- Guaranty—
 An acceptance by a foreign correspondent under guaranty of a national bank constitutes a direct and not a contingent acceptance liability of the national bank, 4—311.
 Authority to guaranty is an incident of its authority to accept, 4—311.
 National bank, in giving guaranty, is exercising power of acceptance through an agent, 4—311.
 Might treat this as a loan to its customer showing its liability to its foreign correspondent in its report of condition as money borrowed subject to United States Revised Statutes, sec. 5202, 4—311.
 National bank could arrange with its foreign correspondent to accept for account of one of its customers agreeing to provide funds before maturity if its customer failed to do so. In such a case its liability would be merely contingent and need not be shown as a direct acceptance liability, 4—311.
 (See infra, National bank.)

 (See infra, National banks; Own acceptances.)
 (See supra, Guaranty.)
- National bank—
 Acceptance of a foreign correspondent under guaranty of a, is an acceptance of the national bank. Could, however, be treated as money borrowed subject to limitations of section 5202, 4—311.
 If foreign correspondent accepts for account of customer of the national bank, the guaranty liability of the national bank would be merely contingent and need not be shown as an acceptance liability, 4—311.
 (See, however, Volume 7, Federal Reserve Bulletin, May 1921, page 547.)
 National banks have had power to discount acceptances since 1864, 2—680 at 683.

BORROWED MONEY.

Acceptances do not constitute, and are not subject to section 5200, United States Revised Statutes, 2—64, 678, 680, 3—696.

If bank purchases own acceptance, section 5200 would apply, 2—397, 680, 3—23, 193, 691, 696, 4—197, 808, 974.

BORROWER.Acceptances—

Drawer of draft against a bank does not become a borrower of the accepting bank, 2—630; 3—696.

If accepting bank purchases its own acceptance, the drawer would be liable for borrowed money, 2—397, 680; 3—23, 193, 691, 696.

If accepting bank subsequently rediscounts its own acceptance with the Federal Reserve Bank, the drawer would cease to be a borrower, 2—630; 3—696.

(See Acceptances; Own acceptances.)

Act of September 24, 1918. (See same.)

Act of March 3, 1919. (See same.)

Act of October 22, 1919. (See same.)

Definition of word—

Kentucky laws, 4—526.

Refers to customers of banks and not to bank indorsements, 4—520.

Liability of a borrower on his personal note is to be included in the limitation on farm land loans, 2—66.

Maker of a note to a bank ceases to be a borrower of the bank when the bank rediscounts the note with another bank, 4—638, 867.

Member banks. Federal Reserve Banks may decline to discount for, the paper of any one borrower, where it has already discounted a sufficient amount of the paper of this borrower for other member banks, 6—278.

State banks—

May become member banks although loaning up to 40 per cent to one borrower, 3—696.

May lend to one borrower in excess of 10 per cent, but its rediscounts are limited to, as defined in sections 9 and 13, 4—638.

State bank loaning up to 30 per cent to one borrower, but rediscounting 20 per cent with another bank may rediscount remaining 10 per cent with its Federal Reserve Bank, 4—638.

The 10 per cent limitation of section 9 refers to the total capital and surplus and is not limited to that part assigned to the commercial department under the State law, 6—495.

Federal Reserve Banks, under section 9, can not discount for a member State bank any of the paper of any one borrower who has already borrowed in excess of 10 per cent from the State member bank, not including, however, bills drawn against actually existing values nor commercial or business paper actually owned, 5—361, 1055.

The provisions of section 9 are not affected by the amendment of United States Revised Statutes, section 5200, 5—1055.

Federal Reserve Banks, under section 11(m), as amended by act of March 3, 1919, may until December 31, 1920, discount for a State bank the paper of any one borrower who has not already borrowed more than 10 per cent in his regular line of credit, up to 20 per cent, provided the excess over 10 per cent is secured by bonds or notes of the United States issued since April 24, 1917, or by certificates of indebtedness of the United States, provided also that the aggregate discounts of paper for the borrower do not exceed 20 per cent, 5—361, 1055.

If the borrower has borrowed from the State member bank on his regular line of credit more than 10 per cent, the Federal Reserve Bank can not discount any of his paper on his regular line of credit, but may discount his paper secured by Government obligations provided the total discounts of all his paper held by the Federal Reserve Bank do not exceed 20 per cent, 5—361, 1055.

Trust receipts. Borrower must have no control over, taken in substitution of shipping documents as security, 3—286, 881, 5—143, 254.

Warehouse receipts. Exchange of shipping documents for, may be made after acceptance provided warehouse is independent of borrower, 3—30, 286, 881, 4—31, 634, 862, 971, 5—254.

Directors—

Of banks with resources over five millions elected January 1, 1916, can not serve after October 15, 1916, 1—222.

Of State banks or trust companies with resources of more than five millions can not serve as directors of other State banks or trust companies which are member banks, 1—222.

Amendment to section 9, Federal Reserve Act, by act of June 21, 1917, reverses this. See opinion of Attorney General of United States, 3—734, 744.

Of national banks with resources over five millions may serve on board of State banks or trust companies, whether savings or commercial banks, having resources less than five millions, if (a) the State bank is not a member bank, (b) not located in same city as the national bank, or (c) if in same city, the city contains less than 200,000 people, 1—362.

May serve on boards of two banks or trust companies if entire capital stock of one is owned by other, regardless of the resources or location of either bank, 1—27, 405.

May serve on national bank whose resources are over five millions and in five State banks in towns having each less than 200,000 people, none having resources over five millions, 1—405.

Two-year limitation. Section 8. Interpretation of, 1—405.

Director of State bank with resources over five millions may serve not as a director, but as an officer or employee of a national bank, if not a member bank and not in same city of over 200,000, 2—224.

May serve on two national banks in city under 200,000 people if neither has resources over five millions, 2—394.

Person may serve as director of a mutual savings bank having no capital stock represented by shares and as director of a member bank whether or not in substantial competition, 2—394.

May serve on one other bank all of whose stock is owned by stockholders of a member bank, and also, under Kern amendment, on two other banks not in substantial competition with the member bank, 2—396.

Fiscal year. Construction, 2—523.

If average resources in 1915 were less than five millions, a director elected in January 1916, could serve until January 1917, 2—523

Director of national bank with resources over five millions may serve on a State bank with resources less than five millions, if (a) State bank is not a member bank, (b) not located in same city, and (c) if city has less than 200,000 people, 2—523.

Director of national bank with resources over five millions could not, under original act, serve on board of another member bank; under Kern amendment he can serve on boards of two other banks if not in substantial competition with the national bank, 2—523.

Enforcement of decisions by United States Circuit Court of Appeals, 2—606.

Acts of directors are valid although directors later disqualified by court; after court decisions such acts would be in contempt, 2—606.

Opinions. (See Attorney General of United States.)

Opinions of counsel of Federal Reserve Board—

Act does not relate to qualifications of directors of State banks and trust companies; merely defines eligibility of private bankers, officers, and employees of banks organized under laws of United States, 1—27.

Section 8 takes effect two years from October 15, 1916, the date of passage of act, 1—27

State member banks and trust companies, although organized under State law operate under Federal law and are subject to act, 1—222.

See, however, amendment of section 9, Federal Reserve Act. Attorney General of United States, 3—734, 744.

Directors of State banks and trust companies having resources more than five millions, can not serve as directors of other State banks or trust companies which are member banks, 1—222.

Changed by amendment of section 9, Federal Reserve Act. Attorney General of United States, 3—734, 744.

Director of a bank with resources over five millions, elected January 1, 1916, can not serve after October 15, 1916, 1—222, 365.

Director may serve on two banks or trust companies if entire capital stock of one is owned by other, regardless of resources or location of either, 1—405.

Two-year limitation of section 8 applies to all three paragraphs of section 8, 1—405.

Director may serve on national bank with resources over five millions and on five State banks, in towns less than 200,000, all having resources less than five millions, 1—405.

Director may serve on national bank with resources of less than five millions and on a State bank with resources of less than five millions if not in same city of 200,000 or more, 1—405.

"Fiscal year" means fiscal year of bank in question, 2—523.

If bank's average resources were less than five millions during 1915, but increased beyond five-million limit during 1916, a director elected in January, 1916, could serve until January, 1917, 2—523.

Opinions of counsel of Federal Reserve Board—Con.

Director of national banks with resources over five millions may serve on State banks with resources less than five millions if the State bank (a) is not a member bank, (b) is not located in same city, (c) and city has less than 200,000, 2—523.

Director of national bank with resources over five millions may serve (under Kern amendment, but not under original act) on two other banks not in substantial competition with the national bank, 2—523.

Collection plan announced. Exchange charges not permitted on checks, 2—262.

Country banker. Says he believes in and suffers from loss of, but that majority of bankers are opposed and the minority should yield, 3—740.

Deductions which may be made—

On checks and drafts drawn on themselves when sent for collection direct by the holding bank and not through the Federal Reserve Bank. The reasonableness of these charges are to be determined by the Federal Reserve Bank, in no event to exceed one-tenth of 1 per cent, 3—657

On checks and drafts drawn on themselves and received from another bank—not the Federal Reserve Bank—with instructions to remit in payment to the Federal Reserve Bank. In such case, the charge is made against the forwarding bank and not against the Federal Reserve Bank, which is merely a depository of the proceeds minus the exchange charges, 3—660; 6—494.

On collection of notes, bills, and drafts drawn on individuals, firms, or corporations, other than banks, 2—264, 3—656, 660, 661, 662, 663, 5—964, 6—948.

"Nonmember bank depositor" Can use these words in title, 4—1119.

Notes of—

When offered by a member bank, paper acquired from a nonmember bank is not eligible if intention is to loan to the nonmember bank, 1—213.

Federal Reserve Banks authorized, from June 15, 1917, to July 17, 1917, to discount paper acquired from nonmember banks, including their direct obligations, indorsed by member banks, when proceeds have been used or are to be used in meeting demands in connection with Liberty loan subscriptions, 3—426, 429, 497, 498, 509.

Time extended subject to future revision, 3—497, 579.

Notes of nonmember banks which are authorized to deal in Government bonds may be rediscounted just as other 90-day eligible paper, when indorsed by member banks, provided proceeds have been or are to be used for carrying or trading in United States bonds, 3—498, 4—743.

Member banks authorized until further notice to act as agents of nonmember banks in rediscounting paper in connection with Liberty bond subscriptions, 3—497, 579.

Member banks may rediscount eligible paper acquired in due course of business from nonmember banks, bearing indorsement of nonmember banks, 4—520.

Nonmember banks can not obtain indirect accommodation from Federal Reserve Banks through member banks except with permission of the Federal Reserve Board, 4—520.

Notes of nonmember banks for carrying or trading in bonds or notes of United States, acquired in good faith by a member bank and indorsed by the member bank are eligible, 4—743.

Notes eligible without indorsement of a nonmember bank are not rendered ineligible because indorsed "without recourse" by the nonmember bank, 4—745.

Exchange charges, section 13, Federal Reserve Act—The power given to Federal Reserve Board, under section 13, as amended by the act of September 7 1916, and the act of June 21, 1917, to determine and regulate reasonable exchange charges which member or non-member banks are entitled to make, is limited to national banks, State member banks and trust companies, and nonmember clearing depositor banks. It does not apply to non-member banks which are not clearing members, 4—367

The above banks can adjust exchange charges as agreed upon between themselves, not to exceed 10 cents per $100, but can not make such charges against Federal Reserve Banks nor can Federal Reserve Banks pay such charges, 4—367

The claim that the prohibition of exchange charges against Federal Reserve Banks is limited to checks owned by them, as distinguished from checks deposited to be cleared or collected for the account of a member or depositor has no foundation, 4—367

The Federal Reserve Banks probably do own all checks received for clearing or collecting, but whether they do or not is not material, as the prohibition applies to all checks whether technically owned by them or not, 4—367

Excise taxes. Corporation owning Liberty bonds is not to that extent exempt from excise, franchise, and other taxes of United States, 3—601.

OPINIONS, ATTORNEY GENERAL OF UNITED STATES—Continued.State banks—

Can become national banks with all their branches, 1—125.

Federal Reserve Act, section 9, as amended by act of June 21, 1917, permits State banks and trust companies to have interlocking directors with other State banks and trust companies, whether or not members of Federal Reserve System, 3—744.

If doing business in District of Columbia, however they are subject to Clayton Act, whether or not member banks, as they are "operating under the laws of the United States," 3—744

If organized under Code of District of Columbia, they are both organized and operating under the laws of the United States, 3—744.

ducted from balances due to other banks,
3-692.

Foreign currency balances due from foreign banks can not be deducted from balances due to other domestic banks, 5-963.

Balances due to foreign banks are individual deposits and not bank deposits under section 1, Federal Reserve Act, and therefore do not fall within meaning of balances due to other banks, 5-963.

Cash on hand can not be deducted from liabilities against which reserves must be counted, as only Federal Reserve balances count as reserves, 3-614, 692.
