REVIEW OF APRIL—COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL EVENTS.

There were more than the ordinary number of important developments during April, both in the foreign field and at home. At least one of the foreign events was of an unfavorable nature, besides which the tension in the money market in this country, with the strain that this imposed on the credit situation in all its various lines, remained unrelieved and there were no signs of an early change in that respect. But trade and business continued to manifest a high degree of activity. In the steel industry, indeed, the limit of rated capacity was reached and in the automobile field, also, new high peaks of production were recorded, this last accounting in no small degree for the sustained volume of operations and urgent demand with rising prices for the different lines of iron and steel manufactures.

The unfavorable development in the foreign field was the inability of the Committee of Experts on German reparations to reach an agreement or indeed to arrive at any conclusions with respect to the settlement of the question of transcendent importance to the whole world. The Conference of this Committee of experts apparently encountered insuperable snags. The conversations were begun in Paris February 11, with smooth and steady progress reported for more than two months as a result of the conciliatory spirit shown by all the fourteen experts. Ambitious plans were made for the formation of an international bank or clearing house for the payments, with indications that this project was intended eventually to assume tremendous proportions as a central bank for much of the world's gold. The chief problem—that of inserting the actual figures of annuities in the plan—was left to the last, and on this rock the conference split. The conference was ready to break up on April 19, when it appeared that the ideas of the Allied and German delegations were too far apart for any reasonable reconciliation. A respite was occasioned by the death of Lord Revelstoke, the chief British delegate, early on April 19, meetings being postponed until the following Monday, April 22. The subsequent deliberations brought no substantial change. Dr. Schacht, president of the Reichsbank and head of the German delegation, hurried back to Berlin on Saturday, April 20, to confer with officials of the German Government. In connection with his departure it was reported, but never confirmed, that Owen D. Young in his capacity as Chairman of the meeting had suggested the possibility of a provisional settlement to cover the next ten or fifteen years. These reports were predicated on the comparatively small difference between the first annuities requested by the Allies in their memorandum of April 13 and the offer made by the Germans. The Allies demanded annuities beginning at 1,850,000,000 marks and rising to 2,400,000,000 marks, with an average of 2,200,000,000 marks over a period of 58 years and a present value of 40,000,000,000 marks. Against this, the Germans offered annuities calculated at an average of 1,650,000,000 marks to be paid for 37 years, and having a present value of 27,000,000,000 marks. Details of the negotiations were not revealed, but it appeared that Dr. Schacht demanded a continuation of transfer protection on a great part of the proffered annuities, and also hedged his offer about with conditions which the Allies considered "political" rather than "economic."

After a Cabinet meeting in Berlin on Sunday, April 21, which Dr. Schacht attended, an official communication was issued to the effect that the German delegates would be left in full possession of their freedom of action. On leaving Berlin for his return to Paris Sunday night, Dr. Schacht intimated, however, that he would not increase his offer at further meetings of the Experts' Committee. "Germany's ability to pay can be increased only if her ability to produce is increased," he reiterated. In this statement the German expert was apparently referring to the disputed aspects of his offer, which the Germans insisted were economic, although the Allies interpreted them with equal definiteness as political. "As a result of the war," the German memorandum said, "the interior basis of raw materials has been reduced and Germany has seen herself deprived of the possibility of development of overseas reservoirs of raw materials. These losses have their repercussion in the heavy charges imposed on German commerce, so that, if she must assume the payments quoted in the plan without increasing more heavily her debts to foreign countries, she must be in position to create for herself once more a basis entirely her own for raw materials overseas, which basis Germany will be able to develop with her own production and her own money and under her own responsibility. Concerning the apportionment of food products . . . it must not be lost sight of that on her Eastern border Germany has lost territory which produced an agricultural surplus and that, in addition, one whole Province has been separated from the rest of the Reich. The prosperity of this province declines in such manner that the Reich is obliged to give it regular subsidies. Consequently it is necessary to take measures susceptible of readjustment for these unfavorable conditions which reduce Germany's capacity to pay."

Dr. Schacht reached Paris too late on April 22 for the plenary session first scheduled for that day and the general meeting was postponed until the following morning. The German expert conferred briefly with Mr. Young, however, and also privately with Emile Moreau, Governor of the Bank of France and leading French expert. These talks gave rise to a brief flicker of hope. The day, however, saw a development of equal importance in a reiteration by Premier Poincare, of France, of his frequently repeated position that the French Government required payments from Germany equal in amounts and duration with French payments on debts and in addition a definite payment for reconstruction of devastated territories. This statement by M. Poincare was made in the course of a speech at Bar-le-Duc. He revealed that this position had been officially communicated to Germany and her creditors before the meeting of experts and he stated that the experts on the present committee had themselves admitted the justice of the attitude. The grounds for hope that an equitable solution would rapidly be reached had been rendered illusory by the representatives of Germany, he said. "We would be glad, in the interest of Europe and the world, if these thankless questions of debt and reparations payments were at least to be settled by general consent," the Premier continued. "We have made large concessions in order to bring this about, but if our efforts remain fruitless we will hold, by force of circumstances, to execution of the Dawes plan, which, moreover, thanks to the application of the index of prosperity, will give us an increase over the present annuities."

The plenary session of Tuesday morning, April 23, brought the delegations no nearer together. The meeting was a brief one, and at its close an official statement was issued which said: "The committee received and ordered to be filed the report of the subcommittee of last week stating that agreement as to figures had not been reached. The committee in plenary session thereupon unanimously decided upon the appointment of a subcommittee to be charged with the work of outlining the chief points to be embodied in a report. The chiefs of each group were designated to act as such committee." Dr. Schacht made no new offer on behalf of the Germans, it was reported, nor did he remove any of the objectionable provisions mentioned in the German memorandum. As a result, the sentiment of the experts was reported in a dispatch to the "New York Herald Tribune" to be "a desire to wind up the conference as speedily as possible." The next plenary session, which it was then presumed would be the last, was to be called at Mr. Young's discretion. The only loophole left was a statement that while the delegation chiefs were outlining the points agreed upon, "efforts by all the groups alike will be continued in order to arrive at agreement upon the points on which accord has not yet been reached." Owen D. Young, of the American delegation, was one of those who persisted in the attempt to prevent a failure, and in the opening days of May he succeeded in evolving a plan which the Germans accepted with conditions and which the other delegates took under consideration.

One of the interesting features of the negotiations was the effort to secure entire remission by the United States Government of the sums still due from Germany for Army of Occupation costs. Steady pressure for such cancellation was exerted in Paris, according to press accounts, and as a result, the matter was officially placed before the Administration in Washington by the two unofficial American experts. It was pointed out in Washington that there was still due the United States on this account $206,584,000, out of total arrears of $291,550,000 at the time the Dawes Plan was signed, making a payment of about 30% to date. France and England, on the other hand, had been paid about 90% of their respective claims outstanding when the Dawes Plan was started in 1924, so that the positions were not comparable. A note from Washington to the Experts' gathering in Paris was received there April 24 and it was understood to have declined the suggestion that the United States abandon her claim to recover the costs of the Army of Occupation.

In the meantime financial affairs in Germany were not progressing as could be wished. The high money rates in this country were proving very unfavorable to Germany, as indeed they were to other countries of Europe, though perhaps not to the same extent. These high money rates were a magnet drawing funds from Germany, some held there on foreign account and possibly also some on domestic account. At the same time Germany found it difficult to establish new credits here, while old credits previously obtained were many of them not being renewed as they expired. For the same reason the placing of long-term loans in this country for German account was rendered almost out of the question because of tight money conditions here, banking syndicates deeming such ventures too hazardous. The result was that the Bank of Germany had to ship gold abroad in large volume, especially to the United States. The outflow of the metal had been in progress in previous months but now reached formidable proportions. The Bank of Germany had the previous January 11 lowered its discount rate from 7% to 6½%, but in view of the steady depletion of its gold reserve now (April 25) raised its rate a full 1% to 7½%. In political circles outside of Germany there was a disposition to ascribe this step as an attempt to influence reparations results. No doubt the upset of the Reparations Conference came as a sort of climax to German trouble, but after having advanced its discount rate the Reichsbank issued a special statement saying that "depletion of the reserves of gold and foreign exchanges alone is responsible for the Reichsbank's directorates' decision at this time of trade depression." The statement added that it was shown once again that "under unnatural compulsion the Reichsbank's discount policy is operating by the necessity of the utilization of foreign capital and the increased call for foreign exchanges to pay reparations." It is perhaps well to say also that immediately following the raising of the Bank of Germany's discount rate considerable transfers from Berlin of both German and foreign funds were noted with the effect of strengthening exchange rates on Holland, Switzerland and the Scandinavian centres and that in foreign exchange circles these transfers were referred to as capital taking flight from German cover owing to the uncertainties over reparations results.

A foreign development of the opposite nature, wholly reassuring in character, but which was without influence on current affairs, was the entirely unexpected announcement made on behalf of the United States at the Preparatory Disarmament Conference of the League of Nations by Hugh S. Gibson, United States Ambassador to Belgium and Chairman of the American delegation to the Preparatory Disarmament Conference, on the subject of the limitation and reduction of naval armaments. In this announcement Mr. Gibson offered a formula for determining and arranging the naval strength of the different countries and indicated a very conciliatory attitude on the part of the Washington administration in any effort to bring about real limitation and reduction of naval armaments. The proposal was very favorably received on the part of all the countries involved.

In home political affairs in this country the event of most importance was of course the meeting of the United States Congress at Washington in extra session on April 15 in response to the call of President Hoover issued on March 7. Mr. Hoover's message indicating the purpose of the special session was read in the two Houses of Congress on April 16.

"I have long held," said the President, "that the multiplicity of causes of agricultural depression could only be met by the creation of a great instrumentality clothed with sufficient authority and resources to assist our farmers to meet these problems, each upon its own merits. The creation of such an agency would at once transfer the agricultural question from the field of politics into the realm of economics and would result in constructive action. The Administration is pledged to create an instrumentality that will investigate the causes, find sound remedies and have the authority and resources to apply those remedies." The President then outlined what he had in mind as follows:

Federal Farm Board and Creation of Farmer-Owned Agencies.

The pledged purpose of such a Federal Farm Board is the reorganization of the marketing system on sounder and more stable and more economic lines. To do this the board will require funds to assist in creating and sustaining farmer-owned and farmer-controlled agencies for a variety of purposes, such as the acquisition of adequate warehousing and other facilities for marketing; adequate working capital to be advanced against commodities lodged for storage; necessary and prudent advances to corporations created and owned by farmers' marketing organizations for the purchase and orderly marketing of surpluses occasioned by climatic variations or by harvest congestion; to authorize the creation and support of clearing houses, especially for perishable products, through which, under producers' approval, cooperation can be established with distributors and processors to more orderly marketing of commodities and for the elimination of many wastes in distribution; and to provide for licensing of handlers of some perishable products so as to eliminate unfair practices.

Every penny of waste between farmer and consumer that we can eliminate, whether it arises from methods of distribution or from hazard or speculation, will be a gain to both farmer and consumer.

In addition to these special provisions in the direction of improved returns, the board should be organized to investigate every field of economic betterment for the farmer so as to furnish guidance as to need in production, to devise methods for elimination of unprofitable marginal lands and their adaptation to other uses, to develop industrial by-products, and to survey a score of other fields of helpfulness.

Certain safeguards must naturally surround these activities and the instrumentalities that are created. Certain vital principles must be adhered to in order that we may not undermine the freedom of our farmers and of our people as a whole by bureaucratic and governmental domination and interference. We must not undermine initiative.

Opposed to Fee or Tax on Farmer.

There should be no fee or tax imposed upon the farmer. No governmental agency should engage in the buying and selling and price-fixing of products, for such courses can lead only to bureaucracy and domination.

Government funds should not be loaned or facilities duplicated where other services of credit and facilities are available at reasonable rates. No activities should be set in motion that will result in increasing the surplus production, as such will defeat any plans of relief.

The most progressive movement in all agriculture has been the upbuilding of the farmer's own marketing organizations, which now embrace nearly 2,000,000 farmers in membership and annually distribute nearly $2,500,000,000 worth of farm products. These organizations have acquired experience in virtually every branch of their industry and furnish a substantial basis upon which to build further organization. Not all these marketing organizations are farmer-owned or farmer-controlled. In order to strengthen and not to undermine them, all proposals for governmental assistance should originate with such organizations and be the result of their application. Moreover, by such basis of organization the government will be removed from engaging in the business of agriculture.

The difficulties of agriculture cannot be cured in a day; they cannot all be cured by legislation; they cannot be cured by the Federal Government alone. But farmers and their organizations can be assisted to overcome these inequalities. Every effort of this character is an experiment, and we shall find from our experience the way to further advance. We must make a start. With the creation of a great instrumentality of this character, of a strength and importance equal to that of those which we have created for transportation and banking, we give immediate assurance of the determined purpose of the government to meet the difficulties of which we are now aware, and to create an agency through which constructive action for the future will be assured.

In this treatment of this problem we recognize the responsibility of the people as a whole, and we shall lay the foundations for a new day in agriculture, from which we shall preserve to the nation the great values of its individuality and strengthen our whole national fabric.

Farm Relief measures were taken up almost immediately in both the House of Representatives and the Senate. The final draft of the House Farm Bill was completed by its Committee on Agriculture on Sunday, April 14. In all its main provisions it embodied the views of President Hoover. On the other hand, in the Senate Senator McNary, Chairman of the Senate Agricultural Committee, introduced his bill containing as one of its main provisions a plan for the issuance of export debentures, the weaknesses of which were pointed out in a letter addressed by President Hoover to Senator McNary on April 20. In this letter the President declared that "the issue of debentures to export merchants and their redemption in payment of import duties amounts to a direct subsidy from the United States Treasury." He added that "if the plan proposed be generally applied, it would cost in excess of $200,000,000 a year, as it would decrease the Treasury receipts by such an amount." The President went further and stated "that the theoretical benefit would not be reflected to the American farmer; that it would create profiteering; that it contains elements which would bring American agriculture to disaster." The underlying principle of the debenture scheme, said the President, "is to issue a Government debenture to products in amount of one-half of the tariff on such products—such debentures to be redeemed by presentation for payment of import duties." "The assumption is," said Mr. Hoover, "that by creating a scarcity through stimulating exports the domestic price will rise above world prices to the amount of the debentures—that is, if the debenture on wheat exports is 21 cents a bushel, the price of wheat will be 21 cents higher in the domestic market than in the world market." The President then pointed out ten weaknesses in the plan, each one of which he specifically enumerated. The first of these, namely, that it would be a direct subsidy and cost $200,000,000 a year has already been mentioned. The second point made by the President was that the plan, if put into operation, "would be a gigantic gift from the Government and the public to the dealers and manufacturers and speculators in these commodities. For instance, in the principal export commodities the value of the present volume of stocks in possession of these trades would, if the plan worked, rise by from $200,000,000 to $400,000,000 according to different calculations, without a cent return to the farmer or consumer. Every speculator for a rise in our public markets would receive enormous profit. Conversely, if after this elevation of prices the plan were at any time for any reason withdrawn, the trades would suffer a like loss and a long line of bankruptcies must ensue. But in the meantime the trades, out of fear of withdrawal or of reduction in the subsidy, would not engage in normal purchase and distribution. Either exorbitant margins would be required or, alternatively, the farmer would be compelled to himself hold the nation's stocks until there was a demand for actual consumption." In like manner the President cited the other objections to the plan, one after another. With his letter to Senator McNary Mr. Hoover also transmitted an analysis of the plan by Mr. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, as likewise by Arthur M. Hyde, the Secretary of Agriculture, and by Secretary Lamont of the Department of Commerce. "The issuance of a Treasury debenture," said Secretary Mellon, "is indistinguishable in principle and in its effect on the Treasury from a cash bounty on exports." "If issued in large amounts," he declared, "it is likely that the debentures will sell at a very considerable discount, which would not only deprive the farmer of a portion of the benefit arising from the debenture rate but represent a bonus to importers and would seriously dislocate the tariff schedules." "The second major question," Secretary Mellon averred, "is whether it is economically desirable to pay a cash bounty on the exports of a commodity which is already produced in excess of domestic requirements. I think not. Exports would be stimulated and under the pressure of a consequent decreased domestic supply domestic prices would rise. This would stimulate increased production. In the meanwhile, increased exports dumped on the world markets would depress world prices. . . . There is no doubt, I think, that the effect of this program would be to depress world prices and to increase domestic prices. . . . As production increased in this country under the stimulus of higher domestic prices there would be a constant tendency for the bounty benefit to melt away."

In the House rapid progress was made with the Haugen bill which, as stated, is in accord with the views of President Hoover. The measure passed in that House on April 25 by the overwhelming vote of 367 to 34. Except for three minor clarifying amendments offered by members of the House Agricultural Committee the bill, as it passed, was in the form in which it came from the Committee. Newspaper accounts stated that amendment after amendment was rejected with a chorus of "Noes." The export debentures scheme was ruled out on a point of order, as was also the equalization fee provision. The bill creates a Federal Farm Board of six members and the Secretary of Agriculture, with revolving funds of $500,000,000 and broad powers to assist farmers in stabilizing prices through their cooperative organizations. In the Senate, however, the Senate Committee on Agriculture on April 22, by a vote of 8 to 6, decided to retain the export debenture plan despite the objections of President Hoover. The bill was reported by Chairman McNary on April 23 with the statement that unless this provision was removed President Hoover would veto the measure. Mr. McNary declared that he would vote against the debenture section because he felt it was a subsidy and because he considered it certain that Mr. Hoover would disapprove any bill which contained it. The Senate did not take a final vote on its bill until May 8, when the measure, with the debenture provision included, passed by a vote of 47 to 44.

It was stated above that trade and industry had continued to display a high degree of activity throughout the month without any indication of an early slackening up and that the strongest evidence of this was found in the iron and steel industry, which under the stimulus of buying for account of the automobile producers had about reached maximum capacity. March production of motor vehicles in the United States, as reported to the Department of Commerce, reached no less than 584,733, as compared with 413,314 in March 1928, being the largest on record for any month of any year. For the first quarter of 1929 the output was 1,460,801 vehicles against only 968,838 in the first quarter of 1928 and 938,133 in the first quarter of 1927. During April it is believed production proceeded at the same high pace. With reference to the conditions of the steel trade it was reported on April 24 that ingot production of the subsidiaries of the U. S. Steel Corporation had during the week preceding risen about 4% and was now at full rated capacity. This compared with about 96% of capacity in the week preceding and with 99% in the week previous. Independent steel companies were still operating at around 96% of capacity. Bethlehem Steel Corporation, the second largest steel company in the country, was credited with operations at 100%. For the entire industry the average was estimated at slightly below 98%. The "Iron Age," in its issue of April 25, stated that with the steel industry bending all its efforts to produce, operations continued at a peak rate, being restricted only by the strain on equipment and the shortage of semi-finished material. Continuing, the "Age" said:

While specifications now tend to fall short of shipments, they have shown no marked decline and in some instances have made fresh gains. Deliveries, which are a good measure of the flow of shipping orders, show little improvement.

With no curtailment in automobile production and with other important steel-consuming lines taking steel at a better rate than usual, any slackening in the present pace of the steel mills is likely to be gradual. Heavy operating schedules until well into June are virtually assured.

Although the backlogs of mills in most steel centers are no longer expanding, exception must still be made for the Chicago district, where a continued excess of specifications over shipments has caused further delays in deliveries. Chicago ingot output has declined to 98% of capacity because of the wear and tear of operations which, for some units, have been 5 to 10% above practical rating.

Not only were operations on an unprecedented scale but prices were also higher. On that point the "Age" said:

The advance to $36 a ton on billets, slabs and sheet bars announced by the leading interest last week has become general. Few producers, however, have semi-finished material to sell. Pittsburgh mills have rejected offers of $37 for sheet bars for immediate shipment. At least two producers that are ordinarily able to supply their own steel requirements have been forced to place orders for ingots—the first important purchases of that class of material in several years.

In face of dearth of raw steel, 25,000 tons of sheet bars have been sold for shipment to Japan. This apparent incongruity is probably explained by the fact that a leading American producer maintains a regular allotment of steel for export, from which the Japanese tonnage will doubtless be supplied.

In line with the firmness in full finished sheets, extras on metal furniture grades have been advanced. Prices on other finishes are slowly becoming better established, but concessions on black and galvanized have not disappeared.

In plates and shapes, also, deviations from 1.95c., Pittsburgh, are still reported, but the extra for copper-bearing material has been increased from $2 to $3 a ton. Similarly the extra for copper-bearing spikes and tie plates has been raised $1 a ton.

The same favorable conditions were noted by the "Iron Age" in its issue of May 2, bringing results down to the close of April. The "Age" then said:

Despite record shipments, the inflow of steel business shows little reduction in volume, pointing to well sustained mill operations through most of the remainder of this quarter. Indications of seasonal curtailment are still almost entirely lacking lending support to the view that any such let-up will come later than usual and will be proportionately less pronounced.

The buoyancy of steel demand is impressive. Deliveries from mills in the Chicago district are still extending, and an increasing volume of overflow business from that area is reaching other markets. Two cargoes of finished steel from a Lake Erie mill have been unloaded at Chicago and a schedule has been arranged calling for the delivery of a boatload every four days. Shipments last year were at the rate of one vessel weekly.

The shortage of plates in the Chicago territory has caused a leading consumer to place round tonnages with an Ohio mill and an eastern Pennsylvanian producer.

The industry is not merely benefiting from surplus Western demands, but also finds support in other directions. Builders of railroad equipment and barges and fabricators of structural steel are placing heavier specifications for plates and shapes. Tin plate production has been stepped up, now ranging from 96% for the leading interest to rated capacity or higher for independents, and some large consumers have already overspecified their second quarter contract tonnages. Deliveries on automobile steels show virtually no improvement, with some makers of body sheets fully committed into July and August. Wire products and tubular goods, although less active than other materials, are nevertheless feeling a seasonal gain in demand.

The "Iron Age" made the composite price of finished steel April 30 2.412c. a lb. against 2.391c. a month before. The pig iron price was also slightly higher, though some of the Southern furnaces were cutting prices, having excess production to market in contrast with the situation at Northern furnaces which found it difficult to fill all requirements. The "Age" made the composite price of pig iron April 30 $18.54 per gross ton against $18.46 a month previously.

In the non ferrous metals the feature was a big break in the price of copper after long continued advance. The slump came suddenly and unexpectedly. The decline reached fully 6c. a lb. Doubtless the strongest reason for the decline was the fact that the antecedent rise had been carried too far, but when the break was in its early stages the trade papers gave as additional reasons the extreme weakness in all non ferrous metals in London and the anxiety of some custom smelters here to sell the metal rather than accumulate it at the high price level. Lake copper at New York fell from 24 $\frac{1}{8}$ c. per lb. April 1 to 18 $\frac{1}{8}$ c. April 16, at which figure it remained the rest of the month. Electrolytic copper in New York dropped from 23 $\frac{3}{4}$ c. April 1 to 17 $\frac{3}{4}$ c. April 16. With the decline in the price of the metal, wages of the miners which had been sharply raised were again reduced. Thus it was announced that in the Butte district wages would be reduced 25c. a day on May 1, thereby cancelling a similar increase which became effective April 1 when copper was quoted at 24c. a lb. The other non ferrous metals also moved lower. Lead at New York declined by successive steps from 7.75c. April 1 to 7.00c. April 15 and was 7.00c. April 30. Tin at New York tumbled from 48 $\frac{3}{4}$ c. April 1 to 43 $\frac{3}{4}$ c. April 26, and was 44 $\frac{1}{8}$ c. April 30.

A better outlook developed in the petroleum industry, notwithstanding that the efforts to restrict the production of oil through united action of the producers appeared to have been balked for the time being. Early in the month Secretary Ray Lyman Wilbur, of the Department of the Interior, as a member of the Federal Oil Conservation Board, and speaking for his associates, James W. Good, Secretary of War; Charles F. Adams, Secretary of the Navy, and Robert P. Lamont, Secretary of Commerce, sent to R. C. Holmes, Chairman of the General Committee of the American Petroleum Institute, a letter in which he stated that the investigations over the past few years had demonstrated large waste in the production and utilization of oil in this country "and an alarming prospect as to our future supplies," and that as a result of such investigations the conclusion had been reached "that in the long view the positive method of conservation is the initial control of development through the control of drilling, to the end that upon discovery of a new oil pool a plan for its development should be established which would prevent the waste of gas, the consequent loss of gas pressures and its serious effect upon the total yield of the pool and to prevent other great losses which arise from flush flows due to periodic over-production, from feverish competition and offset drilling, with its consequence in unnecessary diversion of oil from gasoline to fuel on such occasions." The opinion was expressed that "to solely close off production temporarily to relieve present congestion and stop the immediate waste of gasoline to fuel would not affect the real problem—that is the long view wastes." He said it had been determined by the legal advisory committee that there were no constitutional grounds upon which the Federal Government could impose such a regulation of drilling, but that the sole legal authority for such action lay with the State Governments themselves. The problem therefore appeared to the Board one in the real solution of which action must be secured from the different States. The Board recognized that individual State action without coordination would not cover the case and with the view to bringing about such a program and its coordination the Board believed it would be worth while to renew discussion with the State authorities of the three or four principal oil producing States to learn if it was not possible for them to enter upon an Inter-State compact under the provisions of the Constitution authorizing such compacts to which the Federal Government through Congressional action would be a party. With this in view the Board was planning to have Dr. George Otis Smith, the head of the Geological Survey, on its behalf to visit and interview the Governors of three or four dominating oil-producing States and learn their views upon such a proposal. Dr. Smith soon after engaged in the task outlined and great hopes are being entertained of a favorable outcome. In an announcement issued under date of April 24 the American Petroleum Institute indicated that it was the unanimous opinion of its directors that the Institute co-operate with the Federal Oil Conservation Board in these and any other efforts toward the conservation of petroleum. In the meantime voluntary restriction of production was practiced by many producers and in California the State Oil Umpire issued orders effective April 22 calling for curtailment of oil production covering oil fields in that State with the exception of the San Joaquin Valley districts.

Price changes in petroleum and its products during the month were generally in an upward direction. Thus the Cities Service Company advanced the price of gasoline in tank cars delivered at Boston and adjacent points  $\frac{1}{8}$ c. to 10 $\frac{1}{8}$ c. and the Ohio Oil Company advanced the market prices for Princeton, Illinois, Indiana, Lima and Western Kentucky crude oil 15c. a barrel.

In the textile trades no important changes were noted during the month. In the cotton goods industry the price of the raw material, cotton, was lower, notwithstanding that weather conditions were not altogether favorable, temperatures being too low and many of the sections suffering from an excess of rain. Indications however pointed to an increase in acreage, while the stringency in the money market led to some liquidation of speculative accounts. Consumption of cotton in the United States continued very heavy despite some idleness in the South because of strikes. The Census Bureau reported the quantity of cotton consumed in the United States during the month of March at 632,808 bales of lint and 76,746 bales of linters, compared with 581,325 bales of lint and 63,067 bales of linters in March 1928. The price of spot cotton on the New York Stock Exchange declined from 20 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. April 1 to 19.40c. April 29, and was 19.45c. April 30. Print cloths at Fall River for 28 in. 64x60 were reduced from 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. to 5 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. April 17, and further reduced to 5 $\frac{1}{8}$ c. April 26. The market for wool and for woolen goods remained quiet. Silk goods continued in good demand and the price of raw silks advanced, Japanese double extra 13-15 deniers being quoted at \$5.15@5.20 April 30 against \$5@5.05 March 31 and \$5.10@5.15 February 28. In the 20-22 deniers Japanese crack double extra were also \$5.15@5.20 April 30 against \$5@5.05 March 31 and \$5.15@5.20 on February 28. Crude rubber suffered further sharp declines and ribbed smoked sheets for spot delivery were quoted in the New York market on April 30 at 19 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. bid and 19 $\frac{3}{4}$ c. asked against 22 $\frac{1}{8}$ c. bid and 23 $\frac{1}{8}$ c. asked on March 30; 26 $\frac{1}{4}$ @26 $\frac{1}{2}$  February 28; 22 $\frac{1}{2}$ @22 $\frac{1}{2}$  January 31 and 18c. bid and 18 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. asked on December 31 1928.

Grain prices improved somewhat during the first half of the month but took a bad tumble again the last half of the month. In good part the renewed depression followed as a result of the convening of Congress and the publication of the views of President Hoover regarding Farm Relief legislation and the character of the Farm Relief Bill which passed the House of Representatives by an overwhelming majority. All this made it evident that Congressional legislation was not likely to boost grain prices as many had expected it would. The collapse in prices also, at least in the case of wheat, was due in no small measure to the good outlook and favorable weather for the growing crop of winter wheat. The report of the Agricultural Department at Washington, issued April 9, made the condition of winter wheat 82.7% of normal compared with the very low condition of 68.8% April 1 1928 and a 10-year average of 80.9%. The loss from abandonment of acreage by reason of winter killing it was stated was likely to be smaller than usual. The large visible supply of wheat in the United States was also a depressing influence. May wheat at Chicago declined from \$1.20 $\frac{1}{4}$  April 1 to \$1.16 $\frac{1}{4}$  April 6, then ran up to \$1.24 $\frac{1}{4}$  April 15, after which there followed a tumble to \$1.11 April 27 with the close April 30 at \$1.13 $\frac{1}{2}$ . The July wheat option at Chicago after declining from \$1.24 April 1 to \$1.20 $\frac{1}{4}$  April 6, then advancing to \$1.27 $\frac{1}{2}$  April 15, was down to \$1.15 $\frac{1}{4}$  April 27 with the close April 30 at \$1.18 $\frac{1}{2}$ . The May corn option in Chicago declined from 94 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. April 1 to 89 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. April 6; then touched 95c. April 15, and was down to 87 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. April 23 with the close April 30 at 89 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. The July corn option in Chicago followed a similar course, declining from 97 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. April 1 to 92 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. April 6, moving up to 98c. April 15, and then selling down to 91 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. April 23, with the close April 30 at 93 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. The May option for oats in Chicago as against 45 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. April 2 touched 51 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. April 15, and in the downward movement which followed got no lower than 46 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. April 23, with the close April 30 at 47 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. The July oats option at Chicago, opening April 1 at 45 $\frac{1}{2}$ c., reached a high of 48 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. April 15, and then declined to 44 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. April 23, with the close April 30 at 46 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. Sugar prices continued to rule low. Cuban raw sugar, as against 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. at the close of March, did advance to 2c. April 15, but dropped back to 1 27-32c. April 30. No change occurred during the month in the wholesale price of refined sugar at New York, all the leading refineries here holding their price unchanged at 4.90c., with the Federal Sugar Refining Company quoting a range of 4.90@4.95c. Coffee prices moved fractionally lower and No. 7 Rio was quoted at 17 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. April 30 against 17 $\frac{1}{4}$ c. March 30; 18 $\frac{1}{4}$ @18 $\frac{1}{2}$ c. on February 28, and at the end of January and at the end of December.

THE STOCK MARKET DURING APRIL 1929.

The stock market during April showed more or less irregularity and encountered many days of weakness and depression, during which quite a considerable number of stocks dropped to the lowest figures of the year, but nevertheless developed growing strength as the month progressed, particularly during the last half, when (barring two or three days during which the money tension became acute and caused a setback) it swept along to steadily rising levels. All through the month the market was to a greater or less extent under the influence of the fluctuations in money rates, in the sense that the speculative groups who were conducting operations for higher prices in favorites were perforce obliged to suspend those operations and let the market yield to bear pressure for the time being whenever money reached extreme figures, but declines were never allowed to go so far as to impair speculative confidence in the inherent strength of the market or to undermine belief in further advances when the money situation should change for the better. As it happened, though Congress convened in extra session on April 15, there was much less agitation of the money question than at one time seemed likely and the probability of any legislation designed to regulate the operations and affairs of the Federal Reserve system in their relations to the stock market was quickly seen to be quite remote, there being a plainly apparent determination to limit the activities of the special session to the two main subjects for which the extra session had been called, namely Farm Relief and Tariff changes, together with possibly two or three minor pieces of legislation. Moreover, a disposition appeared to grow up in political circles to think that in some occult way the money situation would right itself, and that a hands off policy on the part of Congress was the best to pursue. In these circumstances the speculative groups felt safe in renewing their bullish tactics whenever call money rates manifested the slightest signs of an easier tendency. The whole community was becoming accustomed to high money rates as an inseparable concomitant of the long continued stock speculation and to manifest concern only when the rates spurted to extreme figures. Trading was not of large volume, the daily sales even on the most active days never getting much above 4,000,000 shares, which compares with the high record figure of 8,246,740 shares reached, in the great break the previous month, on March 26. And it was noticeable that the dealings fell off whenever the market showed weakness and prices declined, while trading increased whenever the market showed recovery and manifested a rising tendency. For the entire month the sales on the New York Stock Exchange reached 82,600,470 shares, which was only slightly heavier than in April 1928, when the aggregate of the sales was 80,478,835 shares, but compared with 49,781,211 shares in April 1927; with 30,826,714 shares in April 1926, and 24,844,207 shares in April 1925. In the previous month (March 1929) the transactions aggregated 105,661,570 shares, and in November 1928, when the monthly record was made, they were 115,360,075 shares. On the New York curb market the sales during April reached 24,931,700 shares, as against 32,058,800 shares in March and 43,546,800 shares the previous January, in which latter month the record monthly total on that exchange was reached.

As in previous months, activity was very largely in the high-priced specialties which were the subject of pool manipulation and in a number of speculative favorites which are always taken in hand whenever it is desired to give the market a strong boost. The market was weakest and suffered its severest decline on the 1st day of the month, April 1, and was strongest on the last day, April 30, when the tone was positively buoyant and the whole market moved impressively upward as a consequence chiefly of the slight relaxation from the extreme tension in the money market which had developed the previous Friday (April 26) when the call money rate had spurted to 16%, the rate at the close April 30 dropping back to 10%. The break on April 1 came as a complete surprise and proved a sad disappointment. The Stock Exchange had been closed the previous Saturday (March 30), and also on the preceding Friday (March 29) which was Good Friday, but the market had shown sharp recovery Wednesday (March 27) and Thursday (March 28) after its great collapse on March 25 and March 26, and it was supposed that the recovery would make further headway on the ensuing Monday (April 1). Instead, opening prices for many of the leading stocks recorded large declines from the closing prices the previous Thursday. Thus General Motors shares opened 2 points off at 83; United States Steel opened at 179½ against 183¼, the close the previous Thursday; Radio Corporation of America opened at 102½ against 106½; Anaconda Copper at 155 against 159¼; Kennecott Copper at 89½ against 94, and Packard Motor at 125¼ against the closing price of 134¼ the previous Thursday. Evidently what happened was that large amounts of stock bought in the break the previous week, in extending support to the market at the time of its greatest weakness, were now being disposed of. The money market also again furnished cause for uneasiness. Call loans, as against the closing rate of 8% the previous week, renewed April 1 at 10%, and this was followed by an advance to 15%. Stocks remained weak throughout the day, though there was somewhat of a rally towards the close in which a part of the earlier losses was cancelled. The next day (April 2) the market developed a better tone and showed considerable firmness; call loans on the Stock Exchange renewed at 12% and did not go any higher. On Wednesday (April 3), however, there was renewed weakness and the tendency of prices was again strongly downward, though call loans were renewed at 10% and the rate dropped to 8% by the end of the day. On April 4 the renewal rate was again 10%, but with a drop to 6% by the close of the day. This had a strengthening effect on stock prices, and, in addition, the railroad list was taken in hand and moved forward in a moderate kind of way. U. S. Steel common was also bid up several points, with the result that prices rose all around. On Friday, April 5, the reduction shown in the total of brokers' loans in the Federal Reserve statement issued the previous evening was a favoring factor, but a reiteration from Washington by the Federal Reserve Board of its intention to curb speculative excesses was a dampening influence, and the level of prices dropped still lower, though some substantial advances occurred nevertheless here and there through the list.

The following Monday (April 8) a special depressing influence came in a decision by the U. S. Supreme Court against the Interborough Rapid Transit Co. on the question of the 5 cent fare. The decision led to a big break in Interborough stock and also caused heavy declines in other City traction properties, and the collapse in this portion of the Stock Exchange list carried the whole market down. Interborough stock, which had closed at 50½ the previous Saturday, sold as low as 30 in the break on April 8; Brooklyn-Manhattan, which had closed the previous Saturday at 75, slid down to 66, and Third Avenue stock, which had closed at 33¼, fell to 24. Call money on the Stock Exchange did not vary from 7% all day. On Tuesday, April 9, however, after renewals had been effected at 7%, the rate advanced to 10%, and this caused renewed weakness throughout the list. On the other hand, on Wednesday, April 10, with the rate for renewals up to 8%, and with 10% again charged for new loans, the market displayed an improving tendency and prices rallied. The improvement became more pronounced on April 11, with the call loan rate ruling at 9% throughout the day, and quite general advances in stocks occurred the following day, Friday, April 12. The money situation now became a strengthening influence, for the two-fold reason that the Federal Reserve statement issued Thursday evening, April 11, showed a further contraction in brokers' loans in the amount of $135,000,000 and that call loans, after renewing at 9%, dropped to 7%. The further advance in stock prices on that day was not, however, fully retained, some reaction occurring at the close on talk of possible adverse legislation at the meeting of Congress in extra session the following Monday, April 15.

The market now zigzagged a good deal for a few days, but with the general tendency towards lower levels (though punctuated by advances in special stocks), the copper shares displaying weakness by reason of the big decline in the market value of the metal and some disappointment being felt at the terms of the offering of new stock to the common stockholders of the United States Steel Corporation. This offering did not quite fulfill expectations, as a larger offering of new stock had been looked for, with a corresponding increase in value of the "rights" growing out of the same. In addition the tobacco stocks were weak on threats of further cutting of the price of cigarettes. Beginning with April 17, however, the market may be said to have moved—speaking of it as a whole—almost uninteruptedly upward, except that on April 25 and April 26 a new spurt in call loan rates on the Stock Exchange imposed a temporary upward check. On April 25 rates for money on the Stock Exchange suddenly advanced from 8% to 12%, and on Friday, April 26, the rate ran up to 16%. Speculators had begun to dismiss fears regarding the future of money after the middle of the month had passed without bringing a money spasm, and the revelation now that the money situation was still in a state of strain came as a decided shock. However, the market regained tone the very next day (Saturday, April 27) and when on the following Monday and Tuesday (when presumably further preparations for the 1st of May interest and dividend disbursements had to be made) no evidence of further stringency appeared, but rates April 30 declined to 10%, the whole stock market moved upward in very pronounced fashion, the tone becoming positively buoyant.

The net result of the fluctuations during the month is that in quite a number of cases prices at the end of April are found to be higher than at the close of March, though there are not lacking quite numerous instances where the reverse is true. Reference has been made to many share properties having reached new low records for the year, these having occurred mostly in the first half of the month. On the other hand, however, quite a good many new high prices for the year were established. These latter occurred mainly among the specialties and such new high records were common to both the first half of the month and the second half. Adams Express ranks perhaps foremost among the stocks distinguished for large advances during the month. This stock ranged between 590 April 1 and 750 April 23, and closed April 30 at 705 against the close March 28 of 594, the Stock Exchange having been closed March 29 (Good Friday) and Saturday, March 30. American Tel. & Tel. closed at 233¼ April 30, against 224 the close March 28; American Can closed at 144¼ against 123½; Bethlehem Steel at 112½ against 104½; Commercial Solvents B at 359 against 260; Corn Products at 97½ against 84½; Foundation Company at 69¼ against 56½; North American Company at 108½ against 102; Republic Iron & Steel at 99 against 91; F. G. Shattuck at 145¼ against 132¼; Stewart Warner at 70½ against 134 for the old stock, which was exchanged for 2 of the new stock; Union Carbide & Carbon at 245¼ against 218; Woolworth at 224 against 205¼; U. S. Industrial Alcohol at 171 against 142½; Skelly Oil at 44½ against 37½; Kraft Cheese at 42 against 34; Int. Business Machines at 179½ against 160; Ingersoll Rand at 146 against 130; Commonwealth Power at 143½ against 133; Marmon Motor Car at 90½ against 76; Continental Baking Class A at 73¼ against 62½; J. Kayser & Co. at 87½ against 83½, and numerous other instances of the same kind might be mentioned.

As a group the oil stocks, or at least several of them, displayed perhaps more sustained strength than those of any other group. Buying of these stocks preceded on the theory that some means would be found for reducing excessive output of crude petroleum through concerted action between the leading oil-producing States of the West in cooperation with the Federal Government, thus overcoming the obstacles that the Clayton Anti-Trust Act, in the view of the Attorney General, appears to impose to arrangements for combined action. Reference has already been made to the rise in Skelly Oil. Atlantic Refining closed at 66¼ April 30, against 58 at the opening on April 1. Pan American B, after having sold up to 65½ April 22, closed April 30 at 61½, against 50 at the opening on April 1. On the other hand, some of the oil stocks show a net loss for the month or else are only slightly changed. Thus Marland Oil closed April 30 at 40½ against 42½ at the opening on April 1; Phillips Petroleum closed April 30 at 42½ against 42½ on April 1; Pure Oil closed at 27½, against 27¼ April 1; Texas Corporation closed at 65½, against 66½; Standard Oil of New Jersey at 58½, against 57¼, and Standard Oil of New York at 43, against 42½. Sudden great activity developed in Simms Petroleum and the $10 shares, after selling up to 34¼ April 24, closed April 30 at 30½, which compares with 20½ as the opening price on April 1. A feature of the dealings in this stock was the changing of hands of 100,000 shares in a single block at 30 at the opening on April 23, M. J. Meehan being the broker, but the name of the purchaser not being disclosed.

The steel stocks were aided by the continued phenomenal activity of the steel trade and by the very favorable income statements for the March quarter submitted by several of the steel companies, among them the Republic Iron & Steel, the Bethlehem Steel, and the Youngstown Sheet & Tube. Most noteworthy of all was the extraordinarily favorable quarterly return of the United States Steel Corporation, but this was not made public until after the close of business on April 30. The rise in Bethlehem Steel has already been referred to. Reference has also been made to the disappointment felt over the fact that the offering of rights in connection with the new issue of stock to retire the United States Steel Corporation's bonded debt did not prove quite as large as expected. Common stockholders of record May 1 1929 of U. S. Steel were given the privilege of subscribing for new stock at $140 per share in the proportion of one share of new stock for each 7 shares of old stock held. However, U. S. Steel common closed April 30 at 188½, against 179½ at the opening on April 1. This was with the rights attached. The rights sold separately at 5¼@6½. Republic Iron & Steel closed April 30 at 99 against 90 at the opening on April 1; Youngstown Sheet and Tube, however, after selling up to 131½ April 17, a new high for the year, closed April 30 at 124½, against 129¼ at the opening on April 1; Ludlum Steel closed April 30 at 86½ against 70¼ April 1.

The copper stocks suffered a bad break on the collapse in the price of the metal, but recovered part of their loss the latter part of the month. Anaconda Copper sold down from 155¼ April 1 to 135½ April 16, and closed April 30 at 146; Kennecott Copper, on the other hand, after selling down from 89½ at the opening April 1 to 81½ April 9, advanced to 94½ April 30, with the close on this latter day at 94. Greene Cananea, after selling down from 172¼ April 2 to 155½ April 16, closed April 30 at 164. American Smelting & Refining, after selling down from 110½ April 3 to 100½ April 15, closed April 30 at 109½. Andes Copper, after tumbling from 58½ April 1 to 50½ April 16, closed April 30 at 53½. Inspiration Consolidated Copper, after dropping from 57½ April 1 to 46½ April 9, closed April 30 at 50¼. Among the motor stocks Packard Motor Car was a strong feature, rising from 124½ April 10 to 137½ April 30, with the close on this latter day at 136; General Motors, after dropping on April 1 to 80½, advanced to 88½ April 24 and closed April 30 at 84½; Nash Motors declined from 102½ April 3 to 96½ April 29, with the close April 30 at 98¼; Chrysler fell from 98¼ April 3 to 87¼ April 16, with the close April 30 at 94½. Studebaker, after declining to 80 April 1, advanced to 84½ April 24, and closed April 30 at 83½. Hupp Motor Car dropped from 68½ April 3 to 50½ April 29, with the close April 30 at 57. The rubber stocks also were weak. Goodyear Tire & Rubber declined from 139¼ April 1 to 128½ April 29, and closed April 30 at 129½. B. F. Goodrich dropped from 92½ April 1 to 81 April 29, with the close April 30 at 82¼. U. S. Rubber, after declining from 57½ April 1 to 51½ April 9, rose to 53¼ April 24, with the close April 30 at 55¼.

In the railroad list New Haven shares and Pennsylvania Railroad stock were the strong features, the latter on the increase in the dividend from 7% per annum to 8%. Both stocks made new high records for the year. New Haven shares, after declining from 87 April 1 to 85½ April 3, rose to 104½ April 27, with the close April 30 at 101½. The $50 shares of the Pennsylvania Railroad rose from 74½ April 5 to 83½ April 25, with the close April 30 at 82½. There was a little flickering of activity in the railroad list at times, but mostly the rails were neglected, and the net changes for the month (outside the stocks just mentioned and the local traction shares, which latter broke badly as the result of the U. S. Supreme Court decision adverse to the 5c. fare) were not important, some stocks having closed lower and some higher. The bond market disclosed a better tone during April and the high grade issues improved somewhat in value. Bonds with convertible features fluctuated of course in accord with the fluctuations in the stocks into which they are convertible.

THE MONEY MARKET DURING APRIL 1929.

Money market conditions remained unchanged during this month. Stringency and high rates for accommodation in all branches of the market were still the dominant characteristic.

Quotations for time loans on security collateral moved sharply lower about the middle of the month, after the peak of the Spring demand on behalf of the mercantile and agricultural community had passed and after preparations for the middle of the month payments had been completed, but it was soon seen that the enduring factor in this was lacking and that the lower quotations did not, after all, signify much. In the closing days of the month, the call loan branch of the market was subjected to renewed strain and call loan rates spurted upward with the same suddenness and rapidity as in March—and, as a matter of fact, on the same days of the month namely the 25th and 26th—and though the time loan rate was not coincidentally advanced money brokers made the significant remark that higher figures would have been paid for time loans than those nominally quoted if loans could have been obtained, but that there were no offerings because of the extreme rates prevailing in the call loan division. All through the month the key to the condition of the money market was found in the fluctuations in the rates for call loans. And these fluctuations never gave evidence of approaching stability, nor did the rates at any time fall back to what might be considered normal figures. The lowest figures of the month were reached April 4 and April 5, following severe tension at the beginning of the month, the decline coming when the heavy 1st of April payments for dividends and interest and on other accounts reached the ultimate channels of distribution and had the normal effect of causing temporary relaxation; but the influence of this quickly passed and then the underlying conditions of tension resumed full sway. On April 9, the call loan rate again spurted to 10% and the same thing happened on April 10. The latter part of the month even higher figures on call at the Stock Exchange were reached, the rate rising on April 25 from 8 to 12% and on April 26 from 9% (the renewal charge) to 16%. This last was a Friday when Stock Exchange loans extend over to the following Monday. The Monday in this case was April 27, and on that day the range was 12@15%, though on Tuesday, April 30 after the renewal charge had been fixed at 14%, the rate dropped to 10%. This renewal rate for call loans (which is the best indication of the call loan situation) at no time during the month got lower than 7% and most of the time was a great deal higher. On April 1 the renewal charge was 10% and on April 2, 12%; on April 3, and April 4, it was 10%; on Friday April 5, 8%; on the following Monday (April 8), it was 7%; on April 9, again 7%; on April 10, 8%; on April 11 and April 12, 9%; from April 15 to April 18, inclusive, 8%; from April 19 to April 23, incl., 7½%; on April 24 and April 25, 8%; on Friday, April 26, 9%; on Monday, April 29, 12%; and on Tuesday, April 30, as already stated, 14%.

It will be observed that the extreme figures for call loans on the Stock Exchange were reached in the early days of the month and again in the closing days. On April 1, with the renewal charge at 10%, some new loans as high as 15% were recorded. On April 2, all loans were at 12%, including renewals. On April 3 and April 4 the high was 10% and on April 5 it was 8%. These high rates at the opening of the month reflected the strain occasioned by the Spring demand for accommodation superimposed upon the swollen speculative requirements on Stock Exchange account. Steadier and somewhat lower rates followed as it appeared that Stock Exchange requirements were less, the Federal Reserve statement for the week ending April 3 and again that for the week ending April 10, showing substantial reductions in the total of brokers' loans. At this time, too, renewed efforts were under way for curbing loaning to brokers for account of out-of-town Banks and for account of others, as distinct from loaning made by the N. Y. Clearing House institutions for their own account. These efforts, however, yielded very little in the way of fruitful results, the only change made being to alter slightly the service charge imposed for handling the loans for out-of-town banks, though the change was too slight to count for much. The change involved an amendment to the constitution of the N. Y. Clearing House Association and this amendment was adopted on April 10. Previously the service charge had been 5% of the amount of the interest collected. Now it was made ½ of 1% of the principal of the loan. The change, which became effective forthwith, corresponded to that made in the loans "for account of others" the previous Sept. 1, though in the case of the out-of-town banks no limit of $100,000 as the minimum amount that may be handled for any single institution has been prescribed, whereas in the case of loans "for account of others" such a limit constituted a distinct part of the change in the service charge.

Newspaper comment on the new service charge was to the effect that when the call loan rate is below 10% the new method is less advantageous to the lending bank, while above 10% it is more so. However as the charge is only ½ of 1% per annum it was obviously of little consequence anyway. It was certainly not large enough to exert any deterrent influence upon outside lending. This became quickly apparent and the Federal Reserve statement for the week ending April 17 showed a further reduction of only $2,000,000 in the aggregate of brokers loans under all the different categories, indicating very plainly that contraction in brokers loans had about reached its end and that with speculation on the Stock Exchange once more reviving the prospect now was that in another week renewed expansion in Stock Exchange borrowing would again be recorded.

That is precisely what happened and the Federal Reserve return for the week ending April 24 showed an increase in brokers loans of $67,000,000, following four successive weeks of decreases and the last of the four having tapered down, as just shown, to very small figures.

Very plainly now the money market had ahead of it new borrowing on Stock Exchange account and this came concurrently with the preparations that had to be made for the first of May payments. The result appeared in the spurt in the call loan rate on the Stock Exchange on April 25 to 12% and a further spurt to 16% on April 26. Charles E. Mitchell of the National City Bank (now Chairman of the Board, instead of President of the bank, as a result of changes made in the internal organization of the bank since the episode of the previous month) repeated his action of March 26 and made liberal offering of funds at that figure (to be obtained of course by borrowing at the Federal Reserve Bank at the prevailing Federal Reserve discount rate of 5%) and some other large banks did the same thing, thereby preventing the call loan rate on the Stock Exchange from rising still higher than the 16% figure. Outside the Stock Exchange, however, the feature witnessed the previous month of a higher charge than that prevailing on the Exchange was again in evidence and newspaper accounts stated that 2% above the Stock Exchange maximum of 16% had been paid, presumably in the case of small loans, no public records of course of such transactions being available.

In the time loan branch of the market indications of a slightly easier tendency were in evidence about the middle of the month, as already stated, but were found to be misleading when the end of the month came around, and were not maintained. On Monday, April 1, 8½% was bid, with no offerings for 30, 60, and 90-day money and 8% bid with no offerings for 4, 5, and 6 months. For the rest of that week the rates each day were 9% for 30, 60 and 90 days, and 8½% for 4, 5, and 6 months. It will be noted that at the beginning of the month rates continued to move sharply upward and that the easier tendency referred to did not come until after these early advances. The next week—for the 5 days from Monday April 8 to Friday April 12—the rates each day were kept unchanged at 9% per annum for 30, 60 and 90 days and at 8½% for 4, 5 and 6 months. The same rates continued on Monday, April 15. On April 16, the quotations were 8¾% for the shorter dates and 8½% for the longer dates. On April 17, the range for the shorter periods was 8½% for 30 days, while the rate for the longer periods remained at 8½%. On April 18 and April 19, lending was at 8½% for the shorter dates, with the range for the longer periods 8½% for 30 days to 6 months. On April 23 and April 24 8¼% was bid for 30, 60 and 90 days and 8% for 4 to 6 months. On April 25 and April 26, when the new flurry in call loan occurred, the quotation was 8¼% for all dates from 30 days to 6 months, but leading money brokers stated, as already noted, that higher figures would have been paid if loans could have been obtained but that no offerings appeared because of the high rates prevailing for money on call. On Monday, April 29 and Tuesday, April 30 the quoted rates were 9% for 30 to 60 days, and 8½% for 90 days to six months. The commercial paper market remained very inactive and further stiffened. The early part of the month rates for names of choice character maturing in 4 to 6 months remained nominally at 5¾%, while names less well known commanded 6%. Very soon there was an advance to 5¼% for choice names and to 6@6¼% for names less well known. In the closing days of the month 6% was the nominal quotation for choice names, with names less well known quoted at 6¼%. Very little paper of any kind sold for less than 6% at any time during the month and trades in paper were very limited in character anyway.

The market for banks and bankers acceptances was unusually active the early part of April, with the demand in excess of the supply, the high rates to which acceptances had been advanced having attracted considerable investment buying. Somewhat later the demand moderated but offerings continued light. There were then rumors that rates were being shaded and on Monday, April 22, rates were marked down ½ of 1% in both the bid and the asked columns for all maturities except those for 30 days. The only other change during the month was that on April 2, the asked rate for 120, 150 and 180 days was reduced ½ of 1%. On April 30 the posted rates of the American Acceptance Council were 5½% bid and 5¾% asked for bills running 30 days and also for bills running 60 and 90 days; 5¾% bid and 5¾% asked for 120 days and 5¾% bid and 5½% asked for 150 and 180 days. The Acceptance Council no longer gives the rates for call loans secured by acceptances, the rates varying widely. The Federal Reserve banks continued their policy of reducing their holdings of acceptances and the 12 Reserve banks reported holdings down to $141,175,000 April 24, against $208,427,000 March 27. They may be said to have done virtually no buying of acceptances in the open market, allowing existing holdings to run off and not replacing them with new bills, though at the close of the month they resumed purchases again in the market and the return for the week ending May 1 showed the holdings increased to $170,421,000. Not unlikely, at the same time the member banks during the month enlarged their borrowings at the Federal Reserve banks with acceptances as security for the loans. On that point it is significant that member bank borrowing on the security of mercantile paper increased from $402,150,000 March 27 to $460,304,000 April 17, and was $433,262,000 April 24 and $437,833,000 May 1, the increase in this form of borrowing having occurred notwithstanding that total member bank borrowing in the interval was reduced from $1,024,130,000 March 27 to $974,513,000 April 24, and was $985,829,000 May 1. The buying rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of N. Y. was reduced ½ of 1% on April 23, this buying rate, however, being at first merely a nominal rate since as already stated the Reserve institution did virtually no buying of bills in the open market until towards the end of the month. The change made the buying rate 5¼% for bills running from 1 to 45 days, 5¾% for bills running from 46 to 90 days and 5¾% for bills running from 91 to 180 days. The survey of the American Acceptance Council made the outstanding volume of acceptances in the U. S. on March 30 1929 $1,204,979,653, against $1,228,027,796 Feb. 28, $1,279,271,163 Jan. 31 and $1,284,485,780 Dec. 31 1928, but comparing with $1,085,468,742 March 31 1928. On the other hand the Federal Reserve Bank of N. Y. reported a decline of 6% during March in the volume of commercial paper outstanding following slight increases in the two previous months. Moreover the aggregate outstanding March 30 at $387,000,000, as reported by 23 firms to the Federal Reserve Bank, was 32% smaller than at the corresponding date of the previous year.

THE RETURNS OF THE FEDERAL RESERVE AND MEMBER BANKS —BROKERS' LOANS.

Brokers' loans on the whole followed a satisfactory course during the month of April, showing substantial contraction, but unfortunately reversed their tendency again the latter part of the month. The figures prepared by the Federal Reserve Bank had shown, as will be recalled, a sharp downward turn the last week of March (after prodigious expansion the early weeks of the month, the contraction for the week ending March 27 having reached $144,000,000). This contraction was carried still further during the first three weeks of April, a new decrease of $87,000,000 being shown in the return for April 3, still another decrease of $135,000,000 in the return for April 10, and $2,000,000 in the return for April 17, making the total contraction for the four weeks ending on that day $368,000,000. The small decrease in the last of these four weeks foreshadowed the end of the contraction and the likelihood of renewed increase, inasmuch as the stock market was again beginning to show a revival of activity. It was no surprise, therefore, when the return for April 24 appeared, to find an increase of $67,000,000 for that week; and a further increase of $40,000,000 in the statement for May 1 seemed a natural sequence. Stated in brief, the total of these loans to brokers and dealers on the security of stock and bonds by the reporting member banks in New York City, after having reached the huge total of $5,793,000,000 on March 20, showed successive declines the next four weeks to a total of $5,425,000,000 April 17, and then rose to $5,492,000,000 April 24 and to $5,532,000,000 May 1. The changes in the different categories of these loans naturally attracted as much attention as the changes in the grand total of the loans. As on previous occasions, the widest changes appeared in the loans made by the reporting member banks on their own account, while the loans made "for account of others"—the loans made for large corporations and for large capitalists—resisted most strongly efforts at contraction. The loans for own account fell from $1,091,000,000 March 20 to $877,000,000 April 17, and then rose to $924,000,000 April 24 and to $979,000,000 May 1. The loans for account of the out-of-town banks fell from $1,768,000,000 March 20 to $1,631,000,000 April 10, then rose to $1,662,000,000 April 17 and were $1,652,000,000 April 24 and $1,676,000,000 May 1. In the case of the loans under this heading a change in the service charge for handling the business was made by the N. Y. Clearing House Association, as stated above, in the review of the money market, the change consisting in making the charge 1/2 of 1% of the principal of the loan, instead of the previous charge of 5% of the amount of the interest collected. The change was the same as that made the previous Sept. 1 in the case of the loans "for account of others," and which has interposed little or no obstacle to the growth of such loans. The change occurred on April 10 and apparently had little or no effect on the total of the loans. On the other hand, the loans "for account of others," while the process of contraction was going on, declined only from $2,934,000,000 March 20 to $2,882,000,000 April 10, then increased again to $2,886,000,000 April 17 and to $2,916,000,000 April 24, and were $2,876,000,000 May 1.

In addition to the weekly figures of the Federal Reserve Board, we have those of the N. Y. Stock Exchange for the even month. Being more comprehensive in their scope, they deal with correspondingly larger totals. In the net changes for the month, however, they are in close accord with the Federal Reserve figures. As already indicated, in the first half of the month contraction in borrowing on Stock Exchange account was still going on, while on the other hand the last half of the month, with Stock Exchange speculation again expanding borrowing for that purpose was bound to increase again. The point of importance was chiefly in knowing to what extent the two movements had served to offset each other. For March 31 the Stock Exchange statement had shown a new high record at $6,804,457,408. For April 30 the amount was found to be $6,774,930,395, a decrease of $29,527,013. Twelve months before, on April 30 1928, the amount was only $4,907,782,599; on April 30 1927 the total was no more than $3,341,209,847, and on April 30 1926 it was but $2,835,718,509.

As to the changes in the condition of the Federal Reserve banks, the features were in the main the same as in the month preceding, and consisted principally of further reductions of the holdings of acceptances purchased in the open market, with a further decrease likewise in the holdings of U. S. Government securities. The contraction in brokers' loans brought with it a diminution in member bank borrowing at the Federal Reserve institutions, and accordingly the volume of the discounts held by the 12 Reserve institutions, which on March 27 had been reported at $1,024,130,000, was down to $963,532,000 April 10, but with an increase again to $994,296,000 on April 17, followed by a decrease to $974,513,000 April 24, with an increase again May 1 to $985,829,000. Holdings of acceptances, on the other hand, were $141,175,000 April 24 and $170,421,000 May 1, against $208,427,000 March 27. The holdings of U. S. Government securities fell from $170,310,000 March 27 to $149,782,000 April 24, and were $150,730,000 May 1. Altogether, total bill and security holdings were only $1,280,601,000 April 24 and $1,329,245,000 May 1, against $1,409,712,000 on March 27. It deserves to be pointed out that the total of Reserve credit in use, as measured by the bill and security holdings, was actually less on May 1 than at the corresponding date of the previous year, the amount at $1,329,245,000 comparing with $1,413,447,000 on May 2 1928. The reduction was entirely in the holdings of acceptances, which in the interval declined from $363,101,000 to $170,421,000, and in the holdings of U. S. securities, which were reduced from $292,302,000 to $150,730,000. Borrowing of the member banks, on the other hand (as indicated by the discount holdings), were $985,829,000 May 1, against $757,054,000 May 2 1928. Member bank borrowing would doubtless have increased still further except for the large volume of Government deposits kept with the member banks by the Secretary of the Treasury. For the reporting member banks in 101 leading cities throughout the country, the aggregate of these deposits was $305,000,000 March 20 and stood at the same figure March 27, while on April 3 the total was only slightly lower at $289,000,000, and even on April 10 it still stood at $258,000,000. A sharp reduction, however, occurred to $165,000,000 April 17 and to $148,000,000 April 24, and to $143,000,000 May 1. Against such Government deposits no cash reserves are required. The heavy decrease in these Government deposits, along with the preparations that had to be made for the 1st of May interest and dividend disbursements, explains the increase in member bank borrowing again the latter part of the month.

COURSE OF STERLING EXCHANGE DURING APRIL.

In the case of all the foreign exchanges, the dominant influence in April, as in the months immediately preceding, was the high money rates prevailing in the United States. This continued to exert a pull in this direction on funds in all the leading countries of the world; the pull was resisted in varying degrees and in various ways at the different foreign centres. One weapon of defense is always an advance in discount rates, and this was freely employed during the month. The Bank of Germany, which the previous Jan. 11 had lowered its rate from 7% to 6 1/2%, lost gold on such a scale, mainly to the United States, that the Bank was forced on April 25 to advance its rate from 6 1/2% to 7 1/2%. The day before (April 24) the Austrian National Bank advanced its rate from 6 1/2% to 7 1/2%, and the same day the Hungarian National Bank moved up from 7% to 8%. The Bank of Poland somewhat earlier, that is on April 19, advanced its discount rate from 8%, the figure in effect since May 13 1927, to 9%. On April 30 the Bank of Danzig increased from 6% (which had been in effect since June 1927) to 7%. As far as rates for sterling on London are concerned, these fluctuated within narrow limits. There appeared to be ready response to fluctuations in the money rates at New York, the slightest easing of the tension here being reflected in better rates for sterling bills on London. The early part of the month, when the strigency here was still very pronounced, cable transfers weakened fractionally, so that dealings April 8 were at 4.85 1-16 @ 4.85 9-16; against 4.85 1/4 @ 4.85 5-16 April 1. The first mentioned figure proved to be the low for the month. The high for the month was 4.85 17-32 April 15. The rates April 30 were only slightly different from those already given for April 1, being 4.85 9-32 @ 4.85 3/8. All through the month the rate ruled only slightly above the shipping point for gold from London to New York, and no doubt the efforts of the British authorities were directed mainly towards preventing further takings of gold in London for American account, in which efforts they were entirely successful, no gold outflow for New York occurring. On the other hand, the Bank of England managed to reinforce its gold holdings by purchases of the metal in the open market and through acquisitions from other sources. In the week ending April 3 the Bank gained £733,704 gold, in the week ending April 10 it gained £1,015,445, in the week ending April 17 £789,083, in the week ending April 24 £269,558 and in the week ending May 1 £2,224,822.

There was more or less talk all through the month of the possibility of the Bank being obliged to make a further advance in its discount rate; and the action the latter part of the month of so many of the Continental banks in marking up their discount rates, in particular the Bank of Germany, made it apparent that such apprehensions were not altogether without basis. Yet the fact that the Bank was able to resist a further outflow of gold to New York and succeeded in acquiring large additional amounts of the metal, made it plain that a further rise in the discount rates was not immediately imminent. Talk of a reduction in the rate completely ceased after the advance in the discount rate of the Reichsbank. Seasonal factors would under ordinary circumstances have served to strengthen the sterling rate on London, but such seasonal influences continued to be submerged by the continued pull of high money rates in this country.

Great concern continued to be felt in banking circles abroad over the possibility of a large efflux of gold from Europe to the United States, and banking authorities were urged to take steps to prevent such a movement. It was even suggested in important quarters that European countries should place an embargo on the export of the metal to the United States.

On the other hand, stress was laid upon the fact that the time was fast approaching when tourists' expenditures by Americans in Europe would be so large that the demand for exchange must act to stiffen exchange rates even in the face of continued tension in the money market here.

23.72 and April 25 23.71 1/2 @ 23.72 1/2, but on April 26 there was a drop to 23.60, the lowest quotation since stabilization in 1924, but completely recovered the very next day, when the range was 23.63 @ 23.70.

THE CONTINENTAL AND OTHER FOREIGN EXCHANGES.

In the exchanges on the Continental centres of Europe the feature was the drop in the German mark, the large exports of gold on German account to the U. S. and to other countries, and the marking up by the Bank of Germany of its rate of discount on April 25 from 6 1/2% to 7 1/2%.

The Italian lire also showed weakness, but only the early part of the month, though there were no new features of importance pertaining to Italian exchange.

RATES OF EXCHANGE ON CONTINENTAL CENTRES.

Table with columns for Paris (Francs), Swiss (Francs), Amsterdam (Gulders), Antwerp (Belga), Italian (Lire), Greek (Drachma), Denmark (Kroner), Sweden (Kroner), Norway (Kroner), Berlin (Reichsmarks), Vienna (Schilling), Spanish (Pesetas). Rows include dates from April 1 to April 30 and various exchange rates for checks and cables.

ending April 20 and of 690,366,919 fr. in the week ending April 27. The note circulation of the Bank decreased 451,000,000 fr. in the week ending April 6, 807,000,000 fr. in the week ending April 13, 670,000,000 fr. in the week ending April 20, and increased 200,000,000 fr. in the week ending April 27. The Greek drachmae remained stable throughout the month at practically unchanged quotations. The Polish zloty did not deviate from 11.24.

In the exchanges on the countries neutral during the war one conspicuous feature was a sharp and continuous rise in the Dutch guilder. The rise was attributed, among other things, to the heavy demand for transfers to Holland in payment for tobacco bills, it being the height of the season for the payment of this and other commodities from the Dutch tropical settlements. The advance in March in the discount rate of the Bank of the Netherlands is also believed to have had a stimulating effect on Dutch exchange. Checks on Amsterdam advanced from 40.03 April 1 to 40.20 April 29 and were 40.16 1/2 @ 40.19 April 30. Swiss francs were also higher, checks on Switzerland rising from 19.23 April 2 to 19.25 @ 19.25 1/4 April 30. The latter part of the month all the exchanges on the former neutral centres developed exceptional strength on heavy transfers from Berlin of both German and foreign funds, which, rumor had it, represented capital taking flight from Germany on account of the failure of the Reparations Conference. The Swedish crown was weak at one time in the early part of the month, due largely to the news of the failure of eight Swedish savings banks, but it subsequently appeared that these were all small institutions of minor consequence. All the Scandinavian exchanges, however, were higher at the close of the month than at the opening, the Danish crown for checks being quoted at 26.66 @ 26.66 1/2 April 30, against 26.63 @ 26.64 April 1; the Swedish crown for checks at 26.71 @ 26.71 1/2, against 26.69 1/2, and the Norwegian crown for checks at 26.65 1/2 @ 26.66, against 26.65 1/2 @ 26.66. The Spanish peseta again displayed great weakness, the rates for checks declining from 15.08 @ 15.16 April 1 to 14.28 1/2 @ 14.44 April 29, and being 14.32 @ 14.51 April 30.

In the South American exchanges the Brazilian milreis showed sharp recovery after the previous month's depression. Checks on Brazil rose from 11.79 @ 11.80 April 1 to 11.94 @ 11.96 April 30. In the case of the peso on Argentina checks ruled unchanged throughout the month at 42.02 @ 42.08. Imports of gold from Argentina during the month reached $6,425,000, as already noted. The Chilean peso, however, declined from 12.06 @ 12 1/2 April 1 to 12.04 @ 12 1/4 April 30, and the Uruguayan peso from 100 7/8 April 1 to 96 @ 97 1/4 April 30.

The Far Eastern exchanges were extremely dull most of the month with the Japanese yen a trifle firmer on the whole. The yen was quoted at 44 3/4 @ 45 3-16 on April 30, against 44 1/2 @ 44 3/4 April 1. The Chinese exchanges were fractionally lower, influenced by a further decline in the price of silver. The dollar on Hong Kong was quoted at 48 1/2 @ 48 11-16 on April 30, against 49 @ 49 5-16 April 1, and the tael on Shanghai at 60 1/2, against 62 3/8 @ 62 1/2. Rupees on Bombay were 36.28 @ 36 3/8 April 30, compared with 36.40 @ 36 1/2 April 1. The Imperial Bank of India on April 11 reduced its rate of discount from 8%, fixed on Feb. 14, to 7%. The price of silver in London declined from 25 15-16d. per oz. April 1 to 25 3-16d. April 30.

The tables on pages 15 to 36 furnish a complete record of the transactions on the New York Stock Exchange during April and the range since January 1. They need no extended introduction, as they are self-explanatory. The tables embrace every security dealt in on the Exchange. We give bonds first, using the classification adopted in the official list. The black-faced letters in the column headed "Interest Period" indicate in each case the month when the bonds mature.

In accordance with the rule adopted by the New York Stock Exchange in 1909, all quotations for interest-paying bonds are at a price to which accrued interest must be added. The exceptions to the rule are income bonds and bonds on which interest is in default. A few other bonds, like the Holland-American Line 6s, for special reasons, are also quoted "flat," but where this is the case the quotation "flat" will be found against the name of the issue. This method of quoting bonds became effective Jan. 2 1909.

For footnotes to tables see last page of bonds and last page of stocks.

Quotations from all Stock Exchanges are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding the date of issue. As the New York Stock Exchange began with Jan. 2 1909 to quote all bond prices "and interest," we have adopted the same method and no longer employ a designating mark to indicate the fact except where there is a deviation from this rule. The reader will understand, therefore, that unless the letter "f" is prefixed to the price, he must pay accrued interest in addition to the price. This, however, does not apply to income bonds or bonds in default, in which cases the price includes the interest, should there be any.

The letter "f" prefixed to bond prices denotes that the quotation is a flat price—that is, that the accrued interest forms part of the price, and therefore the purchaser does not have to provide for it separately in making payment. As already stated in the case of income bonds and bonds in default, the price is always "flat," and no designating mark is employed to indicate the fact.

Quotations for guaranteed stocks are "and dividend"; that is, the accrued dividend must be paid in addition to the price. Stock prices marked thus (d) are per share. All others are per cent except bank stock prices, which are quoted per share unless otherwise stated.

It should be borne in mind in the use of these tables that the quotations for many inactive and unlisted securities are merely nominal, but in all cases the figures are obtained from sources which are considered reliable.

The following abbreviations are often used, viz.: "M" for mortgage, "g" for gold, "gu" for guaranteed, "end" for endorsed, "cons" for consolidated conv' for convertible, "s f" for sinking fund, "l g" for land grant, "op" for optional.

The black-faced type in the letters showing the interest period indicates the month when the bonds mature.

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "f" and income and defaulted bonds.

Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities

Under the heading "Industrial and Miscellaneous Securities" we include all issues which do not appear under the previous two headings, namely "Railroads (Steam)" and "Public Utilities." In the case of stocks, however, we put "Textile Manufacturing," "Insurance," "Mining," "Real Estate and Land," "Title Guarantee and Safe Deposit Companies" under separate heads, then follow with the rest of the "Industrial and Miscellaneous."

NOTICE.—All bond prices are "and interest" except where marked "I" and income and defaulted bonds.

United States and Municipal Bonds

In reporting below prices for State and municipal securities, we give bid and asked quotations wherever they can be obtained. The custom, however, is to quote municipal securities on the basis of the return they yield per annum. Therefore in most cases it will be found that instead of actual prices we have inserted in the column headed "To Net" certain figures to indicate the interest rate at which business in the bonds is being done. Thus 4.35% means that the particular security can be bought or sold at a price that will yield the purchaser or seller 4.35% per annum to the maturity of the issue. Where two figures appear, as for instance "4.25% to 4.35%," the rate of return varies according to the maturity of the securities yielding the lower rate, and the longer maturities yielding the highest return. Recently however, owing to the tension in the money market, it has happened in not a few instances that the shorter maturities have been yielding the highest rate of return and the longer maturities the lowest rate of return, and where that happens to be the case, the range has been reversed to read, say 4.35% to 4.25%.

In State and municipal bonds the custom has always been to quote them "and interest." That is, the accrued interest must in all cases be added on. There are a very few which form exceptions to the rule—that is, where the prices given are flat prices, the accrued interest having been taken into account in making them. These are indicated by a special mark, thus (f).

STATE AND NATIONAL BANK STATEMENTS

Quotations in this department are given per share, not per cent, except for stocks of Canadian Institutions, and are as near as possible for the closing day of the month preceding date of issue, though often are nominal. An asterisk (*) denotes sales.

Figures of deposits, capital and profits for the national banks are from the Comptroller's last call; for all other institutions they are the latest obtainable, direct returns being procured by us where no periodic statements are required. For the Clearing House banks of New York, Philadelphia and Boston, deposits are taken from the latest-weekly statement.
