Dear Sir:

I want to express gratitude for your courage in proposing a reduction in our military expenditures. It is time someone in high office had both the sense and fortitude to point out the necessity of something better. May many others follow you.

Respectfully yours,

October 14, 1947.

Dear Sir:

Thank you for your very kind letter of September 26 commenting on my recent talk to the State Bank Supervisors. Since then, we have had some reprints made, and in view of your interest it occurred to me that you might care to see the full text. Accordingly, I am enclosing a copy.

Sincerely yours,

M. S. Eccles,
Chairman.

Enclosure
