RICHMOND AS THE LOCATION OF A FEDERAL RESERVE BANK.

Brief filed on behalf of the North Carolina Bankers' Association.

By Geo. A. Holderness, Pres.

---

When before the Committee in Washington on the 15th of January, Mr. J. W. Norwood, of Greenville, S. C., and Mr. R. G. Rhett, of Charleston, S. C., stated that Maryland should be added to the district outlined by the Richmond Committee, and from further study of the question it appears that this should be done, as well as all of West Virginia. And it is believed that this can be done without in any way interfering with the natural territory of any other district, since it appears to us that the North Atlantic States should be divided as follows:

Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and the eastern part of Connecticut, with Boston as the reserve city;

New York, western Connecticut, northern New Jersey, with New York as the reserve city;

Pennsylvania, southern New Jersey, and Delaware, with Philadelphia as the reserve city.

This leaves Maryland in the nature of a "floater".

With this added territory our district would embrace the following states: Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, the eastern part of Eastern Tennessee, the eastern part of Eastern Kentucky, and the District of Columbia. This territory, with its diversified interests and banking capital, would be entirely independent and amply self-sustaining under not only normal conditions, but under almost any conditions.

Now, with this territory fixed upon, the next question is which city within this territory could best serve the whole territory. On this point we respectfully submit that Richmond is unquestionably the city. Ninety-one per cent. of the banks in North Carolina, including all of the national banks except six, have already expressed themselves in favor of Richmond, and the banks so desiring Richmond represent 89% of the capital, surplus and profits of all of the banks of North Carolina, and 98% of their deposits. Of the said 91% of the banks voting for Richmond, 373 of them are expressly for Richmond as first choice, and the balance of 69 (except three for Baltimore) are equivalent to a first choice as they name Charlotte or blank their first choice.

Not one of the North Carolina banks have expressed a first preference for Atlanta or Washington, and only three for Baltimore. South Carolina has expressed its preference for Richmond almost as strongly as North Carolina, and has given Atlanta only two first choice votes and Baltimore one.

The states of Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina, with national banking capital and surplus of $48,800,000., are unanimous for Richmond as the same number of institutions can be for any one thing.

Richmond, though not a reserve city, has been able to take care of its southern connections under past conditions, and Richmond's clearings for this district can be more fully seen by the fact that of the total deposits of the national banks of Richmond (not a reserve city) 30% of them are deposits from out of town banks, whereas of the total deposits of the national banks of Washington (a reserve city) only 17% of them are from other banks, and of the total deposits of the national banks of Baltimore (a reserve city) only 41% of them are from other banks.

The above shows that Washington has done so little for this territory that this alone seems sufficient to eliminate Washington from this contest.

Atlanta must be eliminated because the trend of business being northward, it cannot make a territory for itself without taking in and doing violence to states north of it.

Of the banks in Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina, only 659 have accounts in the reserve city of Baltimore (as shown by Baltimore's evidence, page 801) whereas 726 have accounts in Richmond as shown by the list filed by the Richmond Committee.

We do not know what powers a branch bank will have, and therefore cannot say what will be the difference between the services given from the parent bank and the branch bank, but as the term implies, a branch cannot be as large as the parent, and I think it is safe to assume that while the directors of a branch bank will pass on paper under certain restrictions, the branch will not issue currency or keep a great amount of currency on hand.

Baltimore and the territory surrounding it we submit could be more conveniently served by a branch of the Richmond bank than Richmond and the territory mapped out could be served by branches from Baltimore.

The capital and surplus of the national banks of Virginia are greater than those of Maryland, and with North Carolina and South Carolina, they exceed that of Maryland by over $20,000,000. And of the total capital and surplus of the national banks in Maryland, Baltimore City has all but $8,000,000.

Richmond would be a thoroughly convenient place for a bank to serve Baltimore, and it is certainly more reasonable to require the few banks of Maryland outside of Baltimore with only $8,000,000. capital and surplus to come to Richmond as the parent bank than to require the banks of Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina, representing capital and surplus of $48,800,000.

to have to go to Baltimore as the parent bank at a great inconvenience, to say nothing of the territory further south. A branch in Baltimore could better take care of the few banks in Maryland than branches of a Baltimore bank could take care of the many banks in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and the southern territory, where large amounts of currency are often needed, and needed quickly.

As stated by Colonel Bruton when before you in Washington, it is important to have a sufficient amount of currency within easy reach of the tobacco, cotton and peanut sections of North Carolina, and this may be said of South Carolina, and the more distant southern points. As shown by the time table filed with the Richmond Brief, currency wired for from Richmond in the evening can reach the greater portion of this territory by business hours the next morning.

Richmond, as stated by Mr. Norwood when before you in Washington, is practically one business day nearer the majority of this territory than Baltimore is.

Respectfully submitted,

THE NORTH CAROLINA BANKERS' ASSOCIATION.

Not one of the North Carolina banks have expressed a first preference for Atlanta or Washington, and only three for Baltimore. South Carolina has expressed its preference for Richmond almost as strongly as North Carolina, and has given Atlanta only two first choice votes and Baltimore one.

The states of Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina, with national banking capital and surplus of $48,800,000. are as unanimous for Richmond as the same number of institutions can be for any one thing.

Richmond, though not a reserve city, has been able to take care of its southern connections under past conditions, and Richmond's clearings for this district can be more fully seen by the fact that of the total deposits of the national banks of Richmond, (not a reserve city) 30% of them are deposits from out of town banks, whereas of the total deposits of the national banks of Washington, (a reserve city) only 17% of them are from other banks, and of the total deposits of the national banks of Baltimore, (a reserve city) only 41% of them are from other banks.

The above shows that Washington has done so little for this territory that this alone seems sufficient reason to eliminate Washington from this contest.

Atlanta must be eliminated because the trend of business being northward, it cannot make a territory for itself without taking in and doing violence to states north of it.

Of the banks in Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina, only 659 have accounts in the reserve city of Baltimore, (as shown by Baltimore's evidence, page 801) whereas 726 have accounts in Richmond as shown by the list filed by the Richmond Committee.

We do not know what powers a branch bank will have, and therefore cannot say what will be the difference between the services given from the parent bank and the branch bank, but as the term implies, a branch cannot be as large as the parent, and I think it is safe to assume that while the directors of a branch bank will pass on paper under certain restrictions, the branch will not issue currency or keep a great amount of currency on hand.

Baltimore and the territory surrounding it we submit could be more conveniently served by a branch of the Richmond bank than Richmond and the territory mapped out could be served by branches from Baltimore.

The capital and surplus of the national banks of Virginia are greater than those of Maryland, and with North Carolina and South Carolina they exceed that of Maryland by over $20,000,000. And of the total capital and surplus of the national banks in Maryland, Baltimore City has all but $8,000,000.

Richmond would be a thoroughly convenient place for a bank to serve Baltimore, and it is certainly more reasonable to require the few banks of Maryland outside of Baltimore with only $8,000,000. capital and surplus to come to Richmond as the parent bank than to require the banks of Virginia, North Carolina, and South Carolina, representing capital and surplus of $48,800,000. to have to go to Baltimore as the parent bank at a great inconvenience, to say nothing of the territory further south. A branch in Baltimore could better take care of the few banks in Maryland than branches of a Baltimore bank could take care of the many banks in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and the southern territory, where large amounts of currency are often needed, and needed quickly.

As stated by Colonel Bruton when before you in Washington, it is important to have a sufficient amount of currency within easy reach of the tobacco, cotton and peanut sections of North Carolina, and this may be said of South Carolina and the more distant southern points. As shown by the time table filed with the Richmond Brief, currency wired for from Richmond in the evening can reach the greater portion of this territory by business hours the next morning.

Richmond, as stated by Mr. Norwood when before you in Washington, is practically one business day nearer the majority of this territory than Baltimore is.

Respectfully submitted,

THE NORTH CAROLINA BANKERS' ASSOCIATION.

Richmond's increase of population from 85,000 to 150,000 in 12 years. Its manufacturing increase is 71 per cent in ten years, annual sales amounting to $101,209,493. Its wholesale trade increasing 79 per cent amounting to $78,297,750. Increase brought about by its trade with the proposed territory. Situated on James River with 18 to 23 feet of water giving it freight rates based on water borne traffic and the same rates as if situated on the Atlantic Coast. The mails to proposed territory can reach 70 per cent of the population within 12 hours and 20 per cent of it in 16 hours.

Her capacity for conservative management is shown by not having but one small bank failure in 35 years and no commercial failures sufficiently large to affect general business. The agricultural territory within the proposed territory has increased 100 per cent in the value of its farm products without any increase in the number of acres tilled in the last ten years.

The fact outside of its banking affiliations that the banks of Richmond have many of the largest as well as numerous small accounts of the corporations and business interests in the territory proposed to be served by this Federal Reserve Bank. All of which is most respectfully submitted to prove most conclusively that the trend of trade in the territory proposed has been absolutely bent towards Richmond and that any severance of these connections will be very disasterous to the many large interests in which Richmond and this territory are so intimately associated.

The manufacturing and wholesale houses in Richmond have an army of 2232 traveling men who for the most part travel in this proposed district, showing most conclusively ~~WHATEVER~~ to what extent there is a mutuality of dependance and business there is between this section of the country and the city of Richmond.

RICHMOND, VA.

Gentlemen:

In answer to your enquiry as to why my Company, The Imperial Tobacco Company (of Great Britain & Ireland) Limited, selected Richmond as a base for directing its tobacco business in the United States, you are aware that the Company's business in the States is solely that of purchasing raw material. We buy tobacco on all the markets, or, at least, alief the principal markets in Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina, and in Kentucky and Tennessee. We also buy some tobacco in Baltimore which is grown in Ohio, and also some cigar leaf grown in Wisconsin, Pennsylvania and Connecticut.

Richmond is the most centrally located city, having large banking and railroad facilities, in the tobacco sections in which we operate. It is the most convenient point from which to issue orders for buying tobacco to the various markets, and also for the issuance of instructions to our various factories scattered throughout the tobacco districts. Being located in Richmond, we can, with the least loss of time from our office, visit all of the leading tobacco markets. The train service leading out of Richmond is such that I can leave my office in the evening and visit any tobacco market in Virginia, North or South Carolina, Baltimore, Lexington or Louisville, the following day. The Virginia North and South Carolina markets can be thus visited in a day, and by returning to Richmond by night train, I can accomplish my purpose without the loss of more than one day from my office. I consider this to be a very great advantage, and it was one of the reasons which influenced my Company to locate in Richmond.

However, the great and prime factor in determining us to locate in Richmond was the ample and convenient banking facilities. While we do not borrow from the local Banks, our foreign bills of exchange are drawn through these Banks, and our system of distributing money from Richmond Banks to the local markets whereon we buy tobacco is so facilitated by the Richmond Bank connections that our business is prosecuted with the utmost safety and dispatch and with the least expense.

You are aware that the volume of our Company's business each year is quite large, necessitating a large amount of capital to care for same, all of which passes through the Richmond Banks, including that portion of our business which is done in Kentucky and Tennessee, which is very considerable in itself.

To Chamber of Commerce

The mail service from Richmond to the main tobacco markets on which we operate is most satisfactory; the principal markets being reached by one of the several trunk railway lines running into and out of Richmond.

The freight rates into Richmond from the various tobacco markets are also very favorable, and when once the tobacco is warehoused in Richmond, the rates to the Atlantic seaports are much lower than from any of the inland tobacco markets.

The foregoing answers your questions as to why we selected Richmond as the base for our operations, and I may add that we have never had reason to regret this selection.

Yours faithfully,

THE IMPERIAL TOBACCO COMPANY,
(OF GREAT BRITAIN AND IRELAND.) LIMITED,

RESIDENT DIRECTOR.

United States Post Office

RICHMOND, VIRGINIA

January 13, 1914.

Hon. H. M. Smith,
Attorney at Law,
Richmond, Virginia.

My dear Sir:

Referring to conversation had with you this morning in reference to the arrival of trains from the South, and the handling of bank mail in connection therewith, I have the honor to advise that between 5 A. M. and 2<sup>o</sup> P. M. we have eight trains arriving in this city from the South. Three of these trains come over the Atlantic Coast Line, three over the Southern and two over the Seaboard.

These trains bring a great volume of mail and six of them arrive before 11 A. M. It would appear that three of these trains would arrive too late for banking business in Washington and two of the trains do not go beyond Richmond. The mail from these two trains is brought to the post office, properly made up and dispatched to the Seaboard train leaving here at 5:15 P. M.

These trains bring mail from every section of the South, and arriving in Richmond about three hours ahead of the time when the trains are due in Washington, would in my judgment put Richmond in a better position than Washington for handling mail for banking purposes.

Very respectfully,

Eugene A. Johnson
Postmaster.

To The Honorable Wm. G. McAdoo,
Chairman of Reserve Bank Organization Committee,
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:-

We are aware of the reasons assigned for locating a Federal Reserve Bank in Richmond, Virginia, and heartily endorse the same and concur therein, believing that it is manifestly to the interest of the South-Atlantic States and of the States adjacent thereto, that a Reserve Bank should be accessibly located and under the control of those necessarily in sympathy with the interests and conditions of the territory to be served: Therefore the under-signed persons, firms and corporations, located in Halifax County, Virginia, earnestly beg that Richmond, Virginia, may be selected for the location of the Regional Reserve Bank.

In the County of Halifax is located the town of South Boston, the second largest loose leaf bright tobacco market in the world, and two other towns which are also tobacco markets of consequence. Said County is one of the richest and most progressive in Virginia, its interests being largely agricultural, and it has nine prosperous banks, which are vitally interested in the location of the Reserve Bank.

Respectfully,

THE TOBACCO INDUSTRY AND ITS RELATION TO THE BANKS OF RICHMOND.

Tobacco since colonial days has been the chief of the diversified interests of Richmond, and Richmond is today, and always will be, the chief tobacco centre of the United States. It has been largely instrumental in building up the enormous banking capital which Richmond now has, and this banking capital, which is rapidly increasing, enables Richmond each year to increase its business as a tobacco centre, due to the fact that it is within practically 10 to 15 hours of all important tobacco markets. The following figures will explain and demonstrate this more clearly than anything that I could say:

|  | pounds      | Average | Total Value     |
|--|-------------|---------|-----------------|
| South Carolina   | 37,500,000  | 14¢     | 5,250,000.00    |
| The TobaccoCrop VirginiaNorth andSouth Carolina. | 170,000,000 | 19¢     | 32,300,000.00   |
| Virginia:Brights   | 106,000,000 | 17¢     | 18,020,000.00   |
| Darks  | 60,000,000  | 7-1/2¢  | 4,500,000.00    |
| Grand Total  | 373,500,000 |         | $60,070,000.00 |

Total pounds of Tobacco
Actually Brought to Richmond.

The railroads report that from Sept. 1, 1912, to Sept. 1, 1913, they actually hauled to Richmond 144,347,000 pounds of leaf tobacco; add to this that portion of the crop which was hauled to Richmond in wagons, as ascertained from our warehouses here, 6,441,000 pounds, we have a total of 150,788,000 pounds, or 40% of the total crop raised in North and South Carolina and Virginia as coming directly to Richmond for rehandling and manufacturing.

This does not take in the immense volume of tobacco that is bought by the large companies and handlers of leaf tobacco here which is redried in their branches in North and South Carolina, Virginia and Kentucky, and which is shipped direct from these points to the seaboard towns for exportation, and which is financed through our Richmond banks.

Of the above mentioned 150,788,000 pounds of tobacco quite an amount of this comes from Kentucky and West Virginia, but with the limited time in getting these figures I have been unable to get approximately the amount.

The Clearing House Banks of Richmond report that they supplied the tobacco trade of Richmond in exchange to the various tobacco markets, and paid out in Richmond in 1913 the enormous sum of $53,356,000.00, or 88% of the total value of the crop in North and South Carolina and Virginia. All of this amount, however, was not used for the crop in this territory, as quite a considerable sum was sent to Kentucky and West Virginia.

I think the above figures demonstrate in stronger terms than I could express what the banking interest of Richmond means to the tobacco trade of Virginia, North and South Carolina, and incidentally to Kentucky and West Virginia.

The Imperial Tobacco Co., of Great Britain and Ireland immediately after their organization sent a committee to the United States, who considered New York, Baltimore, Richmond, and one or two points in the West before deciding on the point at which it would be most advantageous for them to locate headquarters. They located here, and Richmond is the centre of all of their operations. They buy tobacco in every tobacco producing State, and it is all financed through our Richmond banks, and I attach hereto the following letter from the managing director of this company which explains their reason for locating in Richmond.

Money and Exchange
Supplied by Banks to Move Tobacco
In 1913.

Foreign Companies
And large Corporations Whose Headquarters
are Richmond.

(3)

The Export Tobacco Co. and the British-American Tobacco Co. recently formed from the dissolution of the American Tobacco Co., and probably the largest handlers of leaf tobacco in the United States, have built enormous plants in Richmond, and have headquarters here, and the following letter explains their reason.

The Gallaher Co., Limited, of Ireland, the largest foreign independent manufacturer; buying tobacco in Virginia, North Carolina and Kentucky, has headquarters and a plant located in Richmond.

The Austrian Government has its chief buyer located in Richmond.

The Italian Government's chief buyer is located at Farmville, Virginia, but handles his business through our Richmond banks.

The Spanish Government does its principal business through one of our Richmond rehandlers of leaf, who is located, and has large factories and warehouses in Richmond.

The American Tobacco Co., while having their main office in New York, have block after block of buildings in Richmond; it is practically their headquarters for the handling of leaf, and they also have large manufacturing plants here.

The Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co., of St. Louis, have located here the largest cigarette manufacturing plant in the United States, and have recently made Richmond one of their three distributing points in the United States.

Richmond manufactures more cigarettes than any city in the United States, and also is a large manufacturer of chewing and smoking tobacco, and has one of the largest cigar factories in the United States.

All of these companies consider Richmond to be the most accessible point from which to operate, being practically within 12 to 16 hours of all the purchasing tobacco markets, and all of them practically finance the handling of the tobacco crop through our Richmond banks. In addition to this, we have numerous rehandlers of leaf tobacco who have large plants here, buying tobacco in all sections, and handling it here in Richmond.

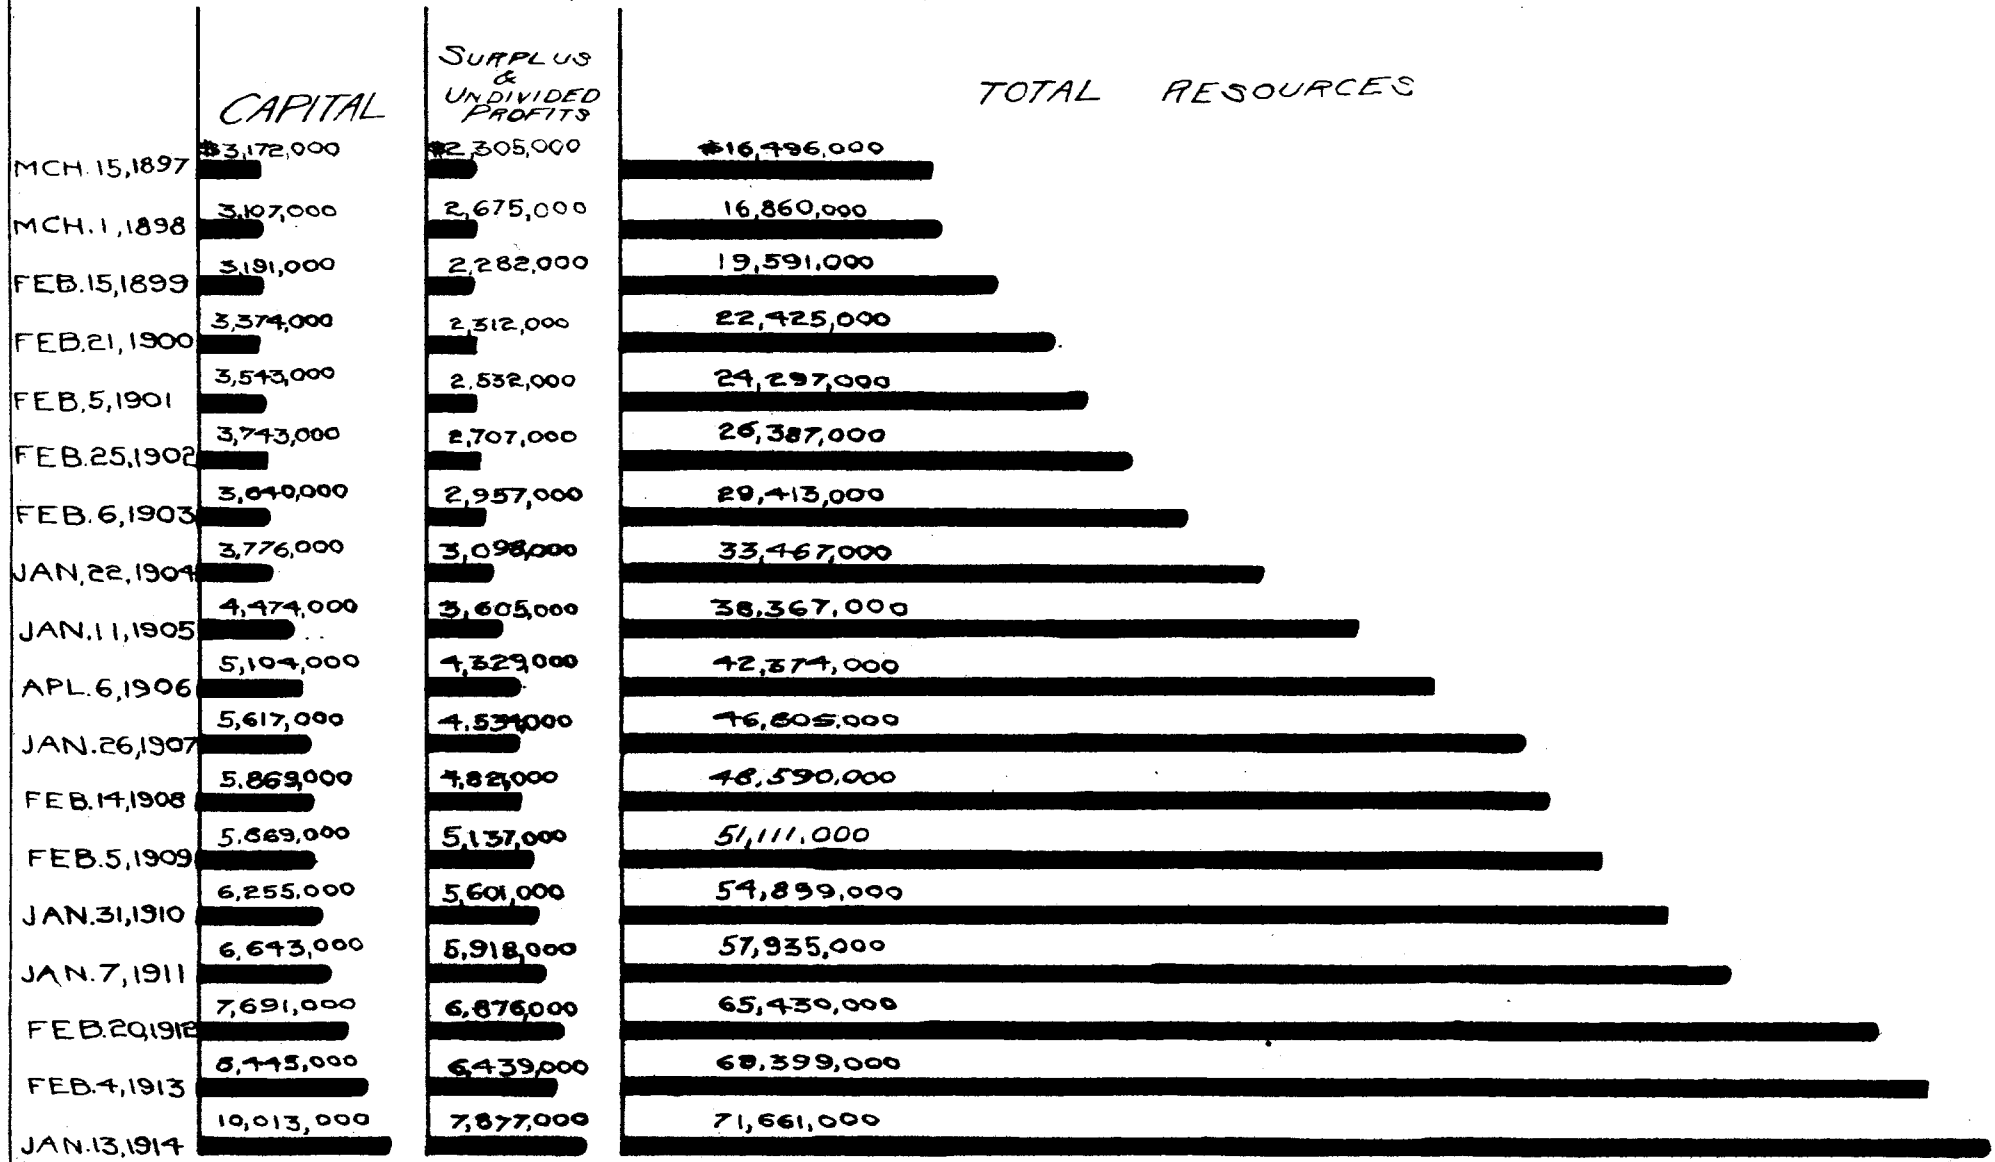

The total collections of internal revenue from tobacco in its various forms for the year 1912 was $76,789,424.75, and of this total $15,731,799.76 was collected from the 4th and 5th Districts of North Carolina and the 2d and 6th Districts of Virginia, or say 20% of the total collections within a radius of 8 hours from Richmond,

Internal Revenue tax
On Tobacco.

The large manufacturing tobacco interest in Richmond enables the banks to have an every day, year in and year out, business with the tobacco trade, and while the business is naturally larger when the crop begins to move, this necessarily covers a longer period than is usual in moving any other crop. The South Carolina crop commences to move in the latter part of July, followed by the Eastern Carolina crop, and the Old Belt of Virginia and Carolina, and last the dark crop in Virginia, covering a period of practically seven months; while the business of manufacturing continues the year around.
