SUBJECT

Amendments to Operating Circular 3 to Support Implementation of Check 21

DETAILS

The Federal Reserve System has amended Operating Circular 3 (Collection of Cash Items and Returned Checks) to support implementation of the Reserve Banks' new Check 21-related services. This notice describes the major revisions to Operating Circular 3 (OC 3), which are effective October 28, 2004.

As described in a previous communication, the major revisions to OC 3 serve to:

- Revise the list of items the Reserve Banks handle as cash items to include substitute checks and electronic items.
- Create a set of terms and conditions for handling substitute checks and electronic items subject to new subpart D of Regulation CC and the recent amendment to Regulation J.
- Update OC 3 to reflect previously announced policies related to check carrier documents, deposit guidelines on non-imageable check items, and the adaptation of the DSTU X9.37-2003 format for the Reserve Banks' Check 21 image services.

- Set forth the risks that depositors will assume if deposit guidelines are not followed.
- Revise the terms related to electronic access to Reserve Bank check services.
- Specify the rules that apply to the sending and receipt of image cash letters and return image cash letters.
- Update the handling procedures of missent cash items.
- Clarify the procedures for adjustment requests.
- Create new procedures for claims related to substitute checks and electronic items.
- Define the terms and conditions that apply to the Reserve Banks' new Check 21 products, including FedForwardSM, FedReturnSM, FedReceiptSM and FedReceipt Plus services.
