

NOTICE

Restrictions on use of United States Currency in Mexico

Under the provisions of Joint Currency Controls put into effect on August 14, 1942, by the Republic of Mexico and the United States, the only United States currency or coins which travelers, businessmen, or any other persons may legally take into Mexico, or hold in Mexico, are $2.00 Bills, Silver Dollars, Half Dollars, Quarters, Dimes, Nickels and Pennies. Any United States currency of any other denomination found in Mexico, after the period fixed for its delivery in accordance with the Mexican decree of August 14, 1942, is subject to seizure by the Mexican Government.

The new controls do not restrict the importation of Mexican currency into the United States from Mexico, the exportation of Mexican currency from the United States to Mexico, or the use by American nationals of credit instruments or banking facilities in Mexico. The currency controls of August 14, 1942, consequently, will in no way inconvenience any person engaging in financial transactions in Mexico, if he effects such transactions with Traveler's Checks, Mexican Currency, American $2.00 Bills, Letters of Credit, Checks or Drafts upon American or Mexican banks, or other credit instruments.

RANDOLPH PAUL,

Acting Secretary of the Treasury.

NOTICE

Restrictions on Use of United States Currency in Mexico

Under the provisions of Joint Currency Controls put into effect on August 14, 1942, by the Republic of Mexico and the United States, the only United States currency or coins which travelers, businessmen, or any other persons may legally take into Mexico, or hold in Mexico, are $2.00 Bills, Silver Dollars, Half Dollars, Quarters, Dimes, Nickels and Pennies. Any United States currency of any other denomination found in Mexico, after the period fixed for its delivery in accordance with the Mexican decree of August 14, 1942, is subject to seizure by the Mexican Government.

The new controls do not restrict the importation of Mexican currency into the United States from Mexico, the exportation of Mexican currency from the United States to Mexico, or the use by American nationals of credit instruments or banking facilities in Mexico. The currency controls of August 14, 1942, consequently, will in no way inconvenience any person engaging in financial transactions in Mexico, if he effects such transactions with Traveler's Checks, Mexican Currency, American $2.00 Bills, Letters of Credit, Checks or Drafts upon American or Mexican banks, or other credit instruments.

RANDOLPH PAUL,
Acting Secretary of the Treasury.