

THE ARMY INDUSTRIAL COLLEGE
WASHINGTON, D. C.

20 March 1946

Dear Mr. Eccles:

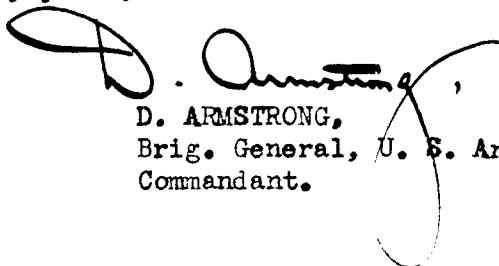

Our students profited greatly from your excellent discussion of "An Appraisal of Industrial Mobilization in World War II" yesterday.

We were all sorry that time did not permit the usual interrogatories and I hope that you will return to the College so that we may have the opportunity of presenting certain questions for your consideration.

The charts with which you illustrated your lecture were most helpful, and we are grateful for your notable and distinguished contribution to the development of our program of instruction.

Looking forward to your next visit with the College, I am

Sincerely yours,

D. ARMSTRONG,
Brig. General, U. S. Army,
Commandant.
