the Eleventh Federal Reserve District

SUBJECT

Dallas Fed Names Salvaggio First Vice President

DETAILS

The appointment of Tony J. Salvaggio as First Vice President of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas, effective May 1, 1991, was announced today by Maj. Gen. Hugh G. Robinson, USA (Ret.), Chairman of the Bank's Board of Directors. In this position, he succeeds William H. Wallace, who retired at the end of December 1990 and has accepted a position as Dean of the School of Business and Public Administration at Old Dominion University in Norfolk, Virginia.

Prior to his appointment to the First Vice Presidency, Mr. Salvaggio has served as Senior Vice President of the Bank since January 1971, with responsibility for the Financial Services Division, which includes check collection, electronic payments, cash, securities, business development, and the three branches at El Paso, Houston, and San Antonio. He has served in various other official and nonofficial capacities since joining the Dallas Bank in June 1956.

In addition, Mr. Salvaggio has served in a number of different capacities with the Federal Reserve System, including an assignment with the Board of Governors as Acting Staff Director for Management, as well as service as Chairman of the Conference of First Vice Presidents' Subcommittee on the Payments Mechanism and the Business Development Subcommittee.

Mr. Salvaggio has worked with representatives of other financial institutions on joint industry projects designed to improve the payments mechanism, including the development of Regional Check Processing Centers and Automated Clearing Houses. Additionally, because of his expertise in payments system matters, in early May of 1990, he, among others, was selected to serve as consultant for the International Monetary Fund technical assistance mission to the National Bank of Poland.

Active in banking education programs, Mr. Salvaggio has served as Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Dallas Chapter, American Institute of Banking, and as a member of the Advisory Council for the Bank Operations Institute of East Texas State University.

He holds a B.B.A. degree from Texas A&M University and graduate certificates from the American Institute of Banking, the School of Banking of the South at Louisiana State University, and the American Management Association.
