New York Fed Launches Centralized Interactive Data Visualization Hub

November 10, 2014

In an effort to better display information, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York has created a centralized hub consisting of more than 20 interactive data visualization tools.

Users will be able to click through charts and info-graphics displaying data from various New York Fed releases, including the Household Debt and Credit Report and Survey for Consumer Expectations. The page also includes interactives on securities lending and the federal funds rate, as well as a host of regional data on small businesses and school finances.
