Dallas, Texas, February 28, 1947

OFFICIAL SYMBOL FOR ISSUING AGENTS

To All Qualified Issuing Agents in the Eleventh Federal Reserve District:

The Treasury Department has authorized the enclosed decalcomania for display exclusively by qualified issuing agents of Series E Savings Bonds. It is desired that the insigne become known to the public as the official symbol of issuing agents, and it will be referred to frequently in national advertising. The insigne is designed for permanent placement in some prominent location, such as the lobby or on a street window or entrance as an identification and a constant purchase reminder. It may be applied on a painted surface or on or behind glass.

This bank will appreciate the cooperation of each issuing agent in prominently and permanently displaying the insigne. Replacements or additional insignia will be furnished upon request.
