PREFACE

There can be no doubt as to the great social importance of agencies designed to bring together the "jobless man" and the "manless job." For many years, in this country, this function was left to the more or less unregulated operation of private organizations. However, with the increasing complexity of an industrial life, it came to be recognized that, even aside from certain abuses which crept into the fee-charging private employment agency, the problem was so vast that the entry of the State in this field was justified and necessary.

The movement for free public employment agencies, which began in a very modest way with the establishment of a municipal office in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1890, spread steadily although rather slowly to other communities and States, and culminated in 1933 in the passage of a Federal law, usually referred to as the Wagner-Peyser Act. This act was designed to promote the development of a national system of employment offices.

The United States Employment Service was set up under this law to act as a coordinating body. However, the primary initiative in the establishment, support, and conduct of the State offices remains with the individual States. For this reason it is very important that the State legislation be drafted along as efficient lines as possible. To assist the States in this work the Bureau of Labor Statistics has prepared the present report, bringing together all of the laws, Federal and State, regarding employment offices. Legislation for the regulation of private employment agencies is included.

The report was prepared by Charles F. Sharkey, of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, with the collaboration of Ernest W. Goodrich, of the United States Employment Service, and with the assistance of Alfred Acee and Lucy R. Scott, of the Bureau.

Isador Lubin,
Commissioner of Labor Statistics.

October 18, 1937.
Public Employment Agencies

Public employment agencies, sometimes designated free public employment offices, are agencies supported by a public body—State, county, city, town, or village. Such agencies are primarily established for the purpose of furnishing employment to workers and labor to employers.

The first free public employment office in the United States was a municipal agency established in 1890 at Cleveland, Ohio. Later the idea became a definite movement which was taken up by various States, through their legislative bodies. The movement spread until at the present time the majority of the States have provided for the establishment of public employment offices. The growth of these institutions in the United States may be attributed in part to the alleged abuses which have grown up around private agencies. At the same time social utility and economic developments, as well as the belief that obtaining employment for the unemployed is a proper exercise of public authority, have played a powerful and important part in the establishment of public employment agencies.

As established, however, not all these agencies were functioning units. While enabling acts were adopted, some of the States made no appropriations for the maintenance of an up-to-date, efficient organization, and as a result the work of seeking to bring about contacts between the "jobless man" and the "manless job" has been seriously handicapped. With the adoption of Federal-State cooperative relations in the maintenance and operation of State employment offices under the Federal act of 1933, public employment agencies in the United States entered a new stage of development.

The principle of impartial administration was enunciated when the Supreme Court of Illinois,1 as early as 1903, declared that whenever the public undertakes to conduct an employment office the services rendered must be without discrimination. An act of the Illinois legislature (acts of 1899, p. 268), which the court declared unconstitutional, forbade public employment agencies to furnish names of applicants for work to employers whose workmen were on strike. Two discriminations were pointed out by the court, one against employers whose employees were on strike, and the other against workmen seeking employment who were willing to accept service where workmen had gone out as strikers. The court said that an unwarrantable distinction was drawn "between workmen who apply for situations to employers where there is no strike or lock-out and workmen who do not so apply and * * * between employers who may have the misfortune to be the victims of a strike or lock-out and employers who do not have such misfortune."

Section 8 of the law under consideration, the court said, did not "relate to persons and things as a class or to all employers, but only to those who have not been the victims of strikes or lock-outs." As was said earlier in the case of Gillespie v. People (188 Ill. 176, 58 N. E. 1007), "where a statute does this—where it does not relate to persons or things as a class, but to particular persons or things of a class—it is a special, as distinguished from a general, law."

Federal Activities

The Federal Government entered the field of public employment service in 1907. By an act of the Congress of that year (34 U. S. Stat. L. 898) a division of information in the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization (Department of Commerce and Labor) was established. Section 40 of the act provided that: "It shall be the duty of said division to promote a beneficial distribution of aliens admitted into the United States among the several States and Territories desiring immigration."

In 1913, when the Department of Labor was created as a separate executive department, the division of information of the Bureau of Immigration was transferred to it. The scope of the work was enlarged to correspond with the broad powers of the Department of Labor, as stated in the organic act: "The purpose of the Department of Labor shall be to foster, promote, and develop the welfare of the wage earners of the United States, to improve their working conditions, and to advance their opportunities for profitable employment."

The Federal Labor Service was organized in 1915, and was engaged mostly in the distribution of farm labor. The service was expanded during the World War, but its activities were reduced during the years immediately following. Except for the farm labor division, the principal function of the Service consisted of cooperation with the State and municipal employment agencies. In January 1918, the Service was taken from the Bureau of Immigration and set up as a separate agency in the United States Department of Labor. Subsequent attempts were made to place the employment service on a more permanent and substantial basis.

At the Seventy-first Congress (1931), a bill creating a cooperative national employment system was passed by both the House and Senate only to meet a presidential veto. Later in the same session, however, the Department of Labor (46 U. S. Stat. L. 1575) was granted an appropriation of $500,000 for its Employment Service. As a result of the appropriation thus obtained an enlarged Federal Employment Service was established at once with offices in every State of the Union. This system continued until it was abolished early in 1933.
Federal Act Creating National Employment Service

Shortly afterwards, on June 6, 1933, a national employment system was established by an act (48 Stat. L. 113) passed at the special session of the Seventy-third Congress.

This law created a United States Employment Service in the Department of Labor and supplanted a former Federal employment service, with offices in every State, conducted independently of the State employment service. The new law established a national employment system in cooperation with the various States, including the Territories of Hawaii and Alaska. An appropriation of $1,500,000 was provided for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1934, and $4,000,000 for each fiscal year thereafter, up to and including the fiscal year ending June 30, 1938. Thereafter the amount of the appropriation is to be determined by the Congress, as may be deemed necessary.

In order to obtain the benefits of any appropriations, a State must accept the provisions of the national act and designate a State agency with necessary powers to cooperate with the United States Employment Service. Seventy-five percent of the amounts appropriated are to be apportioned by the director among the several States in the proportion which their population bears to the total population of the United States. No payment shall be made to any State until an equal amount has been appropriated and made available for that year by the State. By an act of May 10, 1935, it was provided that in the apportionment of the amount, at least $10,000 must be granted to each State.

The United States Employment Service is charged with the duty of promoting and developing a national system of employment offices for men, women, and juniors "who are legally qualified to engage in gainful occupations"; to maintain a veterans' bureau, a farm placement service, and a public employment service for the District of Columbia; and to assist in establishing public employment offices in the several States and political subdivisions thereof in which there shall be located a veterans' employment service. The Federal agency is charged also with the duty to "assist in coordinating the public employment offices throughout the country and in increasing their usefulness by developing and prescribing minimum standards of efficiency, assisting them in meeting problems peculiar to their localities, promoting uniformity in their administrative and statistical procedure, furnishing and publishing information as to opportunities for employment and other information of value in the operation of the system, and maintaining a system for clearing labor between the several States."

The law provides for the appointment of a Federal Advisory Council. This board is to be composed of representatives of employers and employees and the public for the purpose of formulating policies and the determining of problems relating to employment. The Federal director is required to form State advisory councils, similarly organized.

Before any applicant is referred to a place for employment, notice of any strikes or lock-outs must be given.

All States desiring to receive benefits under the act must submit detailed plans to the director, and must also make such reports concerning any operations and expenditures of money as the director may require. The franking privilege for free transmission of official mail matter is extended to the United States Employment Service and to all State employment systems operating under the provisions of the act.

The law was subsequently amended. All the States have now accepted the act, thereby making possible a well integrated Federal-State system of public employment offices.

Acceptance by the States of the Wagner-Peyser Act

In the list below, the States are grouped according to the year in which the Federal law (the Wagner-Peyser Act) was accepted, together with date and citation of the law. Ten States accepted in 1933, and in 1935 a striking increase in the number of affiliated States was shown. With the enactment of several laws during 1937, all of the States and the two Territories have become affiliated with the United States Employment Service.

1 The law does not specifically designate a State agency but the attorney-general of the State has ruled that the agency listed is the State agency.
2 The law does not specifically designate a State agency, but in accordance with an interpretation of the law by the Solicitor of the Department of Labor the agency listed is accepted as the official State agency.
Private Employment Agencies

In general, private employment agencies include any business that offers, promises, attempts, or aids in procuring, directly or indirectly, help or employment for another for any fee or remuneration paid or received for such service.

At the present time in the United States there are 42 States which have enacted legislation directly or indirectly regulating the operation of private employment offices. In most of the States provisions are made for the licensing and bonding of such agencies. In addition to the private employment agencies conducted for profit, agencies are also established by various philanthropic organizations, trade-unions, and associations of employers. Agencies created for the placement of professional workers such as teachers, nurses, etc., are also numerous.

In the State of Idaho the maintenance of private employment offices for profit is forbidden. Exceptions are made, however, in the case of nonprofit employment offices conducted by religious, benevolent, or charitable societies, and those furnishing professional employment.

One of the reasons given for the establishment of public employment agencies is the alleged abuses practiced by many of the private agencies. Some of the more common of the fraudulent methods were enumerated by the United States Bureau of Labor in 1912 as follows:

1. Charging a fee and failing to make any effort to find work for the applicant.
2. Sending applicants where no work exists.
3. Sending applicants to distant points where no work or where unsatisfactory work exists, but whence the applicant will not return on account of the expense involved.

* Acts of 1937, ch. 233, will not be effective until it is approved by referendum vote in November 1938.
4. Collusion between the agent and employer, whereby the applicant is given a few days' work and then discharged to make way for new workmen, the agent and employer dividing the fee.

5. Charging exorbitant fees, or giving jobs to such applicants as contribute extra fees, presents, etc.

6. Inducing workers, particularly girls, who have been placed, to leave, pay another fee, and get a "better job."^4

In addition to the abuses alleged, the charge of inadequacy has also been lodged against the private employment agencies.^6

The Legislature of Minnesota in 1885 enacted a law which sought to correct alleged abuses by the specific prohibition of such agencies, and about the same time the State of New York did likewise. None of these provisions were effective, however, since the law failed to provide for a proper and adequate administration.

Since the publication of the previous edition of this bulletin (No. 581) in 1933, considerable attention has been directed by some of the States to improving and extending their laws regulating private employment agencies. The State of Colorado adopted a theatrical employment agency law covering all types of agencies organized to provide engagements for circus, vaudeville, theatrical, and other entertainments, and agencies which furnish information as to where such theatrical engagements may be secured. A license fee of $100 is required for the operation of a theatrical employment agency, with an additional fee of $50 for each employee. The act also requires that each application for a license must be accompanied by a bond for $1,000.

The legislature of Illinois expanded the private employment agency law of that State and, in 1935, gave special consideration to the licensing of theatrical employment agents. Maryland repealed the former employment agency law and enacted new legislation covering the licensing of such agencies in greater detail.

Delaware amended the occupation license law, and now requires that private employment agents shall pay a license fee of $10. Mississipi reenacted the privilege tax law^6 requiring emigrant agents to pay a fee of $500.

Court Decisions Dealing With Regulation of Private Employment Agencies

The legality of the restrictive legislation of private employment agencies has been before the courts in several instances. An act (acts of 1903, ch. 11) of the California Legislature contained a provision limiting the fee to be charged by a private employment agency. The California court held that such a provision was unconstitutional since it infringed the liberty of contract. (Ex parte Dickey, 144 Calif. 234, 77 Pac. 924.)

The Legislature of Michigan in 1913 (Public Act No. 301) enacted a law which imposed a license fee on the operation of employment agencies, and prohibited an agent from sending an applicant to an employer who had not applied for labor. The Supreme Court of Michigan, in the case of People v. Brazee (183 Mich. 259, 149 N. W. 1053), held that the business of conducting an employment agency...
LAWS RELATING TO EMPLOYMENT AGENCIES

was one properly subject to police regulation and control. An appeal later to the United States Supreme Court\(^7\) resulted in an affirmation of the decision of the State court.

In the opinion by Mr. Justice McReynolds it was held that a State, in the exercise of its police power, "may require licenses for employment agencies and prescribe reasonable regulations in respect to them to be enforced according to the legal discretion of a commissioner. The general nature of the business is such that, unless regulated, many persons may be exposed to misfortunes against which the legislature can properly protect them."

Another case concerning the private employment agency law of Michigan was recently decided in that State.\(^8\) The specific question involved in this case was whether or not the charging of a fee for services rendered or proposed to be rendered was the same as operating an employment agency for gain or profit.

Several cases of importance have been decided in the courts concerning employment agency legislation in the State of Washington. An initiative measure (acts of 1914, no. 8) prohibited the collection of fees by employment agents from employees seeking work. The act was considered by the State supreme court without the question of the constitutionality of the law being challenged. \((\text{Huntworth v. Tanner}, 87 \text{ Wash.} 670, 152 \text{ Pac. 523.})\) In an earlier decision,\(^9\) however, by a United States district court the constitutionality of the law was passed upon and it was sustained as a valid exercise of the police power of the State. In 1917, the question of the constitutionality of the law was before the United States Supreme Court.\(^10\) In a 5 to 4 decision the law was declared unconstitutional. The court held that the private employment agency was a useful and legitimate business, and that while subject to regulation under the police power of the State, it could not be suppressed without violating the fourteenth amendment of the United States Constitution. A vigorous dissent was expressed by Mr. Justice Brandeis, in which Justices McKenna, Holmes, and Clarke joined, on the ground that "the law in question is a valid exercise of the police power of the State directed against a demonstrated evil."

The Legislature of Washington, by an act of 1927 (ch. 71), repealed the law relative to the collection of fees for securing employment, by virtue of the United States Supreme Court decision.

The question of fixing the fees of private employment agencies by public authorities was determined by the United States Supreme Court on May 28, 1928.\(^11\) The private employment agency law of New Jersey required every employment agency to "file with the commissioner of labor for his approval, a schedule of fees proposed to be charged for any services rendered to employers seeking employees, and persons seeking employment, and all charges must conform thereto." An application for a license was made by one Rupert Ribnik to carry on an employment agency. The application was rejected by the commissioner of labor because in his opinion the fees proposed to be charged were excessive and unreasonable. The applicant appealed to the New Jersey State court, where the law was sustained, under the due process of law clause. Subsequently the New Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals affirmed the lower court. The case was taken by Ribnik to the United States Supreme Court. This court, in a 6 to 3 decision, reversed the State court, and held the fee-fixing provision of New Jersey was unconstitutional. Mr. Justice Sutherland held that the law was in conflict with the due process of law clause of the fourteenth amendment to the Federal Constitution. The decision was based on several cases previously decided by the United States Supreme Court.

Mr. Justice Sutherland, in his opinion, compared the fixing of fees of employment agencies to the fixing of the price at which theater tickets should be sold by a ticket broker, and continued: “It is not easy to see how, without disregarding that decision, price-fixing legislation in respect of other brokers of like character can be upheld.” The court in the course of its opinion reasoned that—

The business of securing employment for those seeking work and employers for those seeking workers is essentially that of a broker, that is, of an intermediary. While we do not undertake to say that there may not be a deeper concern on the part of the public in the business of an employment agency, that business does not differ in substantial character from the business of a real estate broker, ship broker, merchandise broker, or ticket broker.

An employment agency is essentially a private business. True, it deals with the public, but so do the druggist, the butcher, the baker, the grocer, and the apartment or tenement-house owner and the broker who acts as intermediary between such owner and his tenants. Of course, anything which substantially interferes with employment is a matter of public concern, but in the same sense that interference with the procurement of food and housing and fuel are of public concern. The public is deeply interested in all these things. The welfare of its constituent members depends upon them. The interest of the public in the matter of employment is not different in quality or character from its interest in the other things enumerated; but in none of them is the interest that “public interest” which the law contemplates as the basis for legislative price control.

To urge that extortion, fraud, imposition, discrimination, and the like have been practiced to some or to a great extent in connection with the business here under consideration, or that the business is one lending itself peculiarly to such evils, is simply to restate grounds already fully considered by this court. These are grounds for regulation but not for price fixing, as we have already definitely decided.

A dissenting opinion was delivered by Mr. Justice Stone, in which Mr. Justice Holmes and Mr. Justice Brandeis joined.

As a result of the decisions by the United States Supreme Court in the employment agency cases, a State may license and regulate them but cannot prohibit the business entirely, nor fix the fees collected by the agency.

On March 11, 1932, the District Court of the Northern District of Texas held that a statute which provided for the licensing and regulating of private employment agencies was void, insofar as it limited the fee charged by the agency. (Karr v. Baldwin, 57 Fed. (2d) 252.)

Emigrant Agents

The regulating, licensing, and restricting of agencies which recruit labor in one State for employment in another has been the subject of legislation in a few of the southern States and also in Hawaii and the Philippine Islands. The term “emigrant agent”, as construed in most of the State laws, means any person engaged in hiring laborers or soliciting emigrants in one State to be employed beyond the limits of the State.

In some of the States the law is embodied in the taxing or revenue laws, while in others a comprehensive code has been adopted regulating the activities of such agencies. The constitutionality of some of the laws has been attacked in the State courts, and they have been declared unconstitutional.

As early as 1891 the State of North Carolina, by the provisions of chapter 75, laid a tax of $1,000 on the business of emigrant agents. The court in that State, in the case of State v. Moore (18 S. E. 342), declared that since the law prescribed no regulation as to the conduct of the business nor any police supervision, it was restrictive and prohibitory, and void as an attempted exercise of the police power. The court also declared that if the law was to be considered as a taxing law, it was also void for want of uniformity. Ten years prior to the enactment of the North Carolina law, the Legislature of Alabama enacted a law (acts of 1881-82, p. 162) regulating emigrant agents, the constitutionality of which was tested in the case of Joseph v. Randolph (71 Ala. 499, 46 Am. Rep. 347).

The Alabama law provided that no one should be allowed to contract with laborers, or to induce them to leave certain counties, where the intention was to remove them from the State, unless the persons so contracting had paid a license tax of $250 for each county. The Alabama court held that this law interfered unwarrantably with the rights of the employer and the laborer. The act was construed by the court as a restriction upon the rights and privileges of laborers to free emigration as citizens of the United States, since it was not a tax on the occupation of employment or emigrant agents, but upon the act of hiring even a single employee.

On February 9, 1905, the Supreme Court of Alabama again had occasion to decide a case (Kendrick v. State, 39 So. 203) involving emigrant agents. The court held that an act of 1903 (p. 344) was not in conflict with the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States, and also that the act was not adverse to section 31 of the constitution of Alabama, providing that "emigration shall not be prohibited." The court answered the objection that the law was in conflict with the Federal Constitution by citing a case (Williams v. Fears, 179 U. S. 270) in which the United States Supreme Court, in an opinion written by Mr. Chief Justice Fuller, upheld a Georgia act and settled the question in favor of the constitutionality of the law requiring a license tax on emigrant agents.

The license tax required in the Alabama law, the supreme court of the State said, if sustained at all, must be under the general power to tax occupations. The court stated the principle as follows:

We understand the principle to be that the State can divide the various business vocations into classes for the purpose of levying occupation taxes, and levy varying amounts on the different occupations; the limitation being (1) that there must be uniformity among members of the same class, and the classification must be reasonable; and (2) the State can not levy such an occupation tax on any useful or harmless occupation as will amount to a prohibition of same. And when we say harmless occupation we do not mean to prescribe an occupation because one man, in the lawful pursuit of it, may draw away business from another or outrun him in the race for patronage or trade, but harmless in the sense of not being demoralizing in its tendency, injurious to the health of the people, promotive of disorder, or interfering with the rights of other citizens to be protected in their constitutional privileges.

To further discourage the growth and extension of emigrant agents the Legislature of Alabama in 1923 passed a most drastic law, which fixed the license fee at $5,000 per annum for the use of the State, and such additional sum (not exceeding 50 percent) as might be levied by the county. Such license must be paid in each county in which the labor agent engages in business.

The Mississippi emigrant agent law (acts of 1912, ch. 94) was before the courts of that State in 1918. In the case of Garbutt v. State (77 So. 189), the Supreme Court of Mississippi held that the requiring of a license fee of $500 was not a burden or a tax on commerce between the States. The court cited the cases of Williams v. Fears (179 U. S. 270), State v. Napier (41 S. E. 13), and State v. Hunt (40 S. E. 216). The tax imposed on an emigrant agent in Mississippi, the court pointed out, did not undertake to tax one who solicits or hires workmen for his own use or employment, but was laid upon the person doing a regular business as an emigrant or employment agent. In upholding the tax the Mississippi court said:

In view of the activity of labor agents in Mississippi within the past few years, and the free emigration of laborers to other States, especially the heavy transportation of colored laborers to the northern States—amounting the past year to a veritable "exodus"—we are not prepared to declare the tax prohibitory. The amount of the tax is primarily a legislative question.

The Legislature of Texas, at the first called session in May 1929, passed an emigrant agency law. A large employer of emigrant labor applied to the Federal District Court of Northern Texas for an injunction to restrain the enforcement of the act. The injunction was issued and the court held that the tax imposed on emigrant agents was excessive. To meet the objection of the court, the legislature immediately enacted new legislation by reducing the amount of the occupation tax, and thereby fixed the fee at $1,000 for the State, with a graduated county tax (based on population) to be paid in every county in which the emigrant agent operated. After the enactment of the second emigrant agency law, the same company that had objected to the first act again sought to enjoin the enforcement of its provisions.

In the case of Hanley v. Moody et al. (39 Fed. (2d) 198), the United States District Court for the Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division, held that section 4 of chapter 96, acts of 1929 (second called session), was unconstitutional. Section 4 of the act related to the bond ($5,000) required of all emigrant agents for the return of laborers to the State. The court held that this requirement was a violation of both the State and Federal Constitutions and therefore enjoined enforcement of the section by a restraining order. As to the occupation taxes required, the court held that they were not an illegal and oppressive exercise of the sovereign power of the State of Texas.

There is created in the department of labor and factory inspection a division to be known as the unemployment compensation division, which shall be administered by a full-time, salaried, executive director, who shall be subject to the supervision and direction of the commissioner of labor and factory inspection, herein called the administrator. The administrator is authorized to appoint, fix the compensation of and prescribe the duties of such executive director, provided such appointment shall be subject to the approval of the governor and the rate of such compensation shall be subject to the approval of the board of finance and control. There are established in said division two coordinate departments, the Connecticut state employment service department and the unemployment compensation department. Each department shall be responsible for the discharge of its distinctive functions. Each department shall be a separate administrative unit with respect to personnel, budget and duties except so far as the administrator may find that such separation in local offices is impracticable. Each free public employment bureau now maintained by the state shall be transferred to the jurisdiction of the Connecticut state employment service department, herein established, on or before July 1, 1937, and said department shall establish and maintain free public employment bureaus in such number and in such places as may be necessary for the proper administration of this act and for the purpose of performing such duties as are within the purview of the act of congress entitled "An Act to Provide for the Establishment of a National Employment System and for Cooperation with the States in the Promotion of Such System and for Other Purposes," approved June 6, 1933.

Sec. 9. Administration; personnel.—

D. There is created a bureau of personnel for the unemployment compensation act. Said bureau shall consist of three persons, no two of whom shall reside in the same county and not more than two of whom shall be members of the same political party. No member shall be an officer or committee member of any state or local political party organization nor hold any other public office. Within thirty days after the passage of this act, the governor shall appoint three members of such bureau, each of whom shall take office immediately upon his appointment, and whose terms of office shall expire one, two and three years, respectively, from the first day of April next succeeding the date of appointment. Prior to April first in each year, beginning with the year 1938, the governor shall appoint a member of said bureau for the term of three years from the first day of April next succeeding the date of his appointment and until his successor shall be appointed and shall have qualified. Each member shall be sworn to a faithful performance of his duties. Any vacancy shall be filled by the governor for the unexpired portion of the term. Such approval shall be given only on a nonpartisan basis of competency, fitness and actual merit for carrying out the duties of the position in question, and only after such examination and investigation as said bureau shall consider reasonably adequate to ascertain such competency, fitness and actual merit of such person. The burden of satisfying said bureau of such competency, fitness and actual merit in the case of any person shall rest on such person. Said bureau shall not approve for employment any person who shall fail to satisfy it that he is not an officer or committee member of any state or local political party organization, and the position of any person who becomes, or is found to be, such an officer or committee member, shall become vacant. Reasonable compensation for the members of said bureau shall be fixed by the board of finance and control, and such compensation, and the necessary expenses of said bureau incurred in the discharge of its duties, when approved by said board, shall be paid as an administrative expense of this act. The administrator may delegate to any person duly employed such authority as he deems reasonable and proper for the effective administration of his duties under this act, and may in his discretion require any such person, whose duties require him to handle moneys, checks or warrants for the payment of moneys, to give bond to the state for the faithful performance of his duties, in such amount as the administrator may determine, and in such form as the attorney general shall approve, and the premiums on each such bond shall be paid from the unemployment compensation administration fund.

However, the retention of the employee beyond the probationary period automatically confirms such person as a permanent appointee. The secretary may dismiss, suspend or furlough employees when the public interest or the efficiency of the service requires. All employees given notice of dismissal, suspension or furlough, shall be entitled to a hearing before the board by an appeal made within ten days after such notice of dismissal suspension or furlough. It shall be the duty of the director to ascertain whether the system of public employment offices maintained in each State is conducted in accordance with the rules and regulations and the standards of efficiency prescribed by the director in accordance with the provisions of this chapter. The director may revoke any existing certificates or withhold any further certificate provided for in section 49f, whenever he shall determine, as to any State, that the cooperating State agency has not properly expended the moneys paid to it or the moneys herein required to be appropriated by such State, in accordance with plans approved under this chapter. Before any such certificate shall be revoked or withheld from any State, the director shall give notice in writing to the State agency stating specifically wherein the State has failed to comply with such plans. The State agency may appeal to the Secretary of Labor from the action of the director in any such case, and the Secretary of Labor may either affirm or reverse the action of the director with such directions as he shall consider proper.

Sec. 49i. Establishment of temporary service, when, etc. During the current fiscal year and the two succeeding fiscal years the director is authorised to expend in any State so much of the sum apportioned to such State according to population, and so much of the unapportioned balance of the appropriation made under the provisions of section 49d as he may deem necessary, as follows:

(a) In States where there is no State system of public employment offices, in establishing and maintaining a system of public employment offices under the control of the director.

The authority contained in this section shall terminate at the expiration of the period specified in the first paragraph of this section, and thereafter no assistance shall be rendered such States until the legislatures thereof provide for cooperation with the United States Employment Service as provided in section 49c of this chapter.

Sec. 49j. Establishment of advisory board.—(a) The director shall establish a Federal Advisory Council composed of men and women representing employers and employees in equal numbers and the public for the purpose of formulating policies and discussing problems relating to employment and insuring impartiality, neutrality, and freedom from political influence in the solution of such problems. Members of such council shall be selected from time to time in such manner as the director shall prescribe and shall serve without compensation, but when attending meetings of the council they shall be allowed necessary traveling and subsistence expenses, or per diem allowance in lieu thereof, within the limitations prescribed by law for civilian employees in the executive branch of the Government. The council shall have access to all files and records of the United States Employment Service. The director shall also require the organization of similar State advisory councils composed of men and women representing employers and employees in equal numbers and the public.

(b) In carrying out the provisions of this chapter the director is authorized and directed to provide for the giving of notice of strikes or lockouts to applicants before they are referred to employment.

Sec. 49k. Promulgation of regulations.—The director, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, is hereby authorized to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this chapter.

Sec. 49l. Franking privilege.—The Postmaster General is hereby authorized and directed to extend to the United States Employment Service and to the system of employment offices operated by it in conformity with the provisions of this chapter, and to all State employment systems which receive funds appropriated under authority of this chapter, the privilege of free transmission of official mail matter.

Sec. 1457e (as amended 1937, ch. 33). License.—No person, firm, association, or corporation shall engage in the business of employment agent for profit, or receive any fee, charge, commission or other compensation, directly or indirectly, for services as an employment agent without first obtaining from the industrial commission a license therefor, as hereinafter provided.

Sec. 1457f (as amended 1937, ch. 33). Application; deposit.—Any person, firm, corporation, or association desiring a license as employment agent shall make application therefor to the industrial commission, and accompany the same with a cash deposit in the sum of five hundred dollars, conditioned that the agent will conform in all particulars to the requirements of law relating to the business of employment agent. Said cash deposit shall at all times be maintained at five hundred dollars.

Sec. 1457g. Annual fees.—Each such license shall expire on June thirtieth, next following the date of issue and may be renewed annually. The fee for such license or renewal shall be as follows: One per cent on the first five thousand dollars of the fees, charges, commissions, or other compensation actually received during the life of the license or renewal by an employment agent for service as such; three-fourths of one per cent on the second five thousand dollars of such receipts; and one-half of one per cent of all such receipts in excess of ten thousand dollars: Provided, that in no event shall such fee be less than twenty-five dollars nor more than one hundred and fifty dollars. The minimum fee shall be paid before a license or renewal thereof is issued. Each employment agent to whom a license has been issued as required herein shall file with the industrial commission within the first ten days of July in each year, a verified statement showing the actual fees, charges, commission, or other compensation received by him for services as such agent during the preceding year and with such statement shall pay the balance, if any, of such license fee due the state. Such fees shall be paid to the industrial commission, and shall be paid by it into the general fund of the State treasury within one week of receipt.

Sec. 1457h. Authority of the industrial commission.—The industrial commission is vested with the power and jurisdiction to have such supervision of every employment agent as may be necessary adequately to enforce and administer all laws and lawful orders designated to prevent fraud, misrepresentation, false statements, or other unauthorized acts of such employment agent.

Sec. 1457i. Visitorial power of commission.—Any commissioner or deputy of the commission may enter any employment office or the place of business of any employment agent for the purpose of collecting facts and statistics, examining the records or registers kept by such employment agent, and bringing to the attention of such agent any law or any order of the commission, or any failure on the part of such employment agent to comply therewith. No employment agent shall refuse to admit any commissioner or deputy of the commission to his place of business.

Sec. 1457j. Inquisition.—Any employment agent receiving from the commission any blanks calling for information required by it to carry out the provisions of this act, with directions to fill the same, shall cause the same to be properly filled out so as to answer fully and correctly each question therein propounded, and in case he is unable to answer any question he shall give a good and sufficient reason for such failure, and said answer shall be verified by two witnesses, and returned to the commission at its offices within the period fixed by the commission.

Sec. 1457k. Schedule of fees or charges.—Every applicant for a license to engage in the business of an employment agent shall file with the commission, within a time fixed by the commission, a schedule of the fees or charges made by such employment agent both to applicants for employment and for help for any services rendered to such applicants, together with all rules or regulations that may in any manner, affect the fees charged or to be charged for any service. No license shall be issued to such applicant unless such fees and such rules or regulations are reasonable. Such fees and such rules or regulations may be changed only with the approval of the industrial commission and when changed shall be filed with said commission. It shall be unlawful for any employment agent to charge, demand, collect or receive a greater compensation for any service performed by him than is specified in the schedule filed with the commission and no employment agent shall charge a registration fee without permission from the industrial commission.

Sec. 1457l. Receipt given applicant.—It shall be the duty of every licensed person conducting an employment agency to give every applicant for employment from whom a fee shall be received a receipt in which shall be stated the name and address of such employment agency, the name and address of the person to whom the applicant is sent for employment, the name of the applicant, the date,

There shall be printed on the face of the receipt in prominent type the following: "This agency is licensed by the industrial commission of the state of Arizona." All receipts shall be made and numbered in original and duplicate. The original shall be given to the applicant paying the fee and the duplicate shall be kept on file at the employment agency. The receipts used by such licensed agents shall be approved by the industrial commission.

SEC. 1457m (as amended 1937, ch. 33). Return of fee.—(a) No employment agent, or agent thereof, shall send out any applicant for employment without having a bona fide order from the prospective employer to do so.

(b) In case an applicant is sent out and fails to obtain employment as represented the employment agent shall, upon demand, refund any fee the applicant may have paid.

(c) If the applicant is sent beyond the limits of the city in which the employment agency is located, and fails to receive employment, the employment agent shall refund, in addition to said fee, necessary expenses incurred by the applicant in going to and returning from the place of prospective employment, except when applicant has been informed in writing that he is being sent for interview only.

(d) If the applicant receives employment, and said employment, by reason of discharge, lasts less than seven days, or the total amount of wages paid to said applicant is less than twenty-five dollars, the employment agent shall refund only the amount of the fee paid by said applicant.

(e) Should the employment agent refuse or fail to make prompt refund, upon demand, as provided in this section, the applicant may apply to the commission for a hearing, and if the commission, upon investigation, finds that the applicant is entitled to a refund it shall issue an order to that effect, and shall pay such refund to the applicant out of the cash deposited by the employment agent. Either party to any such controversy may appeal, within five days from the issuance of any such order, to the superior court of the county in which the business of the employment agent is located.

SEC. 1457n. Revocation of license.—It shall be the duty of the industrial commission and it shall have power, jurisdiction and authority to issue licenses to employment agents, and to refuse to issue such license, whenever, after due investigation, the commission or a majority of the members thereof finds that the character of the applicant makes him unfit to be an employment agent, or when the premises for conducting the business of an employment agent is found upon investigation to be unfit for such use, or whenever, upon investigation by the commission it is found and determined that the number of licensed employment agents, or that the employment agency operated by the United States, by the state or by the municipality, or by two or more thereof jointly, in the community in which the applicant for a license proposes to operate is sufficient to supply the needs of employers and employees. Any such license granted by the commission may also be revoked by it upon due notice to the holder of said license, and upon due cause shown. Failure to comply with the duties, terms, conditions, or provisions of this act, or with any lawful orders of the commission, shall be deemed due cause to revoke such license.

SEC. 1457o. Regulations, records, reports.—The commission shall have the power, jurisdiction and authority to fix and order such reasonable rules for the conduct of the business of any employment agent as may be necessary adequately to carry out the provisions of this act, and to ascertain and fix reasonable classifications of employment or positions. It may prescribe the form of books, registers or records to be kept by the employment agent, the receipts or copies of contracts to be handed to persons referred to employment, the reports to be made to the commission, the refunds to be made to applicants who failed to secure employment; and it may order any other measures reasonably necessary to protect the public, or persons seeking employment, or employees seeking help, against fraud, misrepresentation, or any other unauthorized act of any employment agent.

Sec. 1457a (as amended 1937, ch. 53). Penalties.—Any person, firm, association or corporation who violates any provision of this article shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not less than fifty nor more than three hundred dollars, confinement for not more than six months, or both.

Application for such permit or license shall be made, either in person or by writing, by the person, firm or corporation, and shall state fully the condition, nature, terms and place of employment, for which labor is solicited: provided, that where labor is solicited to be employed by any firm, person or corporation within this State, and where no fee is charged, or where such labor is to be employed by such firm, person or corporation soliciting or offering to hire labor within this State, the commissioner of labor may grant a license or permit without charge. But where such employment or labor is to be performed without the borders of this State, then the provisions of section 6548a shall apply.

Such register shall, at all reasonable hours, be open to the inspection and examination of the commissioner of labor or his agent. No licensed person shall divide fees with an employer, or an agent of an employer, or with any superintendent, manager, foreman, or other employee or any person, firm, or corporation to which help is furnished.

No licensed agency shall send or caused to be sent any female help or servants to any place of bad repute, house of ill fame or assignation house, or any house or place of amusement kept for immoral purposes. No licensed agency shall make any false entries in the register to be kept as herein provided. Where a fee is charged for filing or receiving applications or securing employment or help, said total fee or remuneration shall in no sense exceed the sum of $2, for which a receipt shall be given, in which shall be stated the name of the applicant, the amount of the fee, the use made of the work or service procured. In case the said applicant shall not obtain a situation or employment through such licensed agency within one month after registration with said agency, then said agency shall forthwith repay and return to such applicant, upon demand being made therefor, the full amount of the fee paid or delivered by said applicant to said licensed agency: Provided, that in cases where the applicant paying such fee is sent beyond the limits of the city in which the employment agency is located, and through no fault of applicant fails to secure employment, such licensed agency shall repay in addition to the said fee any actual expenses incurred in going to and returning from any place where such applicant had been sent; Provided, further, where the applicant is employed and the employment lasts less than seven days by reason of the discharge of the applicant, the employment agency shall return to said applicant the fee paid by such applicant to the employment agency, or such portion of said fee as in the judgment of the commissioner of labor may be adequate.

Any person who shall open or conduct such an employment agency without first procuring said license or who shall fail to list, in his application to the commissioner for a license or renewal of license, all persons, except bona fide employees on stated salaries, financially interested, either as partners, associates or profit sharers, in the operation of the employment agency in question shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished as in section 18 of this act provided. Sec. 3. Applications.—An application for such a license shall be made to the commissioner of labor. Such application shall be written and in the form prescribed by the commissioner of labor and shall state the name and address of the applicant; the street and number of the building or place where the business is to be conducted; whether the applicant proposes to conduct a lodging house for the unemployed separate from the agency which he proposes to conduct; the business or occupation engaged in by the applicant for at least two years immediately preceding the date of application. Sec. 4. Duties of commissioner.—Upon receipt of an application for a license the commissioner of labor may cause an investigation to be made as to the character and responsibility of the applicant and of the premises designated in such application as the place in which it is proposed to conduct such agency. The commissioner of labor or his deputies may administer oaths, subpoena witnesses and take testimony in respect to matters contained in such application and in respect to complaints of any character against the applicant for such license, and upon proper hearing may refuse to grant a license. Each application shall be granted or refused within 30 days from date of filing. No license shall be granted to a person to conduct the business of an employment agency in rooms used for living purposes, or where boarders or lodgers are kept, or where meals are served, or where persons sleep, or in connection with a building or premises where intoxicating liquors are sold or consumed or in connection with pool halls or soft drink parlors. No license shall be granted to a person whose license has been revoked within three years from the date of application. Each license shall run to and including the 31st day of March next following the date thereof and no longer, unless sooner revoked by the commissioner of labor, and may be renewed each year upon the filing of an application for renewal, renewed bond, and the payment of the annual license fee, but the commissioner may, if he chooses, demand that a new application and bond be submitted.

The commissioner of labor shall have the power and authority to revoke or suspend any license when it is shown that the licensee or his agent has violated or failed to comply with any of the provisions of this act, or when such licensee has ceased to be of good moral character, or when the conditions under which the license was issued have changed or no longer exist or when the licensee or his agent has violated or has willfully and knowingly aided or abetted any person, firm, company or corporation in the violation of any provision or in the failure to comply with any requirement of section 3664aa of the Political Code or of section 50% of the public utilities act; nothing in this act contained, however, shall interfere with the right of employers to arrange with such licensees for the transportation of laborers to their prospective places of employment. Before revoking or suspending any license the commissioner shall notify, in writing, the holder of such license of the charges against him and afford an opportunity to be heard in person or by counsel in reference thereto. The commissioner or his deputies may administer oaths, subpoena witnesses and take testimony at the hearing and shall not be bound by the technical rules of evidence in conducting such a hearing. Obedience to the subpoenas issued by the commissioner of labor or his deputies shall be enforced by the courts in any county or city and county. The rulings of the commissioner shall be presumed to be prima facie reasonable, and his findings of fact shall, in the absence of fraud, be conclusive and shall be set aside by the courts only on the following grounds:

1. That the commissioner of labor acted without or in excess of his powers.

2. That the determination was procured by fraud.

The decision of the commissioner of labor either refusing, suspending, or revoking a license under this act shall be subject to review in accordance with the provisions of chapter 1 of title 1 of part 3 of the Code of Civil Procedure, pertaining to writs of review or certiorari, at any time within thirty days after notice of same is given to the party affected thereby.

Sec. 5. Contents of license.—Every license shall contain the name of the person licensed, the designation of the city, street and number of the house in which the person licensed is authorized to carry on the said employment agency, and the number and date of such license. Such license shall not be valid to protect any other than the person to whom it is issued or any place other than that designated in the license and shall not be transferred or assigned to any other person unless consent is obtained from the commissioner of labor, as hereinafter provided. If such licensed person shall conduct a lodging house for the unemployed separate and apart from such agency, it shall be so designated in the license.

Sec. 6. Transfer of license.—A license granted as provided in this article shall not be assigned or transferred without the written consent of the commissioner of labor. If at any time in the opinion of the Commission the surety shall become irresponsible, the person holding such license shall upon notice given by the said Commission give a bond subject to the provisions of this subdivision. DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA
SUPPLEMENT II (1935) TO CODE, 1929

SECTION 1742. Employment agencies; license required.—It shall be unlawful for any person to open, keep, operate, maintain or carry on any private employment agency without first having obtained a license from the District of Columbia so to do. The fee for such license shall be $100 per annum. Any license may be denied, revoked, or suspended for cause by the said commissioners: Provided, That any person whose license shall be denied, revoked, or suspended by the commissioners may, within thirty days after such denial, revocation, or suspension, apply to any justice of the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia for a writ of error to review such action. Such application shall not operate as a stay of any order issued in connection with such denial, revocation, or suspension.

(a) The term “private employment agency” means any business, enterprise, or undertaking that procures, offers to procure, promises to procure, attempts to procure, or aids in procuring, either directly or indirectly, help or employment for another for any fee, remuneration, profit, or any consideration whatsoever, promises, paid, or received therefor, either directly or indirectly. It shall also include domestic, commercial, clerical, executive, professional, and general employment bureaus, and shall apply to theatrical employment agencies and nurses’ registry conducted for profit or gain.

(a-1) The term “nurses’ registry” means and includes the business of conducting an agency, bureau, office, or other place for the purpose of procuring, offering to procure, promising to procure, attempting to procure, or aiding in procuring employment or engagements for nurses of any kind.

(a-2) The term “theatrical employment agency” includes the business of conducting any agency, bureau, office, or other place providing engagements for circus, vaudeville, theatrical, and other entertainments or exhibitions or performances, or of giving information as to where such engagements may be procured or provided, but does not include the business of managing the artists or the attraction constituting such performances, where such business only incidentally involves the seeking of employment therefor.

The bond shall be payable to the District of Columbia and shall be conditioned that the person applying for the license will comply with this chapter and shall pay all damages occasioned to any person by reason of any misstatement, misrepresentation, fraud, or deceit, or any unlawful act or omission of any licensed person, made, committed, or omitted in the business conducted under such license, or caused by any other violation of this chapter in carrying on the business for which such license is granted. One or more recoveries upon such bond shall not vitiate the same, but it shall remain in full force and effect: Provided, however, That the aggregate amount of all such recoveries shall not exceed the full amount of the bond. Upon the commencement of any action or actions against the surety upon any such bond for a sum or sums aggregating or exceeding the amount of such bond the commissioners may require a new and additional bond in like amount as the original one, which shall be filed with the commissioners within thirty days of the demand therefor. Failure to file such bond within the prescribed time shall constitute cause for the revocation of the license therefor issued. Any action or suit against the surety on any bond required by the provisions of this section shall be commenced within one year from the accruing of the cause of action thereon.

If at any time, in the opinion of the commissioners, the sureties, or any of them, shall become irresponsible, the person holding such license shall, upon notice from the commissioners, give a new bond, and the failure to give a new bond within ten days after such notice, in the discretion of the commissioners, shall operate as a revocation of such license.

ILLINOIS
REVISED STATUTES, 1935

CHAPTER 48.—Private employment agencies

Par. 87 (1). Duties, etc., of the Department of Labor.—It shall be the duty of the Department of Labor and it shall have power, jurisdiction and authority to issue licenses to employment agencies or agents, and to refuse to issue licenses whenever, after due investigation, the Department of Labor finds that the character of the applicant makes him unfit to be an employment agent, or when the premises proposed to be used for conducting the business of an employment agency, is found, upon investigation, to be unfit for such use. Any such license granted by the Department of Labor may also be revoked by it upon due notice to the holder of said license and upon due cause shown and hearing thereon. Failure to comply with the duties, terms, rules, conditions or provisions required by any law of this State governing employment agencies, or with any lawful order of the Department of Labor, shall be deemed cause to revoke such license. The Department of Labor shall have power, jurisdiction and authority to fix and order such reasonable rules and regulations for the conduct of the business of employment agencies, as may be necessary to carry out the laws relating to employment agencies.

No person shall open, keep or carry on any employment agency in the State of Illinois, unless every such person shall procure a license therefor from the Department of Labor. Any person who shall open up, or conduct any such agency without first procuring such license or without paying any fees required by this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punishable by a fine of not less than $50.00, and not exceeding $200.00; or on failure to pay such fine by imprisonment for a period not exceeding six (6) months, or both such fine and imprisonment, at the discretion of the court.

The fee for said license, in cities having a population of fifty thousand or more shall be fifty dollars ($50.00) annually for persons operating an agency with less than three employment brokers and placement clerks, and one hundred dollars...
The fee for said license in cities having a population of less than fifty thousand, shall be twenty-five dollars ($25.00) annually, notwithstanding the number of employment brokers and placement clerks employed.

Every license shall contain the name of the person licensed, or if a corporation, the name of the chief officer, a designation of the city, street number of the building in which the person licensed is authorized to carry on the said employment agency, and the style or trade name under which such licensed person is to conduct said employment agency. Such license shall not be valid to protect any person who operated any employment agency under any other name than as mentioned in said license. No license shall be valid to protect any place other than that designated in the license, unless consent is first obtained from the Department of Labor, and until the written consent of the surety or sureties on the bond required to be filed by section 2 of this Act, to such transfer, be filed with the original bond. No such agency shall be located adjacent to or in connection with any place where intoxicating liquors are sold.

The application for such license shall be filed with the Department of Labor, not less than one week prior to the granting of said license; and the Department of Labor shall act upon such application within thirty (30) days from the time of filing such application. The license shall run for one year from date of issue, and no longer, unless sooner revoked by the Department of Labor. Such application shall be posted in the office of the Department of Labor from date of filing thereof and until such time as such application is acted upon.

Such application shall state whether or not the applicant is pecuniarily interested in any other business of like nature and if so, where. Such application shall also state whether the applicant is the only person pecuniarily interested in the business to be carried on under the license. If the applicant is a corporation, the applicant shall state the names and addresses of the officers of said corporation. If the applicant is a partnership, the applicant shall also state the names of all partners therein. Such application shall be accompanied by the affidavits of two persons of business or professional integrity, residing within the city or town wherein such applicant intends to conduct his business, and such affiants shall state that they have known the applicant for a period of two years, that the applicant is a person of good moral character and is a citizen of the United States.

No licensed employment agent shall permit any person not mentioned in the original application for a license to become a partner if such agency is a partnership, or an officer of the corporation if such agency is a corporation, unless the written consent of the Department of Labor shall first be obtained. Such consent may be withheld for any reason for which an original application might have been rejected, if the person in question had been mentioned therein.

Each applicant for a license shall file with the application a schedule of fees, charges and commissions, which he intends to charge and collect for his services, together with a copy of all forms and contracts to be used in the operation of the agency. Such schedule of fees, charges and commissions may thereafter be changed by filing with the Department of Labor an amended or supplemental schedule, showing such changes, at least fifteen (15) days before the change is to become effective. Any change in forms or contracts must be filed with the Department of Labor at least fifteen (15) days before such change is to become effective. Such schedule of fees to be charged shall be posted in a conspicuous place in each room of such agency, and such schedule of fees shall be printed in not less than thirty point bold-face type.

It shall be unlawful for any employment agency to charge, collect or receive a greater compensation for any service performed by it than is specified in such schedule filed with the Department of Labor.

Par. 87 (2). Bond required.—The Department of Labor shall require such person to file with his application for a license a bond in due form to the People of the State of Illinois, for the penal sum of three thousand dollars ($3,000) where the fee for such license is one hundred dollars ($100); and one thousand dollars ($1,000) where the fee for such license is less than one hundred dollars ($100), with one or more sureties, to be approved by the said Department of Labor, and conditioned that the obligor will conform to and not violate any of the duties, terms, conditions, provisions or requirements of this Act. If any person shall be aggrieved by the misconduct of any such licensed person, such person may maintain an action in his own name upon the bond of said employment agency, in any court having jurisdiction of the amount claimed. All such claims shall be assignable, and the assignee thereof shall be entitled to the same remedies upon the bond of such licensed person or otherwise, as the person aggrieved would have been entitled to if such claim had not been assigned. Any claim or claims so assigned may be enforced in the name of such assignee. Any remedies given by this section shall not be exclusive of any other remedy which would otherwise exist.

Par. 87 (3). Register.—It shall be the duty of every such licensed person to keep a register, in which shall be entered in the English language, the date of every accepted application for employment, name and address of the applicant to whom employment is offered or promised, name and address of the person to whom the applicant is sent for employment, the amount of the fee received, and the number of the receipt. Such licensed person shall also enter in the English language, in a separate register, the name and address of every accepted application for help, the date of such application, the kind of help requested, the name of the persons sent with the designation of the one employed, the amount of fee received and the rate of wages agreed upon. Each such application for help shall be numbered, which number shall be entered in said register. The aforesaid registers of applicants for employment and help shall be open during office hours to inspection by the Department of Labor and its duly qualified agents. No such licensed person, or his employees, shall knowingly make any false entry in such registers.

Par. 87 (4). License.—It shall be unlawful for any person to act as an employment broker and placement clerk, or to advertise, or assume to act as an employment broker and placement clerk, without first obtaining a license as such employment broker and placement clerk, from the Department of Labor. After December 31, 1935, it shall be unlawful for any person to engage in, operate or carry on the business of an employment agency unless each employee of such agency, who furnishes information to any person as to where help or employment may be obtained or found, is a licensed employment broker and placement clerk.

The term “placement clerk and employment broker” as used in this Act shall be defined to mean employes who interview, counsel, or advise applicants or employer clients or both, on employment and allied problems and who make or arrange contracts between employer and employee clients.

Every person who desires to obtain a license, as employment broker and placement clerk shall apply therefor to the Department of Labor, in writing, upon application blanks prepared and furnished by the Department of Labor. Each applicant shall set out in said application blanks such information as the department may require, and said applications shall be accompanied by the affidavits of two persons of business or professional integrity, residing in the city or town wherein such applicant resides. Such affiants shall state that they have known the applicant for a period of two years and that the applicant is a person of good moral character.

The Department of Labor may require such other proof as to the honesty, truthfulness and integrity of the applicant, as may be deemed necessary and desirable. If the applicant is shown to be honest, truthful and of known integrity, the Department of Labor shall issue a license, which license shall set out the true name and address of the applicant, the name of the employment agency by whom he is employed, and such additional information as the department may prescribe. The license issued shall authorize the person named therein to act as an employment broker and placement clerk.

The Department of Labor shall charge a fee of $3.00 for issuing each such license, which fee shall be paid at the time application is made. Each such license issued shall remain in force until revoked by the Department of Labor.

The license of the employment broker and placement clerk shall be mailed to the employment agency by which he is employed, and shall be kept in the office of such agency and produced for inspection by any agent of the Department of Labor, at any time during business hours.

The Department of Labor, upon its own motion, or upon the filing of a verified complaint with the department, by any person, accompanied by such evidence, documentary or otherwise, as makes out a prima facie case that the licensee is unworthy to hold a license, shall notify the employment broker and placement clerk in writing that the question of his honesty, truthfulness and integrity is to be reopened and determined, de novo. This notice shall be served by delivering a copy to the licensed person, or by mailing a copy to him, by registered mail, at his last known business address. Thereupon, the Department of Labor shall require further proof of the licensee’s honesty, truthfulness and integrity, and if the proof is not satisfactory to the Department of Labor, it shall revoke his license.

If any employment broker and placement clerk is discharged or terminates his employment with the agency by which he is employed, such agency shall immediately deliver, or forward by registered mail, the employment broker and placement clerk's license, to the Department of Labor, together with the reasons for his discharge, if he was discharged.

Thereafter, it shall be unlawful for the employment broker and placement clerk to exercise any rights or privileges under such license, unless the Department of Labor transfers his license to another employment agency.

Each employment broker and placement clerk shall notify the Department of Labor of any change in his residence address. Failure to give such notice shall automatically work a revocation of his license.

Any person who violates any provisions of this section, or who testifies falsely as to any matter required by the provisions of this section or of this Act, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than $50.00 nor more than $200.00, or imprisoned in the county jail for not less than one month nor more than six months, or both, at the discretion of the court.

Par. 87 (5). Registration fee.—No such licensed person shall charge a registration fee without having first obtained a permit to charge such registration fee from the Department of Labor. Any such licensed person desiring to charge said registration fee shall make application in writing to the Department of Labor, and shall set out in the application the type of applicants from whom they intend to accept a registration fee, the amount of the fee to be charged, and shall furnish any other information on the subject that the Department of Labor may deem necessary to enable it to determine whether the applicant's business methods and past record with reference to the charging of registration fees, entitles said applicant to a permit.

It shall be the duty of the Department of Labor to make an investigation, upon receipt of the application, as to the truthfulness of said application and the necessity of the charge of a registration fee; and if it is shown that the applicant's method of doing business is of such a nature, that a permit to charge a registration fee is necessary, and that the record of the applicant's past method of charging a registration fee has been reasonable and fair, then the Department of Labor shall grant a permit to such applicant; said permit shall remain in force until revoked for cause. No permit shall be granted until after ten (10) days from the date of filing of the application.

When a permit is granted, such licensed person may charge a registration fee not to exceed two dollars ($2.00). In all such cases a complete record of all such registration fees and references of applicants shall be kept on file, which record shall, during all business hours, be open for the inspection of the Department of Labor. It shall be the duty of such licensed person to communicate in writing with at least two of the persons mentioned as reference by every applicant from whom a registration fee is accepted. Failure on the part of a licensed person to make such investigation shall be deemed cause to revoke said permit to charge a registration fee. For such registration fee a receipt shall be given to said applicant for help or employment, and shall state therein the name of such applicant, date and amount of payment, the character of position or help applied for, and the name and address of such agency. If no position has been furnished by such licensed agency to the said applicant, then said registration fee shall be returned to the said applicant on demand after thirty (30) days and within six (6) months from the date of receipt thereof, less the amount that has been actually expended by said licensed person in checking the references of said applicant, and on [sic] an itemized account of such expenditures shall be presented to said applicant on request at the time of returning the unused portion of such registration fee.

Any such permit granted by the Department of Labor may be revoked by it upon due notice to the holder of said permit and due cause shown and hearing thereon.

No such licensed person or persons shall, as a condition to registering or obtaining employment for such applicant, require such applicant to subscribe to any publication or to any postal card service, or advertisement, or exact any other fees, compensation or reward, (except that in the case of applicants for positions paying salaries of three thousand six hundred dollars or more per annum, a fee not to exceed twenty dollars may be charged for such service) other than the aforesaid registration fee and a further fee, the amount of which shall be agreed upon between such applicant and such licensed person, to be payable at such time as may be agreed upon in writing; but the further fee aforesaid shall not be received by such licensed person before the applicant has been tendered a position by such licensed person. In the event the position so tendered is not accepted by or given to such applicant, said licensed person shall refund all fees paid other than the registration fee aforesaid, within three (3) days of receipt thereof.

No such licensed person shall send out any applicant for employment without having obtained a bona fide order therefor, and if it shall appear that no position of the kind applied for was open at the place where said applicant was directed or no other employment is accepted in lieu thereof with the person to whom the applicant was directed, then said licensed person shall refund to such applicant on demand any sum paid or expended by said applicant for transportation in going to and returning from said place, and all fees paid by said applicant: Provided, however, that in the event a substitute position is taken, the fee to be charged shall be computed on the salary agreed upon for such position.

Should the state superintendent of private employment bureaus be in possession of facts which justify the believing that the agent is guilty of practices enumerated in section twenty-one (21) [8604] of this act, he shall request the employment agent for the privilege of examining the agency records, and such request shall be granted by the agency unless the employment agent has reasons to believe that the request of the said state superintendent of private employment bureaus is for the purpose of securing confidential information concerning the business of the agency or the employer. Then the employment agent may refuse the request of the state superintendent of private employment bureaus, in which case the state superintendent of private employment bureaus may take action as provided under section twelve (12) [8595] of this act. Upon written complaint of an employee or employer, the state superintendent of private employment bureaus may require of the employment agent against whom the complaint is made a detailed account in writing and under oath of the transaction referred to in the complaint, but in no other case shall the employment agent be required to file any form or report as to the business conducted by said employment agent. In the event that the state superintendent of private employment bureaus has reason to question the detailed report so submitted to him by the employment agent, the said state superintendent of private employment bureaus shall have authority to demand of the employment agent the production of said records for examination by him;

(d) No employment agent shall direct an employee to employment without having obtained either orally or in writing a bona fide order therefor, and if no employment of the kind specified by the employment agent existed at the place to which such employee was directed or if no other employment in substitution thereof is accepted by the employee, the said employment agent shall within twenty-four (24) hours of demand refund to said employee any sums paid by said employee for transportation in going to and returning from such place and all fees paid by said employee: Provided, That nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent an employment agent from directing an employee to an employer where said employee has previously requested that he be accorded interviews with employees of certain types and qualifications, even though no actual vacancy existed in said employer's organization at the time the employee was so directed, nor shall it prevent an employment agent from attempting to sell the services of an employee to an employer, even though no order has been placed with said employment agent: Provided, however, That the employee is acquainted with the facts when directed to said employer, in which event no employment agent shall be liable to an employee for the expenses the employee has had as provided herein;

(e) No employment agent shall by himself or by his agent or agents solicit or persuade any employee to leave any employment which was secured for said employee through the negotiations of said employment agent, or his agent or agents;

(f) Nor shall any employment agent by himself or through any of his agents persuade or induce or solicit any employer to discharge any employee;

(g) Where an applicant has not been accepted by a proposed employer or has refused to accept the place of proposed employment, and no other employment has been accepted in substitution thereof, all fees collected shall be returned by the employment agent to the applicant on demand unless otherwise contracted for in writing: Provided, That the applicant returns to the agent within twenty-four (24) hours presenting proof of not accepting or obtaining the position: Provided further, That if the place of employment to which the applicant has been referred is more than fifty (50) miles from the office of said employment agent, the applicant shall have an additional twenty-four (24) hours for each fifty (50) miles that the place is distant from the office of said employment agent for presenting said proof.

The term "Employer" as used in this act means any person, firm, corporation, or association employing or seeking to enter into an arrangement to employ any person through the medium or service of an employment agent.

The term "Employee" as used in this act means any person, whether employed or unemployed, seeking or entering into any arrangement for employment or change of employment through the medium or service of an employment agent.

The term "Commission" as used in this act means Industrial Commission of the State of Minnesota.

SEC. 4254-2. License.—No person, firm, corporation, or association shall open or carry on an employment agency in the State, unless such person, firm, corporation, or association shall first procure a license from the commission. Any person, firm, corporation, or association who shall open or conduct any such agency without first procuring a license, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not less than $25, and not more than $100, or on failure to pay such fine, by imprisonment for a period not to exceed 90 days, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 4254-3 (as amended 1929, ch. 293)1. Application.—Every applicant for a license shall file with the commission a written application stating the name and address of the applicant, the kind of license desired, the street and number of the building in which the employment agency is to be maintained, the name of the person who is to have the general management of the office, the name under which the business of the office is to be carried on, whether or not the applicant is pecuniarily interested in any other business of a like nature, and if so, where. If the applicant is a partnership, the application shall also state the names and addresses of all partners therein, and shall be signed and sworn to by all of them. Said application shall also state whether or not said applicant is at the time of making application, or has at any previous time, been engaged or interested in, or employed by any one engaged in the business of conducting an employment agency, either in this State or any other, and if so, when and where. Said application shall also give as reference the names and addresses of at least three persons of reputed business or professional integrity located in the city or town where such applicant intends to conduct his business. Every applicant for a license to engage in the business of an employment agent shall, at the time of making application for said license, file with the commission a schedule of the fees or charges to be collected by such employment agent for any services rendered together with all rules or regulations that may in any way affect the fees charged or to be charged for any service. Such fees and such rules or regulations may thereafter be changed by filing an amended or supplemental schedule showing such charges, with the commission. It shall be unlawful for any employment agent to charge, demand, collect, or receive a greater compensation for any service performed by him than is specified in such schedule filed with the commission.

It shall be the duty of the industrial commission, and it shall have power, jurisdiction, and authority to issue licenses to employment agents, and to refuse to issue such license whenever, after due investigation, the commission or a majority of the members thereof finds that the character of the applicant makes him unfit to be an employment agent, or when the premises for conducting the business of an employment agent is found upon investigation to be unfit for such use, or whenever, upon investigation by the commission, it is found and determined, that the number of licensed employment agents or that the employment agency operated by the United States, the state or by the municipality or by two or more thereof jointly in the community in which the applicant for a permit proposes to operate is sufficient to supply the needs of employers and employees. Any license granted by the commission may also be revoked by it upon due notice to the holder of said license, and upon due cause shown. Failure to comply with the duties, terms, conditions, or provisions of sections 1 to 18, (Mason's Minn. Stat., 1927, secs. 4254-1 to 4254-18), inclusive, of this act, or with any lawful orders of the commission, shall be deemed due cause to revoke such license: Provided, however, that no employment agency duly licensed to do business at the time of the passage of this act shall be denied a renewal of his, her, or its license or have his, her, or its license revoked on the ground that public necessity does not require such an agency.

Sec. 4254-4. Fees.—All such licenses shall endure for a period of one year only, and annual fees therefor shall be paid as follows: Every employment agent engaged in placing female persons only in employment shall pay a license fee of $75. Every employment agent engaged in placing male persons only in employment shall pay a license fee of $100. Every employment agent placing both male and female persons shall pay a license fee of $150. Such fees shall be paid into the revenue fund of the state treasury, and at the end of each fiscal year, the state auditor shall cause to be paid out of said revenue fund to the city, village, or other political subdivision, fifty per cent of the fees so paid and collected from the employment agents or agencies for offices located in such city, village, or other political subdivision.

Sec. 4254-5. Bond.—Every application for a license shall be accompanied by a bond in the penal sum of $2,000 with one or more sureties or a duly authorized surety company, to be approved by the commission and filed in the office of the secretary of state, and shall be conditioned that the agent will conform to and not violate any of the terms or requirements of this act or violate the covenants of any contract made by such agent in the conduct of said business. Action on this bond may be brought by and prosecuted in the name of any person damaged by any breach or any condition thereof and successive actions may be maintained thereon.

Sec. 4254-6. Class of license.—After an application for a license has been granted said license shall be issued to the applicant and shall state the name of the employment agent and if a corporation the names of the officers, if a partnership the names of the partners, the location of the office where the business is to be conducted, and the name of the person who is to be charged with the general management of the business. The license shall also be numbered and dated and state whether it is a Class One, Class Two, or Class Three license as hereinafter provided.

Sec. 4254-7. Period of license.—Every license unless previously revoked shall remain in force until one year next after its issue, and every employment agent shall upon payment of the amount of the license fee required and the filing of a new bond, have issued to it a license for the ensuing year, unless the commission shall refuse to do so for any of the reasons hereinbefore or hereinafter stated.

Sec. 4254-8 Revocation of license.—If the commission shall find that the employment agent has violated any of the provisions of this act, or has acted dishonestly in connection with his business, or has improperly conducted his business, or that any other good and sufficient reason exists within the meaning and purpose of this act, said commission may suspend or revoke said license, or refuse to grant a new license to the employment agent upon the termination thereof; but in any case no such action shall be taken until a written notice has been sent to said employment agent specifying the charges against him and he has been given a hearing if he requests, and a reasonable opportunity to disprove or explain said charges.

Sec. 4254-9. License not transferable.—No license granted under the terms of this act shall be transferable, except with the consent of the commission. No employment agent shall permit any person not mentioned in the license to become connected with the business as a partner or as an active officer of a licensed corporation unless the consent of the commission shall first be obtained. Such consent may be withheld for any reason for which an original application for a license might have been rejected, if the person in question had been mentioned therein. If such consent is given, the name or names of the person or persons so becoming connected with the employment agency shall be endorsed upon the license, and if such license is renewed shall be substituted for or added to the name or names of the person or person originally mentioned therein.

Sec. 4254-10. Place of agency specified.—No employment agent shall open, conduct or maintain an employment agency at any other place than that specified in the license without first obtaining the consent of the commission. Such consent may be withheld for any reason for which an original application might have been rejected, if such place had been mentioned therein. If such consent is given, it shall be endorsed upon the license, and if such license is renewed such other place shall be substituted for the place originally named in said license. So long as any employment agent shall continue to act as such under his license, he shall maintain and keep open an office or place of business at the place specified in the license.

Sec. 4254-11. Classification.—Licenses granted under the provisions of this act shall be designated as Class One, Class Two, or Class Three.

A Class One license shall entitle the holder thereof to engage in a business of serving those seeking employment and those seeking employees as woodsmen, agricultural hands, coachmen, grooms, hostlers, seamstresses, cooks, waiters, waitresses, scrubwomen, laundresses, maids, nurses, except professionals, and all domestics and servants, unskilled workers and general laborers.

A Class Two license shall entitle the holder thereof to engage in the business of serving those seeking employment and those seeking employees in technical (engineering or otherwise) educational, clerical, executive and like pursuits not provided for under either a Class One or a Class Three license.

A Class Three license shall entitle the holder thereof to engage in the business of serving those seeking employment and those seeking employees in circus, vaudeville, theatrical or other entertainments, exhibitions or performances, or allied pursuits.

Nothing in this act shall be construed to prohibit an employment agent holding a Class One license from serving those included under a Class Two license, provided the business is conducted in accordance with the rules and regulations applicable to a Class One license; but under no circumstances shall a licensee be allowed to conduct a theatrical agency under any but a Class Three license.

Any question of classification arising under the provisions of this act shall be determined by the commission.

Sec. 4254-12. Posting of license.—(a) Every employment agent licensed under a Class One license shall post in a conspicuous place in every room used for business purposes in the employment office conducted by him and shall have printed on the back of every receipt given, a schedule showing the amount of the service charges to be made to either employees, employers or both. In no case shall the amount collected exceed the schedule of charges so indicated.

(b) Every employment agent licensed under a Class One license shall post in a conspicuous place in every room used for business purposes in the employment office conducted by him a copy of sections 12 and 15 of this act to be furnished said employment agent by the commission.

(c) No employment agent holding a Class One license shall direct any applicant to apply for employment at any place outside of the office of such employment agent without first giving to such applicant in written form the name and address of the employment agent, the name of the applicant, the name and address of the person to whom the applicant is referred, and the kind of employment supposed to be obtainable at such place, provided, that nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit an employment agent from directing an applicant by telephone, to apply for employment but such telephone message must be confirmed in writing by the employment agent within 24 hours after the telephone conversation, and a carbon copy of such confirmation shall be kept on file at the place of business of said employment agent for a period of one year.

Sec. 4254-13. Contract for employment in writing.—Every employment agent licensed under a Class Two license shall contract in writing with every applicant for employment for services to be rendered to said applicant by said employment agent, which contract shall contain the date, the name and address of the employment agency, the name of the employment agent, the service charge to be made to the applicant, and the time and method of payments, and, on either the face or back of said contract shall appear the definition of "accept," "method of payment," "temporary position," and "charge for permanent position which proves to be temporary."

Sec. 4254-14. Theatrical agencies.—Every employment agent conducting a theatrical agency who shall procure for or offer to an applicant a theatrical engagement shall have executed in duplicate a contract containing the name and address of the applicant, the name and address of the employer, and of the employment agent acting for such employer; the time and duration of such engagement; the amount to be paid to such applicant; character of entertainment to be given or services to be rendered and the name of the person by whom the transportation is to be paid. One of such duplicate contracts shall be delivered to the person engaging the applicant and the other shall be delivered to the applicant. The employment agency procuring the engagement for such applicant shall keep on file or enter in a book provided for that purpose, a copy of such contract.

Sec. 4254-15. Additional rules.—In addition to the foregoing rules governing specific classifications the following rules shall govern each and every employment agent:

(a) Every license, of whatever classification, shall be hung in a conspicuous place in the main office of the employment agency.

(b) No fee shall be solicited or accepted as an application or registration fee by any employment agent for the purpose of being registered as an applicant for assistance given or to be given, a receipt bearing the name and address of the employment agency, the name of the employment agent, the amount of the payment, the date of the payment and for what it is paid. Every receipt to an applicant by an employment agent shall be numbered and bound in duplicate form.

Duplicate copy of each receipt shall be kept at least one year.

(d) Every employment agent shall keep a record of all services rendered em-employer by whom the services were solicited, the name and address of the em-employee, probable duration of employment, rate of wage or salary to be paid the employee, amount of the employment agent's service charge, dates and amounts of payments, date and amount of refund if any, and for what, and a space for concerning the transaction. Such records shall during business hours be open to the inspection of the commission at the address where said employment agency is conducted, for the purpose of satisfying said commission that they are being kept in conformity with this rule. Upon written complaint being made the com-mmission may require of the employment agent against whom the complaint is made, a detailed account under oath in writing of the transaction referred to in the complaint. In the event the commission has reason to question the detailed report so submitted by the employment agent, the commission shall have authority to demand of the employment agent the production of said records for exami-

(e) No employment agent shall send out any applicant for employment with-directed, the said employment agent shall refund to said applicant within 48 hours of demand any sums paid by said applicant for transportation in going to and returning from said place, and all fees paid by said applicant. Provided that nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent an employment agent from directing an applicant to an employer where said employer has previously requested that he be accorded interviews with applicants of certain types and qualifications, even though no actual vacancy existed in said employer's organization at the time the applicant was so directed; nor shall it prevent an employment agent from attempting to sell the services of an applicant to the employer even though no order has been placed with said employment agent, provided, however, that in any case the applicant is acquainted with the facts when directed to said employer, in which event no employment agent shall be liable to any applicant as provided in this rule.

(f) No employment agent shall, by himself, or by his agent or agents, solicit,

 (f) The bond executed as provided in the preceding subdivisions of this section shall be payable to the State of New Jersey and shall be conditioned that the person applying for the license will comply with this act and shall pay all damages occasioned to any person by reason of any misstatement, misrepresentation, fraud or deceit, or any unlawful act or omission of any licensed person, his agents, or employees, while acting within the scope of their employment, made, committed or omitted in the business conducted under such license, or caused by any violation of this act in carrying on the business for which such license is granted. In case of a breach of the condition of any such bond, application may be made to the Commissioner of Labor by the person injured by such breach for leave to sue upon such bond, which leave shall be granted by the Commissioner of Labor if it be proven to his satisfaction that the condition of such bond has been breached and the party applying has been injured thereby. The person obtaining such leave to sue may take the bond from the files of the said commissioner and institute suit thereon in his own name for the recovery of damage sustained by such breach.
 (g) If any time, in the opinion of the Commissioner of Labor, the sureties on any such bond, or any of them, shall become irresponsible, the person holding such license shall, upon notice from the Commissioner of Labor, give a new bond, subject to the provisions of this section. The failure to give a new bond within 10 days after such notice, in the discretion of the Commissioner of Labor, shall operate as revocation of such license, and the license shall be thereupon returned to the Commissioner of Labor, who shall destroy the same.

Sect. 67-12. Registers.—(a) It shall be the duty of every such licensed person to keep a register, approved by the Commissioner of Labor, in which shall be en tered, in the English language, the date of the application for employment, the name and address of the applicant to whom employment is promised or offered, the amount of the fee received, and, whenever possible, the name and address of former employers or persons to whom such applicant is known. Such licensed person shall also enter in a separate register, to be approved as aforesaid, in the English language, the name and address of every applicant accepted for help, the date of such application, kind of help requested, the names of the persons sent, with the designation of the one employed, the date of employment, the amount of the fee received and the rate of wages agreed upon. The foresaid register of applicants for employment and for help shall be open during office hours to inspection by the officers of the department of labor. No such licensed person, his agent or employees, shall make any false entry in such registers.

(b) It shall be the duty of every licensed person, whenever possible to communicate orally or in writing with at least one of the persons mentioned as reference by every applicant for work in private families or employed in a fiduciary capacity, and the result of such investigation shall be kept on file in such agency: Provided, however, That if the applicant for help voluntarily waives, in writing, such investigation of references by the licensed person, failure on the part of the licensed person to make such investigation shall not be deemed a violation of this act.

Sec. 67-15 (as amended 1928, ch. 283). Fees.—(a) Every employment agent shall file with the Commissioner of Labor, a schedule of fees proposed to be charged for any services rendered to employers seeking employees, and persons seeking employment, and all charges must conform thereto. Such schedule of fees, on blanks provided by the Commissioner of Labor, shall be posted in a conspicuous manner in the office of the agency. No such licensed person shall receive or accept any valuable thing or gift as a fee or in lieu thereof. No such licensed person shall divide, directly or indirectly, fees with any person securing help, or his agents, or other employees, or any one in their employ to whom applicants for employment are sent, nor shall any licensed person offer to so divide any fees.

(b) In case the applicant shall not accept or obtain help or employment through such agency, then such licensed person shall, on demand, repay the full amount of said fee, allowing three days' time to determine the fact of the applicants' failure to obtain help or employment. If an employee furnished an applicant for help fails to remain one week in the situation, or if such employee is discharged for cause, a new employee shall be furnished if said applicant for help so elects, or three-fifths of the fee returned within four days of demand: Provided, however, That said applicant for help notifies said licensed person within 30 days of the failure of the applicant for employment to accept the position, or of the applicant's discharge for cause.

If the employee is discharged within one week without said employee's fault, another position shall be furnished, or three-fifths of the fee returned to the applicant for employment if he so elects. Failure of said applicant for help to notify said licensed person that such help has been obtained through means other than said agency shall entitle said licensed person to retain or collect three-fifths of the said fee.

No such licensed person shall send out any applicant for employment without having obtained, either orally or in writing, a bona fide order therefor, and if it shall appear that no employment of the kind applied for existed at the place to which said applicant was directed, the said licensed person shall refund to such applicant, within three days of demand, any sums paid by said applicant for transportation in going to and returning from said place, and all fees paid by said applicant.

Sec. 67-14. Receipts.—It shall be the duty of such licensed person to give to every applicant for employment from whom a fee shall be received a receipt, in which shall be stated the name of said applicant, the date and the amount of the fee, and the purpose for which it was paid, and to every applicant for help a receipt stating the name and address of said applicant, the date and amount of the fee, and the kind of help to be provided. Every such receipt shall have printed on the back thereof a copy of sections 5 and 6 of this act in the English language, or in any language which the person to whom the receipt is issued can understand.

Every such licensed person shall also give to each applicant for employment a card or printed paper containing the name of the applicant, name and address of such employment agency, and the written name and address of the person to whom applicant is sent for employment.

Sec. 67-15. Soliciting.—No person shall induce or attempt to induce any domestic employee to leave his employment with a view of obtaining other employment through such agency. Whenever such licensed person, or any other acting for him, agrees to send one or more persons to work as contract laborers in any one place outside the city in which such agency is located, said licensed person shall file with the commissioner of labor, within five days after the contract is made, a statement containing the following items: Name and address of the employee; nature of the work to be performed, hours of labor, wages offered, destination of the persons employed and terms of transportation. A duplicate copy of this statement shall be given to the applicant for employment in a language which he is able to understand.

SEC. 67-16 (as amended 1928, ch. 283).4  Acts forbidden.—(a) No such licensed person shall send or cause to be sent any female to become a servant or inmate or to enter any place of bad repute, house of ill fame, or assignation house, or to any house or place of amusement kept for immoral purposes, or to a place resorted to for the purpose of prostitution, or to a gambling house. No such person shall knowingly permit any person of bad character, prostitutes, gamblers, intoxicated persons, or procurers to frequent such agency.

(b) No such licensed person shall accept any application for employment made by or on behalf of any child under the age of 16 years, or shall place, or assist in placing any such child in any employment whatever.

(c) No licensed person, his agents, servants or employees, shall induce or compel any person to enter such agency, for any purpose, by the use of force or by taking forcible possession of said person's property.

(d) No such person shall procure or offer to procure help or employment in rooms or on premises where intoxicating liquors are sold (to be consumed on the premises, except as heretofore provided in subdivision (d), (section 3) [67-11]), whether or not dues or a fee or privilege is exacted, charged or received directly or indirectly.

(e) No such licensed person shall publish or cause to be published any false or fraudulent or misleading notice or advertisement; all advertisements of such employment agency by means of cards, circulars or signs, or in newspapers and other publications, and all letterheads, receipts, and blanks shall contain the name and address of such employment agency, and no such licensed person shall give any false information, or make any false promise or false representation concerning employment to any applicant who shall register for employment or help.
For the violation of any of the foregoing provisions of this section the person so violating shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punishable by a fine of not less than fifty dollars and not more than two hundred and fifty dollars, or by imprisonment for a period of not more than one year or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 67-17. Posting.—Every such licensed person shall post in a conspicuous place in each room of such agency sections 5, 6, 7, and 8 of this act [secs. 67-13, 67-14, 67-15, and 67-16], which shall be printed in large type in language which persons commonly doing business with such office can understand. Such printed law shall also contain the name and address of the commissioner of labor.

SEC. 67-18 (as amended 1928, ch. 283).5  Enforcement.—The enforcement of this act shall be entrusted to the Commissioner of Labor, who shall cause to be made at least bimonthly visits to every such agency by such inspectors he shall designate for that purpose. Said inspectors shall have a suitable badge, which they shall exhibit on demand of any person with whom they may have official business, and said inspectors shall see that all the provisions of this act are complied with.
The said Commissioner of Labor may refuse to issue and may revoke any license for any good cause shown within the meaning and purpose of this act, and when it is shown to his satisfaction that any licensed person is guilty of any immoral or illegal conduct in connection with the conduct of said business, it shall be his duty to revoke the license of such person; but notice of the charge shall be presented and reasonable opportunity shall be given said licensed person to defend himself. Whenever for any cause such license is revoked, a license shall not be issued to said licensed person or his representative, or to any person with whom he is to be associated in the business of furnishing employment; nor shall a license be granted to anyone for conducting an employment agency at said place of business within the space of twelve months following date of revocation of said license.

Licenses may also be withheld if it appears to the satisfaction of the commissioner of labor, after due investigation and hearings, if necessary, that the needs of employers and employees in any given municipality are adequately served by public free employment offices and, or, by licensed private employment agencies.

SEC. 67-19 (as amended 1928, ch. 283).4  Procedure.—Any person who shall violate any provision of this act, except as provided in sections 3 and 8 [secs.
67-11 and 67-16], shall be liable to a penalty of not to exceed twenty-five dollars, which penalty shall be sued for and recovered by and in the name of the Com-penalty, with costs, or for the defendant, and the said court shall, if judgment be rendered for the plaintiff, cause any such defendant, who may refuse or neglect to forthwith pay the amount of the judgment rendered against him and all the costs and charges incident thereto, to be committed to the county jail for any period not exceeding one hundred days; that the officers to serve and execute all

NEW YORK

CAHILL'S CONSOLIDATED LAWS, 1930

CHAPTER 21, ARTICLE 11.—Private employment agencies

SECTION 170. Scope.—This article shall apply to all cities of the State, except that the provisions hereof relating to domestic and commercial employment agencies shall not apply to cities of the third class. This article does not apply to employment agencies which procure employment for persons as teachers exclusively, or employment for persons in technical or executive positions in recognized educational institutions; and employment bureaus conducted by registered medical institutions, duly incorporated hospitals or registries conducted by duly incorporated individual alumnae associations of registered nurses. Nor does such article apply to departments or bureaus maintained by persons for the purpose of securing help or employees, where no fee is charged.

SECTION 171. Definitions.—1. When used in this article the following terms are defined as herein specified. The term "person" means and includes any individual, company, society, association, corporation, manager, contractor, subcontractor or their agents or employees.

2. The term "employment agency" means and includes the business of conducting, as owner, agent, manager, contractor, subcontractor or in any other capacity an intelligence office, domestic and commercial employment agency, theatrical employment agency, general employment bureau, shipping agency, nurses' registry, or any other agency or office for the purpose of procuring or attempting to procure help or employment or engagements for persons seeking employment or engagements, or for the registration of persons seeking such help, employment or engagement, or for giving information as to where and of whom such help, employment or engagement may be procured, where a fee or other valuable consideration is exacted, or attempted to be collected for such services, whether such business is conducted in a building or on the street or elsewhere.

3. The term "nurses' registry" means and includes the business of conducting any agency, bureau, office or other place for the purpose of procuring, offering, promising, or attempting to provide employment or engagements for nurses of any kind, or any place used as a lodging house for nurses, the keeper of which receives telephone calls or messages of any kind relative to the employment of such nurses and transmits such messages or calls to a nurse lodging in his or her house.

4. The term "theatrical employment agency" means and includes the business of conducting an agency, bureau, office, or any other place for the purpose of procuring, offering, promising, or attempting to provide engagements for circus, vaudeville, theatrical and other entertainments or exhibitions or performances, or of giving information as to where such engagements may be procured or provided, whether such business is conducted in a building, on the street, or elsewhere, but such term does not include the business of managing such entertainments, exhibitions or performances, or the artists or attractions constituting the same, where such business only incidentally involves the seeking of employment therefor.

5. The term "theatrical engagement" means and includes any engagement or employment of a person as an actor, performer or entertainer in a circus, vaudeville, theatrical and other entertainment, exhibition or performance.

6. The term "emergency engagement" means and includes an engagement which has to be performed within 24 hours from the time when the contract for such engagement is made.

7. The term "fee" means and includes any money or other valuable consideration paid or promised to be paid for services rendered or to be rendered by any person conducting an employment agency of any kind under the provisions of this article. Such term includes any excess of money received by any such person over what has been paid out by him for the transportation, transfer of baggage, or board and lodging for any applicant for employment; such term also includes the difference between the amount of money received by any such person who furnishes employees, performers or entertainers for circus, vaudeville, theatrical and other entertainments, exhibitions or performances, and the amount paid by him to the said employees, performers or entertainers whom he hires or provides for such entertainments, exhibitions or performances.
8. The term "privilege" means and includes the furnishing of food, supplies, tools, or shelter to contract laborers, commonly known as commissary privileges.

Sec. 172. License.—A person shall not open, keep, maintain or carry on any employment agency, as defined in the preceding section, unless he shall have first procured a license therefor as provided in this article from the mayor or the commissioner of licenses of the city in which such person intends to conduct such agency. Such license shall be posted in a conspicuous place in said agency.
Any person who shall open or conduct such an employment agency without first procuring said license shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punishable by a fine of not less than twenty-five dollars and not more than two hundred and fifty dollars or by imprisonment for a period of not more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court.

Sec. 173. Application.—An application for such license shall be made to the mayor or commissioner of licenses, in case such office shall have been established as herein provided. Such application shall be written and in the form prescribed by the mayor or commissioner of licenses, and shall state the name and address of the applicant; the street and number of the building or place where the business is to be conducted; whether the applicant proposes to conduct a lodging house for the unemployed separate from the agency which he proposes to conduct; the business or occupation engaged in by the applicant for at least two years immedi­ aply preceding the date of the application. Such application shall be accompanied by the affidavits of at least two reputable residents of the city to the effect that the applicant is a person of good moral character.

Sec. 174. Investigation.—Upon the receipt of an application for a license the mayor or commissioner of licenses shall cause the name and address of the applicant, and the street and number of the place where the agency is to be conducted, to be posted in a conspicuous place in his public office. The said mayor or commissioner of licenses shall investigate or cause to be investigated the character and responsibility of the applicant and shall examine or cause to be examined the premises designated in such application as the place in which it is proposed to conduct such agency. Any person may file, within one week after such application is so posted in the said office, a written protest against the issuance of such license.
Such protest shall be in writing and signed by the person filing the same or his authorized agent or attorney, and shall state reasons why the said license should not be granted. Upon the filing of such protest the mayor or commissioner of licenses shall appoint a time and place for the hearing of such application, and shall give at least five days' notice of such time and place to the applicant and person filing such protest. The said mayor or commissioner of licenses may administer oaths, summon witnesses and take testimony in respect to the matters contained in such application and protest or complaints of any character for violations of this article, and may receive evidence in the form of affidavits pertaining to such matters. If it shall appear upon such hearing or from the inspection or examination made by the said mayor or commissioner of licenses that the said protest is sustained or that the applicant is not a person of good character, or that the place where such agency is to be conducted is not a suitable place therefor, or that the applicant has not complied with the provisions of this article, the said application shall be denied and a license shall not be granted. Each application should be granted or refused within 30 days from the date of its filing. The license shall run to the first Tuesday of May next following the date thereof and no later, unless sooner revoked by the mayor or the commissioner of licenses. No license shall be granted to a person to conduct the business of an employment agency in rooms used for living purposes or where boarders or lodgers are kept or where meals are served or where persons sleep or in connection with a building or premises where intoxicating liquors are sold to be consumed on the premises, excepting cafes and restaurants in office buildings.

Sec. 175. Contents.—Every license shall contain the name of the person licensed, a designation of the city, street, and number of the house in which the person licensed is authorized to carry on the said employment agency, and the number and date of such license. Such license shall not be valid to protect any other than the person to whom it is issued or any place other than that designated in the license and shall not be transferred or assigned to any other person unless consent is obtained from the mayor or commissioner of licenses, as hereinafter provided.
If such licensed person shall conduct a lodging house for the unemployed separate and apart from such agency, it shall be so designated in the license.

Sec. 176. Transfers.—A license granted as provided in this article shall not be assigned or transferred without the consent of the mayor or commissioner of licenses. Applications for such consent shall be made in the same manner as an application for a license, and all the provisions of sections 173 and 174 relating to the granting of applications for licenses, including the procedure upon such application and the posting of the names and addresses of applicants shall apply to applications for such consent. No license fee shall be required upon such assignment or transfer. The location of an employment agency shall not be changed without the consent of the mayor or commissioner of licenses, and such change of location shall be indorsed upon the license.

Sec. 177. Fee; bond.—1. Every person licensed under the provisions of this act to carry on the business of any employment agency shall pay to the mayor or the commissioner of licenses a license fee of twenty-five dollars before such license is issued. He shall also deposit before such license is issued, with the commissioner of licenses, in every city where there is a commissioner of licenses, or clerk of the city, a bond in the penal sum of one thousand dollars with two or more sureties or a duly authorized surety company, to be approved by the mayor or the commissioner of licenses.

2. The bond executed as provided in the preceding subdivision of this section shall be payable to the people of the city in which any such license is issued and shall be conditioned that the person applying for the license will comply with this article, and shall pay all damages occasioned to any person by reason of any misrepresentation, fraud or deceit, or any unlawful act or omission of any licensed person, his agents or employees, while acting within the scope of their employment, made, committed, or omitted in the business conducted under such license, or caused by any other violation of this article in carrying on the business for which such license is granted.

3. If at any time, in the opinion of the mayor, or the commissioner of licenses, the sureties or any of them shall become irresponsible the person holding such license shall, upon notice from the mayor or the commissioner of licenses, give a new bond, subject to the provisions of this section. The failure to give a new bond within 10 days after such notice, in the discretion of the mayor or commissioner of licenses, shall operate as a revocation of such license and the license shall be thereupon returned to the mayor or the commissioner of licenses who shall destroy the same.

Sec. 178. Action on bond.—All claims or suits brought in any court against any licensed person may be brought in the name of the person damaged upon the bond deposited with city by such licensed person as provided in section one hundred and seventy-seven and may be transferred and assigned as other claims for damages in civil suits. The amount of damages claimed by plaintiff, and not the penalty named in the bond, shall determine the jurisdiction of the court in which the action is brought. Where such licensed person has departed from the State with intent to defraud his creditors or to avoid the service of a summons in an action brought under this section, service shall be made upon the surety as prescribed in the code of civil procedure. A copy of such summons shall be mailed to the last known post office address of the residence of the licensed person and the place where he conducted such employment agency, as shown by the records of the mayor or commissioner of licenses. Such service thereof shall be deemed to be made when not less than the number of days shall have intervened between the dates of service and return of the same as provided by the civil procedure for the particular court in which suit has been brought.

Sec. 179. Register.—It shall be the duty of every licensed person to keep a register, approved by the mayor or the commissioner of licenses, in which shall be entered, in the English language, the date of the application for employment; the name and address of the applicant to whom employment is promised or offered, or to whom information or assistance is given in respect to such employment; the amount of the fee received; and whenever possible, the names and addresses of former employers or persons to whom such applicant is known. Such licensed person shall also enter in the same or in a separate register, approved by the mayor or commissioner of licenses, in the English language, the name and address of every applicant accepted for help, the date of such application, kind of help requested, the name of the persons sent, with the designation of the one employed, the amount of the fee received, and the rate of wages agreed upon. No such licensed person, his agent or employees, shall make any false entry in such registers. It shall be the duty of every licensed person, whenever possible, to communicate orally or in writing with at least one of the persons mentioned as references for every applicant for work in private families, or employed in a fiduciary capacity, and the result of such investigation shall be kept on file in such agency: Provided, that if the applicant for help voluntarily waives in writing such investigation of references by the licensed person, failure on the part of the licensed person to make such investigation shall not be deemed a violation of this section.

Sec. 180. Theatrical agencies.—Every licensed person conducting a theatrical employment agency, before making a theatrical engagement, except an emergency engagement, for any person with any applicant for services in any such engagement shall prepare and file in such agency a written statement signed and verified by such licensed person setting forth how long the applicant has been engaged in the theatrical business. Such statement shall set forth whether or not such applicant has failed to pay salaries or left stranded any companies, in which such applicant and, if a corporation any of its officers or directors, have been financially interested during the five years preceding the date of application and, further, shall set forth the names of at least two persons as references. If such applicant is a corporation, such statement shall set forth the names of the officers and directors thereof and the length of time such corporation or any of its officers have been engaged in the theatrical business and the amount of its paid-up capital stock. If any allegation in such written, verified statement is made upon information and belief, the person verifying the statement shall set forth the sources of his information and the grounds of his belief. Such statement so on file shall be kept for the benefit of any person whose services are sought by any such applicant as employer.

Sec. 181. Statements to be furnished.—Every such licensed person shall give to each applicant for domestic or commercial employment a card or printed paper containing the name of the applicant, the name and address of such employment agency, and the written name and address of the person to whom the applicant is sent for employment; kind of services to be performed; rate of wages or compensation; the time of such services, if definite, and if indefinite, to be so stated; and the name and address of person authorizing the hiring of such applicant, and the cost of transportation if the services are required outside of the city where such agency is located.

Sec. 181-a. Nurses' registry.—Every nurses' registry that sends out any person to render nursing service shall give to each applicant and also send to the employer of such person within 24 hours of the time of employment a card stating the salary and qualifications of such applicant, also the name and place of the hospital and the length of time of service therein, or other experience in nursing if not in a hospital, and whether such person is a graduate, trained, certified, registered, undergradaute, or practical nurse, or trained attendant and if a graduate, trained, certified, or registered nurse or trained attendant, there shall also be stated on such card the number of the annual registration certificate issued to such nurse or trained attendant by the regents of the University of the State of New York for the current year and a copy of such card left on file for reference in the agency.

In registering any graduate nurse or trained attendant such nurses' registry shall place on its file a statement showing the number and date of the last annual report of such nurse and trained attendant as shown by the annual registration certificate issued by the regents of the University of the State of New York. Such file records so kept by such nurses' registry shall be open to inspection of any authorized agent of the University of the State of New York and such agency shall submit the list in full upon request of such agent.

Sec. 182. Interference; outside employments.—A licensed person shall not induce or attempt to induce any employee to leave his employment with a view to obtaining other employment through such agency. Whenever such licensed person or any other acting for him, agrees to send one or more persons to work as contract laborers in any one place outside the city in which such agency is located, the said licensed person shall file with the mayor or commissioner of licenses, within five days after the contract is made, a statement containing the following items: Name and address of the employer; name and address of the employee; nature of the work to be performed; hours of labor; wages offered; destination of the persons employed, and terms of transportation. A duplicate copy of this statement shall be given to the applicant for employment, in a language which he is able to understand, before he leaves the city.

Sec. 183. Theatrical employment.—Every licensed person who shall procure for or offer to an applicant a theatrical engagement shall have executed in duplicate a contract or deliver to the parties as herein set forth a statement containing the name and address of the applicant; the name and address of the employer of

No such licensed person shall divide or share, either directly or indirectly, the fees herein allowed, with contractors, subcontractors, employers or their agents, foremen or any one in their employ, or if the contractors, subcontractors, or employers be a corporation, any of the officers, directors, or employees of the same to whom applicants for employment or theatrical engagements are sent except fees paid for theatrical engagements where the applicant has received his salary in full less such fees and the division of such fees can be made without injury or loss to him.

CODE OF 1930

CHAPTER 8.—Private employment offices

Section 49-801. Agencies.—Every person other than a clerk or employee working for salary, or wages only and not otherwise financially interested in the business, who, for compensation, procures, or in any manner assists in procuring, employment or help for another, or furnishes intelligence or information to persons securing or seeking employment or help, shall be deemed and considered an employment agent. If furnishing intelligence or information concerning both male or female persons seeking employment, such employment agent shall be designated as a "general employment agent." If furnishing intelligence or information concerning female help only, such employment agent shall be designated as a "female employment agent."

Sec. 49-802. Licenses; bonds.—Application for an employment agent's license shall be filed in writing with the commissioner of labor statistics and inspector of factories and workshops of the State of Oregon at least thirty (30) days in advance of the date on which the said license is to be issued. Said application shall set forth that the applicant is a citizen of the United States, and the name and address of the applicant, the street and number of the building or place where the business is to be conducted, and the names and addresses of all persons financially interested in the operation of said business either as partners, associates or profit sharers therein. Said application shall be accompanied by the affidavits of at least ten (10) freeholders of the State of Oregon, to the effect that the said persons believe the said applicant to be a person of good moral character and capable of exercising an employment agent's license according to the terms of this act. Upon receipt of such application the commissioner of labor may cause an investigation to be made as to the character and responsibility of the applicant and of the premises designated in such application as the place in which it is proposed to conduct such agency.
The commissioner of labor or his deputies may administer oaths, subpoena witnesses and take testimony in respect to matters contained in such application and in respect to complaints of any character against the applicant for such license, and upon proper hearing may refuse to grant a license. Each application shall be granted or refused within thirty (30) days from date of filing. In all towns and cities containing more than 15,000 inhabitants no license shall be granted to a person to conduct the business of an employment agency in rooms used for living purposes, or where boarders or lodgers are kept, or where meals are served, or where persons sleep, or by any person who is interested in or benefits from the sale of railroad and stage transportation. No license shall be granted to a person whose license has been revoked within one year from the date of said revocation. Before any such license is issued to the employment agent, the applicant shall first file a bond with the State of Oregon, and in the office of the said commissioner of labor statistics and inspector of factories and workshops, in the sum provided for in section 49-804, Oregon Code, as amended, with at least one good and sufficient surety to be approved by the commissioner of labor statistics and inspector of factories and workshops, conditioned that the applicant shall fully comply with the provisions and requirements imposed by the laws of this state regulating employment agencies, and shall pay all judgments recovered against him for any violation of the said provisions or requirements, together with such judgments and costs as may be recovered against him by any laborer, worker or applicant for position on account of any willful misrepresentations, or for willfully deceiving any laborer, worker, or applicant for position transacting business with him as such employment agent, and pay all damages by reason of any violation of this act. Such license shall not be valid to protect any other than the person to whom it is issued. In towns and cities containing more than 15,000 inhabitants no licensee shall employ or permit any person to operate an employment agency under such license except a bona fide clerk or employee receiving a stated salary or wage, who shall, before entering upon such employment, obtain from the commissioner of labor statistics and inspector of factories and workshops a permit authorizing him so to do. A fee of $5 shall be exacted and paid for such permit, and the applicant therefor, if found to be of good moral character and a fit and proper person to transact business as such clerk or employee, may be granted such permit, good for one year from date of issuance, upon executing to the state of Oregon a good and sufficient bond in the sum of $100, and to be approved by the commissioner, and conditioned that such clerk or employee shall honestly and faithfully comply with all the laws of this State regulating employment agents. Such permits may be renewed annually upon the payment of a like fee and the execution of a like bond.

The commissioner may require additional evidence of the moral character of applicants; and no license shall be granted to any person except he be of good moral character. Such application shall be examined by the Commissioner, and if he finds that the same complies with the law and that the applicant is entitled to a license, then he shall issue a license to the applicant for each county for which application is made and shall deliver such license to the applicant upon the payment of a license fee of one hundred and fifty dollars for each county in which an employment office is to be maintained by said agent, and upon the presentation to and approval by the Commissioner of a good and sufficient bond executed by the applicant with good and sufficient surety in the penal sum of five thousand dollars, payable to the State of Texas, for each county where an employment office is to be maintained; said bond shall be conditioned that the obligor will not violate any of the duties, terms, conditions and requirements of this law, and that the principal, his agents or representatives, will not make any false representation or statement to any person soliciting any assistance from him for help or employment. Said bond shall further recite that any person injured or aggrieved by any false or fraudulent statement of such agent, or any violation of the provisions thereof by such agent, shall be entitled to bring suit thereon. Not more than one office shall be operated under any one license. Each license issued by the commissioner shall be for a period of one year.

Art. 5211. (p. 974.) Suits.—Any person injured or aggrieved by any action, conduct, false representation or false statement of any such employment agent may bring suit for damages against such agent on said bond in any county where such action, conduct, false representation or false statement was made in any court of competent jurisdiction, without the necessity of making the State a party thereto; where the bond has become impaired by recoveries thereon to the extent of fifty per cent of the penal sum named therein, the commissioner may, by a notice in writing, demand the execution of a new bond which, if not executed and submitted to the commissioner within 20 days, for his approval, such failure to execute a new bond shall ipso facto forfeit and cancel the license issued to the principal named in said bond.

The Commissioner shall not cancel the license of any employment agent until complaint in writing made by a credible person, shall be filed with him, specifying in general terms the grounds of the proposed cancellation, and a full and fair hearing given to him thereon. Upon the filing of such complaint, the Commissioner shall fix a time and place, reasonably accessible to the employment agent complained against, for the hearing of said complaint. The Commissioner shall then afford the employment agent complained against the hearing of said complaint, and at such hearing by a registered letter addressed to him at his post-office address as the same appears upon his application for license, accompanied by an exact copy of the complaint against him; and mailing of such notice and copy shall be sufficient and conclusive evidence of proper service of the procedure upon the agent so complained against. The employment agent so complained against shall have at least ten days after the date of said notice mailed, exclusive of the day of mailing and day of hearing, before hearing upon said complaint shall be had, and shall have the right to file answer, introduce evidence and to be heard both in person and by counsel.

The Commissioner shall have the power to summon and compel the attendance of witnesses before him to testify in relation to any such complaint, and may require the production of any book, paper or document deemed pertinent thereto. Said Commissioner shall also have the power to provide for the taking of depositions of witnesses and evidence may be heard either from witnesses present testifying orally, or by deposition taken under such rules, and in such fair and impartial manner as the Commissioner may prescribe. Said hearing shall be had before the Commissioner and shall be conducted in a fair and orderly manner, and in accordance with rules of procedure to be adopted by the Commissioner. At the conclusion of the hearing the Commissioner shall enter his findings and judgment in writing and the same shall be recorded by him in a permanent record to be kept by him, and a copy thereof furnished to the employment agent complained against. Any employment agent whose license shall be canceled by the Commissioner may, within thirty days after the cancellation thereof, and not thereafter, have his right of action for reinstatement against the Commissioner in the district court of Travis County. If the agent whose license has been canceled by the Commissioner shall, within 10 days after receiving information of such cancellation, give notice to the Commissioner in writing of his intention to file such suit, the action of the Commissioner in canceling the said license shall be suspended for a period of thirty days, but unless such suit shall be filed within said time, the action of the Commissioner shall be final. If suit shall be filed against the Commissioner to reinstate said license within said time, the action of the Commissioner shall remain suspended until the validity of the license in question shall be adjusted by the court in said suit. In such suits the burden shall be upon the employment agent to show good cause for reinstatement of his license.

Art. 5213. (p. 975.) Records.—All the books, correspondence, memoranda, papers and records of every kind and character incident to the business of an employment agent of each agent licensed under this chapter shall be subject to examination at any time by the Commissioner, his deputies, or inspectors, and the refusal of any agent to permit the Commissioner, his deputies, or inspectors, to inspect such correspondence, memoranda, papers and records at any time shall be sufficient grounds for the Commissioner to cancel the license of such agent in accordance with the provisions of the fifth article of this chapter.

Art. 5214. (p. 975.) False advertisements, etc.—No employment agent shall publish or cause to be published any false or misleading advertisements or notice relating to his employment agency; nor shall any such employment agent advertise his agency by means of cards, circulars, signs or in newspapers or other publications unless such advertisements shall set forth the name of the agent and the address of his employment office; nor shall any such licensed person use any letter-heads or blanks not containing the name of such employment agent and the address of his employment office.

Art. 5215. (p. 975.) Fees.—Where a fee is charged for obtaining employment, such fee in no event shall exceed the sum of three dollars, which may be collected from the applicant only after employment has been obtained and accepted by the applicant: Provided, however, Employment agents engaged exclusively in providing employment for skilled, professional or clerical positions may charge, with the written consent of the applicant, a fee not to exceed twenty per cent of the first month’s salary.

Art. 5216. (p. 975.) Receipts.—A receipt shall be given to the applicant by the employment agent for all fees collected from such applicant. The form of such receipt shall be prescribed by the Commissioner and shall contain the name of the applicant, the amount of the fee paid, the date, the character of the work or the situation secured, the name of the employer, together with his post-office address and the location of the work the applicant is to perform.

Art. 5217. (p. 975.) Immoral, etc., resorts.—No employment agent shall furnish any female for immoral purposes; or send, or cause to be sent any female to enter as servant, inmate, or for any purpose whatsoever, any place of bad repute, house of ill fame, or assignation house, or any house or place of amusement kept for immoral purposes, the character of which such employment agent could have ascertained by reasonable diligence.

Art. 5218. (p. 975.) License.—Any application made by an employment agent for a license, or a certified copy thereof under the hand and seal of the Commissioner, shall be received as evidence in any court in this State without the necessity of proving the execution thereof.

Art. 5219. (p. 975.) Violations.—The commissioner and his deputies, or inspectors shall have the authority of peace officers only in making arrests of any person or persons, who violate, in their presence, any provision of this chapter for which a penalty is prescribed, and when such arrest has been made the Commissioner or his duly appointed deputies or inspectors, may enter any employment office at any time when such employment office is open for business, and inspect the registers and all other records of whatsoever kind and character of such employment agent for the purpose of ascertaining whether the provisions of this law are being violated, and the refusal of any employment agent to permit such inspection shall be sufficient reason for the Commissioner to cancel the license of such agent in accordance with the provisions of article 5212.

Art. 5220. (p. 975.) Injunction.—Any person who shall engage in the business of an employment agent, or who shall conduct an employment office, without first procuring a license as required and provided for in this chapter may be enjoined from unlawfully pursuing such business or occupation, and the Attorney General and the district or county attorney of any county wherein such person engages in such business or conducts an employment office in violation of the preceding article is hereby authorized to maintain in the proper court of said county a suit in the name of the State of Texas to enjoin and prevent such person from unlawfully pursuing such occupation. In all such cases it shall not be necessary for the bond as a condition precedent to the issuing of any injunction or restraining order hereunder.

Art. 5221. (p. 975.) Notice of strikes, etc.—No employment agent shall send any person to a prospective employer who is conducting a “lockout” against all or part

At the conclusion of the hearing the commissioner shall enter his findings and judgment in writing and the same shall be recorded by him in a permanent record to be kept before him; and mailing of such notice and copy shall be sufficient and conclusive evidence of proper service of the procedure upon the agent so complained against. Any emigrant agent whose license shall be canceled by the commissioner may, within 30 days after the cancellation thereof, and not thereafter, have his right of action for reinstatement against the commissioner in the district court of Travis County.
