TWENTY-THIRD ANNUAL REPORT

To His Excellency, EMANUEL L. PHILIPP, Governor of Wisconsin.

Sir: In conformity with section 2024—5 of the statutes, I have the honor to submit to you this, the twenty-third annual report on banks in Wisconsin.

The compilation was made on the basis of the last call for statement, November 20, 1917, and exhibits the financial condition of seven hundred and fifty-three state banks, seven mutual savings banks, and fifteen trust companies, doing business under our state laws on the date mentioned.

State banks and trust companies represent an aggregate capital investment of $25,177,850, and a gain during the twelve month period in capital invested of $1,505,500. Their total resources were $339,759,758.49, which shows an increase in resources of $41,142,582.88.

My report itemizes abstracts of reports of each of the three groups of Wisconsin institutions, land mortgage associations, and national banks of the state.

GENERAL CONDITION

It is very gratifying to say that the past year has been a prosperous one for Wisconsin from a financial standpoint and a most satisfactory one from the results obtained in response to the several requests made for governmental aid and service.

Perhaps, no phase of the war work appeals more strongly to the banker than the floating of the Liberty Loan, and I am, indeed, pleased to report that the banks of the state responded promptly and cheerfully to every call of our federal government in the present crisis. That the banks cooperated and are willing, so far as they are able, to shoulder any burden and make sacrifices for the government, is well-exemplified when you consider what Wisconsin did when the first and second drives were made for the Liberty Loan.

The total subscription to the First Liberty Loan in both Federal Reserve districts in Wisconsin was $36,236,750, which was far above the minimum quota of the call.

The total subscription to the Second Liberty Loan, in both districts amounted to $87,056,900, which was about 150% of the minimum allotment.

The first loan was subscribed for practically out of the current earnings, and by reason of this fact did not materially affect bank deposits in this state. Business, therefore, remained practically normal and the deposits in banks continued to increase.

The second drive had a more marked effect on bank deposits, as is shown by the last call for reports to this department under date of November 20, 1917. An inspection of the abstract of these reports shows an increase in individual and demand deposits, but no appreciable increase in time deposits.

During this same period investments increased more than double the amount of the increase in deposits, and bills payable show a very material increase. The cash reserve held by banks shows a marked decrease, the total decrease for the year being from 22.7% to 19.8%, or a decrease of 2.9%. This indicates a tendency to over-expansion which should be carefully guarded against.

By way of warning, it is, therefore, incumbent on banks at this time to prepare for the future demands of our government by reducing their loans to business enterprises, which, as a part of our war program, must greatly curtail their output, when not operating for governmental purposes, or be forced to discontinue business during the period of the war. The aim of our banks, therefore, should be to build up their reserve in order that they may be ready for future calls of the government, without jeopardizing the interests of the depositors.

NEW BANKS.

Thirty-nine new banks were authorized to commence business in Wisconsin from November 17, 1916, to November 20, 1917. The average capitalization of these banks was $14,794.87, and the total capital $577,000.

INCREASE IN CAPITAL.

Twenty-eight banks have voluntarily increased their capital during the period covered by this report. The continued increase in deposits during the past year leads me again to recommend that, in order to safeguard more fully the depositors, an increase in capital should be required pro rata with the increase in deposits.

IN THE HANDS OF THE COMMISSIONER.

By a cunning manipulation of securities, a certain Minnesota corporation obtained control of three Wisconsin banks, namely, the Bristol State Bank, Readstown Bank, and the State Bank of Hersey. The manner in which this corporation operated to procure control was not reported by these banks to this department, but remained to be discovered through the regular examinations.

The examiners first found the Minnesota concern kiting checks with certain Minnesota banks in which it was interested, and this led to the further discovery that the Minnesota corporation had invested the funds of the Wisconsin banks in worthless securities sufficient to impair their capital stock. The board of directors of each of these banks was promptly notified by the banking department of these facts with the result that the Bristol State Bank and Readstown Bank were placed in the hands of the commissioner in accordance with section 2024—29 of the statutes, while the State Bank of Hersey was taken charge of by the commissioner of banking under section 2022 of the statutes.

BRISTOL STATE BANK.

The Bristol State Bank placed its affairs and assets under the control of the commissioner of banking on July 18, 1917. In accordance with section 2021 of the statutes, an assessment of one hundred per cent was levied by the board of directors upon all the stock of said bank to make good the worthless assets. This assessment was duly collected and the doubtful paper was replaced with cash and bankable securities. The board of directors then adopted a resolution providing for the sale of all its assets to, and the assumption of all its liabilities by the Home State Bank of Bristol, a newly organized banking corporation with a capital of $10,000 and a surplus of $5,000. This sale was consummated on August 31, 1917, and the Bristol State Bank thereupon discontinued business. This bank was in the possession of the commissioner of banking for a period of thirty-nine days, and the fee of ten dollars a day was collected, as provided by section 2024—29 of the statutes, making a total cost to the bank of $390.

READSTOWN BANK.

On July 18, 1917, the Readstown Bank placed its affairs and assets under the control of the commissioner of banking. Under section 2021 of the statutes, an assessment of one hundred and fifty per cent was levied by the board of directors upon all of the stock of said bank to make good its questionable assets. This assessment was duly collected and the capital stock increased from $10,000 to $15,000, with a surplus of $4,500. The doubtful assets were replaced by cash and bankable securities, and a new board of directors and new officers were elected and the bank turned back to the stockholders on August 30, 1917, having been in the possession of the commissioner of banking for a period of thirty-eight days. The fee of ten dollars a day was collected, as provided by section 2024—29 of the statutes, making a total cost to the bank of $380. On August 30, 1917, the bank re-opened for business and is now progressing very satisfactorily.

STATE BANK OF HERSEY.

The commissioner of banking took possession of the property and business of the State Bank of Hersey on July 18, 1917, for the purpose of liquidating its affairs in accordance with section 2022 of the statutes. J. G. Bakula was appointed special deputy commissioner of banking to take charge of the liquidation proceedings. The double liability of the stockholders was collected where possible, as provided by section 2024—44 of the statutes.

On December 15, 1917, a dividend of fifty per cent was distributed to depositors whose claims had been allowed, and if collections continue to be promptly paid, another dividend may be expected within a short time.

The capital of this bank was $10,000 with deposits of $32,550.31, and total liabilities amounting to $43,672.20.

CITIZENS SAVINGS &amp; TRUST COMPANY.

In Liquidation.

In an effort to dispose of the large number of cases pending in the Milwaukee circuit court involving this trust company, Judge Oscar M. Fritz of Branch No. 2 has, since the beginning of May, 1917, been devoting the greater part of his time to the trial of cases growing out of the liquidation of the Citizens Savings & Trust Co. Hearings have been held almost continuously since that time, and a number of important litigated matters have been disposed of, or are in process of final determination. Every effort will be made to expedite the hearing of the remaining cases which involve a number of very important questions affecting the final distribution of the assets of the company. Many of these hearings are upon questions of damages against the trust company for negligent or wrongful investment of the claimant's funds and the final adjudication in these cases will determine the amounts of contested claims to be allowed against the trust company, in addition to the claims of depositors which were not contested and upon which a dividend of twenty-five per cent was declared early in the liquidation proceedings. The amount of further dividends will depend to a great extent upon the amounts of the claims so allowed.

TRANSMISSION OF MONEY TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES

In order to protect the public against irresponsible parties engaged in the business of transmitting money to foreign countries, I recommended in my previous report that such persons be required to execute a bond and obtain a certificate of authority from the commissioner of banking for the faithful holding and transmission of such money.

I am pleased to report that the legislature at its last session enacted such a law, which is known as chapter 532, laws of 1917.

Since this law became operative, eight certificates of authority have been issued by this department, and the required fee of $10 for each certificate has been paid by the licensee. Other applications are now pending, and I anticipate that a much larger number of certificates will be granted during the coming year.

STATISTICAL.

Table A exhibits abstracts of the six reports made to this department by state banks, mutual savings banks, and trust companies during 1917.

Table B is a comparative abstract, exhibiting a year's growth in our banking institutions.

Table C presents the abstracts of statements made at the annual periods since the creation of this department in 1895.

The development of our state banking system during a period of twenty-three years is detailed therein.

The foregoing abstract represents the total banking power of Wisconsin. The figures disclose an increase of $65,598,582.88 in the total banking power of the state from November 17, 1916, to November 20, 1917.

Through the courtesy of the national banks of the state in complying with my request for their statements of November 20, 1917, I am enabled to present such herein, thus making the volume a complete directory of all banks and land mortgage associations located in Wisconsin.

STATE BANKING DEPARTMENT.

During the past year the Federal Reserve act has been amended so that the state banks may join the system, retaining their present titles and charters and enjoying all the rights and privileges now conferred by the state laws under which they are incorporated, with the privilege of withdrawing from the system at any time upon giving six months' notice. I, therefore, recommend that all state banks eligible to membership evidence their patriotism by joining the Federal Reserve system at least for and during the period of the war.

Several of our state banks have already complied with this recommendation, and the examinations made by this department and the reports submitted to it, have been accepted by the Federal Reserve Bank in the districts in which these banks are located.

Inasmuch as certified copies of articles of incorporation, duplicate examinations, and other information must be forwarded to the Federal Reserve Bank, it is very apparent that if many of our state banks become members of the federal reserve system that the work of this department will be greatly augmented. It may, therefore, become necessary in the immediate future to appoint additional examiners and increase the office force to keep pace with these unusual demands.

Building and loan associations—seventy-eight in number,—are likewise subject to regulation by this department, and are examined once a year. *As a special report covering the condition of these associations will be submitted to you in accordance with the requirements of section 2014—16 of the statutes, I shall not go into further detail.

The total operating expense of the department for the year 1917 amounted to $50,108.33. The receipts for the same period, derived from annual examination fees and other sources, totals $37,988.04, making the net cost for the year $12,120.29.

The following schedules show a record of the activity of this department, covering a period of fifteen years, from 1903 to 1917, inclusive:
