SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Background

Section 303(a)(1) of the Riegle Community Development and Regulatory Improvement Act of 1994 requires that each Federal banking agency shall, consistent with the principles of safety and soundness, statutory law and policy, and the public interest:

(1) Conduct a review of the regulations and written policies of that agency to—

(A) Streamline and modify those regulations and policies in order to improve efficiency, reduce unnecessary costs, and eliminate unwarranted constraints on credit availability;

(B) Remove inconsistencies and outmoded and duplicative requirements; and

(C) With respect to regulations prescribed pursuant to section 18(o) of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act [real estate lending standards], consider the impact that such standards have on the availability of credit for small business, residential, and agricultural purposes, and on low- and moderate-income communities;

(2) Work jointly with the other Federal banking agencies to make uniform all regulations and guidelines implementing common statutory or supervisory policies; and

(3) Submit a joint report to the Congress at the end of such 2-year period [September 23, 1996] detailing the progress of the agencies in carrying out [these provisions].

12 U.S.C. 4803(a)(1)

There are several aspects to section 303's regulatory review mandate. The first comprises an internal review of the Board's own regulations and written policies for purposes of streamlining, improving efficiency, reducing unnecessary costs, and removing inconsistencies and outmoded/duplicative requirements. The second aspect requires that the Board work jointly with the other banking agencies to render uniform regulations and guidelines implementing common statutory and supervisory policies. Finally, the Board and the other banking agencies must report to the Congress, by September 23, 1996, on the progress they have made under Section 303.

The Board has placed a high priority on, and will devote considerable resources to, fulfillment of section 303's mandate. To that end, the Board has assembled a staff team for each of its regulations and guidelines for purposes of its internal reviews for streamlining and efficiency purposes, and those teams have commenced their reviews. In that regard, major reviews of several Board regulations are already in process. These include, among others, Regulation T (securities credit); Regulation E (electronic funds transfers); Regulation M (consumer leasing); and Regulation K, Subpart A (investments by foreign banking organizations in U.S. subsidiaries).

In addition, the Board proposes to undertake comprehensive reviews of several additional major regulations within the next two years. These include: Regulation H (membership in the Federal Reserve System); Regulation K, generally (international banking operations); and Regulation Y (bank holding companies and change in bank control). Other reviews of general interest are listed on the schedule of Board regulatory reviews appearing below.

The Board has already taken several steps to ease regulatory burden on the banking industry and the public since the inception of Section 303. In that regard, the Board has:

(1) Simplified and expedited procedures under Regulation Y for applications and notices;

(2) Eased anti-tying restrictions to allow beneficial discount arrangements for bank products;

(3) Eliminated an entire class of non-control determinations under section 2(g)(3) of the Bank Holding Company Act;

(4) Eased branching interpretations regarding loan production offices; and

(5) Revised the Community Reinvestment Act regulations to emphasize performance, promote consistency in evaluations, and eliminate unnecessary burden.

In all, the Board has undertaken over 20 separate measures since the passage of section 303 to reduce burden and simplify its regulations, written policies, and procedures. In addition, the Board has several proposals out for comment which will further these efforts, including a recent proposal to expand the general consent authority under Regulation K regarding certain foreign investments by U.S. banking organizations. The Board views section 303 as an opportunity to continue these efforts on a comprehensive internal and interagency basis.

In connection with section 303, the Board contemplates a comprehensive review of all of its regulations and written policies, including policy statements, Board interpretations, miscellaneous materials in the Federal Reserve Regulatory Service (F.R.R.S.), Supervisory (SR) Letters, and the like. For example, Board staff will review well over 500 SR Letters, a substantial number of which can be eliminated as obsolete and the remainder streamlined, updated and combined. For some of these items, such as the Board's regulations and policy statements, the Board intends to seek public comment during the course of their individual reviews. To this end, the Board is publishing below a schedule of the major regulatory reviews over the next several years. All of the Board's regulations, policy statements and other regulatory guidance will be reviewed, and additional individual items will be put out for public comment.

It is hoped that, by providing this schedule, commenters will have the ability to address significant regulatory issues in an orderly and focused fashion, including providing suggestions regarding regulatory proposals for comment. For individual items on which the Board may determine not to seek public comment, such as reviews of administrative SR Letters or informal staff interpretations, the Board proposes to conduct an internal assessment to identify guidance that may be inconsistent with, or rendered obsolete by, the Board's current policies, and update or delete them as appropriate. Information about any and all Board 303 reviews may be obtained from the Board staff members listed in this notice.

Interested parties have already submitted some comments to the Board regarding its regulations, interpretations and procedures under the impetus of Section 303, and the Board will carefully consider these comments in the course of the appropriate individual reviews. The Board continues to welcome comments prompted by Section 303.
