Dear Mr. Eccles -

For the purpose of a condensed version of the War Finance Conference we are publishing in the INVESTMENT BANKING now in preparation, a few of the highlights of your remarks have been lifted from the reporter's transcript. A copy of the text quoting you is attached. I hope it in no way distorts your meaning. Naturally, if it does or if there are any changes you would like to have made, will you simply note them on this copy and airmail it back to us.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Dillman:

This is to acknowledge your letter of November 3 enclosing a reporter's transcript of part of my informal talk before the Investment Bankers Association. I have corrected it in a general way for the purpose you have in mind.

I would appreciate it if you could send me copies of it in case you make use of it, and if you also have a copy of the entire text as taken down by the reporter that you could spare, I would like to have that.

Thanking you for your courtesy, I am

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Eccles -

The original plan was to get a magazine out immediately and thinking that you would be receiving a printed version so soon I did not bother to acknowledge receipt of the revisions you made on the highlights we picked up from your talk. As it works out, we are taking a little time, with the thought that the nature of the December-January drive will shape up soon enough so that we can have a story on it also. I did not want to let more time elapse without thanking you for going over the copy and getting it back to us so promptly.

Sincerely yours,

David Dillman

Dear Mr. Eccles -

I wrote you saying that we had held up the issue of INVESTMENT BANKING that would contain the War Finance Conference story in order to get in a piece about the present drive and circulate it to our members at a time when it would have its maximum value as a stimulant. In any event, a copy of the magazine is attached and also a copy of the notes of your remarks as taken down by the official reporter.

Thank you very much for being so cooperative in all this.

Sincerely yours,
