

March 19th, 1943.

Mr. Marriner S. Eccles,
Federal Reserve System,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Marriner:-

I've just read your address before the Investment Bankers at Chicago on March 11th which you so kindly sent me. I can't tell you how much I was impressed with it. It is lucid, forceful and of the utmost importance. If you want to send me another copy I'll ship it over to the READER'S DIGEST with a strong recommendation that they consider it for publication.

I don't have much luck with the DIGEST on financial topics, but it wouldn't do any harm to try. Your name carries a lot of authority, and no such effective summary of war finance has yet been written, in my opinion.

With all best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

Stuart Chase

SC:LD

March 27, 1943.

Dear Stuart:

AS I have just returned from a visit to Utah, this reply to your note of March 19 is overdue, but I wanted you to know that I was pleased and encouraged by your comments on my talk in Chicago and am gratified that you thought it worth forwarding to READER'S DIGEST. I understand another copy had previously gone forward to you.

Sincerely yours,

Mr. Stuart Chase,
P. O. Box 97,
Georgetown,
Connecticut.

ET:b