Hon. Marriner S. Eccles
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Eccles:

Personal

I have just read with the greatest interest your address given in Boston November 13.

I congratulate you most sincerely on it and am proud to be associated, even in a very small way, with the System which you head with such conspicuous brilliance.

I subscribe, as you know, so strongly to the last three pages of your address and do so hope that the bankers of the country and the business men will recognize their responsibility and opportunity and join with the Government in attempting to bring about a solution of our problems that will be for the best interest of the welfare and peace and happiness of our people.

May you have the health and strength to permit you to carry on and out the immense problems that are before you to be solved.

With kindest regards and best wishes as always,
I am

ESB, Jr.-C

Sincerely yours,
