

December 10, 1936.

My dear Senator:

It occurred to me that you might be interested in noting the enclosed copy of a speech which I gave recently before the 7th New England Bank Management Conference of the New England Council in Boston, in which I undertook to deal with some of the economic problems of immediate importance in connection with consolidating and preserving the recovery.

While the speech was extemporaneous and intended to be off the record, it was taken down by stenotype and a copy furnished to me which I have somewhat revised with a view to making it available to some of my friends, as well as to a wider circle of bankers and business men who are interested in the matters discussed.

Sincerely yours,

M. S. Eccles,
Chairman.

Honorable Robert F. Wagner,
United States Senate,
Washington, D. C.
