We must assign priorities to social problems — but we must know the results not in aggregate numbers — comforted impersonality —

We want to do everything — no nation was ever so organized on every level to do good. Common sense and history.

So in our own lives — ~~find them~~ we must set our own priorities —

Kenan —

~~The individual who fails to set his own priorities — who in defense cries but <sup>don't</sup> ~~don't~~ you know ~~the system does not permit~~ it is not possible ~~for me — who instead~~ <sup>says</sup> ~~well — when I'm retired — has surrendered his individualness forever~~~~

But it need not be — ~~that is not possible~~

We can set priorities — notionally and individually — St Thomas was right you know — we are creatures of free will — ~~But~~ ~~implicit in that recognition is also the~~ But left unused it atrophies with a terrible swiftness —
