thank you for yours of the 21st enclosing copy of your address before the American Bankers Association Convention in New Orleans on Nov. 14th.

I want to take this home with me and give it considerable study, for while it has been many years since my banking experience, I have tried to keep in pretty close touch with the financial situation of the world, and get a great deal of pleasure out of it.

I have been carrying on some little correspondence with Mr. J.M. Nichols, President of the First National Bank of Englewood, Chicago, and the Chicago American and Chicago Tribune have carried on their financial pages some references to this correspondence.

In my opinion had we had someone as Chairman of the Federal Reserve Board of your views and caliber in 1928 and 1929, the world would have been saved the depression, which is acknowledged to be one of the largest and most severe in the history of the financial world.

It might interest you to know that for the past two months the companies with which I am associated have had the best lumber business in their history, and I am crediting this to the good work being done by the present Administration, including the Federal Reserve Board of which you are head.

Yours very truly,

W. B. Vanlandingham

My dear Marriner:

I very much appreciate your sending me the stenographic transcript of your talk before the Bankers Association meeting. I have read it with very great interest. I have two main impressions about it: First, that it is a very strong statement about most important matters; and, second, that there is in it all the way through the frank sort of man-to-man attitude which is much to be desired and admired. If there were more of such straightforward, friendly frankness in the analysis of conditions and exposition of purposes and accomplishment, we would, I think, have much less of suspicion and misunderstanding and fear than exists at the present time.

I was particularly regretful of the situation that brought about what looked like a slap at you in the election of one of the officers. It's too bad that the work of an intelligent and industrious public official, and the activities of a great association, should be complicated by the personal venom of one man.

Assuring you again that I greatly appreciate your sending me the copy, I am
