 Hon Mr. A. E. Eccles
 Washington D.C.

Dear Sir:-

Have just read, with great interest, your address of November 18th to New England bankers. Heard your address in November 1935 at New Orleans with equal interest and satisfaction.

It is almost inconceivable that it is necessary for you to have to keep on pounding your gospel down the throats of so many men in the banking business - every sentence in both addresses referred to is absolutely clear - expresses plain unvarnished fact - your ideas are sound - and you are undoubtedly the real protector of the private banking system of this country. All this to say that I sincerely hope you will continue your enlightening course until all bankers accept the present order as the proper one

Yours truly
 J. H. Cantelano

Mr. T. H. Van Sant, Cashier
The Callaway Bank
Fulton, Missouri

Dear Mr. Van Sant:

It was kind of you to write me under date of January 8th with reference to my address before the New England Council on November 13th. I appreciate your complimentary references to that address, particularly your recognition of the fact that in my criticism of the banking leadership of the country I have endeavored to protect the system from its own follies. Certainly if our banking structure cannot serve the people better than it did during the recent depression, the people of the country will not permit it to continue.

Yours very sincerely,

M. S. Eccles
