The Honorable M. S. Eccles
Chairman, Board of Governors
Federal Reserve System
Washington, D. C.

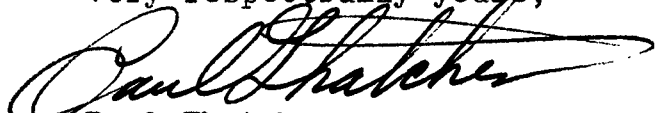

Dear Marriner:

I was happy to hear that the University of Utah has been lucky enough to secure your services for a lecture before its Institute of World Affairs on August 14. It is some small comfort in this world crisis to know that our state university is belatedly participating in the exploration of our greatest problems and their possible solution by bringing front rank men to Utah to discuss them before the students and the public.

The newspaper article announcing your participation in this series reminded me of your interest in world government and it then occurred to me that you might be interested to know that some two months ago the Board of Regents of the University itself woke up to the fact that peace is the number one problem for everyone, and it thereupon adopted as the official policy of the University the famous Humber resolution on world federation previously adopted by the legislatures of Utah and fourteen other states, and also adopted a supporting resolution to implement that policy. No doubt you are already familiar with the Humber resolution, but I am nevertheless venturing to enclose copies of both resolutions for your possible interest.

With kindest personal regards, I am

Very respectfully yours,

Paul Thatcher

Dear Paul:

I appreciated receiving your letter of August 5th, which I received a few days before leaving Washington, and also the resolution you enclosed.

Thinking you might be interested in reading the speech I made in Salt Lake, I am enclosing a copy of it herewith.

With kind regards,

Sincerely yours,

Mr. Paul Thatcher,
First Security Bank Building,
Ogden, Utah.

RESOLUTION ADOPTED BY THE BOARD OF REGENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF UTAH

June 19, 1947

WHEREAS, the building of a just and enduring peace is now the greatest and most urgent task of mankind; and

WHEREAS, the existence and welfare of the University of Utah cannot be made secure in a world where war constantly threatens and must be expected to break out at frequent intervals; and

WHEREAS, war is always inimical to academic freedom and the untrammelled pursuit of truth and knowledge, and modern total war tends even to destroy cherished American ways and liberties; and

WHEREAS, the successful performance of this greatest and most urgent task depends upon a world-wide knowledge of the causes of war, of the nature and structure of peace, and of the means by which peace has been attained in those communities where peace already is established; and

WHEREAS, the discovery and dissemination of knowledge is peculiarly the function of a great university; and

WHEREAS, the sovereign state of Utah by concurrent legislative memorial has declared that the Federation of the World, a world federal government under law, is the necessary means by which peace may be attained, and fifteen of Utah's sister states have made similar declarations of policy; and

WHEREAS, several great universities already are conducting research and offering courses in The Anatomy of Peace,

BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Regents of the University of Utah that this Board respectfully commends to the Faculty and the President of the University the serious further consideration of research upon and the teaching of courses dealing specifically with the nature and structure of peace in human society and the means by which it has been and may be attained, including a consideration of the United Nations and of the Federation of the World advocated by the State of Utah;

FURTHER RESOLVED that this board respectfully recommends that the Faculty and President consider whether the successful completion of a basic study of these matters should not be a prerequisite to the granting of any academic degree by the University.

July 31, 1947

Mr. Marriner S. Eccles, Chairman
Board of Governors
Federal Reserve System
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Eccles:

It was very gracious of you to re-consider appearing on our program at the Regional Conference on World Affairs, August 14.

Attached hereto is a tentative draft of the entire program. Before going to press, however, I should like your personal reaction to the topics we have asked you to treat. At the first session we have listed you to speak on "Problems and Possible Solutions", in connection with the forthcoming European-Economic Conference. Your assignment, together with that of Mr. Russell of the State Dept., is purposely general. However, in the evening, at 8:00 p.m. in Kingsbury Hall, we have taken the liberty of asking you to speak on "The International Loan as a Factor in Economic Recovery", as the third phase of the general theme, "Aspects of World Recovery". I feel sure that no one better than yourself could discuss this subject.

At the time I replied to you by teletype, via the local branch of the Federal Reserve Bank, our program was very nebulous. However, within the past forty-eight hours it has taken very definite shape. I trust we are not burdening you by asking you to appear twice on our program.

In the event you leave Washington before this letter arrives, I am sending a copy of it in care of Mr. George S. Eccles, First Security Bank in Ogden. In any event will you be good enough to wire me your general approval. We hope to get the program to the printer not later than August 2, if possible.

Very cordially yours,

Arthur L. Beeley, Director

With regard to program enclosed with your letter of July 31, shall be happy to give address at evening meeting, but would prefer title of "The Postwar Foreign Lending Program of the United States".
With regard to afternoon session on European Economic Conference, regret to say that I feel it would be inappropriate for a person in my official position to discuss this subject at the present time. As you know, U.S. Government has not yet formulated its policy on this subject, and present strategy appears to be to await concrete proposals from European countries.
Mr. Russell can, of course, provide a general introduction to the subject and perhaps I could make some

UNIVERSITY OF UTAH

ALBERT RAY OLPIN, President

Institute of World Affairs

A Statement of Aims and Purposes

By ARTHUR L. BEELEY, Director

American institutions of higher learning stand on the threshold of their greatest opportunity for leadership. The University of Utah is pledged to mobilize its own material and spiritual resources, and to play its part in raising the general level of understanding and furthering the ideals of a World Society.

SCOPE AND METHODS

1. To organize courses and coordinate curricula, on the campus and over the state, in (a) international and world affairs, (b) citizenship training, and (c) character education.
 2. To hold periodic conferences and arrange public lectures by eminent authorities on all aspects of world affairs.
 3. To promote the exchange of foreign students and professors under a scholarship program or a scheme of grants-in-aid.
 4. To stimulate the collection of books, periodicals, films, exhibits, etc. in all languages, on all phases of international relations; and to make such materials available to all the citizens of the state.
 5. To advance research and foster graduate study in the field of world affairs.
 6. To prepare and publish select documents, study-outlines, and teachings aids for the secondary schools and colleges of Utah.
 7. To help foster the organization of study groups devoted to the study of world affairs.
 8. To serve as an educational clearing house and source of information on various aspects of world affairs.
 9. To encourage gifts and endowments for scholarships, research, and publications.

The Institute of World Affairs plans to avail itself of the help and assistance of all national and international agencies in the field of world affairs.

Dear Mr. Eccles:

Your address at the recent Regional Conference on World Affairs, sponsored by the Institute of World Affairs at the University of Utah, was a magnificent contribution. It was well received, and was very favorably commented upon.

We are planning to publish a number of the leading addresses given at the Conference, including your own. Will you be good enough, therefore, to send us a copy of your address on "The Post-War Foreign Lending Program of the United States".

The University administration joins me in this note of appreciation for your willing and generous contribution to our undertaking.

Very cordially yours,

Arthur L. Beeley, Director
