On Gaston's refusal to act as Chairman, Quincy said C. S. H. should act. 318

Quincy shows C.S.H. a draft of proposed call for the state and district conventions, 319

The executive committee appointed C.S.H., Quincy, and McNary on a subcommittee with full power to issue a call. 319

The state committee, at its last meeting, delegated full power as to the call, to the executive committee. 319, 320

Quincy suggests to C.S.H., - McNary being away, - putting into the call a reservation to the State Convention of a right over the District Conventions. 320

C.S.H. finally told Quincy he would consent to putting in "subject to such action as the State Convention may take. " 320 that then Gaston as pleated as a delegate, and C.SMar. 21, 1904 withdraw as Gaston tells C.S.H. he can control Quincy and make him withdraw for C. S. H. for District delegate to the National Convention.

Mar. 23, 1904. 322 Gaston said he would like to consult Quincy about it before C.S.E. s election could be considered absolutely settled, and that Quincy was in Rochester, N.Y. but would be back Friday. 322

Gaston tells C.S.H. that Quincy has returned and he had settled with him; that the machine would leave it to Quincy and Matthews to determine which should withdraw in favor of C.S.H.

Mar. 23, 1904, 323 Gaston tells C.S.H. that Quincy was to go to Brockton that night with a card signed by W. T. A. Fitzgerald and other officers of the city committee stating that Quincy had full power to negotiate as to the votes of the Bost on machine, the idea being that Douglas must put up some money for the honor. Mar. 23, 1904. 325

Gaston says John Lee refuses to withdraw in favor of Quincy or Matthews.

April 15, 1904. 326, 327

Quincy tells C.S.H.:-

Lee will not withdraw and he (Quincy) will not be a candidate for delegate. 328

That C.S.H. will be elected and, if necessary, he will address the convention in behalf of C.S.H.

McConnell will ensure election of a Hearst delegate if he does not withdraw from the Fitchburg fight. 328

That McCornell had agreed with Gaston to withdraw.

On Gaston's refusel to act as Chairman, Quincy said

C.S.H. should sot 318

Culmoy about C.S.H. a draft of proposed call for the state and district conventions. 319

The executive committee appointed C.S.B., Cuincy, and McMary on a endocumnittee with full power to lacue a call. 319

The wtate committee, at its last meeting, delegated full power as to the call, to the executive committee.

Quincy suggests to C.S.H., - McNary being eway, - putting into the call a reservation to the State Convention of a right ever the District Conventions. 330

C.S.H. finally told Coincy he would consent to putting in "subject to such action as the State Convention may take." 320

Mar. 21, 1904
Gaston tells C.S.H. he can control Quincy and make him withdraw for C.S.H. for District delegate to the National Convention.

Osston said he would like to consult Quincy about it before C.S.H. a election could be considered absolutely settled, and that Quincy was in Rochester, N.Y. but would be been Friday. 522

Caston tells C.S.H. that Coincy has returned and he had settled with him; that the machine would leave it to Coincy and Matthews to determine which should withdraw in favor of C.S.H.

Mar. 23, 1904, 323

Gaston tells C.S.H. that Quincy was to go to Brockton that night with a card signed by W. T. A. Fitzgerald and other of ficers of the city committee stating that Quincy had full power to negotiate as to the votes of the Boston mashine, the idea being that houghas must but up some money for the honor.
Mar. 23, 1904. 325

Gaston says John Les refuses to withdraw in favor of Quincy or Matthews.

April 15; 1904, 326, 327

Quincy tells C.S.H.:-

Les will not withdraw and he (Coincy) will not be a candidate for delegate. 328
That C.S.H. will be elected and, if necessary, he will address the convention in behalf of C.S.H. 328

McConnell will ensure election of a Hearst delegate if he does not withdraw from the Fitchburg fight. 528
That McCornell had agreed with Geston to withdraw.

That McNary was at bot tom of this and was furthering his candidacy for the National Committee at the expense of Olney's interests. 329

That Gaston felt he ought to know from C.S.H. whether he was pledged to McNary. 329

This inquiry was justified by fact that some of C.S.H. 1s closest supporters were friends of McNary. 329

C.S.H. asked Quincy if Gaston was a candidate for the National Committee and he said he would be if necessary to defeat McNary. 329

Quincy added that if Harry Naun thought C.S.H. would vote against Gaston he would never withdraw in C.S.H.'s favor.

C.S.H. told Quincy that when Gaston agreed that he should be elected as a delegate, and C.S.H. agreed to withdraw as delegate at large, no condition was imposed or suggested; that if any such a condition had been named, C.S.H. would have declined to consider it. 329, 330.

C.S.H. also said:-

That although neither Quincy nor Gaston had any right to know where C.S.H. stood on this or any kindred question, yet C.S.H. would say that he had never pledged himself to anyone to vote for McNary, or for anyone. 330

That C.S.H. had no knowledge as to how he should vote. 330 That he should not even consider the question until after his elections. 330

That C.S.H. under no circumstances would pledge himself in advance to Gaston, McNary, or anyone else. 330 That it was fair to him to say that C.S.H. was not pledged to anyone. 331

April 26, 1904. 229, 230, 231. Quincy said C.S.H.*s statement was all he had a right to expect.

Quincy also said he would go to the convention that even ing, and should not be a candidate unless Lee should withdraw in his favor. 331

C.S.H. did not tell Quincy what Gaston said, - that he could make Quincy withdraw, - and that he could not in any event go, unless Lee should withdraw for him, 331

C.S.H. finally said to Quincy that when the time came for a vote he would be glad to talk over the matter with Gaston as well as McNary, but that he should vote for the best interests of the party.

April 26, 1904. 331 C.S.H. yesterday told Cunniff that he would say to Quincy just what he said above. 331

April 26, 1904. 331 C.S. H. yesterday told Cumilf that he would say to Quincy just what he said above, 331

Quincy, Josiah (Cont.) C.S.H. told Quincy that McConnell would not pull out as a delegate in the Fitchburg district, but would agree, if elected, to give his credential to Frank Rock of Marlboro, 332

This seemed to satisfy Quincy and he said he would try to fix it.

C.S.H. at his talk today said to Quincy that the above showed that McConnell was not staying in to help McNary. 332 Quincy evaded answering but said he supposed that Rock would not agree. 332

C. S. H. was elected a delegate to the National Convention from District XI, with instructions to vote for Gaston for the National Committee. April 26, 1904. 332

C.S. H. regards Gaston and Quincy's action in having the convention instruct C.S.H. as a direct slap at him, but feels that it will relieve him of much embarrassment. 332

Quincy, C. S.H. and McNary report to the executive committee the call adopted for the convention.

April 30, 1904. 333 Also submitted a copy of the Call to be spread upon the records, containing the clause "subject to such action as may be taken by the State Convention", indorsed on the back:-"Copy of call as adopted Mar. 21, 1904, by a majority of the Subcommittee appointed by the Executive Committee."

C.S.H. argues question of legality of release bonds before Secretary Shaw at Boston Custom House. C.S.H., while in Washington, at first gave an opinion that these were illegal, but later reversed this decision. Show held they were illegal, and the merchants asked for a hearing. Murray Crane and Senator Lodge asked C.S.H. to go to the hearing and appear, without compensation, as C.S.H. insisted, for the merchants. They said Roosevelt asked them to make this request of C.S.H. and to say that Roosevelt had told Shaw to accept these bonds, and that it was all arranged that if C.S.H. made the request, it would be granted.

C.S.H., therefore, appeared at the hearing. Shaw's manner was almost insulting. He read the whole of C.S.H.'s first ruling that the bonds were illegal. ut terly ignoring his final ruling that they were legal. He told Collector Lyman that he could be put in jail for taking such bonds.

the suggestion of his (Olney's) name for President at the dinner of the Y. M. Dem. Club and the State Committee, at which Congressman Josiah Patterson spoke on the Monroe Doctrine.

Mar. 3, 1896. 154
Olney tells C.S.H. that, had acted very peculiarly towards him since he (Olney) had been in Washington; that while he had formally called on him at his house, that that was all; that he seemed displeased that a cabinet member had been taken from Mass. without his consent.

Mar. 3, 1896. 154

Mar. 3, 1896. 154

Captain Aethelin of the Russian Navy, tells C.S.H. that Great Britain, in her treaty with Russia concerning the Afghanistan boundary, gave certain concessions to Russia, in consideration of which Russia agreed to a modus vivendi establishing a zone of 30 miles around the Commander Islands, which injured the case of the U.S. before the Paris Tribunal.

April 8, 1895. 117 Captain Asthelin tells C.S.H. that Russia and Great Britain appointed a Commission to set apart Afghanistan as neutral territory between the two countries, on which neither should encroach. He understands that Great Britain gave Russia some comession to induce her to agree on a 30 mile some around the Commander Islands, which Great Britain used in the Paris Tribunal to injure the claim of the U.S. April 14, 1895, 118

The Washington Post says that Russia has offered to loan 400 millions of gold to the U.S. without interest and that on hearing of this, the Rothchilds sent Morgan to Washington to beg Cleveland to accept their gold instead. Dec. 25, 1895. 141, 142

Carlisle tells C.S.H., Russia did offer such a loan to the U.S., but that the report as to the Rothschilds was not correct; that he had seen a cable from the Rothschilds that, under existing circumstances, they could do nothing in the way of purchasing gold for the U.S.

(Olney told C.S.H. that Russia wanted a very high rate of interest)

Carlisle deprecated such a loan from Russia; said it would be looked on as a virtual alliance with Russia against the rest of the world; that it would make Great Britain so bitter that she might dump back on us her holdings of our securities and drain us of our gold; that Germany might seek to combine with Great Britain to dispute the Monroe Doctrine and precipitate a bloody contest. Dec. 25, 1895, 141, 142.

Foster shows C.S.H. a draft of an agreement he made with Russia giving her the benefit of all future changes in sealing regulations which the U.S. might make with Great Britain.

C.S.H. objected and said we should merely have agreed to use our best efforts to do so, as a binding agreement might be construed as a breach of the spirit of the Paris Award. Foster did not agree with C.S.H. but says he will discuss it with McKinley at Lake Chamlain, where he is to go on Monday Aug. 7, 1897. 194, 195

Baron Rosen, Russian Minister to Tokio tells C.S.H. that Russia offered to Blaine an alliance against Great Britain in the fur seal dispute; that he had authority from his Government, step by step, in the negotiations, but that the Russian cabinet was divided on the question and finally decided not to enter into it.

Sept. 14. 1897. 207

Rosen told C.S.H. that he advised Blaine not to claim that Bering Sea was a closed sea; that Russia had never so claimed and could not help the U.S. on such a claim; that the U.S. should rest its claim on a property right in the fur seals; that if the Russian Government had taken his advice and had made the alliance, the fur seal dispute would have been settled years ago.
Sept. 14, 1897. 208

(During the preparation of the U.S. case, a Russian wad employed to translate the Russian erchives and he proved by them that Russia had claimed that Bering Sea was a closed sea. After our brief was handed in it was discovered that the so-called translations were pure forgeries and the case of the U.S. had to be recalled.)

Denison tells C.S.H. that Ito persuaded the Emperor of Japan that it would not do to refuse the demand for the retrocession of the Liotung peninsular made by Russia, France and Germany but that this ultimately brought about Ito's resignation.

Sewall, Harold C. S. H. speaks in Fanueil Hall Boston, attacking, formerly Sounsel General to Samoa who left the Democratic Party after Cleveland's refusal to appoint him to office. Sewall had bitterly attacked Cleveland's foreign policy. C.S.H. challenges him to a joint debate and shows that he had sought almost every office in Cleveland's gift before he became "disgusted" with Cleveland's foreign policy. Cleveland one day summoned C.S.H. to the White House and askedhim very gruffly whether he had not forbidden him taking part in political campaigns. C.S.H. said yes and that he had cancelled several engagements. Cleveland then turned towards him with a smile and said - "Have you read Sewall's attack on me?" C.S.H. said "Yes." Cleveland then said, - "Well, all I've got to say is that if you want to reply to Sewall, you may do so." ClS.H. thengot Cleveland to write Judge Gresham a letter to help C.S.H. and Gresham give him a list of all offices which Sewall, - or his father for him - had asked for, and used it with telling effect in his speech, to which Sewall never replied.

9 Sc. bk. 37, 41. C.S.H. met Sewalla number of times after this, but each looked through the other without recognition.

C. S. H. stopped over in Honolulu on his return from Japan and found that Sewall was U.S. Agent at Hawaii. C.S.H. told Haywood, the Consul General, an old friend of his relations with Sewall, and said he must call with him on Sewall as he had to tell him what Chuma had said about Hawaii. Haywood accordingly went with C.S.H. to call and G.S.H. received him very courteously, and drove Fisher. C.S.H. suggested to Appraiser Bunn that Fisher call on him. Bunn said he had lost confidence in Sherer: that he was old, came to the office late and left early; that his employees were not efficient; that the sugar trust had hired his brother as their chemist and general attorney: that he was frequently at the appraiser's stores and often even in the chemical laboratory with his brother: that he had cancelled his pass and had forbidden his going into the laboratory.

Bunn said Sherer gave as an excuse that his brother went there to inquire after his sick sister.

Bunn further said that while he had no direct charges to make against Sherer, he had lost confidence in him, and had about made up his mind to ask for his removal. Bunn said a dear friend had written asking him not to remove Sherer and that he had private advices that Cleveland was very friendly towards him.

C.S.H. told Bunn that he would give consideration to any recommendation he might make as to Sherer.

Carlisle told C.S.H. that Horace White had written Cleveland that Sherer had given him statistics as to the proposed duty on sugar and that the sugar trust was trying to induce him (Carlisle) to remove him.

Carlisle said Cleveland wrote White that he (Carlisle) had ordered Sherer to come to Washington to help him draw some sugar regulations but had rescinded the order on being informed that sherer had some connection with the sugar trust.

C.S.H. advised Gage that General Foster should be called in and saked to take entire charge of all fur seal matters. Sec. Gage agreed with C.S.H. and said that nothing could be hoped for from Sherman. Mar: 31. 1897. 186

Later that day, Secretary Gage told C.S.H. that he had talked with McKinley and that he ag eed that the matter must be taken out of sherman's hands, in the first instance, at least, but he felt much embarrassment because of his great regard for Sherman and their old friendship; that finally McKinley said he would write Sherman, but that he was too busy to think of giving up the time required for such a letter; that McKinley then suggested that C.S.H. prepare a draft of letter couched in the most friendly, affectionate terms, which he would sign and send.

C.S.H. accordingly prepared a draft of letter which Gage gave to McKinley and later Gage said McKinley had signed and sent it.

C.S.H. feels that the fact that McKinley was willing to send this letter shows conclusively that McKinley considered Sherman too oldered too ill to be of any use in his cabinet.

(Sherman was given this position to get him out of the Senate and to make room for Mark Hanna.)

Mar. 31, 1897. 186

Foster and C.S.H. were appointed as Commissioners of the U.S. to take charge of the fur seal negotiations.

April 8, 1897, 187

The N. Y. Tribune publishes the "shirt sleeve" dispatch sent by Sherman to Lord Salisbury on the fur seal matter, dated May 10. This was absolutely unauthorized by the State Department which could not find by what authority or by whom it had been given cut.

From the introductory matter the Department believes it was given to Whitelaw Reid, the owner of the Tribune, and then in London as Special Ambassador to the Ousen's Jubilee.

McKinley, Asst. Sec. Cridler, and C.S.H. believe Foster must have given it to Reid in London, but Foster denies that he did this.

The letter caused much bitterness in London, and there is much speculation in the American papers as to who could have written it.

Everyone believes Sherman did not write it, for he publicly denied, a month ago, that any such letter had been sent. - evidently having forgotten that he had signed it. C.S.H. actually drafted the letter, furnishing the legal and statistical arguments, while Foster put it into final shape. C.S.H. strongly objected to certain portions added by Foster, but, at Foster's urgent solicitation finally permitted them to stand, being convinced that Great Britain would not reopen the fur seal question unless a very sharp note was sent to

The note accused Great Britain of bad faith but proved such faith. Great Britain had refused to reopen the matter in a series of very suprcilious and almost insulting letters which imputed bad faith to us merely because we had asked to have the matter reopened.

Sherman at first did not want to sign the note. McKinley at first would not permit the note to be sent. Foster finally persuaded them that it was advisable to send of circulating money greater than the increase of our population.

This increased purchase of silver was felt by conservative men to have gone to the extreme extent in favor of the producers of silver.

I yielded with reluctance to the amount provided for, but it seemed to me the most expedient measure to stop a coinage already in excess of popular demand and to furnish a good paper currency more favored by the people.

I now believe the measure will work out most beneficial results. It will tend to adfance silver to its old parity with gold. It has already advanced the value of our vast store of silver in the Treasury.

Had no reasonable substitute been offered before the session closed, many Republican Congressmen would have felt compelled to vote finally for free coinage of silver, who personally were opposed to the free coinage of silver, and so voted up to the passage of the bill of July 14, 1890.****

Oct. 20, 1892. 4 Sc. bk. 29

Sherman writes Walker.

The bill was the only expedient by which we could defeat the free coimage of silver.

To defeat such a policy, so pregnant with evil, I was willing to buy the entire product of American silver mines at its gold value, - and this was what we provided, guarded so far as we could. To accomplish our object, we had to get the consent of the Republican representatives from the silver producing states. This we could only do by buying the silver product of those states.

Sherman Silver Purchase Act (Cont.) It was a costly purchase. The silver we purchased is not worth as much as we paid for it, but this loss is insignificant compared to our gain by the defeat of the free coinage of silver. It is said there was no danger of free coinage, that the President (Harrison) would have vetoed it. We had no right to throw the responsibility upon him ***** Has never regretted the passage of this bill. He would, however, strike out the provision for the compulsory purchase of a given quantity of silver and authorize the secretary to buy silver bullion at its market price, when needed for subsidiary coinage. Advises repeal of the purchasing clauses. July 22, 1893. 6 Sc. bk. 100 C.S.H. brings statistical matter relating to the, to Cleveland at Gray Gables. July 21, 1893, 67 Clveland was very angry with the silver men in the Senate. Aug. 18, 1893. 70 Cleveland was pleased at a letter from Senator Vilas suggesting that appointments be held up and says he will wire him to suggest it to the cabinet. Aug. 18, 1893. 70 Cleveland does not approve the declaration attached to the Voorhees bill as reported to the Senate. Aug. 18, 1893. 70 C.S.H. asks Holmes of the Boston Herald to give Carlisle credit for his splendid work in trying to repeal the. Aug. 31, 1893, 71 Carlisle has been so busy trying to repeal the, that he has been glad to turn over all detailed work of the Treasury to C.S.H. as acting secretary. Sept. 2, 1893. 72 Repealed by Congress. Nov. 1, 1893. 73 Would have been repealed long before were it not for the treachery of certain alleged friends of the repeal. prominent among whom was Senator Gorman. Carlisle believes Gorman constantly held out hopes of compromise to the silver advocates. One of the drafts of a compromise submitted to Carlisle was in Gorman's handwriting. The final proposition of compromise was prepared at a meeting at Which Gorman wasppresent. '

As C.S.H. remembers, Cleveland told C.S.H. and Gov. Russell, that he - Cleveland-would accept no compromise.

who called on Che veland on Oct. 29, that at that very meeting Gorman had a letter in his pocket stating

Cleveland told C.S.H. later that he personally had written no such letter to Gorman.

Carlisle has stood like a rock, throughout the fight, for unconditional repeal. All talk of his weakening or favoring any compromise C.S.H. knows to be untrue. Nov. 1, 1893. 73, 74

Senator Gray of Delaware was very weak, vacillating and timid throughout the fight for repeal. He was the first friend of the administration to give in and sign the proposed compromise. Had it not been for Cleveland's courage the releaing bill never would have passed.

Logan Carlisle tells C.S.H. that his father told him that Cleveland was asked to appoint Senator Gray on the Supreme Court but said he would be dammed if Gray would sit on the Supreme Bench while he was President. This feeling grew out of Gray's signing the compromise.

May 24, 1894. 90 Carlislegives out an interview that he will redeem the. in gold as long as there was gold lawfully available for that purpose.

April 21, 1893. 99 Partisan papers at once claimed that Carlisle meant that the hundred million gold reserve against the green backs was not "available" and as there was little free gold over this gold reserve, that Carlisle would soon have to redeem these notes in silver. 99 This rumor caused much excitement and apprehension, 99

Cleveland then gave out another interview stating that these notes would be paid in gold and that the cabinet was absolutely united on this policy. April 24, 1893. 99

As a matter of fact, before Carlisle gave out his interview Cleveland carefully read it and approved it.

The President and cabinet go to N. Y. leaving C.S.H. as acting secretary with instructions to redeem both Sherman notes and greenbacks in gold.

April 26, 1893. 64 Carlisle gave out his interviewto the press during the evening of April 20, knowing that on the next day the 100 million gold reserve would have to be drawn upon in order to pay the Sherman notes and greenbacks in gold.

Carlisle meant by "lawfully available" that he could not use the 106 millions of gold then in the Treasury against which gold certificates were outstanding. This 106 millions had nothing to do with the 100 millions of gold held in reserve for resumption purposes; i.e. for paying the greenbacks. 100

Carlisle on April 21, the morning on which his interview was published, telegraphed the Subtreasurer at N. Y. to redeem all Sherman notes in gold whether the gold was wanted for export or for other purposes. C.S.H. later showed a copy of this telegram to Mr. Holmes of the Boston Herald.

Nov. 13, 1894. 99 The Boston Herald had over and over again charged that Carlisle had threatened not to use the 100 million gold reserve for the redemption of the Sherman notes. 99

Senator Frye, in a speech at Malden bitterly attacked Carlisle, charging him with having threatened to pay the Sherman notes in silver, and accusing him of cowardice in deciding that he did not want the enactment of the amendment to the sundry civil bill reported in February, 1893, just before the expiration of Congress.

This amendment would have authorized the issue If 3% bonds under the Resumption Act, and under it Senator Frye claimed that Carlisle could have issued bonds for gold with which to redeem the Sherman notes. 100

Carlisle was furious and asked C.S.H. to get Phineas Pierce in Boston to wire Carlisle am ask him if Senator Frye's charges were true, and said he would send Pierce a letter explaining the wholematter.

C.S.H. arranged this and Pierce wired Carlisle as arranged. 101

9 Sc. bk. 49

Carlisles letter stated: -

Cleveland and Carlisle favored this amendment. senator Harris got through an amendment to it providing that the gold obtained by issuing these bonds should be applied to the uses of the Resumption Act and to no other purpose.

This amendment of Harris was fatal. Whether gold obtained by bonds issued under the Resumption Act, bearing a rate of interest higher than 3% could be used to redeem Sherman notes was very doubtful and Carlisle and C.S.H. thought such gold could not be so used, were it mot for the declaration as to parity in the Sherman Act.

C.S.H. and Carlisle thought that this parity clause made it possible to use the gold for redeeming the Sherman notes. We both felt, however, that the Harris amendment would have taken away that power, and would have limited the use of gold so obtained to the redemption of greenbacks only.

Dec. - 1894. 105

Was passed purely as a political measure to secure the votes of the free silver clement of the west.

The result of the law in thus inflating the currency quickly manifested itself in absolute distrust abroad of our financial integrity, then followed shipments of our securities back to this country, exportation of our gold, and finally a distrust even among our own people in our ability to maintain gold payments and a consequent withdrawal of gold from circulation to be hoarded in private coffers *****

Crisis of 1893 felt all over the world *****

At a time when the people of other nations were preparing for the coming storm, giving up all doubtful speculative ventures and restricting their operations in every possible way, our country, with reckless audacity plunged into one of the maddest speculative enterprises ever known to the civilized world, when it undertook, by the enactment of the silver purchasing law to ball the price of silver bullion for the exclusive benefit of a few but powerful silver mine owners.

As a result, at least 500 millions of foreign capital were withdrawn or withheld by London investors between 1890 and 1893. Our gold began toflow out of England, Austria and France. C.S.H. speech.

Oct. 22, 1895. 9 Se bk. 174

The law was not passed to avert the danger of free coinage. Sherman said on July 8, 1890, when he reported the bill that the H.R. by a decisive vote had determined against free coinage.

Later, Sherman, during the debate on the bill to repeal the purchasing clauses, said that the passage of the bill averted a free coinage bill.

Boston Herald criticizes C.S.H.'s speech.

Says that the H.R., although not willing to accept open free coinage had passed the Conger bill, - a covert free coinage bill *** the Conger bill went to the senate and Sherman's motion to atrike out the 6th section failed by 46 to 16.

The Senate then passed a free coinage bill as a substitute, the H. R. refused to concur and the bill went to comference. Five of the conferees had either voted for the Conger bill or for free silver. The committee, through Sherman's efforts, reported the existing bill as a compromise, under which the Conger bill and the free coinage bill disappeared.

We owe the safety thus secured to Sherman.

Thayer, John B. (Cont.) Tells C.S. H that when the rate bill becomes law he should suggest to the principal N. Y. railroads to retain C.S.H. as counsel for Int. Commerce Commission work. June - 1906. 397 Tells C.S.H. that Randolph (Vice President of B. & O. R.R.) Caldwell (Vice President of D. L. & W. R.R.) and George Massey (General Counsel of Pa. R.R.) all agree that C.S.H. should be retained. Said his idea was to have the Pa. R.R., B. & O. R.R., Phila. & Reading R. R., United R. R. 's of New Jersey, D.L. & W. R.R., and N. Y. Central R.R. all unite in retaining C.S.H. Suggested a retainer of $25,000. C.S.H. said he could scarcely afford to give up the B&M. R. R. and move to N. Y. on this retainer. Thayer said he could easily arrange to satisfy C.S.H. C.S.H. said $30,000 or $35,000 would bethe least he could accept if he had to live in N. Y. C.S.H. suggested accepting a smaller retainer and living in Boston. C.S. H2 said he would accept $20,000 (including the B. & M. retainer) if he could live in Boston. C. S. H. finally said he would accept a $5000 retainer from the Penna. R.R. and the same for each R.R. coming into the arrangement, if Mr. Tuttle would consent. Theyer said he would go over the whole matter and write C.S.H. later. Thayer agreed that any arrangement made should not interfere with the special work C.S.H. was doing as counsel, relaing to immigration, customs, bonded traffic through Canada, etc.

Thayer said he wanted the Trunk Line association to retain C.S.H. and that C.S.H. could do valuable work in arbitrating between the members and that other railroads not now members, such as the B. & M., Grand Trunk, etc. should join.

Thayer said he would write me definitely soon, and not to mention it to any one, not even to Tuttle, until C.S.H. heard from it to any one, not even to Tuttle, until C.S.H. heard from him, but to consider this merely a personal talk for the present.

Tells C.S.H. that Newman of N. Y. Central, said, before going abroad, he did not approve of joint counsel, that each R.R. should represent itself. Says Newman will return on Sept. 10 and he would take it up with him again.

Thayer said he was determined to put this through.

Introduces a labor plank; said he had been counsel for Lime Owners Association in Colorado labor troubles.
Diaavowed any intention even to appear to favor dynamities. States conditions in Colorado. Gov. Peabody runs whole state, through his adjutant General, intimidating and deporting men, running elections etc. Said that first clause of his resolution was a blow at the "closed shop."

After long debate, that part of his plank was adopted that labor had the right to live and work when and where it pleased.

This was a blow at Gov. Peabody's illegal acts and yet censured "labor" for attacking non-inion men.

(Tillman was most comservative during the meetings of the resolutions committee. He did his best to bring about harmony. He was glad to have silver absolutely ignored by the convention and was opposed to mentioning gold only because the constituents of the old silver men would not understand their conversion.

He hated Bryan and believed he was trying to disrupt the Party and wanted such a wild platform that no even reas onably conservative man could accept the nomination.

At one time, when Bryan was raging about free silver, Tillman lea ned over the table, shook his fist in Bryan's face and yelled cut, - "You are a dammed fool! Silver is dead and you know it!

You may have loved your mother-in-law, long since dead, but that is no reason why you should take her body out of the grave and exhibit it in your parlor for the edification of your friends!")

McLeod says there is a fair chance of, pulling out in favor of C.S.H. Aug. 15, 1910. 418

McLecd says Vahey and Foss have had a conference and Vahey had agreed to withdraw for Foss; that Vahey told Foss that, in view of his interview of June 1 (scrap bks. Vol. 63) he should have to prepare the public gradually for his withdrawal: that Foss said he couldttake his own time: that on July16 Vahey gave out an interview, in which, while still saying he was a candidate, very much softened his position and made it easier for him to pull out (64 Sc. bk. 107)

Aug. 15, 1910. 418 McLeod did not directly say but distinctly implied that there was a pecuniary consideration given to Vahey by Foss. Aug. 15, 1910. 418

McLeod said that, shortly after, Vahey's friends began to accuse him of selling out; that Judge DeCourcey told him this was the rumor: that finally Mayor Fitzgerald came out against him.

Aug. 15, 1910. 418

McLe od said that finally, as the result of what his friends were saving and of Fitzgerald's interview. Vahey became very mad and finally, at the Worcester meeting (63 Sc. bk. 158) demanded the nomination. Aug. 15, 1910. 418

C. S. H. tells Coughlin of the rumor that Vahey had sold out to Foss and pointed out the peculiar nature of his interview of July 16. Coughlin called Vahey up and told C.S.H. that Vahey said he was a candidate, but that, of course, he did not want the nomination if everyone was against him. C.S.H. and Coughlin thought this latter remark very significant. 419

McLeod said he himself had discussed with Vahey the easiest way to withdraw in accordance with his agreement with Foss. 419

C.S.H. believes Vahey lied to Coughlin. 419

Augl 17, 1910, 420, 421 C.S.H. replied that he would not give one cent to Vahey to induce himto withdraw, nor would be permit Currier or anybody else to ask money for such a purpose; that Vahey should realize that he could not be elected and that his best course was to withdraw in favor of C.S.H.: that if he did this he would not only be a powerful, petent, leader of the party, but would also have the respect and gratitude of C.S.H.; that this was all C.S.H. could say; that C.S.H. would prefer to lose the Governorship than make a single pledge to secure it; that he should tell this to Currier. Douglas said he would ask Skeffington to see Vahey and try to induce him to withdraw for C.S.H.

Aug. 21, 1910, 423 C.S.H. told Douglas he absolutely forbad anyone from promising Valey a cent for his withdrawal or making him any pledge; that if Vahey voluntarily withdrew, he (C.S.H.) would naturally be grateful to him, but could make no pledge.

Aug. 21, 1910, 423 Douglas asked C.S.H. if Vahey would befit for a sumerior court judgeship. C.S.H. said he knew nothing personally against him. but that he had heard rumors of complaints against him before the Bar Association, and that he had grave doubts of his fitness for such a position. 424

C.S.H. told Douglas of Skeffington's talk with Currier and reaffirmed what he said about contributions.

H. heard nothing more from him. 145 Cleveland talked with C.S.H. very freely and showed most intense interest in the matter. 145 Said the honor of the country demanded that a firm stand be taken against infringement of the Monroe Doctrine. 146 Said a great principle was at stake, which the whole country would appreciate before long. 146 Did not show slightest sign of yielding to the clamor in New England and N. Y. 146 He had evidently made up his mind cautiously and carefully and was as firm as a rock in his conclusions. 146 Said he had hoped to send a much shorter message to Congress on the question but he could not condense it further. 146 Said he had received many protesting letters from Boston, mentioning Moses, Williams, Edward, Atkinson and Mr. Parkinson, his naightbors at Gray Gables. 146 Said he had just answered Parkinson's letter. 146 Much provoked at Atkinson and thought him almost insane. 146 Showed great sorrow at John E. Russell's speech before N. E. Free Trade League. Did not object to any opinion Russell might form, but felt that, considering their intimate relations and the many practical tokens of his regard and confidence in Russell, he might at least have asked the League to suspend judgment until the evidence could be examined. 147 Said Russell had always talked to him in a jingo spirit and that, in his pamphlet on the Monroe Dectrine, he went even farther than he (Cleveland) did, and contended that a South American Republicacould not be permitted even voluntarily to dispose of its territory to a foreign power.

Venezuela dispute (Cont.) C.S.H.'s talk with Cleveland as to Judge Holmes for the Commission See - Holmes.

Cleveland never mentioned Olney's mame and C.S.H. is satisfied that he personally will choose the commission, 147

When Cleveland asked C.S.H. to go to White, he said Lamont and he had talked the matter over and reached the conclusion that CS.H. was the best man to send on this mission. Olney was not mentioned and this seemed strange to C.S.H. 147

Carlisle tells CSE. that Olney was opposed to Judge Alvey being put on the commission but that Cleveland told him (Carlisle) that he intended to appoint the commission without any special regard to Olney's wishes. Jan. 5, 1896. 148

Carlisle told C.S.H. that if Cleveland had taken his friends into counsel he would not have put the threat of war into his message, and he implied that Cleveland had not consulted the cabinet at all in the matter, 148

Carlisle said that while the position taken in the message and correspondence was impregnable, yet the form of both was unforturate, and that they could have been expressed with just as much force, and yet in a more diplomatic manner. Jan. 5, 1895. 148

Olney tells C.S.H. he began the Venezuela dispatch before Gresham died (May 28, 1895); that about July 4 he left the first draft with Cleveland at Buzzards Bay, saying that it expressed his judgment but that Cleveland might not agree to it; that he heard nothing for two weeks when Cleveland sent work to him to call: that Cleveland said he agreed fully with the despatch; that also he said that distrusting Bayard's course, he had written him a 5 or 6 page letter advising him to what was coming and trying to impress on him the justice of his position. June 9, 1896. 162 163

Olney praised Justice Brewer and said the commission was a fine one and was satisfied that their conclusion would be correct and vigorous, 163

Olney said he wanted Bayard recalled but that the President, although agreeing with Olney, thought it was almost too late.

Carlisle tells C.S.H. that Cleveland never read the Venezuelan message to Congress to the cabinet before sending it, but that Olney's demand for arbitration was read to the cabinet at a special session held in the summer, for which

- C.S.H. meets, at Reform Club, N.Y. and Wells says he is writing an article on the Venezuela boundary trouble which is shortly to be published in some magazine and that he criticized Cleveland's position in it. C.S.H. told this to Carlisle who spoke with Cleveland about it. Cleveland asked Carlisle to tell C.S.H. to go to Wells at Norwich, Conn. and try to see the article. C.S.H., returning from Boston, stopped over at Norwich and was with Wells from 6 to 9 p.m. Discussed the article, which Wells showed him, at length and finally took it back to Washington and showed it to Cleveland, first making several suggestions as to changes.

Cleveland sends C.S.H to offer to, a place on the Venezuela boundary commission; Cleveland earnestly wishes him to accept; tells C.S.H. to tell him a Justice of Supreme Court is to be one of members; not necessary for commission to leave the country, except possibly to go to Venezuela; that much of preliminary work would necessarily have to be done by experts who might have to go to Spain and The Hague; that he desired an impartial, judicial investigation; asked C.S.H. to wire Lemont whether White would accept.

Dec. 26, 1895. 143, 144 C.S.H. arrived at Elmira, N. Y. at 6 a.m. Could not get early breakfast there at the hotel, so got something at an all night oyster saloon.

Took 7:10 train for Ithaca, arriving at 8:56 a.m. Took electric car to Mr. White's house.

White came down stairs in his bathrobe; had long talk; after consideration and inquiry as to personnel of the commission, he accepted (after breakfast) expressing doubts as to whether he had the necessary judicial qualifications for the position. Said he would not be averse to going to Venezuela, if necessary.

C.S.H. then went over Corneel University with him and left at noon for N. Y. reaching there at 7:30 p.m. taking midnight train for Washington. Total expenses $39.45 which C.S.H. paid out of his own pocket.

Dec. 27, 1895. 144

C.S.H. reports to Cleveland who was much gratified at white's acceptance. Cleveland asked C.S.H. how White impressed him as to impartiality. C.S.H. said, in his opinion, White could not act other than judicially.

C.S.H. agrees to draw such a plank and show it to them in the morning. 406

Whitney agreed to this plank but it did not appear in the draft published on the morning of the convention as that draft had been already given to the press the night before. 406

This plank was, however, in the official draft, read in the Whitney bolting convention and duly voted for. 406

Mr. Griffin and OlBrien of the Boston Transcript advise C.S.H. to strike out the anti-lobby plank as it would simply make Whitney ludicrous, and it was finally stricken out.

C.S.H. tells, he at once refused to run. 134 Says Henry R. Reed is a lobbyist, scoundrel, etc; that his intimacy with Carlisle was causing much comment; that he openly boasted of playing cards at Carlisle's house, etc. 134

C.S.H. told, he was not specially interested in Reed, further than that he met him frequently on the train between Marion and Boston; that Reed had never directly asked C.S.H. torun for Governor; that, on the contrary, he told C.S.H. it would be very foolish torun. Sept. - 1893. 134, 135

Mosten Marald, s0on, 30, 1838

To stand as a protest against commercialism in politics. Someone must make the fight and C.S.H. will.

Object of C.S.H. in coming to him was to convince him that, each giving up nothing as to past views, there are present issues on which we can stand, - opposition to commercialism, monopoly, and Imperialism.

263. 364. 282

Williams said to C.S.H.:

Should remain in the fight, whatever the result. Could afford to be beaten by Gaston.

Gaston, even if nominated, would not be thought of another year, as Bates would defeat him disastrously.

If C.S.H. is beaten in the convention on the issues he stands for, he would surely be nominated in another year.

His inclination was not to take an active part in the campaign but he reserved the right to do so, and might, later.

Most of his friends were for C.S.H. but some still opposed him because of 1896, but the feeling was subsiding.

Advised C.S.H. to make an active fight. 264

C.S.H. asks, as to propriety of paying the expenses of some one to go over the state to stir up sentiment in favor of Worcester for the convention, and to find out the situation as to the Gaston forces. 364

He said this was not prohibited by the statute and should be done at once. 265

C.S.H. asks if Moran, of Brockton, would be a good man and he replied yes, and suggested a subscription to his paper. 265

C. S. H. said his future ambitions would not conflict with what he supposed his were, but that he could give, and he knew he would be the last man to ask for any assurances as to his future course. 265

He said he had no ambitions except to keep the party along right lines and felt they could both work together in this. 265

Advised C.S.H. to take up some single issue, such as direct legislation and organize clubs to bring about a constitutional convention for this purpose. 265

He intimated plainly that he had given his friends to understand that C.S.H.'s fight was for principle and that he should be supported. 265

Said Bryan could dictate the nomination in 1904. 265 C.S.H. thought he referred to Ton. L. Johnson. 266 C.S.H. suggested Olney, but he said this would be impossible 266

C.S.H. said it was only fair to him tosay that he was for Olney. 266

C.S.H. told him he voted for Emerson, the Anti-Imperialist elector, in 1900, but gave $100 to the Dem. State Committee telling them just how he should vote and they expressed accord.

C.S.H. said Gaston and the machine were really for Hill, but did not tell him that Olney had so told him, and added that Gaston, while not able to defeat him, would try to elect a Hill delegation. 266

He said Gaston could not defeat him. 266

Said Quincy asked him to promise not to interfere in the contest, but he declined to give such an assurance. 267

Said Quincy said Gaston felt very friendly to him and would not interfere with his policies in leadership of the party. 282

Quincy left no doubt in has mind but that Gaston would consent to a radical platform and to a reference to the Kansas City platform. 283, 284

Quincy, when charged with this by Williams before the Resolutions Committee, did not deny this except to say that he had no authority from Gaston to say it.

C.S.H. said to Williams that, while his financial views were unchanged, there was much in the Kansas City platform he could gladly accept, and that, while personally he should prefer no mention of it, he would not object to some reference to it, specifically stating just what part was referred to, so it could not be claimed that the reference was to free silver.

282. 283

When C.S.H. left Williams it was with the understanding that C.S.H. and Gaston were in accord as to this. 283. 284

Said it would be disastrous for Gaston to be nominated without a struggle, and that C.S.H. owed it to his reputation to stay in the fight until the votes were counted, - otherwise C.S.H. would be looked on as a quitter and a coward; that C.S.H. should have stayed in last year. 267

Said he would not accept the nomination. 267

Said Bates would prove a strong candidate, especially in view of his hostility to Lodge. 268

Said that C.S.H. made a great mistake in bolting Bryan in 1896 yet he realized that C.S.H. was then a younger man, and that in C.S.H.'s position, he could eastly appreciate that he might have followed the same course.

June 2, 1902. 263 to 267
Says nomination of C.S.H. would not be such a travesty of democratic principles as that of Gaston.

Williams, George Fred (Cont.) McSweeney Says he understands that Williams is not opposed to Gaston.

Sept. 9, 1902 Boston Journal

C2S.H. has conference at his house to determine whether to carry the fight into the convention. Williams was present. Dr. Woke having asked C.S.H. to invite him. Sept. 12, 1902. 285

Williams said: -

C.S.H. should not withdraw In resonse to direct question, said he did not intend to change his neutral attitude.

Said that, wholly apart from that, C.S.H. should not withdraw until the last minute if at all, as it might anger many of his supporters.

Sept. 12, 1902. 285, 286 This was the only conference between C.S.H. and Williams, 286 C.S.H. did not ask his support: his friends merely asked him what he intended to do.

Sept. 12, 1902. 286 Tells C.S.H. of a plank in his proposed platform referring to the Kansas City National platform of 1900. Sept. 16, 1902, 274

Tells C.S.H. the reference does not touch the free silver part of the Kansas City platform, 275

Coughlin showed C.S.H. a draft of this reference in Williams handwriting, and C.S.H. tells Williams he saw nothing objectionable in it. 275

Sept. 16, 1902, 275, 279 C.S.H. for first time, reads Williams platform; did not like its general form and questioned its reference to morey and to "Press, Pulpit and College", also its crude reference to "Government by injunction, "- yet its principles were not objectionable. 275, 279 C.S.H. did not like the reference to "Money" and favored a recommittal of both Williams! and Quincy's platform. 280

Griffin says the reference to the Kansas City platform could not be construed as a reference to free silver, and advised C.S.H. to support the platform of 275, 280, 281 Williams.

C.S.H. did not at any time openly support Williams platform, - he was simply willing to accept the reference to the Kansas City platform. 275

Williams told C.S.H. on June 2 that Gaston agreed to such a raference, 275

Dr. Cooke, C.S.H.'s manager, did say on the night before the convention that C.S.H. would stand on Williams! platform but this was without the knowledge or authority of C.S.H., as he did not see the platform until he read it in the papers on the morning of the convention, 276, 279

Williams, George Fred (Cont.) C. S. H. merely agreed not to object to the reference to the Kansas City platform, and he understood hat Gaston had so agreed. 276, 281 C.S.H.'s position on this reference never became material as the balloting for Governor was made before the platform was considered and the only question was the size of Gaston's majority, 276 C.S.H., if nominated, would have suggested some changes. Declines to defend Wilson's former utterances.

We are not electing the Wilson of 1902, but a new man*** who had dedicated heart and soul to the interests of the people.

Wilson has emerged from an academic atmosphere in the environment of privilege.

I should be the last man in this country to deny that a man can emerge from such an environment and become a faithful and devoted radical.

For first 12 years of my political life, I believed with implicit faith that the great financial leaders represented National intelligence, honor, and progress.

I served the financial forces as slavishly as any man in public life until 1896 and I did it with absolute honesty, intelligence and patriotism.

I might have been still blindly in the service of the interests had not the robbery of the Government through the Morgan bond sales revolted my sense of demency.

Oct. 2, 1912. 78 Sc. bks. 33

(The Morgan contract was signed Feb. 8, 1995. Williams was nominated for Governor in Oct. 1895 on a platform, among other things, congratulating Cleveland for his patriotic efforts to protect the public credit.)

9 Sc. bks. 162, 188

At Portland, on June 17, 1896, he dondemmed, as a gold standard supporter, a monetary system which presents a sclemn contract with a syndicate of European bankers for the protection of the Treasury; yet he said a Democratic Presidnt pleaded in vain with a Republican Congress to retire the Government notes which placed the credit of the U.S. at the mercy of European money brokers; that no one has pointed out how gold payments could be maintained without gold or how gold could be obtained without bond sales; that the gold standard is one thing and the present Republican monetary system is quite another.

In this very same speech, Williams criticized the Republicans in Congress for voting for a committee to investigate and discredit the President's bond sales, and they have given aid to the bill to prevent the sale of bonds by the President without the consent of Congress.

June 17, 1896 11 Sc. bks. 32
