I had Mrs Smith the lessor come in and after quite a bit of parley she raised the offer of Mr Brad Smith (no relation) $175.00 including inventory of stocks. In order to more fully understand the wide margin between the lessee and lessor I went over to the Market and saw the set up.

I am convinced that Mr Shimamoto
has lost his $375⁰⁰ deposit on the lease

I am also convinced that ~~the Smiths~~
(either one) should pay more for this business

First, because the lessor is ahead $375⁰⁰
deposit on the lease for future.

Second The least rent 1.00 per month for the first 2 years and $2.50 per month for the next 3 years or total of 5 years
which would give 3 1/2 years more rent at $125 or less per month and this by now making a new lease, will bring in increased rent. Which is in favor of the Market owner.

I am convinced that Mr Shimamoto
has lost his $375⁰⁰ deposit on the lease
I am also convinced that the Smiths
(either one) should pay more for this business.

First, because the lessor is ahead $375⁰⁰
deposit on the lease for future.

Second. The lease read 100 per month for the first 2 years and 125⁰⁰ per month for the next 3 years or total of 5 years
which would give 3 1/2 years more rent at $125 or less per month and this by now
making a new lease will bring in increased rent. Which is in favor of the Market owner.

Mrs Smith has asked this tenant to moved and dispose of his interest. In the lease between them is stated: "In event of War with Japan this lease is cancelled." Mrs Smith has exercised her rights in this and ordered the tenant to move and has offered him a small price for his fixtures. Mr Shimamoto has refused Mrs Smith's offer and has a buyer himself who, Mrs Smith will not accept as a tenant on the grounds, that the other tenants in the market do not want a Jew there, and the new buyer is a Jew. Lessee sells to a desirable tenant and that the new tenant pays or deposits an equal amount on a new lease, otherwise she has and is going to keep this deposit because of the cancellation of the lease because of war.

Mrs Smith states that for the past 3 months she has informed the tenant that his lease is cancelled and that he is renting on a month to month basis and that he better hurry up and sell because she wanted him out of the market. Mrs Smith states that the tenant has had lots of opportunities to sell but is holding his price on his fixtures too high.

The tenant in this case will be in this office shortly for advice and he a later report I can state what action will be taken and what I might suggest to help them
