TWENTY-SECOND ANNUAL REPORT

To His Excellency, EMANUEL L. PHILIPP,
Governor of Wisconsin.

Sir: In conformity with section 2024-5 of the statutes, I have the honor to submit to you this, the twenty-second annual report on banks in Wisconsin.

The compilation was made on the basis of the last call for statement, November 17, 1916, and exhibits the financial condition of seven hundred and eighteen state banks, four mutual savings banks, and fifteen trust companies, doing business under our state laws on the date mentioned.

State banks and trust companies represent an aggregate capital investment of $23,672,350, and a gain during the twelve month period in capital invested of $774,100. Their total resources were $298,617,175.61, which shows an increase in resources of $44,675,247.15.

My report itemizes abstracts of reports of each of the three groups of Wisconsin institutions, land mortgage associations, and national banks of the state.

GENERAL CONDITION

A very satisfactory condition of Wisconsin banks is shown by an analysis of the statements submitted. The phenomenal increase in deposits during the year just closed, amounting to $43,424,626.33, and the decrease in rediscounts and bills payable of $575,163.92, is evidence of the prosperous conditions existing throughout the state.

The relatively small increase in loans and discounts, amounting to $24,129,911.53, in comparison with the abnormal increase in deposits during the same period, manifests a disposition on the part of banks to avoid overinvestment of funds.

A general policy of conservatism is indicated by the increase from 21 per cent to 22.7 per cent in the average reserve held by state banks. If this high standard for the adjustment of credits is maintained, the financial outlook for Wisconsin is most encouraging.

NEW BANKS

Thirty-two new banks and one trust company bank were authorized to commence business in Wisconsin from November 10, 1915, to November 17, 1916. The average capitalization of these banks was $26,424.24, and the total capital $872,000.

One trust company voluntarily liquidated and paid off its depositors.

INCREASE IN CAPITAL

Twenty-six banks have voluntarily increased their capital during the period covered by this report.

The method now in force of taxing banks upon their capital and surplus has discouraged many banks from voluntarily increasing their capital stock, and I am of the opinion that if the tax was levied on the income instead of the capital and surplus, it would result in a very marked increase in capital.

The unprecedented increase in deposits during the past year leads me to emphasize my previous recommendation that in order to safeguard more fully the depositors, an increase in capital should be required prorata with the increase in deposits.

DISSOLUTION

The Wisconsin Loan and Trust Company of Superior, on April 8, 1916, voluntarily passed a resolution to pay off its depositors and dissolve the organization.

The Salem State Bank, on March 14, 1916, went into voluntary liquidation under section 2024-28 of the statutes. On May 8, 1916, this department was notified that all depositors had been paid in full and a sixty per cent dividend paid to its stockholders, and that the balance due the stockholders would be paid as soon as all collections were made and the furniture and fixtures sold.

COMMERCIAL AND SAVINGS BANK OF RACINE
In Liquidation

I am pleased to report that, by virtue of the power and authority vested in me as commissioner of banking, and by order of the circuit court for Racine county, I have sold all of the remaining assets of the Commercial and Savings Bank of Racine, in liquidation, to the American Trades & Savings Bank of Racine, a duly authorized state banking corporation with a paid up capital of $200,000.

This purchase was made upon the condition that the said American Trades & Savings Bank should pay in full the claims of all the creditors of said Commercial & Savings Bank by the issue to its noninterest bearing time certificates of deposit to each and every such creditor, whereby payment in full of said claims should be assumed by said purchasing bank, absolutely and without condition, in seven (7) equal annual installments, the first series of which said payments should mature on the first day of February, 1917, and the last of said series maturing on the first day of May, 1923; except, that in case of claims less than seven (7) dollars in amount, the entire balance due thereon should mature and be payable with the first series of payments, to wit: on the first day of February, 1917.

If liquidation proceedings had continued in the affairs of the Commercial & Savings Bank, it would have required several years in which to effect a final adjustment of all claims. Continued litigation would have resulted in forcing many of the larger concerns into bankruptcy, with a consequent shrinkage in the value of the assets. The settlement of claims in a closed institution is slow and expensive and causes a corresponding reduction in dividends for the depositors.

The American Trades & Savings Bank is a going institution, and, consequently, can realize a larger percentage from the remaining assets of the Commercial and Savings Bank. It is, also, in a position to assist many of the large manufacturers to liquidate their old indebtedness and reestablish their credit.

Since this bank opened for business in July, it has received, in the aggregate, almost $200,000 in new deposits, which indicates that it commands, in a large measure, the confidence of the people.

The first series of certificates, not due to the depositors of the Commercial and Savings Bank until February 1, 1917, was paid by the American Trades and Savings Bank during the week of December the 18th, 1916, thereby supplying funds to many at a season of the year when money is most needed.

IN THE HANDS OF THE COMMISSIONER

An examination of the First State Bank of Campbellsport disclosed that the president of the institution had invested funds of the bank to the amount of $100,000 in doubtful securities.

On September 6, 1916, this bank placed its affairs and assets under the control of the commissioner of banking in accordance with section 2024-29 of the statutes. Under section 2021 of the statutes an assessment of two hundred per cent was levied by the board of directors upon all of the stock of said bank to make good such deficiency. This assessment was duly collected and the doubtful assets replaced with cash and bankable securities. A new board of directors and new officers were elected and the bank was turned back to the stockholders on October 21, 1916, having been in the possession of the commissioner of banking for a period of forty-five days. The fee of ten dollars a day was collected, as provided by section 2024-29 of the statutes, making a total cost to the bank of $450.

On October 23, 1916, the bank reopened for business, and is now making very satisfactory progress.

CITIZENS SAVINGS & TRUST COMPANY In Liquidation

Liquidation proceedings continue slowly, yet some progress has been made.

No further dividend has been ordered by the court since the one of twenty-five per cent paid in March, 1914, owing to the fact, as stated in my 1915 report on page nine, that numerous lawsuits have not yet been ultimately decided. Our supreme court has passed upon a number of these, and the United States appellate court has decided certain questions relating to the bankrupt Clark Realty Company in connection with the claim of the Citizens Savings & Trust Company. In most of these cases our contentions were not sustained. The ownership of our safety deposit vaults, which was strongly attacked, was, however, decided in our favor by the supreme court, but in the others we were not successful, and some were ordered back to the lower court for re-trial and ultimate adjudication.

Some of the loans and securities, upon which we expected quite a loss, turned out favorably, and, in a few instances, we recovered the full amount of our claim, but others proved a total loss, principally on account of alleged fraud and collusion by certain officers of the trust company and the so-called Perelles corporations.

Suit has been commenced against the directors of the Citizens Savings and Trust Company to recover losses sustained by their inattention and negligence of duty, and another suit has been filed against the stockholders of record for the purpose of establishing and recovering their contingent liability.

LEGISLATION

Certain conditions have arisen from the operation of the banking law which demonstrate the necessity of further legislative action for the purpose of strengthening our banking statutes.

LIMIT OF LOANS

Section 2024-32 of the statutes permits a bank to loan a person, copartnership, or corporation an amount equal to thirty per cent of its capital and surplus, and which by authorization of the board of directors, upon approved security, may be increased to fifty per cent. This limitation is a source of grave apprehension to this department, as we find that a number of banks, by reason of an exceptional local demand, avail themselves of the full scope of the law which endangers, to a great extent, the solvency of these institutions. A further limitation of the size of such loans is deemed advisable, and I suggest that section 2024-32 of the statutes be amended by reducing the above limitations to twenty and thirty per cent respectively.

MINIMUM CAPITAL

During the last decade the development of the agricultural resources of the state has been very pronounced. In the more remote districts the settlers are getting their land cleared and making it productive. The average citizen is saving some money. The present prosperous condition existing throughout the entire state would seem to justify a requirement for more capital for banks organized under the laws of this state, and I suggest that the minimum capital for state banks shall be increased from $10,000 to $20,000.

CAPITAL TO BE INCREASED IN PROPORTION TO INCREASE IN DEPOSITS

The exceptional increase in deposits in state banks in Wisconsin during the past year has very forcibly brought to my attention the extremely low capital of many banks as compared with their deposits. The deposits in some banks now exceed more than thirty times the amount of their capital stock. The capital stock, in such cases, I consider to be insufficient to safeguard the depositors, and I, therefore, recommend that a law be enacted requiring banks to increase their capital stock whenever their deposits average ten times their capital and surplus for a period of six months.

SCHOOL SAVINGS BANKS

The savings habit among children is of late receiving considerable attention.

School savings banks are intended to encourage children to save their pennies and to assist them in forming habits of thrift and economy which are so essential to good citizenship.

A variety of savings methods have already been adopted in many of our schools, and while such schools are to be commended for their efforts to encourage the children to save, it is unfortunate that many of the methods employed are not in strict accord with our banking law.

It is desirable that children be educated in the savings habit, and I heartily recommend the passage of a law to create a uniform system of school savings banks, which will be under state supervision and subject to state control.

TRANSMITTING MONEY TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES

Money is usually sent to foreign countries through banks, express companies, or telegraph companies. It appears, however, that certain individuals and persons purporting to act as agents of certain corporations are doing quite an extensive business of this kind.

In order more fully to protect the public against irresponsible parties conducting such a business, I recommend that no person nor any corporation, other than a bank, a trust company, or an express company or telegraph company, receiving money for transmission through its regularly authorized agencies, shall engage in the business of transmitting money to foreign countries, or of receiving money on deposit to be transmitted to foreign countries, without a certificate of authority from the commissioner of banking, and the execution of a bond to the commissioner of banking for the faithful holding and transmission of any money, or equivalent thereof, which shall be delivered to the applicant for transmission to foreign countries.

The foregoing abstract represents the total banking power of Wisconsin. The figures disclose the deeply significant fact that the increase of $82,000,096.80 in the total banking power of the state from November 10, 1915, to November 17, 1916, almost equals the total assets of state banks for the year 1902.

Through the courtesy of the national banks of the state in complying with my request for their statements of November 17, 1916, I am enabled to present such herein, thus making the volume a complete directory of all banks and land mortgage associations located in Wisconsin.

STATE BANKING DEPARTMENT

Our banking law very wisely provides that the principal justification for the establishment of a bank is to promote the public convenience and advantage. In accord with such provision, this department has insisted, so far as practicable, that the demand for a bank shall originate with the people of the community where the bank is to be located, and that it shall be essentially a "home" bank, owned and controlled by "home" capital. There appears, however, to be an attempt on the part of promoters to secure control of banks now being organized in this state. It, therefore, becomes necessary to scrutinize very closely the numerous applications for new banks, and a searching analysis of persons and conditions must be made by the examiner to determine whether or not the proposed bank should be allowed to engage in business.

An examiner is required to do expert work of the highest character which involves great responsibility and which is a constant strain on his mental and physical endurance.

On account of the rapid growth in the volume of assets of banks now in existence, additional demands are constantly being made upon the time required of the present examining force to complete the examinations. In order to maintain the efficiency of this department and make the number of examinations required by law, it will be necessary to employ additional examiners in the immediate future.

Building and loan associations,—seventy-seven in number—are, likewise, subject to regulation by this department, and are examined once a year. As a special report, covering the condition of these associations, will be submitted to you in accordance with the requirements of section 2014-16 of the statutes, I shall not at this time go into further detail.

The total operating expense of the department for the year 1916 amounted to $47,222.09. The receipts for the same period, derived from actual examination fees and other sources, totals $33,858.70, making the net cost for the year $13,363.39.

The following schedules show a record of the activity of this department, covering a period of fourteen years, from 1903 to 1916, inclusive:
