

FEDERAL RESERVE BANK OF DALLAS
DALLAS, TEXAS

June 8, 1962

To the Member and Nonmember Clearing Banks of the Eleventh Federal Reserve District:

This refers to our circular letter of May 29, 1962, in regard to holidays to be observed by Federal Reserve banks and branches during the month of June, in which we stated that the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston would observe June 18 as a holiday. We have been informed by that bank that recent changes in statutes of the State of Massachusetts do not provide for the observance of that particular holiday on Monday, June 18, and that the bank will remain open on that date.

We are transmitting this information to you for your guidance in connection with transit operations and transfers of funds.

Yours very truly,

Watrous H. Irons

President
