GEORGE S. ECCLES
PRESIDENT

Mr. Elliott Thurston,
Federal Reserve Board,
Washington, D. C.

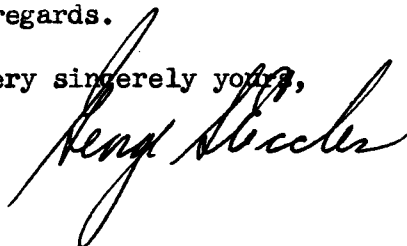

Dear Elliott:

I enjoyed very much having the opportunity to get better acquainted with you in New Orleans and I am sorry our time down there was so short as it was a very interesting session to me. I presume that the Governor's speech will be circulated in due course by the Federal Reserve. However, if not, I would appreciate it very much if you could send me a copy of it. If you are able to secure a copy of the acceptance speech Orville Adams made I would also appreciate very much receiving a copy of that. I also presume that you continue to make a mimeographed copy of the various press comments. If you happen to have one available giving the result of the New Orleans meeting I would certainly appreciate having an opportunity to go over them.

Anything you can do in connection with these matters for me will be appreciated.

with kind personal regards.

Very sincerely yours,

Mr. George S. Eccles, President,
First Security Bank of Utah N. A.,
Ogden, Utah.

Dear George:

With reference to your letter of December 3d, I am enclosing the transcript of the Governor's speech as it was taken down by the convention's stenographer. I have not been able to secure a copy of the Adams acceptance speech. Most of the press comment on the battle of New Orleans was concerned with the Bennett-Adams contest, as you probably know. That was unfortunate for several reasons, including the fact that it obscured the Governor's speech which was very poorly reported, if at all, by most of the press.

One of the few satisfactions of the trip was that I had the chance to see you, and am looking forward to a further opportunity to talk with you when you come this way again.

Faithfully,

Elliott Thurston,
Special Assistant to the Chairman.
