U.S. INTERNATIONAL TRANSACTIONS: FIRST QUARTER 2016 AND ANNUAL REVISIONS

Current Account Balance

The U.S. current-account deficit—a net measure of transactions between the United States and the rest of the world in goods, services, primary income, and secondary income—increased to $124.7 billion (preliminary) in the first quarter of 2016 from $113.4 billion (revised) in the fourth quarter of 2015, according to statistics released by the Bureau of Economic Analysis (BEA). The deficit increased to 2.7 percent of current-dollar gross domestic product (GDP) from 2.5 percent in the fourth quarter.

The $11.3 billion increase reflected a $9.6 billion decrease in the surplus on primary income to $37.5 billion and a $4.0 billion increase in the deficit on secondary income to $40.3 billion. These changes were partly offset by a $2.0 billion decrease in the deficit on goods to $186.4 billion and a $0.4 billion increase in the surplus on services to $64.6 billion.

Notice About Tables Included in the News Release of the International Transactions Accounts

BEA is increasing the number of tables published in the news release of the International Transactions Accounts. This news release includes tables with additional details for the current account and financial account:

Table 1. U.S. International Transactions	page 8
Table 2. U.S. International Trade in Goods	10
Table 3. U.S. International Trade in Services	14
Table 4. U.S. International Transactions in Primary Income	16
Table 5. U.S. International Transactions in Secondary Income	17
Table 6. U.S. International Financial Transactions for Direct Investment	18
Table 7. U.S. International Financial Transactions for Portfolio Investment	20
Table 8. U.S. International Financial Transactions for Other Investment	22
Table 9. Revisions to U.S. International Transactions	24

The statistics in tables 1-8 are available in BEA's Interactive Web Application.

Current Account Transactions (tables 1-5)

The current account records transactions in international trade in goods and services and receipts and payments of primary and secondary income. Primary income includes investment income— income receipts from foreigners on U.S. holdings of financial assets abroad and income payments to foreigners on U.S. liabilities—and compensation of employees—receipts for compensation of U.S. residents paid by nonresidents and payments for compensation of foreign residents paid by U.S. residents. Secondary income receipts and payments include U.S. government and private transfers, such as U.S. government grants and pensions, fines and penalties, withholding taxes, personal transfers (remittances), insurance-related transfers, and other current transfers.

Exports of goods and services and income receipts

Exports of goods and services and income receipts decreased $8.0 billion in the first quarter to $768.2 billion. An $11.2 billion decrease in good exports to $354.0 billion, which included decreases in industrial supplies and materials, primarily petroleum and products, and in capital goods except automotive, more than accounted for the overall decrease. Partly offsetting increases included:

- A $2.2 billion increase in primary income receipts to $194.3 billion, primarily reflecting an increase in portfolio investment income that more than offset a decrease in direct investment income

- A $1.1 billion increase in services exports to $188.1 billion that was more than accounted for by an increase in travel (for all purposes including education).

Imports of goods and services and income payments

Imports of goods and services and income payments increased $3.3 billion to $892.9 billion. Contributing to the increase were:

- An $11.8 billion increase in primary income payments to $156.8 billion, which included increases in direct investment income, portfolio investment income, and other investment income
- A $3.9 billion increase in secondary income payments to $72.1 billion, which mostly reflected an increase in U.S. government transfers
- A $0.7 billion increase in services imports to $123.5 billion, which primarily reflected an increase in travel (for all purposes including education).

A $13.2 billion decrease in goods imports to $540.5 billion, which primarily reflected decreases in industrial supplies and materials, primarily petroleum and products, and in capital goods except automotive, was partly offsetting.

Financial Account (tables 1, 6, 7, and 8)

The financial account records transactions between U.S. residents and nonresidents for direct investment (equity and debt instruments), portfolio investment (equity and investment fund shares and debt securities), other investment (currency and deposits, loans, insurance technical reserves, and trade credit and advances), reserves (assets only), and financial derivatives other than reserves.

Net U.S. borrowing measured by financial account transactions was $35.0 billion in the first quarter, a $13.3 billion increase from net borrowing of $21.8 billion in the fourth quarter. A shift from net U.S. repayment to net U.S. incurrence of liabilities excluding financial derivatives more than offset a shift to net U.S. acquisition of assets excluding financial derivatives. Net transactions in financial derivatives other than reserves reflected more net lending in the first quarter than in the fourth quarter.

Financial assets

Transactions in financial assets excluding financial derivatives shifted $219.3 billion to net U.S. acquisition of $66.8 billion. Contributions to the shift included:

- A $161.9 billion shift in transactions in other investment assets to net acquisition of $36.7 billion, which reflected a shift to net acquisition of deposits in currency and deposits and decrease in net foreign repayment of loans
- A $60.7 billion decrease in net U.S. sales of portfolio investment assets to $61.6 billion, which mainly reflected a shift to net purchases of short-term debt securities.

A $3.1 billion decrease in net acquisition of direct investment assets, reflecting a decrease in net acquisition of debt instruments that exceeded an increase in equity investment, moderated the overall shift to net acquisition of assets.

Liabilities

Transactions in liabilities excluding financial derivatives shifted $233.8 billion to net U.S. incurrence of $115.5 billion. Contributions to the shift included:

- A $213.6 billion shift in transactions in other investment liabilities to net U.S. incurrence of $50.4 billion, which primarily reflected a shift to net incurrence of liabilities in loans
- A $53.1 billion increase in transactions in direct investment liabilities to net incurrence of $79.9 billion, which reflected a shift to net U.S. incurrence of liabilities in debt instruments and an increase in equity investment by foreigners.

Transactions in portfolio investment liabilities shifted $32.9 billion to net foreign sales of $14.8 billion, partly offsetting the changes in direct investment and other investment. Net foreign purchases of debt securities decreased more than net foreign sales of equity and investment fund shares.

Financial derivatives

Transactions in financial derivatives other than reserves reflected first-quarter net lending of $13.6 billion, a $1.3 billion increase from the fourth quarter. Transactions in financial derivatives are only available as a net value equal to transactions for assets less transactions for liabilities. A positive value represents net cash payments by U.S. residents to foreign residents from settlements of derivatives contracts (net lending) and a negative value represents net U.S. cash receipts (net borrowing).

Statistical Discrepancy (table 1)

The statistical discrepancy is the difference between net acquisition of assets and net incurrence of liabilities in the financial account (including financial derivatives) less the difference between total credits and total debits recorded in the current and capital accounts.

The statistical discrepancy decreased $2.0 billion in the first quarter to $89.6 billion.

Revisions

The statistics of the U.S. international transactions accounts released today have been revised for the first quarter of 2012 to the fourth quarter of 2015 to incorporate newly available and revised source data, improved estimation methodologies, and updated seasonal adjustments. Key changes introduced in this annual revision are summarized below and in table A.

Newly available and revised source data

- Goods exports and imports are revised for 2013-2015 primarily to reflect revised Census Bureau data on goods exports and imports and BEA data on balance of payments adjustments.
- Services exports and imports are revised for 2013-2015 primarily to reflect newly available and revised data from BEA's quarterly international services surveys and the results of BEA's 2014 Benchmark Survey of Financial Services Transactions between U.S. Financial Services Providers and Foreign Persons. For travel and transport, exports are revised to reflect newly available and revised data from U.S. Customs and Border Protection on the number of foreign residents traveling in the United States.
- Secondary income receipts and payments are revised for 2012-2015 primarily to incorporate newly available and revised source data from the Internal Revenue Service, BEA's international insurance surveys, and other sources.
- Financial asset and liability transactions as well as primary income receipts and payments related to inward direct investment are revised for 2012-2015 to incorporate the results of BEA's 2012 Benchmark Survey of Foreign Direct Investment in the United States and newly available and revised data from BEA's quarterly and annual direct investment surveys. Financial asset and liability transactions and primary income receipts and payments related to outward direct investment are also revised for 2013-2015 to incorporate newly available and revised data from BEA's quarterly and annual direct investment surveys.
- Financial asset and liability transactions as well as primary income receipts and payments related to portfolio investment are revised for 2012-2015 to incorporate newly available and revised data from the U.S. Department of the Treasury from these Treasury International Capital (TIC) surveys:
  - Aggregate Holdings of Long-Term Securities by U.S. and Foreign Residents
  - Foreign-Residents' Holdings of U.S. Securities, including Selected Money Market Instruments
  - Report of U.S. Ownership of Foreign Securities, including Selected Money Market Instruments.

- Financial asset and liability transactions and primary income receipts and payments related to other investment are revised for 2012-2015 to incorporate revisions from several sources.
  - Revisions for 2014-2015 incorporate newly available and revised data from these TIC surveys:
    - Reports by Financial Institutions of Liabilities to, and Claims on, Foreign Residents by U.S. Residents covering debt liabilities and claims, excluding long-term debt securities
    - Reports of Liabilities to, and Claims on, Unaffiliated Foreign Residents by U.S. Resident Non-Financial Institutions covering debt liabilities and claims, excluding long-term debt securities.
  - Revisions for 2012-2015 also incorporate newly available and revised data on transactions of U.S. financial intermediaries with foreign financial intermediaries from BEA’s benchmark, quarterly, and annual direct investment surveys that are recorded in other investment.
  - Revisions for 2013-2015 incorporate newly available and revised U.S. government administrative data.
- Financial transactions in financial derivatives are revised for 2013-2015 to incorporate newly available and revised data from the TIC survey Report of Holdings of, and Transactions in, Financial Derivatives Contracts with Foreign Residents.

Improved estimation methodologies

- Revised statistics on trade in travel services reflect a refinement to the methodology for estimating average expenditures by travelers.
- Revised statistics in portfolio and other investment financial asset and liability transactions reflect a refinement to the methodology for estimating transactions in foreign-currency denominated deposits, loans, short-term securities, and negotiable certificates of deposit.

A more detailed discussion of the revisions to source data for travel and transport services exports, the refinement of the methodology for estimating average expenditures by travelers, and the incorporation of results from benchmark surveys on financial services transactions and foreign direct investment in the United States appears in “Preview of the 2016 Annual Revision of the International Economic Accounts,” in the May issue of the SURVEY OF CURRENT BUSINESS. Additional information on the revisions to the U.S. International Transactions Accounts and the U.S. International Investment Position Accounts, including a discussion of the refinement of the methodology for estimating transactions in foreign-currency denominated assets and liabilities, will be provided in the July issue of the SURVEY OF CURRENT BUSINESS.

p Preliminary r Revised n.a. Not available (*) Transactions are between zero and +/- $500,000

<sup>1</sup> All travel purposes include 1) business travel, including expenditures by border, seasonal, and other short-term workers and 2) personal travel, including health-related and education-related travel.

<sup>2</sup> Secondary income (current transfer) receipts and payments include U.S. government and private transfers, such as U.S. government grants and pensions, fines and penalties, withholding taxes, personal transfers (remittances), insurance-related transfers, and other current transfers.

<sup>3</sup> Transactions for financial derivatives are only available as a net value equal to transactions for assets less transactions for liabilities. A positive value represents net U.S. cash payments arising from derivatives contracts, and a negative value represents net U.S. cash receipts.

<sup>4</sup> The statistical discrepancy, which can be calculated as line 109 less line 108, is the difference between total debits and total credits recorded in the current, capital, and financial accounts. In the current and capital accounts, credits and debits are labeled in the table. In the financial account, an acquisition of an asset or a repayment of a liability is a debit, and an incurrence of a liability or a disposal of an asset is a credit.

<sup>5</sup> Current- and capital-account statistics in the international transactions accounts differ slightly from statistics in the National Income and Product Accounts (NIPAs) because of adjustments made to convert the international transactions statistics to national economic accounting concepts. A reconciliation between annual statistics in the two sets of accounts appears in NIPA table 4.3B.

<sup>6</sup> Net lending means that U.S. residents are net suppliers of funds to foreign residents, and net borrowing means the opposite. Net lending or net borrowing can be computed from current- and capital-account transactions or from financial-account transactions. The two amounts differ by the statistical discrepancy.

Notes: Details may not add to totals because of rounding. See International Transactions Accounts table 1.3 at www.bea.gov/itable/ for geographic detail. Source: U. S. Bureau of Economic Analysis

<sup>1</sup> Financial transactions on an asset/liability basis are organized according to whether the transactions relate to an asset or a liability. Net U.S. acquisition of direct investment assets relates to U.S. parent and U.S. affiliate acquisition of claims (assets). Net U.S. incurrence of direct investment liabilities relates to U.S. affiliate and U.S. parent incurrence of liabilities.

<sup>2</sup> Financial transactions on a directional basis are organized according to whether the transactions relate to outward investment (U.S. direct investment abroad) or inward investment (foreign direct investment in the United States). Transactions for outward investment relate to transactions for U.S. parent claims and liabilities. Transactions for inward investment relate to transactions for U.S. affiliate liabilities and claims.
