Mr. Marriner S. Eccles,
Chairman, Board of Governors,
Federal Reserve System,
Washington, D. C.

My dear Mr. Eccles:

If there is available for general circulation a complete copy of the speech which you made the other day to the New Jersey bankers at Atlantic City, I should be much interested to have it. The abbreviated newspaper accounts which I saw gave me the impression that you had made a very fair and discerning analysis of present conditions, with wise suggestions for the steps which should be taken to meet them.

Very truly yours,

Morris E. Leeds
