My dear Mr. Eccles, -

We are so glad to hear you are coming to Detroit next Monday. I enjoyed the evening you spent at our cottage in Warm Springs this fall, and am hoping that I may see you Monday.

Mr. Burn told me that you are going to Chicago after your day here. Would you stay over until the mid-night train, and dine with us? If that is impossible, perhaps you could at least have a cocktail with us before you leave.

Hoping very much that you can dine with us. Please

Yours sincerely,
Elizabeth W. Pierson.

My dear Mrs. Pierson:

I was indeed glad to receive your brief note of February 14 in which you kindly invited me to dinner next Monday at Detroit. Unfortunately, my plans already include a dinner engagement, but if it is at all possible I shall endeavor to find time to come by your house for cocktails late Monday afternoon. At any event, I shall telephone you or check with Mr. Pearson, whom I expect to see at the Federal Reserve Bank.

Looking forward to seeing you and with warmest regards, I am

Yours sincerely,

Marriner S. Eccles.
